THE CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS
OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND
DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

PUBLISHED BY THE AUTHORITY OF HER MAJESTY'S TREASURY, UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE MASTER OF THE ROLLS.

ON the 26th of January 1857, the Master of the Rolls submitted to the Treasury a proposal for the publication of materials for the History of this Country from the Invasion of the Romans to the Reign of Henry VIII.

The Master of the Rolls suggested that these materials should be selected for publication under competent editors without reference to periodical or chronological arrangement, without mutilation or abridgment, preference being given, in the first instance, to such materials as were most scarce and valuable.

He proposed that each chronicle or historical document to be edited should be treated in the same way as if the editor were engaged on an Editio Princeps; and for this purpose the most correct text should be formed from an accurate collation of the best MSS.

To render the work more generally useful, the Master of the Rolls suggested that the editor should give an account of the MSS. employed by him, of their age and their peculiarities; that he should add to the work a brief account of the life and times of the author, and any remarks necessary to explain the chronology; but no other note or comment was to be allowed, except what might be necessary to establish the correctness of the text.

The works to be published in octavo, separately, as they were finished; the whole responsibility of the task resting upon the editors, who were to be chosen by the Master of the Rolls with the sanction of the Treasury.

The Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury, after a careful consideration of the subject, expressed their opinion in a Treasury Minute, dated February 9, 1857, that the plan recommended by the Master of the Rolls "was well calculated for the accomplishment of this important national object, in an effectual and satisfactory manner, within a reasonable time, and provided proper attention be paid to economy, in making the detailed arrangements, without unnecessary expense."

They expressed their approbation of the proposal that each chronicle and historical document should be edited in such a manner as to represent with all possible correctness the text of each writer, derived from a collation of the best MSS., and that no notes should be added, except such as were illustrative of the various readings. They suggested, however, that the preface to each work should contain, in addition to the particulars proposed by the Master of the Rolls, a biographical account of the author, so far as authentic materials existed for that purpose, and an estimate of his historical credibility and value.

INTRODUCTION.

INTRODUCTION.

THE history of the Church of England during the reign of Richard I. is a record of five great disputes and appeals. The importance of these to political history arises chiefly from their connexion with the ecclesiastical quarrels of Henry II., and from the light they throw on the relations of Church and State during the troubles of John. They have, however, an independent interest, for they were all on subject matters of great weight, all of them involved principles of great importance, and all were carried on by persons who, if not actually the leading men of the time, were, in character and position, and, irrespectively of their concern in these quarrels, in historical eminence inferior only to the first.

Five great ecclesiastical causes in the reign of Richard I.

These were, first, the series of disputes between archbishop Geoffrey of York and the clergy of the northern province; secondly, the long litigation of which one side has been preserved for us by Giraldus Cambrensis, between himself, as representative of the Welsh Church, and the Crown and Church of England; thirdly, that between Hugh of Nunant and the monks of Coventry; fourthly, that between the monks of Canterbury and archbishops Baldwin and Hubert; and fifthly, that arising from the claim of Savaric, bishop of Bath and Wells, to the abbey of Glastonbury. Of the first of these, the details are recorded, although not so fully or so systematically as might be wished, in the history of Roger Hoveden; Giraldus treats largely, if not fully, of the second; the last and least important had its own historian in Adam of Domesday. Of the Coventry dispute unfortunately very few particulars are now ascertainable; but this is less to be regretted as the same principles were involved and the same actors employed in it as in the Canterbury appeal, which is the principal subject of the present volume. The history of this great cause occupies, moreover, the chief part of the chronicle of Gervase, which is indispensable for the proper arrangement of the materials before us, and was the subject of a distinct work by abbot Alan of Tewkesbury, the collector of the letters of S. Thomas, which is known only by a short extract preserved in the History of the abbey of Evesham.¹

and value of the materials for history in this volume.

The first view of so large a mass of materials preserved to us on secondary questions, naturally suggests a complaint, that the age which had so much that was of greater importance to chronicle, should have been so sparing of details on matters that had a closer bearing on the national life. Judged by the space which it occupies in the annals of the time, and by the quantity of correspondence remaining upon it, the dispute which forms the subject of the following pages might seem of greater magnitude than those which led to the signing of the Great Charter, or the calling of the first representative parliament. Comparatively insignificant in itself, it seems to acquire significance from the abundance of its records; whilst those, matters of vast importance, and even as affording material for the study of character, of interest far beyond it, are presented to us

only in the skeleton form, which political views and party feelings will, as long as parties last, quicken with their own motives and clothe in their own theories of character and detail. And yet the fact, that this and the kindred disputes possessed a greater interest in the eyes of contemporaries than we are inclined to ascribe to them, is not without advantages; in default of the greater boon we may be thankful for the diversity and abundance of detail handed down to us: the field of study is removed far from the region of modern controversies, and the student is saved from the risks that attend the cursory reading of history for a special purpose. For a volume like the present, however rich in interest to the student of character or of history for its own sake, is not inviting to the dilettante reader, and positively repulsive to the investigator who has determined what he will find before he begins to seek. The very thread of events cannot be disentangled without labour, and the variety of views is bewildering rather than instructive to a hasty judge. But the careful perusal of the letters before us will most certainly leave the reader better informed as to the ways of thinking prevalent in the times to which they belong, and as to the development of the principles on which the history of far greater questions depends, than the better proportioned and more (so-called) philosophical estimate of the regular historian. We can see, that is, the principles in their growth, as they grew, without having the process of their development dwarfed and obscured by the overshadowing grandeur of their maturity. And besides this, every action of the men of such times has a double value, that which attaches to the working of the national life, and that which attaches to the character of the chief workers in it; their conscious and unconscious, direct and indirect, share in the making of history.

Illustration of history to be drawn from the circumstances of secondary actors.

Only fifty years passed between the enactment of the constitutions of Clarendon and the surrender of the kingdom by John to pope Innocent III. One life of ordinary length might witness the martyrdom of S. Thomas and the suspension of Stephen Langton. What were the processes by which the changed attitudes of parties and the altered appearances of principles were brought about? Was the difference ascribable only to the inferiority of John to Henry, of Thomas to Stephen, of Alexander to Innocent? What was the direction, the impetus, the initial force of the undercurrent that made it possible for such changes to be wrought by such men? What was the share of Richard, of Urban, Clement, and Celestine, of archbishops Baldwin and Hubert, of Ranulf Glanvill, William Longchamp, or Geoffrey Fitz-Peter? For an answer to such questions the student must look, like the archæologist, below the surface of political history. In 1164 he finds king, bishops, and barons on one side, the archbishop and the inferior clergy on the other, the pope and the people either uninterested observers or half-hearted partizans. In 1215 he finds the king and the pope allied against the church and the people. We welcome any trustworthy details which, however unimportant, help to show how the different estates of the realm stood to one another, to the pope, and to the king at a fixed period in the meanwhile, and to indicate the variations in their combinations, the causes of their mutual attraction and repulsion.

Yet the principles of the disputes are important as well as the incidental light thrown on the actors.

It would not be wise or just to overlook the character of the principles or the processes in which they are traceable, merely because the disputes were on matters long ago decided, and so decided as to have scarcely any political importance left. The monastic system and the influence of the Roman court in England, although their direct bearings have for three centuries been practically annihilated, have left in their secondary effects marks too broad to be overlooked by superficial criticism, and far too deep to be underestimated by the careful student.

The present volume contains a collection of letters on the dispute which arose from the attempts of archbishops Baldwin and Hubert to found a great church and college of secular canons. This project gave much offence to the monks of Canterbury, who thought they saw in it, what was probably the intention, a design to supplant them in their position of metropolitan chapter, and to substitute a body of men, to be provided for out of their revenues, who would be more amenable than themselves to the influence of the king and of the primate, and not, as they were, attached to the court of Rome. This collection includes all the correspondence on both sides on which the compiler was able to lay his hands. It was formed between the year 1201, when the suit was finally decided, and the year 1205, when the new and more famous one as to the election of Stephen Langton began. The compiler, according to the contemporaneous title prefixed to the MS., bore the name of Reginald, and was probably the person who, as subprior, was elected by the younger portion of the monks to supply the place of archbishop Hubert in 1205. The question of his identity is, however, of very small importance, as there are but three pages in the whole volume that can certainly be ascribed to him.

Principal subject of the present volume; and character of the compilation.

The MS. in which these letters are contained is in the Lambeth Library, No. 415. It consists of 140 folios of a moderate quarto size, and has originally contained six more. It is written in double columns, the words being very much abbreviated, and in the hand of the earliest part of the thirteenth century, within the limits stated above. It has been defaced in six or seven places with some dark liquid, through which it is extremely difficult to decipher the text. At what period this was done does not appear; and the disfigurement must have been partly, at least, accidental. A transcript which is now in the Harleian collection (No. 788) was made in the seventeenth century, and then the obliterations existed, for the transcriber, unable to read the blotted portions, has left hiatuses where they occur: the colour of the obliterating liquid must, however, have darkened with age, as the edges of the blots do not exactly coincide with the hiatuses in the copy, and some of the passages were certainly more legible then than they are now. By a perfectly innocent process I have succeeded in making out every word, although some of the passages were at first sight an almost impenetrable thick brown. The Harleian transcript does not go beyond the 136th folio. The six lost folios contained the conclusion of the legal argument with which the volume closes, and were probably detached as early as the reign of Edward I., for at folio 133 occurs a note in a hand of that date, that the remaining fourteen folios were to be kept carefully and returned to Canterbury. This part was perhaps lent to some one for transcription, and only eight folios returned. The reverse of the last folio is the worst defaced in the book, and has been fastened down in binding. I have, however, made it out.

History of the MS.

Little can be said of the history of the manuscript. It probably remained with the convent until the dissolution. It must have come into the hands of archbishop Bancroft before the year 1610. The names of Thomas Alley, Thomas Draper, and Beaufey, which are scrawled on the fly-leaves, perhaps belonged to some intermediate owners, and the words "Eaton" and "Ætonæ" point to its temporary home.

The contemporaneous title is "Epistolæ Reginaldi de ments in England differs in very many respects from that of similar institutions amongst those nations which had been civilized and settled subjects of the Roman empire. Whatever remains of such civilization or settlement existed in Britain after the departure of the Romans, were swept away by the Anglo-Saxon invasion, and the work of civilization and Christianity had to be begun from the beginning in the sixth and seventh centuries. The conversion of England was accomplished principally, if not entirely, by monks either of the Roman or of the Irish school; and thus the monastic institution was not, as among the earlier converted nations, an innovation which rested its claims for reverence on the sanctity or asceticism of its professors: it was coeval with Christianity itself: it was the herald of the Gospel to kings and people, and added the right of gratitude to that of religious respect or superstitious awe. Hence the system occupied in England and in the countries converted by English missionaries a position more really honourable and better maintained than elsewhere. Although the monasteries of France and Italy were larger and politically more powerful than those of England, they did not enjoy the same place in the affections of the people, nor were they either so purely national, or nurseries of patriotic spirit in the same way. It may be added that whilst in the Latin speaking countries the history of monachism is one long record of corruptions and reforms, in which constant changes and the institutions of new rules were insufficient to counteract increasing decline, the English monasteries were free from most of the evils that prevailed abroad. The fact that no important new rule of monastic life was indigenous in a country so famous for the number of its monastic houses, seems to prove that no crying necessity for moral reformation was ever made out. The new foreign rules were at times freely adopted; the Cistercian rule in particular was extremely popular almost from its foundation, but the more ancient monasteries continued to call themselves Benedictine without a difference; and although the Cluniac reformation was coeval with the monastic revival under Odo,¹ and probably exercised some influence upon it, there is no instance of the formal introduction of that rule before the Norman Conquest. The great influx of foreign monachism that then set in was one of the smallest effects of that event on the character of the English convents.

The apostles of England, Augustine and Mellitus, Aidan, Finnan and Fursey, Chad and Cedd, Wilfrid and Egwin, although the fashion of their tonsures differed, all professed the threefold obligation of humility, chastity, and poverty. In the best of these and of their immediate followers, the ascetic and the missionary characters were happily blended. Their devout retirement was a means of gaining rest and strength of body, mind, and spirit for new work. Every good missionary must be an ascetic; so for the first century of the conversion every monastery was a mission station, and every mission station a monastery. As the country became more thickly peopled, and the people more generally Christianized, a settled clergy took the place of the missionaries. The settled clergy were not bound by monastic rule, but were allowed to hold property, and probably to marry, although the marriage of the Anglo-Saxon clergy at so early a period is not so well ascertained as it is later on, and in the ages immediately before and after the Conquest. The characters and status of clerk and monk were not so sharply separated as they afterwards became; the Benedictine was but a lax follower of the rule of S. Benedict, the priest had not yet arrived at the comforts and luxuries of an independent life and definite position.

As, however, the needs of mission work became less exigent, and the established clergy farther removed from monachism, a change necessarily took place in the character of the monasteries. Some became the cells of anchorites, as Lindisfarne, Crowland, and Glastonbury: some became schools of learning, as Canterbury and Malmsbury. The spirit brought by Theodore and Adrian into the south, and by Benedict Biscop into the north of England, combined a stricter rule of life with the love of learning, cultivation of manners, and tact in association with the world. Theodore was the great administrative founder of the Church, and his introduction of learning into the country fell most fortunately at a moment, when the zeal of missionary adventure began to look abroad for fresh fields of work, and but for this the monasteries would have sunk, one and all, into the follies of a stupid and mischievous asceticism. This learned period may be considered to have extended from the year 669 to the middle of the following century, in the south of England; and about fifty years longer in the north, where the example of Bede, and the munificence of archbishop Egbert and his successors, had an influence on the cultivation of letters which at once culminated and expired in the glories of Alcuin.

Diversion of missionary zeal.

The better portion of the monastic spirit, which was neither devoted to learned pursuits, nor lost in the asceticism of the marshlands, found abundance of missionary work in Germany and Friesland. Boniface and his companions, although personally and in principle far more self-denying than the monks they left at home, and in theory quite as much devoted to the monastic ideal, were practically guided by earnest Christian zeal, and showed unwearied industry in their great work. No man saw more clearly than Boniface, or spoke more plainly of the evils inherent in the monastic system where it depends on asceticism alone: the utter worthlessness of the prayers of men whose hands do not work for the things they pray for.

The middle of the eighth century witnessed a rapid degeneration in monastic discipline; and at the same time we begin to see more clearly the demarcation between the character of the monastic and that of the secular priest: the monastery becomes distinguished from the college of clerks and the cathedral minster. The Council of Clovesho, of 747,¹ marks both the increase of selfishness and exclusiveness in the monks, and the release of the clergy generally from the monastic bond. An attempt seems to have been made, probably originating in the remonstrances of Bede and Boniface, to reduce the true monasteries to the Benedictine model, and to put an end to the fraudulent perversions of religious foundations to serve the ends of secular avarice. Almost at the same time the institution of a new rule for priests living in community, a measure the credit of which is due to Chrodegang, archbishop of Metz, gave to the clergy who were not under monastic vows a dignified and creditable status which they had not before possessed. This system, although never introduced in detail into England,² served as a model on which colleges of clerks or canons were incorporated, and quickly commended itself to those who wished the clergy to do a good work in the world, and to retain the advantage of monastic superintendence and corporate feeling, without the trammels of a rule which hindered their practical efficiency. The monks and priests, who had until now lived together, separated. Their rival churches began to rise side by side in the larger cities: disputes arose as to ancient gifts of property, whether they belonged to the clergy as clergy, or to the monks, the successors of those who had been both monks and clergymen; and whether the original foundations of particular houses were or were not monastic. The popularity of monachism began to decline, and the charms of the secular life to draw away many from the stricter rule. In 787 the legatine Council ordered by special canon³ that monks should live monastically and canons canonically. The dark age of monastic history had already set in, and the veil drawn forcibly by the cruel ravages of the Northmen and Danes from 790 to 870 closed on a state of things so obscure as to be unable to reveal its own condition.

The ninth century in England, until the reign of Alfred, is a blank as to learning, sanctity, or practical activity. Swithun, the one saint of the period, is vastly more mythical than the most obscure of the heroes of the two preceding centuries. Learning had reached the point at which, south of Humber, it was hard to find a man who could read Latin.¹ Devout men spent their active energies in pilgrimages to Rome rather than in doing their duty; and when the Danes came in force, they fell on an enervated and almost defenceless people. Monachism, for good or for evil, had become (so far as the scanty notices of the chronicle teach us) extinct before the reign of Alfred.²

which monachism
became extinct.

Very few of the religious houses which perished during the Danish wars ever rose again from their ashes. The cathedrals and city monasteries were almost the only exceptions. Alfred's foundation at Athelney bore the name of a monastery, and some pains were taken by him to introduce into England learned monks from France, Flanders, and Germany. The attempt, however, to restore monachism against the sense of the nation was premature, and its issue was so discouraging that his son Edward gave the New Minster of Winchester to clerks instead of monks. It is certain that in 942 there were no real Benedictines in England;³ Odo, Oswald, and probably Dunstan, sought the knowledge of true discipline at Fleury, which had been just reformed under the spirit, if not under the name, of the Cluniac revival.

Monachism, as introduced by Dunstan and worked by his disciples, was a very different thing from what it had been before the invasion. It was aggressive, and self-asserting in an extreme degree. It claimed the rights and territories of the ancient houses, and introduced a spirit of persecution and tyranny altogether foreign to the ancient character. Although it had no real pretension to represent the system under which the country had been converted, it took to itself at once the prerogative right to national gratitude. Not content with claiming the property of the old monasteries which had fallen out of cultivation, or got into the hands of the secular clergy, it insisted on the removal of the latter from foundations to which they had at least an equal claim. It spared neither spiritual terrors nor the commanding temporal influence which it had obtained rather from the superstition of the kings than from the ambition of the prelates. And yet it had its bright side; for it helped to cure great defects of moral discipline; it prevented the Church property from becoming the inheritance of a distinct priestly caste; it produced a revival of national learning; and it still maintained, notwithstanding an occasional influx of foreign zealots, a thoroughly national spirit. The bishops were the agents of the change, and they acted on their own inherent authority, not at the dictation of the court of Rome. This new movement lasted as long as the supremacy of the family of Edgar. Cnut and Harold as practical men founded colleges. Edward the Confessor revived the monastic spirit with which he was himself pervaded; and the system which was extended and consolidated by Lanfranc was inaugurated in his reign by the new foundation of Westminster.

The effect of the Norman Conquest in this matter was peculiar and important. It owed its character indirectly to the two powerful minds that were at the head of Church and State. Lanfranc saw in the monasteries, societies of degenerate Benedictines; William, nests of anti-Norman feeling. Lanfranc tried to reform the abuses by drawing closer the rules of discipline; William sought to stifle the patriotic spirit by setting over them the tools of his strong policy. But turbulent and worldly foreign abbots were not more likely to improve the tone of religious society, than rigorous reformers to soften the asperities of national antipathy. The two forces did not exactly neutralize one another, because they were neither equal nor opposed in direction; but the combination produced a result that neither William nor Lanfranc could have calculated on.

that policy.

For a long time the English spirit in the monasteries maintained itself against both tyranny and reform. They hated the Norman invaders, but they had no inclination towards Rome, under whose auspices the Norman invasion had succeeded. At the time, however, that the Normans were taking deep root in England and becoming amalgamated with the natives of the soil; as their interests became insular, and their policy influenced by their insular interests; at this very time also, the royal and the papal politics were diverging; during the whole period of the amalgamation the influence of the court of Rome was declining, partly from the failure of good will in England, partly from its own weakness.

As the Normans became Anglicized, and the royal policy, internally at least, English, the monasteries, still in opposition, lost their distinctive characteristic of patriotism. As the State ceased to be influenced by the court of Rome, the monks looked to the court of Rome for sympathy and assistance. As the bishops and secular clergy opposed themselves to Roman centralization, the monasteries became colonies of Roman partizans. Their sympathies and antipathies were all in common with Rome, and their national spirit evaporated altogether to find a fitter and more permanent abode in the necessary organism of the church. So long as the pope and the king were on the same side, the monks and the nation were opposed to both alike; when the pope and the king quarrelled, the nation sided with the king, the monks with the pope; hence the monasteries became more papal as the State became more national, and the same series of events made them less English without becoming more Norman, and more papal without becoming more loyal. Matters had reached this point in the latter years of Henry II.

Alienation
of the monastic system from the national life.

The monastic cathedral was an institution almost peculiar to England.¹ The missionary bishop, himself a monk, accompanied by a staff of priests who were also monks, settled in the chief city of a kingdom or province. He built his church, his staff of missionary monks became the clergy of that church; the church itself was called a monastery. As the mission work prospered the populations of the larger towns were converted, and settled clergy who were not monks undertook the spiritual charge of them. In time the overgrown dioceses were divided. The principal church of the district became the seat of a bishop, who might or might not be a monk, but who found his episcopal chair placed for him in a church which was of older foundation than itself, and which possessed a character that he ought not and perhaps had not power to infringe. The longer the subdivision of the original diocese was delayed, the more certain was the new bishop to find himself surrounded by a staff of secular city clergy. His cathedral continued to be an establishment of secular clerks, and when the name and usage of canonical life came into fashion, they took, as a matter of course, the name of canons. In this way it happened that, whilst the newly-founded sees of Anglo-Saxon bishops were placed in secular churches, the original settlements of the first missionary bishops retained a monastic character. Canterbury was thus monastic, although Rochester and London, founded as episcopal sees within seven years, were secular cathedrals. Lindisfarne continued monastic, but York was a minster of clerks. The mother church of Mercia was the monastery of Diurna, but Lichfield and Hereford, and, as far as we know, Leicester, Dorchester, and Worcester, were from the beginning in the hands of clerks.¹

Cathedrals
in the early period of
monachism.

During the early stages of monasticism, briefly characterized above, this distinction was practically of little importance; monks and clerks lived together comfortably enough. Later on the secular bishop in a monastic cathedral kept his clerks in his palace; the monks served the church; the monastic bishop in a secular cathedral lived as abbot in his own house and presided as bishop in the church.² In the further stage of the decline of monachism the churches came almost entirely into the possession of the bishops' clerks.

¹ According to Rudburne, Ang. Sac. i. 190, Birinus was a Benedictine monk, and the church of Winchester originally monastic; but there is no proof of either statement. The monastic order became extinct there, according to the same author, in 870.

² I believe that this is still the case with the Greek, or at least the Russian bishops. They are necessarily monks or celibates, and their staff is composed of monks or celibates:

but the cathedrals are served by secular clergy under an archpriest. The Scoto-Irish system, in which the bishop was an officer of the monastery governed by an abbot, in whom, and not in the bishop, the jurisdiction was vested, is, of course, completely different. But it is possible that the monastic system, as it existed at Lindisfarne, was influenced by the Irish connexion quite as much as by the pattern of Canterbury.

As restored monachism developed its more aggressive character, the monastic bishops in some cases edged out the secular clergy from the cathedrals. At Worcester the bishop's chair and the cathedral property were transferred from the college of S. Peter to the monastery of S. Mary; at Sherborn and Winchester the clerks were compelled to embrace the monastic life or to retire from the churches. At the time of the Conquest York, London, Hereford, Selsey, Wells, Exeter, Rochester, Lichfield, Dorchester, and Thetford were secular; Winchester, Worcester, and Sherborn were monastic; the mother churches of the north and south had retained from the beginning the monastic profession. The chair of Augustine had never been removed from Canterbury, and Durham had inherited the original character of Lindisfarne.¹ In the former, as early as the time of Bede,² the monastic character of the church was based on the authority of S. Gregory, and before the Conquest this was understood to have been confirmed by a rescript of pope Boniface IV.³ Durham, according to its own historian Simeon, had been continuously tenanted by a society of mixed character.

The cathedral church of Canterbury was not, however, a monastery in the same sense as that of S. Augustine's in the same city; the latter was founded for monastic purposes; the other was the mother church of the whole kingdom, its monastic character being almost accidental. Hence, even in the strictest days of regular discipline, it had contained many clergy who were not monks, and many monks who were so only in name. As at the first the essential character of its inmates was priestly, not monastic, so as time went on, their successors included both priests and monks. It continued a monastery in name, but of its clergy some were and some were not under monastic vows. Although the later monkish historians contended that all the archbishops up to the Conquest were monks, it is certain from Bede and from the Chronicle that they were not uniformly so. Under variations in the characters of the rulers of the church, the double character of the archiepiscopal familia may well have been maintained, so long as no jealousies sprang up between the two constituents, and there was work enough for both. It is not easy to say at what period the monastic discipline at Christ Church became extinct. Early, however, in the ninth century we find archbishop Wulfred allowing his familia to possess houses of their own within the monastery,¹ and to dispose of them by will among their brethren, a state of things quite incompatible with the rigour of Benedictine rule. The pontificate of Ceolnoth (833 to 870) is the date fixed by the monastic historians for the so-called usurpation of the cathedral by secular clerks. According to this story, the number of the monks having been reduced by sickness to five, the archbishop ordered his chaplains and the priests of the city to assist in divine service until he could properly supply the vacancies.² This the continuance of war prevented him from doing, and Æthelred his successor was defeated in a like purpose. After nearly two centuries of secular occupation archbishop Ælfric succeeded in restoring the monks, but of these all but four are said to have shared the martyrdom of S. Ælphege.³ From 1012 to 1070 a curious compromise between theory and fact seems to have prevailed. The church was a monastery, and the inmates bore the name of monks, but they did not keep the monastic rule, and moreover assumed the titles of a secular chapter; their president was called a dean, the monks were also cathedral canons.¹ The exact truth of these details it is of course impossible to test, but they contain nothing that is either improbable or inconsistent with ascertained facts. The subject has been rendered obscure both by the partizans and by the enemies of monachism. The former have never allowed the most positive evidence where it clashed with their claims of superiority and antiquity; the latter have been almost as unscrupulous. But it would seem, on a careful consideration of what is said and what is left unsaid in trustworthy records, that the body which Lanfranc undertook to reform was in name monastic, whether it became distinctively so under Ælfric or had borne the title through various fluctuations of discipline from the earliest times.

Cathedral system at Canterbury in the 11th century a compromise between secular and regular professions.

It was unfortunately the policy of the monks and their advocates to claim an original right to all monastic churches, and to aggrandize themselves whenever they could with the occupation of those to which they had not the original claim, on the ground of their sanctity. In this way no prescription against them was allowed to defeat their existing claims, and the shortest prescription in their favour was pressed against the most just claim of the seculars. To turn a church of clerks into a monastery was a merit of great efficiency for the remission of sins, but to turn a monastery into a secular church was an unheard-of impiety. On this principle Worcester and Winchester changed their discipline under Oswald and Æthelwold; and although there were probably other reasons for the changes introduced shortly before and after the Conquest, the rule that a claim to superior ascetic sanctity entirely superseded all the rights of property and prescription, was acted upon, if not by those Norman and Lotharingian bishops,¹ who attempted to force the use of a common dormitory and refectory on their reluctant canons, certainly by Gundulf in his reforms at Rochester and William of S. Carileph at Durham.

It may be, however, that the measures of Lanfranc and his followers in the reform of the cathedrals were not altogether spontaneous. It is even possible that the original design was not to turn the secular ones into monasteries, but to reduce the monastic cathedrals into the form common throughout the Western Church.² At Winchester bishop Walkelin made a vigorous effort to expel the monks, which was only defeated by a papal letter forbidding him to molest them.³ A similar letter⁴ is extant, addressed to Lanfranc in reference to changes reported to be in contemplation at Canterbury. It was probably in consequence of this admonition that he organized the cathedral establishment on the footing which it maintained down to the dissolution. The alteration was quietly effected, the dean becoming the prior and the rest of the unmarried canons accepting the profession and position of monks.

by men who were in many cases monks, and in all imbued with extreme respect for the sanctity of the institution, the real inherent antipathy between the two ideas developed very early. It is certain that in the Council of Hertford, which was held by archbishop Theodore in 673, to reduce to order the religious organization of the southern kingdoms, this was a matter of consideration. The third canon of that assembly¹ provided, "that as all monasteries are consecrated to God, it shall be lawful for no bishop to disquiet them in anything, or to abstract any of their property by violence." It would seem from this that difficulties had already arisen. It is a question whether any of the papal exemptions which claim so early a date as the eighth century are genuine. Bede, however, records a privilege of pope Agatho to Benedict Biscop,² by which the monastery which he had built was rendered safe and free for ever from any interference from without. The monks of Peterborough alleged that they had a still earlier one, in which pope Vitalian exempted them from all subjection except to the pope of Rome and the archbishop of Canterbury.³ Evesham possessed two letters of pope Constantine conferring liberties of the same character in language more grandiloquent than precise.⁴ The famous exemptions of S. Augustine's at Canterbury bear the names of popes Adeodatus and Agatho,⁵ but their authenticity was a matter of question in the twelfth century. In all these cases except the first there is great room for doubt. The chartulary of Chertsey⁶ contains a bull of pope

Agatho to S. Erkenwald, which, although not free from suspicious characteristics, has greater claim to be received as genuine. There is also a similar grant of pope Constantine to the monasteries of Bermondsey and Woking, which is found in the Black book of Peterborough,¹ and which, as no monasteries are known from other sources to have existed at those places before the Conquest, is exposed to very slight presumption of forgery. The two last-mentioned privileges are in strong contrast with the lavish bestowals of independence that appear in the later and forged charters of exemption. The convents are to elect their own abbots, but the canonical power of the bishop of the diocese is not to be infringed: the episcopal examination must be passed before the abbot can receive benediction. The bishop is carefully excluded from interfering with the administration of the monastic property. The exemption was supposed to make the monastery independent of the diocesan, but did not make it dependent on the court of Rome. It is probable that to this extent, and no further, the independence of the monasteries reached before the Conquest. After that event the foreign system of exemptions was occasionally introduced, the greater abbeys by either forged or genuine privileges actually acquired independence, and the smaller ones by affiliating themselves to one of the new orders, such as those of Cluny or Cîteaux, which were dependent on a chief abbot or on a general chapter, and through them on the pope alone, placed themselves and were frequently strong enough to maintain themselves in a similar position. These houses neither were in obedience to the bishops nor contributed to their revenues in synodals and procurations, nor could the bishop celebrate mass or hold synod in them without permission.

The cathedral monasteries looked with a jealous eye upon their privileged sisters. In them the bishop claimed the place of abbot, the right of presiding in the election of the officers, or of actually nominating them, and the abbot's share in the management of the estates. He was the persona of his cathedral, and through him as tenant in chief of the Crown the tenure of the monastic property was defined. Such at least was the episcopal claim, confirmed by the language of Lanfranc and Anselm.¹ The monks, unable to emancipate themselves by papal privilege, could only gain an equality with the exempt monasteries either by occasionally influencing a pious bishop to defeat the rights of his successors, or by procuring from the Crown charters of confirmation to the prior and convent instead of, as they had hitherto run, to the bishop and his monks, the bishop and his family, or the bishop and his flock. The vigilance of the prelates generally prevented the latter expedient from succeeding, but advantage was frequently taken of the piety or weakness of those who had been monks before their consecration, to effect the former. Hence the eagerness of the cathedral monasteries to elect none but monks as their bishops. The see of Canterbury was filled by monks for one hundred and twenty years, from Lanfranc to Baldwin, with only two exceptions, William of Corbeuil, who was a canon regular, and S. Thomas, whose monastic profession was assumed long after his consecration. During this time the power of the prior and monks, to the exclusion of the archbishop, increased with more or less rapidity. Lanfranc had either actually separated the estates of the archbishop from those of the monks, or had confirmed the separation. They appear under different heads in the Domesday survey. Anselm bestowed on the prior and convent the power of administering these separate estates and of dispatching in common council all the business of the house; in this was included the right of holding the manorial courts on their estates.¹ To him also the convent owed, besides liberal gifts in money, furniture, and land, the settlement of the whole oblations of the high altar,² of which Lanfranc had retained half, and of the xenia, or Easter and Christmas offerings from their manors, which were settled on the cellarer for the use of the sick and strangers.³ By these sacrifices he left himself little more than a nominal supremacy in the chapter, and renounced all interest in the revenues of the house of which he was theoretically abbot. His object, however, was not to exempt the monks from the authority of the archbishops, but, as is expressly stated by Eadmer, to prevent the estates from falling into the king's hands during the vacancies of the see.⁴ This policy was easily interpreted by the monks as freeing them from subjection to either king or primate.

Privileges granted by archbishop Richard.

The example of Anselm was followed by S. Thomas,⁵ and archbishop Richard, who had been prior of Dover, a monastery in the gift and under the dominion of the cathedral. Both of these had surrendered the oblations of the church, which during the time of Richard included the immense treasures offered at the tomb of his predecessor. Richard had further appropriated four churches, with their dependent chapels,⁶ to the uses of the almonry. One privilege, however, seems to have been retained by the archbishops, the right of presenting to the churches on the estates of the convent. This was supposed by the monks to be a usurpation of archbishop Theobald; but it is by no means certain that the right had ever been exercised by the convent without the nomination of the archbishop. S. Thomas retained the presentations in his own hands,¹ and although Richard, in the first year of his consecration, professed to restore them, Gervase the chronicler admits that the restoration was defeated by the intrigues of the archbishop's clerks, and that the convent did not enjoy its rights.

The archbishop retained the right of presenting to livings on the conventual estates.

It is no wonder that under these circumstances, and owing to the frequent long absences of the archbishops, the obedience formerly due to them came to be looked upon as a voluntary thing. The claim of the convent to elect their head was put forward on every occasion, and yet when the archbishop was elected, he was hardly recognized as a member of his own church. Although he was the rector and persona of the cathedral, the prior and monks claimed to be the church of Canterbury. To the convent, according to their absurd interpretation of the oath of profession, every newly-consecrated bishop swore fidelity; the archbishop was little more than their minister and mouthpiece, and when his voice was not in accord with theirs, he was directly disowned. The martyrdom of S. Thomas, which, if it was an offering at all, was certainly an offering for the immunities of the whole of the clergy, was looked on as the redemption of the church of Canterbury; the church of Canterbury was the mother church of England, a declaration which, however true in one sense, was pressed now into a meaning that was false both in law and in fact.

The influx of wealth produced a corresponding lavish and luxurious outlay. The hospitality of the convent became famous in all the Western Church, from the crowds of pilgrims who returned from the shrine of the martyr. The internal expenditure was also immense. The refectory was the scene of the most abundant and tasteful feasting. Seventeen dishes were served up at the prior's table.¹ The servants and equipages of a hundred and forty brethren² were numerous and splendid. The monastery had become a little town, in which the prior was supreme both temporally and spiritually. The example of Canterbury was followed by some of the other cathedral monasteries, and the struggle recorded in the following pages was the result of an attempt of the archbishop and bishops to remedy the evils and discomforts of such a relation.

The first tokens of the strife may be discovered in the history of the pontificate of Theobald, in 1150.³ At that time the revenues of the convent were so much diminished by the demands of hospitality and by the

Of the number of servants it is difficult to form an idea. The cellarer in 1322 had thirty-eight servants under him; and the chamberlain and sacrist had large numbers of people employed as tailors, furriers, launderers, &c., and in the service of the church. records two other quarrels between the archbishop and the convent, one in the time of William of Corbeuil, about the church of Dover; and a second, between Theobald and prior Jeremiah, whom he compelled to resign. Both, no doubt, helped to embitter the feeling between the parties, but they have no particular bearing on the present controversy. Peter of Blois (ep. 216) states that there had been a continual hostility of the monks to the archbishop since Anselm's time: the days of Thomas not excepted: one of the brethren refers to the ill will shown by the convent to the martyr in No. cclxviii.

ravages of war, that the prior restored to the archbishop the administration of the conventual property, which had been granted by Anselm, begging him to manage it, and to maintain the brethren until better times came. Theobald began by exercising severe economy; he closed the convent against all but the poorest guests, and fed the monks, to their great disgust, on coarse bread and vegetables, sometimes allowing only one loaf to two. The monastic temperament would endure none but voluntary fasting; speedy repentance followed the exercise of stricter discipline, and the archbishop was roundly charged with nursing his own estates at the expense of his flock. Theobald, who had undertaken the stewardship with great reluctance, was justly provoked at this absurd accusation, and refused to listen to the complaint of the prior; the convent appealed to Rome; the archbishop closed the monastery and restrained the monks from egress, stopped divine service, seized the prior's horses, carried off the charters of the church, and arrested and imprisoned the brethren who had been chosen to prosecute the appeal. Adding insult to injury, he compared the monks to dogs. The mediation of the prelates was shortly afterwards successful in inducing the convent to renounce the appeal and the archbishop to restore the estates. He insisted, however, on the resignation of the prior, which he effected after three years' litigation, the contest being a drawn game, except so far as his personal enmity to the prior was gratified by the result.

Archbishop Baldwin, whose misfortune it was to renew the struggle after the position of the monks had been strengthened and their resources increased during the pontificates of Thomas and Richard, was a man of singular sanctity, courage, and honesty. He was one of the most distinguished scholars of his time, and has left behind him works which attest his pro-

Alexander Llewelyn, the cross-bearer of the martyr, used to say of the three archbishops whom he had known, that when they came to town, the first place S. Thomas visited was the court, Richard, the grange, Baldwin, the church. He was, in fact, a Cistercian of the best sort, a man who lived but little for the world, and that to make it better. A certain infirmity of purpose may be traced in his career, for which the rapid changes which attended his promotion may account, if they cannot excuse it. He adapted himself perhaps too easily to the quickly changing circumstances of his life, and so failed to carry out in his higher position the hopes and promise which had led to his attaining it. According to Giraldus, his friend, as well as to Urban III., his bitter enemy, he was more zealous as a monk than as an abbot, as an abbot than as bishop, as bishop than as archbishop. In the mouth of Urban this was almost praise. We, judging him by a better standard, may admire the honesty and clear-sightedness in which, as an abbot, he chose to perform the duty of an abbot rather than to humour the prejudices of his monks; and, when he became archbishop, tried to do his duty as an archbishop, instead of playing into the hands of the monastic party, a course which would have ensured him a much more quiet life, and, considering the circumstances of his death, might have entitled him to canonization. The errors of temper, harshness, arbitrary severity, and want of tact, of which he cannot be acquitted on the evidence of the following letters, are not perhaps really inconsistent with the character drawn of him by Giraldus. They seem to be exactly the faults into which an unworldly man would be hurried by the influence of unscrupulous and interested advisers.

His errors
of temper.

To Baldwin, as a Cistercian, as a scholar, and as an archbishop, the state of his cathedral monastery was extremely offensive. The luxury and independence of the monks were opposed to all his notions of monastic sanctity: his own claims as abbot, so highly estimated under the Cistercian rule, were practically repudiated. The once famous learning of the school of Canterbury was now represented only by Nigel Wireker the poet and Gervase the chronicler. The archbishop felt himself to be an unwelcome stranger in his own house; the sense of personal dislike was added to determine his feelings towards the monks; he knew that he had been forced upon them when they would rather have chosen Theobald of Cluny¹ or Odo of Battle.²

Still, it may be doubted whether he would have attempted any measure for their humiliation if it had not been for the suggestions of the clerks, scholars, and statesmen who surrounded him in his new position. The former complained that in a monastic cathedral the archbishop had no means of rewarding his faithful servants with places of dignity and profit. All he could do for them was to enrich them with church livings, diverting the means appropriated to the cure of souls, and placing them in positions which they had neither tastes nor time to fill as the laws of the church required. of Exeter, Baldwin's kinsman,¹ could find ample room for regret that the great revenues should be spent on idle and luxurious monks, which might maintain a university of able and useful students; with such a plea Baldwin himself had much sympathy, and the poverty of the infant universities presented a disagreeable contrast to the riches of the monasteries. But the statesmen, the court bishops, and clerical lawyers were the bitterest enemies of the monks, whom they regarded as the avowed maintainers of an alien jurisdiction in the country, as the greatest supporters of dangerous and disreputable immunities, and as insurmountable obstacles to an equal and uniform administration of justice. Both king and church were from time to time exasperated by the claim of the monks to elect the primate, a claim which they looked upon as a dangerous innovation, and which, if granted, might lead to a repetition of the miseries of the struggle between Henry and Thomas. Urged by these, the archbishop began his attack upon the convent, and, advised by these, he conducted his approaches by those crooked ways in which a man cannot walk at once honestly and successfully.²

If we are to accept the account given by Baldwin and his adherents, his intention was only to build a large collegiate church, such as had been projected by S. Anselm and S. Thomas, in honour of S. Stephen and S. Thomas, to be tenanted by men of learning, usefulness, and distinction. For the maintenance of this establishment sufficient could be easily spared from the archiepiscopal property if it were freed from the claims by which the liberality or piety of the series of monks who had filled the see had impoverished it for the enrichment of the convent. The monks, on the other hand, declare that this foundation was intended to supplant their own church, as the mother church of England. It was to be built and endowed out of their estates; its canons were to be the bishops, who already claimed a voice in the election of the primate; that voice would be heard in exclusion of the convent. The archbishop, backed by the king, would have supreme jurisdiction; he would be pope and the suffragans his cardinals; beyond him no appeal would be suffered to

Fears of the monks. go ; not only would the monasteries lose their money, but their stay and support, their connexion with Rome would be cut off, recourse to the holy see would be forbidden, and a schism in the Western Church would follow. It is curious to note how nearly their instincts led them to the results which four centuries later did follow the abolition of the monastic order in England.

Baldwin obtains a papal licence to reclaim the alienated property of the see.

The first measure taken by the archbishop was to procure a letter from the pope, Lucius III.,¹ empowering him to reclaim the possessions alienated from the see by his predecessor. This licence was necessary, because the alienations in question had been confirmed by Alexander III., and by Lucius himself.² It was uncertain how far such a permission would be allowed to be valid in opposition to the papal privileges which might be adduced by the convent; but there could be no doubt that if the archbishop had proceeded without it, he would have put himself out of court at once. Of these alienated possessions the principal ones were the oblations of the church, which canonically belonged to the archbishop,³ and the four churches appropriated to the almonry, Monkton, Eastry, Mepeham, and Eynesford, and these had been confirmed to the convent by the holy see. The alienations which had not been so confirmed the archbishop could reclaim with no risk of coming in direct conflict with the court of Rome. His measures would probably be appealed against, but when the appeal was once admitted, the price of justice at Rome was notorious, and the longest purse, the weightiest influence, or the most determined pertinacity might reckon on victory.

Armed with this permission, Baldwin, on the 15th of December 1185, the first anniversary of his enthronement, ment, came to Canterbury and confiscated the xenia.¹ It is probable that the news of the death of the pope, which occurred at Verona on the 24th of November, reached England about this time, and that for that reason the archbishop did not proceed at once to seize the churches of the almonry. His agents at Verona, however, lost no time in obtaining the renewal of the licence from Urban III.² This was issued on the 19th of December, and on the 25th of January 1186, the archbishop's clerks, by virtue of his presentations, took possession of the churches of Monkton and Eastry. They borrowed the keys, says Gervase,³ pretending that they wished to hear the gospel, and fraudulently inducted the new incumbents. At the same time certain of the vills of the convent were seized and committed to lay stewards under the archbishop's authority.

The monks immediately on the receipt of this news appealed to Rome against the archbishop, who in consequence proceeded to take possession of all the estates of the church. As in Theobald's time, a mediation was proposed and accepted. The archbishop restored the estates, and the convent renounced the appeal. Baldwin retained, however, both the xenia and the disputed churches, as he had a right to do, on the renunciation of the appeal, and proceeded to bestow the latter on some of those influential ecclesiastics whose interest he was anxious to secure either at home or abroad. Eynesford he gave to John of Poitiers, now archbishop of Lyons.⁴ The convent were not unanimous in their submission; one monk, Haymo of Thanet, refused to join in the compromise, and carried the appeal (contrary to the good faith of the convent), first by letter, and then in person to pope Urban.

Prior Honorius succeeds Alan.

The next step the archbishop took was, pursuant to the policy of Theobald, to get rid of the prior and substitute a creature of his own. Alan was made abbot of Tewkesbury,¹ and to maintain the balance of justice, Robert of Hastings, Baldwin's chief supporter among the monks, was rewarded with the abbacy of Chester. Honorius, the cellarer of Christ Church, who had been chaplain to the archbishop, was elected to succeed Alan.² This appointment is said to have been made at the petition of the convent, who perhaps knew Honorius better than the archbishop did, the latter accepting him as a man who would easily be amenable to his influence. This was done on the 13th of July.

Baldwin proposes to found a college of secular clergy

Matters being now ripe for further progress, a letter was issued to the clergy and people of England, instituting a brotherhood for collecting contributions towards the building of a new collegiate church, to be dedicated to the martyrs Stephen and Thomas.³ In confirmation of this design letters were produced from the pope, which had been granted to the earnest petitions of the bishops and archbishop.⁴ One of these, which was published in November, confirmed the foundation of the college; another readjusted the oblations of Christ Church, giving one quarter to the monks, another to the poor, another to the fabric of the cathedral, and the remainder to the archbishop, to be used at his pleasure.

at Hakington, near Canterbury.

During the last week of November, Baldwin and his clerks came down to Canterbury, intending to install his new foundation for a time in the parish church of S. Stephen at Hakington, the northern suburb of Canterbury, about three furlongs from the cathedral. If we are to credit Gervase,⁵ the college was already in-incorporated. It was to consist of sixty or seventy pre-bendaries: one stall was assigned to the king, and one to each of the confederate bishops, who were each to endow and appoint his prebendary and vicar. Every incumbent of a church in the gift of the archbishop was to be a canon, and this included also all the churches properly in the gift of the convent. By a singular coincidence it happened that on the night of the feast of S. Catherine, a young monk, named Andrew John, saw a wonderful vision. The venerated form of S. Thomas appeared to him, bade him rise from his pallet and follow him from the dormitory into the choir, and through the choir into an adjacent tower. There the saint showed him a huge Catherine wheel, shooting out blue flames. Having withdrawn a little way, he saw the archbishop approach. He took three swords, and having leaned upon each to try whether it would bend, chose one of them, and summoned the prior Honorius.

 "I wish," said Baldwin, "to destroy this new work
 " (the unfinished cathedral), and for this purpose I have " made this wheel, but without you I cannot move it."
 The prior reluctantly complied, and other monks were called to help. Andrew John was now terribly frightened, and implored the saint to interfere. S. Thomas drew his sword, a blade of inconceivable brightness, inscribed with letters of gold, at the first sight of which the archbishop and his satellites vanished. He then delivered the sword to Andrew, showing him the inscription, "Gladius beati Petri apostoli," and bade him give it to the prior, who should smite with it and destroy the Catherine wheel. The monk now awoke, but the dream was thrice repeated before he ventured to tell it to the prior, who immediately saw in the wheel the archbishop's new college, and in the sword of S. Peter, the ready weapon of appeal to Rome.
 About the same time another of the brethren saw in a vision the archbishop trying to cut off S. Thomas's head, and losing his mitre in the attempt.

Second appeal of the convent.

This strange vision, whether true or fictitious, was believed by the brethren, and had the effect of settling prior Honorius in his fidelity.¹ On the 8th of December the convent united in a second appeal, which was announced to Baldwin on the 14th at Gillingham, by Gervase the historian, who fixed the date of appeal for the following Mid-Lent Sunday.² The archbishop received Gervase with calmness, and allowed the appeal. On the 16th, however, he came to Canterbury, and on the next day proceeded to Hakington, where he said mass, and instituted his canons in spite of the opposition of the convent. Returning to Christ Church the same day, he suspended the prior and the appellant brethren, closed the monastery, and ordered the monks on their obedience to remain within.³ Then, as a mark of his profound displeasure, he went to keep Christmas at Otford, thereby laying his cathedral open to an unheard-of insult, for on Christmas eve two papal legates, Hugh of Nunant and cardinal Octavian, neither of them a bishop, were suffered to enter the church with their mitres on and their crosses erect. The prior, regardless of the prohibition, fled from Canterbury immediately after Baldwin's departure, and crossing the straits, landed on the 22nd in Flanders,⁴ whence he pursued his way to Verona.

The prior goes to Italy.

The two parties and their allies.

The contest was now to begin in earnest, and each party looked round for supporters, both at home and abroad. The state of Europe was such that neither had any difficulty in finding patrons. Baldwin was strong in the assistance of Henry, who was believed to have suggested the tactics of the archbishop, and the convent consequently betook themselves to solicit the friendship of those who openly or secretly wished to embarrass the king. All who had shown sympathy with S. Thomas during his life, or reverence for him after his death, were claimed as friends by the convent. Philip of France and Philip of Flanders were drawn to this side either by dislike to the king or by duty to the martyr. The emperor Frederick was appealed to by the convent;¹ Henry the Lion, as the king's son-in-law, was favourable to the archbishop, and his example was followed by the king and queen of Sicily.² The whole Cistercian order, at home and abroad, espoused the party of Baldwin from principle and inclination; and the whole order of Cluny, at home and abroad, undertook the defence of the convent, to which they were attached by their earliest traditions. Thus the monastic party in England was itself divided, and whilst the convents of Faversham, Reading, and Lewes were found among the willing agents of the monks, those of Boxley and Robertsbridge were always ready to defeat any step injurious to the archbishop. Of the greater monasteries, those of Peterborough, Battle, and Tewkesbury were ruled by abbots who had been priors of Canterbury, and Evesham by a Cluniac monk. S. Augustine's, hating impartially both the archbishop and the convent, stood aloof from the strife. In France the abbey of S. Bertin and Cluny afforded a home to the exiles and provisions to the messengers of the convent. One Cistercian monk, Peter, who had been abbot of Cîteaux, and was now bishop of Arras, offered a lukewarm support to the monks, but actually played into the hands of Baldwin. Parties in the college

of cardinals.

In the college of cardinals the same differences prevailed. Of the cardinal bishops, Henry of Albano, who had been abbot of Clairvaux when Baldwin was abbot of Ford, undertook the defence of his friend; he was supported by cardinal Albert, the chancellor, who is also claimed by the Cistercians,¹ and who had known the king of England in former years, and by the cardinal deacon Octavian. On the other hand, Theobald, bishop of Ostia and dean of the Sacred college, had been abbot of Cluny, and also a candidate for the see of Canterbury when Baldwin was elected;² both good reasons for supporting the monks. Among the less eminent cardinals who were glad to pursue the ordinary policy of the papacy by weakening the authority of the bishops and supporting the demand of the monks, the latter found great favour. Of these were William of Champagne, archbishop of Rheims, who, though not resident, had influential agents at Verona; Gratian, the cardinal of SS. Cosmas and Damian, the friend of S. Thomas, who called him the Son of Grace, and the mortal enemy of Henry, who had contemned his mediation in 1169; cardinal Hyacinth, who afterwards became Celestine III.; the French cardinals, Melior and Ralph Nigel; Gerard Allucingoli, nephew of Lucius III.; Peter of Piacenza, Soffred of S. Mary in via lata; and John of Anagni, cardinal priest of S. Mark, to whose family was attached a young ecclesiastic, his kinsman, whose friendship gained at this time was fraught with great issues both to the convent and to their country; Lothario³ dei Conti di Segni, afterwards pope Innocent III. Last, if not least, Urban III., or pope Turban as the imperialists called him, once archdeacon of Bourges, and an ally of S. Thomas,¹ threw himself with his characteristic violence into the party opposed to Baldwin.

The archbishop took up his position with the best advice. He found himself backed by the majority of the bishops at home. Geoffrey of Ely,² the archidia-bolus of S. Thomas, was ready to depose that in that loving intercourse which they had enjoyed, the departed saint had often spoken of his design of building a church in honour of S. Stephen. Hugh of Nunant, the elect of Coventry, nephew of Arnulf of Lisieux,³ the inheritor of the diplomatic abilities, and courtly habits of a long race of astute Norman prelates, and the inveterate enemy of monachism, was prepared to go any lengths of violence in the same direction. John the Chantor, bishop of Exeter, was bound, both as an Exeter man and as a newly consecrated bishop, to take the side of his townsman and primate. The bishop of Norwich, John of Oxford, needed no persuasion to take up arms against his old enemies. Gilbert of Rochester was the near kinsman of the king's justiciar, and at constant war with the monks of his own

Stephen, had some such plan, that Geoffrey might safely assert it, whether church. Seffrid of Chichester and Reginald of Bath, with a view probably to future elections, took the opposite side. Hugh of Lincoln stood aloof, and according to his biographer, faithfully remonstrated with Baldwin, explaining the difficulties and dangers of the course he was beginning, so clearly and sensibly that the result almost entitled him to the reputation of a prophet.¹

ministers.

Of the king's ministers, Ranulf Glanvill professed attachment to the convent, but Hubert Walter, his nephew, was designated for one of the new prebends, as were also Richard Fitz Neal, the king's treasurer, and several others who rose to eminence in the following reigns, among whom were William of S. Mere l'Eglise, afterwards bishop of London; Henry of Northampton, canon of S. Paul's; and Ralph of S. Martin, the persecutor of the convent under John.²

Before sending his representatives to Rome to answer the prior, the archbishop took a step towards recovering the administration of the conventual estates. He forbade the tenants to pay rent to the monks, and, having summoned three of the brethren, presented them with a commission to manage the affairs of the house during the absence of the prior.³ The convent refused to recognize the authority, and Baldwin, having pleaded the precedent of Theobald, not feeling very sure of his ground, waived his claim.⁴ The king, who had spent Christmas at Guildford and was now going abroad, about this time sent, at the archbishop's request, the bishops of Norwich and Worcester with Hugh of Nuant,⁵ to propose an arbitration; but this was rejected by the subprior Geoffrey, a man of great firmness and much practical ability, who two days afterwards had an interview with the king at Chilham, and left him favourably impressed with his eloquence and moderation. On the 11th of February 1187, Henry II. visits Canterbury. Henry came in person to Christchurch, and prayed the monks to renounce the appeal and accept an arbitration. This failing, he addressed himself to Baldwin, with whom he was acting in concert. "Let the archbishop remove the suspension of the offending monks; the king was in despair at losing so many valuable intercessors." The archbishop insisted on a confession to be made in the presence of witnesses; the convent pleaded the privilege by which strangers were forbidden to be present on such an occasion. The archbishop, however, granted a general absolution before he left.

He now despatched his agents to Verona: Peter of Blois, archdeacon of Bath, and William of S. Faith Baldwin sends agents to Verona, and changes the site of his college. (sans faith, according to the convent), precentor of Wells. He also changed the site of his new church, from the churchyard of Hakington to the vacant space in front of S. Dunstan's church, now known as S. Thomas's hill.¹ The foundations were begun on the 18th of February, a day marked by the heaviest hail-storm ever known in Kent.

The prior and his companions, well furnished with letters of introduction, had now reached Verona, and found the pope already active in their behalf. He had listened favourably to the first appeal, and before the arrival of the prior, on the 19th of January, had issued a mandate for the restoration of Eastry and Monkton, the execution of which was committed to the bishop of Lincoln and the abbots of Boxley and

S. Augustine's.¹ As however this appeal had been formally renounced, these letters were not brought forward in the controversy. Notwithstanding the absence of Theobald of Ostia,² Honorius obtained an audience of the pope, and on the 1st of March, a week before the term of the appeal, was able to send papal letters to England ordering the archbishop to remove his suspension, and the abbots of Battle, Faversham and S. Augustine's to enforce compliance.³ As the archbishop's agents had not arrived on Midlent Sunday, Urban adjourned the hearing of the cause to the 10th of April, in the meanwhile granting several privileges to the prior, and especially vesting the whole of the oblations of the church in the hands of the convent.

Baldwin's contempt of the papal mandate.

Baldwin received the letters ordering the removal of the prior's suspension on the 25th of March, at Otford; he took no further notice of them, but, by way of showing his contempt for the convent, consecrated, at S. Paul's in London on the following day, the chrism for the diocese of Canterbury.⁴ The abbot of Battle executed his commission on the 11th of April,⁵ declaring the sentence against the prior and monks to be invalid; the other points of the mandate, which proceeded to enjoin the restoration of the status quo ante appellationem, he was afraid to proceed with, and referred them back to the pope. On the 14th¹ the archbishop's clerks appealed to the pope against the commissioners, and Baldwin replied to the attack by confining to the monastery Ralph of Orpington and John of Boching, the managers of the estates, and by building a chapel of wood, eighty feet in length, on the chosen site. He builds a wooden chapel.

This was duly reported to the pope, who, on the 9th of May, the representatives of Baldwin having not yet appeared, addressed two peremptory letters² to the archbishop, in the first of which he forbade him to proceed with his buildings, and in the second ordered him to restore the property of the convent. He also wrote to the prelates of England abolishing the new brotherhood, and to the abbots of Battle, Faversham and S. Augustine's, to compel Baldwin to restitution.³ Honorius and his party having succeeded so well, prepared to return home, leaving the cause in the hands of Master Pillius, an eminent advocate, with injunctions to watch the arrival and the machinations of the archbishop's agents. The letters were sent forward by Haymo of Thanet, the original appellant.⁴ Brothers Humfrey and Edmund prepared to accompany the prior.⁵ The pope issues two new mandates.

The apostolic mandates were served on the archbishop as he was going on a legatine visit to Wales,⁶ the first at Bredon, on June 10th, and the second at Shrewsbury, on the 23rd, by brothers Symon and Aaron. To both he returned answer in writing, "We have seen the pope's mandates, and what we have to do thereupon we will do." His practical reply was to press on the building; the papal letter had miraculous power to turn the wooden edifice to stone;⁷ Baldwin again contemns the mandates.

the canons began to build their houses, and took upon themselves the responsibility of proceeding with the church. John of Boching and Ralph of Orpington were now excommunicated, and immediately carried their complaint to the pope.¹ The royal interference was also invoked. Ranulf Glanvill forbade the execution of the second mandate, and summoned the subprior to Westminster on the 25th of July.² Geoffrey declined to obey the summons, but sent two aged brethren in his place; whom the justiciar charged to recall the prior, and to send the subprior with five or six of the monks to exhibit their privileges and charters before the king in Normandy.³

The convent were thrown into the greatest dismay by these proceedings. That the prior should have left Verona under the circumstances seemed little better than treason. Brother Haymo, who had foolishly ventured home without a protection,⁴ had been instantly sent back. Other messengers were sent off to the brethren at Verona, and to Cluny, Tours and Rheims, to meet Honorius.⁵ Haymo met him at Vercelli,⁶ but not being in possession of the latest news, could not induce him to return to the court. He proceeded homewards, and reached Soissons, where he took up his residence with the dean of Rheims,⁷ until he received peremptory directions to return to Verona.⁸ These he obeyed, and arrived there on the 11th of September.⁹ In the meantime important events had occurred both there and nearer home.

in his attempt to get the management of the conventual estates entrusted to his nominees during the absence of the prior. On his return from Wales he made another effort to secure it, which led to further difficulties. He began by again seizing the whole estates of the convent. Then, on his way to Dover, where he was going to embark for the continent, he sent for the officers of the convent, and made them a new proposition. The property of the convent was apportioned partly to the cellarership for the victualing of the house, partly to the chamberlainship for the furniture of the cells and clothing of the monks, and partly to the sacrist for the use of the church.¹ The manors appropriated to these purposes were not, however, managed by the obedientiaries themselves, but by three stewards, bursars or treasurers, who received the whole revenue, and divided it in proper proportions. The three treasurers were John of Boching² and Ralph of Orpington,³ whom the archbishop had excommunicated, and Roger Norreys,⁴ who, with the aged sacrist Robert, had been sent on private business to the king in France. The remaining two obedientiaries, Hervey the cellarer and Symon the chamberlain, obeyed the archbishop's summons. His proposal to them was that they should consent to hold their offices under him, instead of the convent, and of course should render their accounts to him only.⁴ This they refused to do, declaring that they would hold their places on the same terms on which their predecessors had done. The archbishop refused to restore the estates on any other conditions, and forbade the cellarer to meddle any more with the affairs of the house. He then, having appealed to the pope against the abbots of Faversham and Battle, sailed to Normandy, on the 11th of August.¹ The king was at Alençon, where a great court was to be held on the 28th. To Alençon accordingly the archbishop betook himself, and to his alarm found that the messengers of the convent had had an interview with the king. These were Alexander of Dover and an old monk named Robert or Richard, who had been chaplain to S. Thomas.² Henry had expressed himself in friendly terms, and so far imposed upon the envoys, that Alexander returned home. The archbishop proceeded to lay his statement before Henry, insisting on resigning his see if the monks were not compelled to obedience.³

At the court on the 28th the messengers of the convent who were sent in obedience to the command of the justiciar presented themselves, Robert, who had been sacrist for forty years,⁴ and Roger Norreys. Robert was very old and stupid, Roger was a traitor. By the king's persuasion these were induced to accept the archbishop's terms: Roger he appointed cellarer, and Robert he re-appointed as sacrist. They allowed themselves to be invested by him, acknowledging him as their feudal lord, and as the source of their jurisdiction over the manors appropriated to their obediences. They returned home with letters to the convent announcing their appointment, and to the bishop of Rochester, requiring him to institute them, and also to re-invest Symon the chamberlain as the archbishop's servant.⁵ The king either supposed or pretended to do so, that these messengers had full powers to treat on behalf of the convent, and that by yielding in this point they had satisfied the archbishop, which was all that was wanted. He wrote, therefore, to the pope, and to prior Honorius, claiming the credit of having restored peace to the church.¹

Roger and Robert were received at Canterbury with well deserved indignation. Symon refused to accept institution from the bishop, and the aged sacrist was ordered to repudiate his act at Alençon, as forced on him by the king. Roger Norreys was arrested and confined in the infirmary.² The sacrist with three other brethren was sent back to the king, to declare that from him only, and not from the archbishop, would the convent accept restitution, and that such restitution must be made to the prior and convent, not to the obedientiaries.³ These messengers were not allowed to have access to the king; the archbishop was still more exasperated, and attempted to close the courts of justice held by the convent in their own name.⁴ He also directed his servants to take possession of the estates of the convent, and displace their officials. A fresh complaint was accordingly carried to Rome: not only had the archbishop violated the ancient customs of the convent, but, by investing the obedientiaries in the king's court, he had recognized a secular jurisdiction in matters ecclesiastical. This was the news from home which reached the prior soon after his return to the papal court.

There Baldwin's envoys had been working zealously during Honorius's absence. Peter of Blois and William of S. Faith had arrived at Verona, a week after the prior had left, early in June.⁵ They seem to have held back, as if uncertain of their reception. Pillius. When he had been got out of the way, they produced on behalf of the king and primate their answers to the charges of the monks: on these pope Urban reserved his decision. They then delivered petitions in favour of the new church, and for the revocation of the privileges which the prior had obtained in March. Master Pillius was recalled to state the arguments of the convent against this. He declared that the royal letters on behalf of the new church were a mere matter of form, and such as would necessarily be granted to any influential person. To the claims of Baldwin he replied by stating the rights of the convent, and denying those of the archbishop, who had moreover put himself in the wrong by proceeding with the prohibited building. The pope then questioned Peter of Blois as to the use and necessity of the new college. "The church of Canterbury," said Peter, "is very high
" exalted and glorious, and therefore needs much help
" against princes and powers, especially such help as
" would be supplied by wise clerks, who are much more
" prudent and experienced in affairs than are monks."
" But are not," asked the pope, " the monks the minis" ters of the cathedral?" Peter admitted it. " If so,
" then why does not the archbishop use them as his " counsellors?" Here Master Pillius broke in: " My " Lord, the archbishop is bishop of the church of Can-

" these same monks. If, then, he is abbot, he ought " to change or alienate nothing without consent of his
" monks, neither in his character of bishop can he
" build a church on the estates of his chapter without " their consent." The pope next inquired what was the archbishop's purpose in building, " was the see, or
" the body of the martyr to be translated?" Peter answered that no such proceeding was contemplated, the archbishop was merely carrying out the purpose of S. Anselm and S. Thomas. " Stop," said the pope, " did

"S. Thomas wish to build a church in his own name?" ^{The pope silences Peter of Blois.} Peter, so said the monks, was silenced by this august quibble. The arguments lasted several days, but this is all that is preserved to us of the actual discussion.¹

The result of the hearing was to embitter Urban ^{Urban III. leaves Verona.} more than before against the archbishop. After Honorius's return the cause was pressed still more urgently on him by both parties. The pope's mind was at this time unsettled and soured by his quarrel with the emperor, whom he threatened to excommunicate. The people of Verona begged him not to issue his sentence whilst he was their guest; and during the last week of September he left the city, intending, according to some authorities, to go to Venice to equip a fleet of crusaders. He took, however, the way to Ferrara. Peter of Blois rode with him the first day. They had been fellow students in former days; now the envoy began to sing the praises of Baldwin. The pope, who was in bad health, and never had much command of temper, was bored by the importunity of the archdeacon. "May it please God," he cried out, "that I " may never dismount from this horse or mount steed " again, if I do not shortly dismount him from his arch- " bishoprick." Scarcely were the words spoken, when the cross of gold, carried before him by the subdeacon, fell broken at his feet. That day he reached a place which Peter calls Sutoro or Futuro. There he was seized with ^{Illness of the pope.} dysentery, and was obliged to proceed by water to Ferrara. At Ferrara he issued a mandate to the archbishop on the 3rd of October, directing him to demolish his new buildings and desecrate the site, to dissolve the collegiate foundation, and replace the convent in statu quo. Thirty days were allowed for compliance, after that term the bishops of Bath and Chichester were to enforce it. At the same time he wrote to the king, insisting on the execution of the mandate, and to the convent, annulling all sentences of excommunication, suspension, or interdict that Baldwin might launch against them.¹

Urban III.

On the day these letters were issued Jerusalem was taken by Saladin, and sixteen days after the pope died. The news of both these events reached England nearly at the same time.² It is scarcely possible that Urban should have heard of the capture of the holy city, but he may have known that the sultan had begun the siege, and that defence was hopeless. His death was ascribed to the bitterness of his grief. It is observable, however, that the letters in this volume make no mention of the surrender as a cause of his death. No such blow indeed was necessary to despatch an old man worn out with heavy anxiety and stormy passions; the dysentery caught on his journey doubtless caused his end. In him the convent lost a very zealous, if not a discreet patron, and the archbishop a furious enemy. The event was announced to both parties by their agents, Peter of Blois exhibiting a most unbecoming and heartless joy.³ Two days after the death of Urban, the new pope was chosen. The bishop of Albano, Baldwin's friend, took a leading part in the election. The cardinals nominated three candidates, the bishops of Albano and Palestrina, and Albert, the chancellor. The bishop of Palestrina was persuaded to retire on the plea of infirmity, Henry of Albano refused to undertake the responsibility, and the chancellor succeeded, as Gregory VIII.¹ His first measure was to confirm all the acts of his predecessor done within three months of his death;² his second, to make an exception in favour of the archbishop of Canterbury, thus annulling the mandates which had been gained with so much perseverance and at so great a price. This was done on the 29th of October.

The mandate arrived in England at the end of the same month, and the privilege exempting the convent from Baldwin's sentence was read in the synod of the diocese at Canterbury on the 1st of November.³ The archbishop received his letter at Caen, from brother Haymo,⁴ and declared himself willing to do justice. The king also professed to be friendly. Matters seemed a little more favourable, when the news of Urban's death spoiled all. King and primate alike threw off the mask. Henry ordered the justiciar to take the new college under royal protection, which was done on the 18th of November;⁵ and Baldwin issued injunctions for thanksgiving at Hakington for the annulling of the papal mandate.⁶ On the 17th of December he forbade the holding of the courts of the convent.⁷ Ralph of S. Martin, one of their bitterest enemies, visited them with advice to throw themselves on the archbishop's mercy; and the venerable Herbert of Bosham, with more regret, gave them the same counsel.⁸

But the spirited subprior was proof against all such recommendations, and Herbert left him convinced, according to Gervase, of the duty of resistance.

Prior Honorius was now pleading his cause over again with the cardinals, and trying to get an interview with the new pope. He was assured privately that justice would be done ultimately, but that for the time it was necessary to move cautiously. He followed the court from Ferrara, by Bologna and Modena, to Parma, and thence to Pisa, where he arrived on the 10th of December.¹ The pope professed that he had no time to listen to him; he was engrossed with receiving embassies and preparing for the crusade; the bishop of Albano was still hostile. But just as he was congratulating himself on the dismissal of his most dreaded opponent,² who was sent to conduct the matter of the crusade in Germany, the pope sickened and died after a reign of less than two months. No time was wasted in filling up the vacant throne. The Cistercian bishop of Albano was absent, and the succession was offered to the Cluniac Theobald of Ostia, the friend and patron of the monks of Canterbury. Theobald declined the dangerous honour, and Paul Scolari, bishop of Palestrina, who two months before had been shouldered out of it by the bishop of Albano, ascended the papal throne under the name of Clement III., on the 19th of De-

In England the death of Urban was regarded as ensuring the triumph of the archbishop. Hitherto he had managed to render nugatory the whole procedure of the convent. He now prepared to return, and, in concert with the king, sent the bishop of Rochester with a proposal to the convent on the 9th of January 1188.³ The bishop, attended by a few knights and by the canons of Hakington, harangued the monks in the chapter house, extolling the virtues of Baldwin, and counselling submission. He did not, however, offer any relaxation of the harshness which had been hitherto exercised by the archbishop, and ended by confessing that he was sent to inspect and place under seal the treasure of the church. The subprior took a day for consideration, and on the morrow replied, refusing to let the bishop inspect the treasure, and declining to

³ Gervase, 1514. Nos. cxlvii., clxvii. It is necessary, in order to understand the proceedings, to remember the position of the conventual buildings. The archbishop's palace and court stood to the north-west of the church. East of them was the cloister, adjoining the nave; east of that was the convent garden, and east of that, round the east end, and down the south side of the church as far as the gate of the close, extended the cemetery, which was divided into an outer and inner portion by the porta cæmeterii; this is called the court of the cemetery. Immediately adjoining the cloister on the north and east were the dormitory and refectory; beyond which

on the north was the court of the convent, surrounded by the offices, brewhouse, storehouses, &c., which joined nearly the city wall. It will thus be seen how the court of the monks being seized by the soldiers, their provisions were cut off, and they were confined to the dormitory, refectory, cloister and church buildings. The seizure of the gates of the close and of the cemetery stopped all access from without, to the church, and put the monks to great straits for provisions. There is a good map in Somner's Canterbury, and two beautiful plans, one copied from a twelfth century MS., in a memoir on the conventual buildings read by Mr. Mackenzie Walcott before the Institute of British Architects, Dec. 15, 1862.

surrender the seal or to receive restitution of the estates on the archbishop's terms. Having said thus much, he solemnly appealed to the pope, and asked the bishop for licence to proceed to Rome with his appeal. The bishop, unable to answer, retired in dismay, and the knights who accompanied him attempted to seize the court of the monks.¹ The next day, Monday, January 11,² Ranulf Glanvill arrived in person, and had a peaceable interview with the subprior. The same day Baldwin landed at Dover. On the Wednesday Geoffrey sent two monks on horseback to Wingham, to offer him the customary procession. He replied by excommunicating the messengers and seizing their horses. They returned in great tribulation on foot, and were followed by William Fitz Neal,³ the faithless steward who had deserted S. Thomas in the hour of his last peril. William found the court of the convent closed against him, broke through the wall, and occupied the gate and the outer offices;⁴ whereupon the subprior suspended divine service, and stripped the altars as in the time of interdict.⁵ The next day the servants of the convent were compelled to swear that they would prevent the monks from going outside the walls; the inner wall of the court was scaled, and the monks shut up within the line of the cloister, their provisions now falling into the enemies' hands. After an ineffectual attempt at reconciliation, made by the bishop of Rochester and Hugh of Nunant, Baldwin on the following Sunday excommunicated the subprior and his advisers.⁶ The very next day he received the news of pope Gregory's death, and, thinking that he had gone too far for his own safety, left Wingham, and, having preached an apologetic sermon at Hakington, hurried to London. He also made another offer of restitution, by the prior of S. Gregory's and the sheriff of Kent, and entreated the convent to resume divine service. The subprior answered the proposal as usual, and refused the request. The messengers, however, opened the little door in the gate of the cemetery for the admission of pilgrims, and a few days later the gate itself was opened by the sheriff, but it was still strictly guarded. In this way the monks were kept in a state of imprisonment for eighty-four weeks, during which time they were dependent for food on the gifts of the pilgrims; even Jews were found among their benefactors. They were so well supplied, it seems, that two hundred strangers were daily fed with the superfluous contributions; nor were these confined to absolute necessities, for fish, vegetables, and pepper cake were among the constant offerings; even poultry was presented for the use of the sick.¹ About the end of January Roger Norreys, the intruded cellarer, escaped from durance by making his way through the cloaca of the monks,² and betook himself to Baldwin at Otford.³

² This building occupies a conspicuous place in the ancient plan of the convent; extending from the infirmary across the court of the monks almost as far as the dormitory. If Roger was still confined in the infirmary he could have easily escaped into the cemetery, or if not, through the cloaca into the court of the convent, which, as well as the cemetery, was in the hands of the enemy. It may be well just to point out here that Roger Cloacarius, who is mentioned once or twice, is, of course, Roger Norreys. The play on the name of Norreys occurs several times, as Rogerus ab Aquilone; and the brother who has set his throne in the sides of the north. Similar are the references to William de Sancta Fide, W. Malæ Fidei and W. Sine Fide: to the unhappy pretensions of brother Felix; and to the unnecessary service of Roger Norreys after his escape. Cause of the convent at the council of Gaiting-

ton.

The king landed at Winchelsea on the 30th of January,¹ and was prevented from visiting Canterbury by the news of the suspension of divine service. He sent on the 4th of February² to the subprior orders to resume it, and summoned him with six of the brethren to the council which was to be held at Gaitington on the 11th. Geoffrey refused either to appear or to send representatives. The council assembled, and the archbishop stated his complaint against the convent in very bitter language; he also demanded the arrest of the subprior as excommunicate. The convent were defended by Reginald, bishop of Bath, who prevented the request of Baldwin from being granted. The king proposed an arbitration, and sent two bishops to Canterbury to persuade the convent to send representatives to court.

Four monks were accordingly sent on the 24th of February,³ and presented themselves before Henry at Clarendon on the 1st of March, with copies of the charters and privileges on which the convent relied. To the horror and disgust of the monks, the king declared with a magnificent oath that the royal charters were not genuine, all his councillors, except Roger the almoner and William of S. Mere l'Eglise, confirming the statement. Before he dismissed them he bade them meet the archbishop and himself at Winchester, and they were afterwards summoned on to Cirencester, where they met the archbishop going into Wales to preach the crusade. When they came into his presence, they saluted him. Baldwin returned no answer, his clerks received the attention with mockery and insult. Henry now renewed the proposal of an arbitration, to which Baldwin consented. The envoys replying that they could not get a fair arbitration in England, where the archbishop was supreme, Henry administered a reproof ^{The monks at Cirencester.} for the uncharitable suspicion, and proposed the recall of the prior. "If we consent to recall the prior, who," the brethren asked, "will engage to provide for the sustenance of the convent until his return?" Henry would not promise; the monks were sent back to consult their brethren, and the three oldest members of the convent were summoned to appear before the king. Geoffrey replied to the summons that it was impossible to send them; one was ruptured, another afflicted with hæmorrhoids, the third was a paralytic: he sent two others, who were immediately sent back by the king as unfit for his purpose. Henry was now called away by serious business, and Baldwin spent the spring in Wales.¹

The suit was in the meantime being vigorously pressed at Rome. Immediately after the bishop of Rochester's visit on the 9th of January, four brethren were sent to the pope,² one of whom, brother John de Bremble, was from this time the life and soul of the cause. His letters are all worth reading, perhaps they are the best in the volume. He crossed the Great S. Bernard in February,³ and reached Rome on the 27th of the month.⁴ Prior Honorius had not been idle. As early as the 26th of January he had procured a mandate, dated at Sienna,⁵ reaffirming the last letters of Urban, but not accompanied by a commission to enforce execution. The news brought by brother John of the outrages committed in January, was delivered to the pope on the 1st of March,⁶ and on the 17th Clement commissioned the prior of Faversham and Master Farreman, warden of the hospital of S. James at Canterbury, to excommunicate the persons who had violently entered the monastery.¹ By the same messenger the prior ordered the subprior to resume divine service.² On the 11th of April the pope promised to send a legate with full powers to settle the whole cause, and hopes were held out that the bishop of Ostia would be chosen.³

The archbishop condemns the mandates of Clement.

The mandate of January 26th was served on Baldwin on the 22nd of March, in the presence of two bishops, probably at or near Llandaff. To the bearers he returned no answer, but wrote to Hakington directing his servants to intrench the new buildings, and put them in a state of defence.⁴

Reception of the mandates at Canterbury.

On the 15th of April, being Good Friday,⁵ the letter of March 17th was received at Canterbury, with the prior's command to resume the service. The monks reluctantly obeyed this direction, and the prior of Faversham on the 23rd executed the mandate. This produced a riot, in which a nephew of S. Thomas took a conspicuous part, and was committed, with several until some days later. At least a week must have elapsed after the 2nd of March before they left Radnor: in about ten days they reached Llandaff, where they spent two nights, the bishop of Llandaff having met them two days before at Caerleon: about a fortnight later they reached Llanbadarn, and on April 10 were at Nevyn. The place where the mandate was delivered was thus between Caerleon and Abergavenny, where the bishop of Llandaff left them. Master Silvester, who treated the pope's mandates so contumeliously in No. cci., was not Giraldus, but the steward of the archbishop's household, who is mentioned in Benedict of Peterborough, and elsewhere.

other partizans of the convent, to prison, greatly to the scandal of the faithful.¹ Master Farreman, who had gone to London to avoid acting in the matter, came in nevertheless for a share of the indignation of the archbishop's party. Robert de Bechetune, one of the canons of Hakington,² led a detachment of rioters against the hospital, and the warden was obliged to appeal to the pope on behalf of his leprous old women. The parish priests of Canterbury took part with the canons, and publicly announced that the papal excommunication against the aggressors was invalid.³

Riot at Canterbury.

Through the early part of the summer the convent were cheered with reports from Rome of the speedy mission of the legate; they were also relieved from the presence of Baldwin, who sailed for France on the 16th of June.⁴ War had broken out, and the king's foreign dominions were in imminent danger. Henry followed in person on the 10th of July;⁵ and about the same time the communications from the brethren at Rome stopped suddenly for a very melancholy reason.

Baldwin and Henry leave England.

As soon as the pope had give his promise to send a legate a latere, John de Bremble started for home. Honorius, who seems to have looked on his energetic assistant with a little jealousy, remained behind with five other monks, Haymo of Thanet, Edmund, Humfrey, Symon, and Ralph the almoner. The letters of Edmund and Humfrey are preserved. They are the compositions of puzzle-headed men, whose studies had lain in mystic interpretation of Scripture and in unfulfilled prophecy. Haymo was, as we have seen, a very active and determined man, but imprudent. John, on the other hand, was a shrewd observer, plain spoken and witty ; a man of business, with a considerable command of money, and a fixed and efficacious conviction that at Rome money was all-powerful. Honorius seems to have felt it hard to keep up with the energy of John, and John evidently kicked against the devout simplicity and leisurely management of the prior. He accordingly went northward, and reached Arras on his way home.¹ The bishop of Arras was the one Cistercian friend of the convent, and brother John persuaded him to offer his mediation with the archbishop. He therefore visited Canterbury in July or August, with proposals from the archbishop, which received the usual answer.² The bishop offered then to represent the cause of the convent at the general chapter of the Cistercians in September. The offer was accepted, and a deputation of the brethren attended with him. The matter was brought before the chapter, but the abbot of Cîteaux undertook Baldwin's defence, and nothing further resulted from the proceeding.³

brethren at Rome.

It was perhaps at Cîteaux that the terrible news was received by the brethren that a plague had broken out in Rome, and that five of the monks left with Honorius were dead. Haymo, the promoter of the first appeal, went first on the 7th of July. Edmund and Humfrey followed on the 11th and 13th, Symon on the 15th, Ralph the almoner on the 18th. The prior wrote the sad story to the convent,⁴ but the letter does not seem to have reached them until the middle of September. The subprior did immediately the best possible thing: directed John de Bremble to return to the papal court at once.⁵ He took with him brother Elias and a second Symon. John borrowed a mark at

Rheims from a friendly canon, and set out in faith. Before he reached Sienna he met a servant of the archbishop of Lyons, who told him that the prior was dead. Between Sienna and Rome he heard of the death of the bishop of Ostia.* When he reached Rome, but one of the brethren, William, was alive, and he was in great danger. The mortality had extended to the servants; John's first act was to attend the cook's funeral.¹ He lost no time in besieging the pope, and on the 10th of December succeeded in getting a mandate reiterating the injunctions of pope Urban, and committed for execution to Ralph Nigel, cardinal of S. Praxedes.²

With cardinal Ralph brother John set off forthwith for England. By way of making a favourable impression on the legate he offered him a magnificent reliquary. Ralph, however, was a conscientious man, and refused the implied bribe, but he borrowed the prior's packhorse, and further commended John to the care of one of his retinue, whose expenses he was expected to pay. When the cavalcade reached Parma, his friend's horse fell lame, and John had to buy him a substitute. The new horse, which had cost a mark, turned out to be useless, and a second was bought, also at John's expense.³ Having thus propitiated both the legate and his kinsman, he was in hopes that at last the cause was prospering, when, sad to say, the cardinal himself fell ill at Pavia, and having got on with difficulty to Mortara, died there on the 30th of December.⁴

Rome in despair. Their second journey was hardly more cheerful than the first. At Bardi, in the country of Parma, the prior's packhorse, from which so much had been hoped, was lost.¹ At Sienna they found one of their servants dead. At Rome the king's agents were in full force, Simon of Apulia and four companions urging that cardinal Octavian might be sent to England as legate, that Baldwin might be permitted to proceed with his church, and that the disposition of the oblations might be restored to him. The pope refused to listen to their arguments, and doubted their credentials. They quitted Rome in chagrin, leaving their business in the hands of Robert of Rouen and Richard of Norwich, "an enemy with a very fat face and a hoarse voice." In January or February, 1189, the monks had their audience; the pope was very gracious, and asked their advice in the choice of a legate.² The brethren proposed their three friends, Gratian, Sofred, and Peter of Piacenza, the last of whom was anxious to undertake the expedition.³ Clement, however, explained that it would be imprudent to send one whose very name was hateful to the king, as was Gratian's; the other two were employed elsewhere: he suggested John of Anagni, cardinal of S. Mark. The mandate⁴ was renewed with the insertion of John's name instead of Ralph's, and John and Elias set out in his company. They reached Paris in April, and went from thence to Le Mans,⁵ where they had an interview with the king on S. Dunstan's day.⁶

During the winter of 1188 little had happened at home to cheer the imprisoned convent. Gervase notes only a grand aurora borealis on the 20th of December. The letters from Rome were few and sad. The king and his counsellors in Normandy were supposed to be meditating further oppressions; Baldwin also was abroad; the correspondence that seems to fall in with this period consists of letters of condolence from other monasteries, and of complaints and petitions for help from that of Canterbury.

After Christmas they sent two envoys, H. and R., to the king in France. They took Rheims on their way, and there fell in with the messenger from Rome,¹ who had been sent on with a copy of the mandate entrusted to cardinal Ralph. In company with him they went on to Chaumont in the Vexin, where brother H. left the other two, being afraid to meet the king. From Chaumont they proceeded to Gisors, and thence to the king at Le Mans, where they found the archbishop as well. It happened that the papal letters were delivered to Baldwin the very day that he heard of the death of cardinal Ralph. The bearer, brother Jonas, having discharged his commission, quitted the city, and left brother R. to face the king alone. He had his audience on the 1st of February, 1189. The king, who was under the influence of Roger the Almoner, a friend of the convent, listened to the monk with unusual calmness, and ended the conference by swearing that the convent should have their rights. Roger the Almoner and Hubert Walter were directed to draw up a letter to them in the king's name. The letter was written and sealed, when the archbishop, according to brother R., came down in a passion, and ordered Hubert and Peter of Blois to break the seal and read the contents.² He then added three clauses. This letter, when it arrived at Canterbury, contained an assurance of the king's good will; an account of the attempt that he had made to bring about a reconciliation, to which he found the archbishop not indisposed, and a proposal to send the bishops of Ely and Rochester, with Ranulf Glanvill and the deans of York and Lincoln, to negotiate. With them on their return he charged the convent to send representatives with full power to treat of peace. The letter concludes with a strong recommendation to submit, and a threat in case of obstinacy, which were probably the clauses added by the archbishop.¹

Royal commissioners visit Canterbury.

These commissioners visited Canterbury on the 24th of March.² They put the question, would the convent send plenipotentiaries to the king? The subprior politely refused, "None of the brethren dared to undertake such a responsibility, nor would the convent venture on such a measure whilst the cause was before the pope." The justiciar suggested that if they dared not send an envoy with full powers, they might at least send a deputation to propitiate Henry. The subprior hinted that after the events at Alençon in 1187, the king was not to be trusted. Ranulf could hardly gainsay this, so the bishop of Rochester replied with a prayer that they would confide in the king, and not refuse his good offices. The subprior would refuse no man's good offices, but "rumor de veteri faciet ventura timeri." At this juncture arrived the courier from Rome with the news of the appointment of John of Anagni as legate. This broke up the debate; the messengers returned to the king pricked at the heart. Two days after Osbert de Bristo, an unworthy monk, escaped from the convent into the court of the archbishop's palace, and took the oath of fidelity to Baldwin.³ Gervase says that he expected to be rewarded with a bishopric. The subprior now thinking himself safe under the protection of the legate, condescended to send four brethren to the king; they were stopped, however, at the gate of it with reverence, but in silence; his clerks heaped abuse on brother John, who had formerly been a member of the archbishop's household. This he bore patiently; the archbishop took no more notice of him. The next day John called on the legate, who told him that Baldwin denied the charges made against him, and professed himself ready to restore all the property of the convent on the ancient terms. As they were conversing, Baldwin himself arrived and argued his case; John tried to provoke him into a passion, and soon succeeded. The conference broke up in confusion, and more important events interfered to prevent its being resumed.

A colloquy was held between the kings of England and France at Le Mans on the 9th of June,² which resulted in an outbreak of war. Ranulf Glanvill was sent to England to levy forces, and on his way paid his devotions at Canterbury. He had an interview with the subprior, who hinted to him in a gentle way that the king, being in great straits, might, if prudently approached, see at last the use of mercy. Ranulf answered that the monks had yet to learn what mercy was, if they would, for the love of Rome, do nothing to please the king, the archbishop, or any one else. On the subprior's repeating that experience had shown that neither Henry nor his advisers were to be trusted, Ranulf quitted him in indignation: "Rome is all you seek, Rome alone will be your ruin." Geoffrey did, however, send a small deputation to the king, hoping to find him softened by his misfortunes. These penetrated to the seat of war, and found Henry at Azai, just after he had been compelled to accept terms of peace.¹ They approached with a salutation: "The convent of Canterbury salute you as their Lord." The king replied, "I was once their Lord, and am still, and will be yet;" adding between his teeth, "small thanks to you, wicked traitors." He then listened to their petition, and dismissed them with a promise of letters.² They went from Azai to Rouen, where the legate was, the king having forbidden him to go to England. With the advice of the legate, the monks offered to accept restitution from the archbishop. Baldwin tried to temporize, and ended by declaring that he would do nothing without the king. That week the king died at Chinon.

Baldwin returned to England, after more than a year's absence, on the 31st of July.³ He seems to have determined to make some sort of an arrangement with the monks before the coronation, and on the day after his landing summoned the officers of the convent to Wingham.⁴ Alan, the third prior, appeared, with a few of the brethren. The archbishop began by demanding the deposition of the subprior and John de Bremble. Alan answered that he came only as a messenger, and had no power to treat of such matters. The archbishop lifted up his hands to heaven, and cried three times, "God avenge me on the subprior." Alan replied, "If the subprior were now where he will be before a hundred years are over, it would make no difference; we will never yield." "Well," said Baldwin, "I tell you judgment is passed on him, and his punishment is at the door." On the 5th of August, the archbishop came to the cathedral, and gave the benediction after the Gospel. He also invited some of the elder monks to dine with him, which they refused to do under the circumstances. On the morrow he sent to offer them restitution of their possessions, saving their rights and his own and the pope's mandate. This was accepted, and Alan received seisin by the gift of a book. But no sooner was this done than Baldwin broke out against the subprior, declaring he would take him wherever he could catch him; he also deposed Hervey the cellarer, and nominated a monk named Felix in his place. This immediately caused a tumult; the monks insisted upon being put in bodily possession of the restored estates, and Baldwin attempted to force upon them the compact of Alençon. The convent replied with a prayer that the archbishop would fulfil the pope's mandate. He offered to do it, on condition that he should appoint the obedientiaries, the convent managing the estates as before. This they were disposed to accept, but Baldwin repented of his offer, and demanded the nomination of the treasurers as well. He did not, however, wait for an answer, but went off to Tenham. The subprior feeling himself no longer safe, fled from Canterbury on the 9th, and crossing the straits proceeded first to Arras and then in search of the legate. The queen regent Eleanor and Ranulf Glanvill were not less anxious than the archbishop to settle the quarrel before the arrival of Richard in England, and after the subprior's departure sent the abbot of Hyde and the prior of Bermondsey to Canterbury, who by threats tried to induce the convent to accept the cellarer appointed by Baldwin, and to receive restitution from them in the archbishop's name. After another angry discussion this was done, on the 12th of August, the rights and privileges on both sides being reserved.¹ The gates, which had been shut since the 13th of Richard's treatment of the legate.

It is possible that Baldwin was content to make this concession in ignorance of what the new sovereign's sentiments might be on the case. But Richard soon showed himself even more determined than his father that his rights and dignity should not be infringed. He ordered the legate into Poictou to collect the Saladin tithe, and bade him leave the monks of Canterbury for himself to deal with.¹ The legate remonstrated with the ministers, Walter of Coutances and Hugh of Nuant, but in vain. Brother John began to mistrust the legate, and wrote in haste to Canterbury for a present to secure his wavering friendship, a handsome grey great coat, or a robe of marten's skins. It was indeed necessary to strike whilst the iron was hot. For at Rome the archbishop's friends were rising: Octavian was promoted to the see of Ostia; Albinus, "a convertible man," to Albano; Bobo, an open supporter of Baldwin, to Portus; the Tuscan party, Gratian and Sofred, the only friends left to the convent, had deserted the court.²

The coronation and council at Gaitington.

The coronation of Richard was celebrated on the 3rd of September. Eight monks represented the convent on the occasion,³ and the bishops of Durham and Bath were prepared to resist the petition that Baldwin was expected to make for his new church. Baldwin, however, kept a discreet silence. From London the court moved to Gaitington, where a parliament was held on the 17th, at which the king confirmed the charters of the convent. The legate was still forbidden to enter England, and the archbishop was allowed to have his own way. He resolved to proceed to extremities, came down to Canterbury on the 6th of October,¹ and, to the horror of the monks, appointed as the new prior, Roger Norreys; he then seized the cemetery gate, that messengers might not be sent to the legate. Roger immediately took Osbert de Bristo into his counsels, and committed to him the management of the estates.

Baldwin
makes Roger

prior.

It is hardly conceivable that Baldwin ever intended to maintain Roger Norreys in the position of prior, he was certainly and notoriously a most unfit person for any spiritual office, a man with neither character, temper, nor tact.² The archbishop probably thought that such an appointment would compel the monks to submit, and that done, the obnoxious prior might be provided for elsewhere. The measure did in fact reduce the monks to despair. They sent to the king, who had recommended them strongly to compromise, first to treat of terms, next to offer a bribe; that failing, they threw themselves on his mercy. On November 8th their messengers were received at Westminster. Amongst them were nearly all the brethren who had taken active part in the struggle; the old sacrist Robert, Symon the treasurer, John of Boching, Ralph of Orpington, Gervase the historian, Nigel the poet, Master William, and Roger Norreys.³ Baldwin attempted to get the first word; Master William had been excommunicated, he must leave the court. The whole convent he accused of embezzling the treasure

² Of the bad character of Roger Norreys there can be no doubt. See the account given of him by Giraldus, in his Speculum Ecclesiæ (Ang. Sac. i. 139); by the historian of Evesham (ed. Macray, pp. 104-107); and by Gervase himself, c. 1506. It may perhaps be supposed in Baldwin's favour, that Roger had not yet exhibited his bad propensities, certainly nothing is said about them in the correspondence; and Gervase wrote his book ten or eleven years later. His conduct as prior was evidently such that Baldwin would not support him, and he was deposed within two months.

of the church. The brethren on their part demanded the removal of Roger Norreys, refusing him the title of prior. Reginald of Bath as usual supported the convent. Hugh of Durham tried to act as mediator; their other friends advised them to accept the king's arbitration; and on the following day they yielded so far as to produce their powers, and accept the proposal of a compromise. The king nominated the committee, the monks challenging only two Cistercian abbots whom he proposed. At last a jury was empaneled, eight bishops, five abbots, and the prior of Merton. The monks were now asked to declare that they would accept the decision of the committee, when Master William insisted that it could be done only on the understanding that the judgment should be guided by the charters and privileges of the church. A division followed; the monks withdrew their consent to the arbitration; the object of the meeting was defeated, and nothing remained but an appeal to force. Baldwin threatened to seize the monastery, and to disperse the brethren; the king insisted on the proposed arbitration; the legate was still forbidden to cross the straits; and the last hope from Rome was extinguished.

The king
comes in state to Canterbury.

Richard and his whole court arrived at Canterbury on the 27th of November. He was received with great pomp by the convent in the presence of all the bishops: in his train were the king of Scotland, and Geoffrey Plantagenet, the elect of York. The day after the reception the archbishop of Rouen came from the king, to ask the convent whether they were still in the same mind. They replied that whilst Roger Norreys was called prior, and the church of Hakington still in being, there could be no peace. "Will you," he asked, "consent to an arbitration, if the archbishop will yield on these two points?" They agreed, on condition that their charters should receive a fair consideration. The king hearing this, sent word that on this understanding he would himself depose the prior and demolish the buildings, if the archbishop could not be prevailed upon to do it. Baldwin justly complained of this; it was not fair that he should yield two of the chief points of the quarrel, and after all have to submit to arbitration on the rest. Seeing that the king and bishops thought him unreasonable, he called for a copy of the rule of S. Benedict, and insisted on his rightful position as abbot on the first principles of regular order.

He tries to make peace.

Richard now struck out a new plan. It was clear that the archbishop would not yield on these points, and yet submit to an arbitration on the rest. It was not to be expected; but if the archbishop would yield those two, would the convent consent to throw themselves on his mercy for the rest? If so an agreement might be secured. Baldwin would surrender the college and the prior, the monks would allow him to decide the other points by his own sense of justice. The brethren, persuaded by their friends, at last consented on condition that for form's sake a few of their charters should be read. The king whispered to the archbishop some words that were not heard, and then turning to the monks, bade them not to be afraid if in the terms of the agreement language were introduced to spare the feelings of the archbishop. Both parties were then called to the chapter-house.

Baldwin yields the two chief points, and the convent accept his mercy on the rest.

It was growing dark, being late in the afternoon; and a fog, which Gervase considered supernatural, added to the gloom; even the king in his glittering robes could scarcely be distinguished. The archbishop of Rouen rose and said, "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all consolation: the Day-spring from on high hath visited us." The words stuck in his throat; he stopped for a moment and added, "A certain discord between the lord archbishop and the monks of this

The final compromise effected.

The compromise effected by the king's contrivance.

 “We have adjudged that the archbishop had power to “build himself a church wherever he pleased, and to “institute his own prior. Let the convent beg the “mercy of the archbishop, and he will remit his anger “against them.” The monks were thrown into consternation at this: the two points that the archbishop was to yield were decided in his favour; they themselves were at his mercy: this had come of the king’s whispering. When they were called up before Richard, one of them attempted to speak, but the king beckoned to him to be silent, and ordered them all to kneel. They obeyed, and one of the oldest in the company faltered out, “If, reverend father, we have in any part “of this dispute offended your grace, we beg that you “will remit your anger against us and consent to pre“serve the rights of the church.” Baldwin answered,
 “I remit my indignation against you, and all yours,
 “except the subprior, who by his own authority sus“pended my church from divine service.” The monks remained on their knees entreating pardon for the subprior. At last the archbishop said, “Let him come “then as you have done and ask pardon, and he “may have it with the rest of you;” he added, “As “you ask that my anger may be remitted against you
 “and yours, so I ask you to forgive, from your heart, “me and mine, whatever we have offended in word or “deed.” The bishop of Rochester then rose and announced that the prior should be deposed and the college demolished; when thanks had been given and Te Deum sung, the archbishop would give his reconciled children the kiss of peace. This was done, and Baldwin on the following day, in the chapter-house, restored the estates of the convent which remained in his hands, and relieved the prior from his office. A deed was drawn up and attested by the king and arbitrating prelates, recording the termination, by compromise, of the whole cause.¹ Richard then left Canterbury, and the legate, who had been waiting at Dover for ten days, was allowed to visit the church. Even this, however, was not suffered without deliberation. Some few of the bishops proposed that he should be honourably received; others urged that he should be compelled to depart at once. The archbishop voted for admitting him, but sending him back as quickly as could be done. He came therefore and lodged in the palace at the archbishop's charges, being closely watched that he might not be tampered with by the convent. The monks succeeded in getting a private interview with him, at which Baldwin, who saw that nothing was to be feared from him, probably connived. He informed the monks that the king had told him of the compromise, by which the collegiate buildings at Hakington were to be demolished, and the chapel to be served by a few priests, who should pray for the soul of king Henry. The monks declared that they had accepted no such condition. The legate could do nothing but groan over the wickedness of the persecutors; not daring to advise the convent to resist, and anxious to get away without committing himself, he recommended them to temporize. He was conducted with great reverence to Dover by the archbishop's clerks; but before he went, he executed a secret deed, declaring that the compromise had been extorted from the convent by fear, and was null and void of effect prejudicial to their rights. This was kept a profound secret, and reserved for future use.²

till March, arranging his affairs before his pilgrimage. Roger Norreys having been made abbot of Evesham, Baldwin instituted Osbert de Bristo as prior; and on the 19th of February 1190, at Westminster, appealed to the holy see against all who should attempt to alter the state of his church during his absence.¹ He also directed the destruction of the collegiate buildings at Hakington, and the removal of the materials to Lambeth, where he proposed to build his church according to the compromise. For this purpose he exchanged with the convent of Rochester a piece of land in the Isle of Grain for twenty-four acres at Lambeth for a site. The exchange was confirmed by the king, as was the foundation of the church in honour of S. Thomas and S. Stephen, on the 20th of March at Rouen.² The archbishop had left England for ever on the 6th. He wrote but one letter afterwards to the convent, announcing his arrival at Acre on the 12th of October.³ He died there about the 20th of November, but the news did not reach England before March 1191. The only matter of interest mentioned by Gervase or referred to in these letters, during this interval, was a dispute as to the consecration of William elect of Worcester and Geoffrey of York. The details differ little from those of the hundreds of similar squabbles in which the convent engaged on the question. In the former case they were successful; in the latter they were defeated.⁴

new bishops.

The men whom Richard placed at the helm of ecclesiastical affairs were, with one exception, those who as lawyers or ministers had been the faithful servants of his father, but whom Henry, recollecting his sad experience with S. Thomas, had refused to reward with the episcopal dignity.¹ It may be said of them all, that however they came by their promotion, their use of it was wise and pure.² Hubert Walter, the new bishop of Salisbury, was a man who set himself to do what his hand found to do with all his might. As a bishop, a soldier, a lawyer, or a statesman, he came up fully to the standard of his time. Of the others, Richard of London was a famous organizer in the business of the treasurer-ship; and he, as well as Godfrey de Lucy of Winchester, was a good average bishop. Of the older prelates, Hugh of Puiset was as ambitious and bustling as he had been forty years before; Hugh of Lincoln kept as much as possible out of the affairs of State; Reginald of Bath was quietly laying his plans for the primacy.

That Richard began his reign by imprisoning two of his father's ministers, Ranulf Glanvill and Stephen de Marzai,² is alleged by one or two trustworthy his-

borough mentions the deposition of Glanvill from the justiciarship, after the coronation, and the manner in which Richard made all the officials in the kingdom repurchase their places: the fine levied on Stephen was 30,000 pounds Angevin down, and a promise of 15,000 more. The Angevin "pound" was a quarter of the English. Ranulf's fine was 15,000 pounds of silver (R. Devizes, 7). These were both very heavy fines if we consider that the price of the chancellorship was 3,000 pounds when William of Longchamp bought it; possibly, however, Richard let him have it cheap, as we know he refused an offer of 4,000 from Reginaldus Italus. Of the fact of the exaction I have no doubt, but of the imprisonment there is less certainty. It can have torians. We are left in ignorance of the real cause of this harsh treatment of these men, unless we follow the belief of the chroniclers that it was for the purpose of extortion. It is possible that Ranulf Glanvill was suspected of too great attachment to John, whose guardian he had been, and in whose favour Henry was said to meditate the disinheriting of his elder son. Whatever the cause, the imprisonment was short, and both the obnoxious ministers were promoted to important commands in the crusade. The king showed no further mistrust of his father's servants.

William
Longchamp.

The one exception to the rule, the one new man who came on the stage of politics at Richard's accession, was William of Longchamp, bishop of Ely.¹ Of this prelate such contradictory characters have been drawn, that it is impossible to say whether he was a hero or a mere unprincipled adventurer. In the latter light he was regarded by Hugh of Puiset, by the followers of Geoffrey and John, and probably by the majority of the Norman nobles. By the monks and their friends he is spoken of as a pious and conscientious man. Of his public policy it may be fairly said that no legal charge was ever brought against him; that his enemies were in all cases the enemies of his master; that his designs were actually followed up by his rivals when they attained to power. He was doubtless an upstart; probably a clever and not very scrupulous politician; possibly a person of haughty, super-continued, if real, only a very short time; and when we next meet with Ranulf and Stephen, it is in places of honour. Stephen de Turnham, who fought in the crusade with Richard, seems to be the same person with Stephen de Marzai. William of Newburgh tells a wonderful fortune-telling story about him. Lib. v. c. 6.

cilious demeanour. But the greatness of his position was enough to draw upon him a great deal of odium. Few men have ever wielded the power that was placed in his hands by the king and primate when they left England; the combined burden of the legatine office¹ and the chancellorship proved a few years later too great for Hubert Walter, who was a comparatively popular minister; and the position of William Longchamp was made still more invidious by the absence of the king. It was by the manœuvres of John² and Geoffrey that he was overthrown: he must be credited at least with the merit of faithful service.

William
Longchamp's
difficulties.

¹ He was appointed legate by Clement III., June 5, 1190. On Clement's death, his legation seems to have expired, and he applied for renewal to Celestine III., shortly before his downfall; Ben. Peterb. ii. 693, ed. Hearne. He ceases after the news of the death of Clement, who died March 27, 1191, to call himself legate. It does not appear when Celestine renewed the legation, but it was evidently before Dec. 2, on which day Celestine names him legate in a letter to the prelates. Hoveden, 402. Cf. W. Newburgh, iv. 18. He could hardly have been treated as he was by the archbishop of Rouen if he had been recognized as legate at the time of his deposition. The letter of July 30, given by Giraldus (Ang. Sac. ii. 390), seems to be opposed to this, but it may not be an exact copy; and in the letter of Aug. 25 the title is omitted. His consecration of the bishop of Worcester on the 5th of May must have been about his last legatine act. Pope Clement IV. decreed that the legation did not expire at the death of the pope. VI. Decr. i. tit. xv. c. 2.

² The immediate cause of William's overthrow was the imprisonment of archbishop Geoffrey of York at Dover, by his creatures. Gerv. 1576. There can be little doubt that the act was one of indiscreet zeal on their part; but it is a curious question where the chancellor was at the time. The writ for the apprehension of Geoffrey is dated "apud Preston, xxx. die 'Julii.'" Gir. Cam., Anglia Sacra, ii. 390. The prohibition to Walter of Rouen to visit Canterbury is dated "apud Releiam, xxv. die 'Augusti,'" ib. p. 395. The letter of excuse for the arrest (No. ccclxxi.) is dated Sept. 29th, "apud Bromd̃." It was at Norwich that the bishops of London and Norwich upbraided him with his conduct in the matter; Gir. Camb., A. S. ii. 392. He then went to London (p. 394), and thence to Windsor; from which place he went to the colloquy at Lodbridge on the 5th of October. "Bromd̃," in No. ccclxxi. must, therefore, be somewhere between Norwich and London. The struggle closed on Oct. 10.

Deposition of prior Osbert.

When in March 1191 the rumour of the death of Baldwin reached the convent, they immediately petitioned the king for a free election.¹ If they had any expectation that their prayer would be granted, they were speedily undeceived, for on the 6th of May was delivered the king's letter from Messina ordering them to postulate William, archbishop of Montreal.² Their first thought, however, was not whom to elect as archbishop, but how to get rid of prior Osbert, who, although a man of very different character from Roger Norreys, was hardly less a creature of the late archbishop, and equally obnoxious to the extreme party. The certainty of Baldwin's death inspired the monks with courage; in a vacancy of the see they possessed the undoubted right of electing their own prior. It is uncertain when or how the subprior Geoffrey had returned from exile. We find him at Canterbury on the 10th of May.³ On that day, four days after the receipt of the royal letter, the brethren under Geoffrey's guidance demanded the dismissal of Felix the cellarer, Robert the doctor, and Zacharias, an unfaithful monk. Prior Osbert was unable to make any resistance. Having assented to the act, he imprudently asked, "Are there more?" "You yourself," was the ready answer, "must resign the priorate." Osbert behaved with some little dignity. He rose and said, "Hear me, sirs, as you would have God hear you. You know how well and firmly I stood by you in your troubles, for which I was excommunicated by the archbishop and suffered much hardship. When by the counsel of certain great persons and of some of the brethren I quitted you for the archbishop, I always exercised my influence for your good, never for your harm. When I was made

"prior, at the archbishop's command and with the royal assent, no voice from the convent was raised against me. I thought until to-day that I had your assent as well. God knows that if I had not thought so, I would never have taken either the priorate or any other office upon me. As it is I will not hold it against your good pleasure." The seniors accepted this as a resignation, and the subprior was dragged into the prior's chair. Little notice was taken by the legate chancellor, for the best of reasons. The convent would certainly have a voice in the election of the archbishop, and William Longchamp intended the choice to fall upon himself.¹

made prior.

There can be little doubt, if the few letters that passed between the convent and the legate may be depended upon, that had the election been free, the monks would have elected him. There were many points in his favour. He was already at the head of a chapter of monks and on friendly terms with them. His enemies were the old enemies of the convent, the worldly clerks, and unprincipled ministers of Henry. He himself was or seemed to be high in the favour of both king and pope. Nigel the poet was an intimate friend and admirer of William, and he was one of the most able men in the convent.²

It is uncertain whether this a simple mistake arising from his connexion with William, to whom he dedicates his Speculum Ecclesiæ, or De abusu ecclesiastico, and some of his poems; perhaps also the Speculum Stultorum; more probably they were either relations or fellow townsmen. There is one letter in this series which may have been written by him, No. cccxxii. The vir quidam magnus in this letter may have been the future chancellor: the second of the four

Other heads, however, were at work to prevent this. Foremost there was the archbishop of Rouen, who had been sent over by the king with the commission of justiciar,¹ with especial directions as to the election of the primate. Walter of Coutances was an ambitious man, and would gladly have accepted the translation for himself. William Longchamp prevented him from visiting Canterbury as long as he remained in power,² and until he could do so the king's pleasure could not be known or the election proceeded with. It can never be certainly known why Richard nominated William of Montreal; the influence of his sister, queen Joanna, whose husband, William of Sicily, had greatly trusted and promoted him, may have been used in his favour; possibly Richard thought that by appointing him he might prevent the primacy from becoming a bone of contention among the greedy courtiers at home. Possibly the recommendation was bought and paid for, but never intended to be carried out. No effort was made to effect the promotion of the archbishop of Montreal, who was probably dead before the day of election.

lines with which the letter ends, "Maxima pars nostri, dimidium-que mei," bears a strong likeness to the fourth line of the dedication of the Speculum Stultorum, "Maxima pars animæ, dimidiumque meæ;" it is possible, however, that this may be a quotation in both cases from some other poet. The French words that precede it, "Cinc cenx dechez ait il, ki pur archeveske u pur celerier a cose revan;" mean "Five hundred plagues have he, who for archbishop, or for cellarer has husked bran:" but it is not clear in what signification they were spoken.

³ Reginald Fitz Jocelin was the son of Jocelin de Bohun, bishop of Salisbury; he was brought up in Lombardy (Herb. Bosham, vii. 1.), and hence bore the name of Reginald Lumbardus; he is probably also the Reginaldus Italus who, according to Richard of Devizes, (p. 9) offered Richard 4,000 pounds for the chancellorship.

other prelate, although he had never gone so far as to imperil his own position. He had powerful friends and an unwearied agent in his kinsman Savaric, archdeacon of Northampton, who called himself cousin of the Roman emperor.¹ He forwarded letters to Can-

Reginald Fitz Jocelin.

¹ Savaric is a person whose career, if it could be explored, must have been very interesting. His first appearance is in the 18th of Henry II., when he was fined 26*l.* 4*s.* 4*d.* for trying to take a bow from the king's servants in a forest in Surrey (Madox, Hist. Exch. p. 390). He was probably made treasurer of Salisbury by his cousin Jocelin de Bohun before 1184, and held also the archdeaconry of Northampton, the revenues of which were sequestered in 1186 for the payment of his debts. On Richard's accession he followed him to Sicily, where he obtained a letter to the justiciars, giving the royal assent for his admission to any bishopric to which he might be elected; and this he got confirmed by the pope. Having taken a prominent part in securing the election of Reginald Fitz Jocelin, he succeeded him as bishop of Bath and Wells, and was consecrated at Rome in 1192. During Richard's captivity he visited him and got two letters from him, recommending him for the see of Canterbury. In 1196 he was chancellor of Burgundy under Henry VI. (Hoveden, 420). After Henry's death he seems to have returned to England, and spent the rest of his life in his contest with the monks of Glastonbury. He died in 1205, and was described in his epitaph, "Hospes eras mundo, per mundum semper eundo, sic suprema dies fit tibi prima quies."

Godwin, De Præsulibus, 370. The following account of his lineage may afford some clue to the nature of his relationship to the emperor, the fact of which is certain, although the exact degree is not yet known. On his father's side the pedigree is as follows. In the early part of the eleventh century one Savaric was viscount of Le Mans. He was succeeded by his brother Ralph, lord of Beaumont and S. Suzanne, who was twice married: 1, to Emma, niece of Hubert, bishop of Angers, who bore him Hubert, his successor. Hubert married Ermen-gard, daughter of William, count of Nevers, by whom he had two sons, Ralph and Hubert, and a daughter, Godechildis; from the eldest son the viscounts of Beaumont were descended. 2. Ralph's second wife was Chana, daughter of Geldewin, lord of Saumur, by his wife Aanordis. Chana had been married before to Frangalus, lord of Fougères, by whom she had children. By Hubert she had Savaric Fitz Chane, who succeeded to the estates in England conferred by the Conqueror, or William Rufus, on his uncle Goffred, lord of Chaumont. Savaric Fitz Chane had three sons, Ralph, Savaric, and Geldewin. Ralph and Savaric died childless. Geldewin married a lady named Estrangia, by whom he had Savaric, bishop of Bath and Wells, and Franco de Bohun, who died in 1192. (Ann. Waverley, p. 164.) Estrangia may have been a Ger-terbury from both Philip of France and Henry VI., recommending them to take the advice of Savaric and elect a faithful friend whom he would recommend to them, and whom they could easily recognize by that description. These letters were not without effect.¹

Proceedings
in the election of archbishop.

As soon as Walter of Coutances and earl John had expelled the chancellor from the country, they hurried on the election of archbishop. The monks were summoned to London for the 22nd of October.² They attended accordingly. The prior was asked whether he would accept the nomination of William of Montreal. Geoffrey declared that it was unworthy of the English Church to go begging for a foreigner when the realm man lady ; the name of Franco, or Francus, may point to a Franconian origin. The relation between Savaric and Reginald Fitz Jocelin is also obscure. Humfrey I., de Bohun had three sons : Robert, who died s. p. ; Humfrey, who was the ancestor of the Bohuns of Hereford ; and Richard de Meri. Richard de Meri made his heir Engelger, a noble of the Côtentin, who was almost certainly his son-in-law. This Engelger had a son, Engelger II., who married Adeliza, daughter of count Stephen of Aumale, and was living to nearly 1180. He is called by William Fitz Stephen, p. 290, the "patruus" of Jocelin, bishop of Salisbury, who with his brother Richard de Bohun, bishop of Coutances, may have been sons of Alexander, son of Engelger I. ; but were more probably brothers than nephews of Engelger II. The heir of Engelger II. was Savaric Fitz Savaric, and after him Franco, the son of Geldewin, who thus became Franco de Bohun. Engelger II. must have been too young to be grandfather to Savaric Fitz Savaric, and could not have been father-in-law, or the inheritance would not have descended to Franco. It would seem, therefore, most probable that Savaric Fitz Chane married another daughter of Richard de Meri, and that on the default of issue to the Engelgers, his great-grandchildren came in as heirs to the Bohuns of Midhurst. The estates of the Bohuns were in Sussex, where lay also those of Albini and Percy, who were connected with the dukes of Louvain. It was probably on the side of his Burgundian mother that Henry VI. was connected with his Burgundian chancellor. The authorities for the foregoing statements are Stapleton's preface to the Rolls of the Norman Exchequer, ii. p. 31., &c., and the Chronicles in Mart. et Dur., Amplissima Collectio, i. 439 ; Dachery, Spicilegium, iii. 277 ; and Ordericus Vitalis.

was so full of able clerks, but declined giving a decided answer until he had had time for consideration and prayer. Having been thanked by the justiciars, who never intended to elect the archbishop of Montreal, he returned home.¹ A second letter was now issued in the king's name; the justiciars would attend at Canterbury on the 3rd of December to complete the election. Nearly a week before the day appointed the justiciars and some of the bishops arrived, and by so doing roused the suspicions of the prior, who remembered that the suffragans had succeeded in forcing archbishop Baldwin upon the convent. He tried, therefore, to sound the chief justiciar as to who would be accepted by the king. Walter, as Gervase hints,² intended the monks to choose himself; he must, if so, have failed either to express himself intelligibly or to convince the prior of his merits. "Would the bishop of Bath be admissible?" The archbishop did not say yes, but the monks interpreted his looks as favourable. "We elect," cried the prior, "the bishop of Bath." The monks re-echoed the nomination, and laying violent hands on Reginald, thrust him into the archiepiscopal chair.³ The archbishop of Rouen retired in alarm to London, and having called together the nobles, in their presence demanded of the bishop whether he was prepared to abide by the election. Reginald declared that he would, and defended the legality of the proceeding. The prior was also present and refused to retract a step. Further proceedings were threatened by the ministers, and for the first time the deposition of prior Osbert was brought forward. The death of Reginald, within a month of the election, settled speedily the more important question. Queen Eleanor's protection was invoked by the convent, and the matter of Osbert was soon forgotten in more pressing troubles. Reginald was seized with paralysis or apoplexy on Christmas eve at Dogmersfield, and died on S. Stephen's day.¹ The monastic habit for which he had sent to Canterbury did not arrive until he had breathed his last. The convent lamented a faithful and powerful friend. He was buried on the feast of S. Thomas.

A new election during Richard's imprisonment.

The year 1192 is almost a blank in the history of the convent. The state of the country was not such as to suffer them to attempt an election; the news from the Holy Land was scanty and uncertain. Richard was taken prisoner at Vienna on the 12th of December. After three months' captivity he wrote to the convent, directing them to take the advice of William of S. Mere l'Eglise in their choice of a new archbishop; at the same time he wrote to his mother and to the justiciars to secure the election of Hubert Walter.² He was sorely pressed at this time; the indefatigable Savaric, who had become bishop of Bath, was now a candidate on his own account; the imperial relationship was brought to bear upon Richard, who wrote two letters to the convent in his favour.³ William Longchamp also got a letter from the king, and so, perhaps, did some others.⁴ The real choice of the captive prince was undoubtedly Hubert, in whose favour he wrote pressing letters both to the convent and to queen Eleanor. Hubert was elected without much delay⁵ on the 30th of May. Strange to say, two months after the election was over, a letter was brought from the king, dated July 10, forbidding the convent to elect him. It is hard to say what this meant:¹ the letter may have been extorted from the king by the influence of those about him, to which, as he complains to his mother, he is compelled to seem to yield. The election was by this time perfected, and Hubert busily engaged in reducing the kingdom to order and in procuring the king's release.

We have now to return to the old question of the college of clerks. Prior Osbert,² shortly before his deposition, had sent to Rome for an injunction for the destruction of the remaining buildings at Hakington, for the confirmation of the secret act of John of Anagni, and the renewal of the mandates of popes Urban and Clement. These were readily granted by the pope Celestine III., who had succeeded Clement III. in the spring of 1191. The bishop of Bath and the abbots of Reading and Waltham were the delegates for executing the mandates.³ The buildings were finally demolished, but the chancellor interfered to prevent the ejection of the clerks from the four disputed churches. The chapel of Hakington was destroyed on the 21st of July.⁴ Reginald's participation in this act helped to endear him to the convent, and added a new claim to the many he already possessed to the primacy.

¹ Giraldus (Opp. ed. Brewer, iii. 19), who hated Hubert, declared that he obtained the election by unfair means, "Nisi enim rex Ricardus in Alemannia detentus fuisset, et ibi multipliciter in carcere circumventus, longe aliter proculdubio Anglicanæ ecclesiæ providisset." The appointment of Hubert must have been arranged between himself and Richard at Spire: for the management of it is entrusted to William of S. As the privilege of Celestine is word for word the same as that of Urban, I have not thought it worth while to put it into the Appendix. It is dated June 20, 1191, S. Peter's; and is printed by Wilkins in the Concilia, i. 524.

The Lambeth estate.

The fears of the monks were now directed to another quarter. The original privilege by which Urban III. had permitted Baldwin to found his college had specified Lambeth as one of the places where it might be settled. The manor of Lambeth was the property of the convent of Rochester, to which it had come by royal gift soon after the Conquest. The archbishops of Canterbury had been the tenants of the manor house since the time of Anselm, who had ordained in the chapel and held a council there in 1100. His two successors used the chapel for the consecration of bishops. Archbishop Theobald seems to have made some arrangement with the owners, which ended in the house being recognized as the town residence of the primates,¹ and for this reason doubtless it was named by pope Urban. The archbishop did not, however, possess any part of the estate until the year 1190, when, as was mentioned above,² Baldwin acquired twenty-four acres of the demesne of the manor in exchange for land in the Isle of Grain, with the express intention of founding a church of canons. The parish church of Lambeth and the manor itself were not acquired until some years later.

On this piece of ground the foundations were laid before archbishop Baldwin sailed,³ but owing to the want of his presence and support the scheme languished. The buildings had, however, in 1192 attained such dimensions as to offend the convent of Canterbury. In the May of that year a mandate was procured from Rome, directing the bishop of Chichester and the abbots of Waltham and Reading to release the canons of Lambeth from the oath they had taken to the late archbishop, and to close the church.¹ It seems probable that the canons appealed against this sentence, for there is a bull of pope Celestine III., of Jan. 30, 1193,² in which he takes them and their lawful possessions under the care of the holy see.

Matters were in this state when Hubert was elected. He received the archiepiscopal cross from Gervase, now become the sacrist,³ at Lewisham on the 3rd of November, and the pall at Canterbury on the 7th. In the first year of his pontificate the convent held their courts as in former times; although the affair was now becoming urgent, not a word had been spoken about it. Hubert was the intimate friend of Baldwin and the executor of his will; he had been himself one of the canons of Hakington, and may have felt some resentment for the extinction of that design, but this would hardly have led him into a new dispute if he had not been pressed by his old friends the clerks. With a view of compromising matters, he offered to remove the college to Maidstone, and build there on the estate of the convent.⁴ But to this plan the monks would not listen; the original intention was therefore reverted to. In 1196 Gervase records that the monks remonstrated with the archbishop. After a long conversation, in which the historian himself probably took a leading part, and in which the history of the former controversy was reviewed, the archbishop honestly declared that, sorry as he might be to act in opposition to the church which had placed him at its head, he could not for his own honour's sake leave imperfect the work that he had begun. The two parties separated with the expressed intention of seeking divine counsel by prayer.⁵

of the new
quarrel.

The new storm broke in 1197. On Christmas day, 1196, the archbishop visited Canterbury, but was prevented by illness from taking part in the service. After his recovery, on the 21st of January, he had a conference with the convent in the chapter-house; his own clerks were excluded, and his cross was carried by John of Dover, one of the monks.¹ The discussion lasted for three days, and the result was kept a profound secret. We may guess almost to a certainty at one subject of consideration. Hubert had already arranged for the acquisition to his see of the manor of Lambeth.

Acquisition of the manor
of Lambeth.

As early as April 7, 1195,² and again June 13, 1196, the king had confirmed an exchange between Hubert and the church of Rochester, of Darent for Lambeth.³

It was most probably on this occasion that the archbishop first tried to secure the assent of the convent to the completion of Baldwin's design. Although we cannot suppose that he succeeded in this, he must either have lulled the suspicious watchfulness of prior Geoffrey, or have miscalculated the strength of the old feeling in the convent. He proceeded in April, 1197, to perfect the exchange, which was again confirmed by the king,⁴ and on the conclusion of the bargain he sent an envoy to Rome to obtain the countenance of Celestine III. The pope, who was far beyond ninety, was growing very infirm, and had, perhaps, forgotten the part that in former days he had taken on the side of the monks. Hubert at any rate procured from him a letter which placed the collegiate church of S. Stephen and S. Thomas at Lambeth in his hands.⁵ He was now lord of the manor of Lambeth, and had by the common law the right to build a religious house of any order he chose upon his own estate.

He was called away from England on the 17th of June,¹ long before the arrival of Celestine's grant, and remained on the continent until the 3rd of November.² On his return he took up the business immediately. After paying a visit in person to the convent, he sent, on the 16th, the abbots of Chertsey, Waltham, and Reading with new proposals.³ The envoys declared that their purpose was not to ask the consent of the monks to the foundation of the college of Lambeth, that was not required, but to lay before them the scheme which the archbishop had drawn up for the securing of their rights. The principal points of this scheme were these: every newly appointed canon should swear that he would never attempt to assert for the college any voice in the election of the archbishop; that he would not connive at the translation of S. Thomas to any other church; that he would not consent to the consecration of the chrism elsewhere than at Canterbury; he would never seek or suffer another to seek relief from this oath. Every canon should be installed in propria persona, and immediately after his installation should go to Canterbury, and take this oath under pain of privation. The prior of Christ Church should hold a prebendal stall at Lambeth, and be present at all chapters in the habit of a canon. To these conditions the archbishop was prepared to secure the consent of both king and pope.⁴

The answer of the monks to this offer was conveyed by one of their own body, probably Gervase again; they professed the utmost affection for Hubert, but positively refused to consent to his design ; as for the securities he offered, they would take the advice of their friends.¹

Both parties

consult the pope.

The archbishop visited Canterbury again early in the next year to receive the deliberate answer of the convent to his proposals. The allegations which the monks brought forward in reply were probably those embodied in the very curious memorial with which our MS. closes, and which is unfortunately imperfect. They amount to a downright refusal. Hubert then proposed that the holy see should be consulted by both parties, on the strict understanding that neither should apply for any mandate without the knowledge of the other. The monks assented in words ; and the archbishop left them, deceived, according to Gervase, by their mild speeches : for their envoys were already on the way to Rome.

Two monks go secretly
to Rome.

Geoffrey was still prior ; but he seems to have lost some of his earlier energy, or else to have considered the propositions of the archbishop not unreasonable. Two of the brethren, who looked upon him as dilatory or lukewarm in the cause, had left the convent secretly early in January, and proceeded to Rome to lay their case before pope Celestine.

Hubert

nicates the
fugitives.

On hearing of the gross deception that had been practised upon him, Hubert was very angry, and came down to Canterbury to make inquiry. The prior answered that the monks had left without his permission, and produced a letter from the delinquents confessing their offence, and appealing to the holy see against the archbishop. Hubert, having a strong suspicion of collusion, excommunicated the fugitives in spite of their appeal. It is not very easy to say what share the prior had in the transaction. Perhaps if he had been left to himself he might at this time have agreed with the archbishop ; but the precedent which he had created against himself by the deposition of Osbert was a dangerous one ; it would be fatal to him to be suspected of a deficiency of zeal ; his hesitation, if hesitation there was, was but for a moment. It is more charitable to suppose that such was the case, than to assume that he actually connived at the deceiving of the archbishop.¹

The prior Geoffrey.

The result of the manœuvre was not long delayed. The two brethren found when they reached Rome that Celestine was dead ; that his successor, Innocent III., was their old friend, the lord Lothair. Their business was expedited at once. Without waiting to hear the representations of Hubert, Innocent, on the 24th of April, issued a letter to him, insisting on the demolition and abolition of the college within thirty days,² on pain of suspension, and accompanied it with an injunction to the suffragan bishops to withdraw their obedience in case of his refusal. This was granted on the hearing of one party only, but in dependence on the mandates of Urban, Clement, and Celestine.

First mandate of Innocent
III.

The news of the issue of these letters reached Lambeth, where Hubert was staying, on the 31st of May.³ After a sleepless night, he called together his advisers early the next morning, and in their presence appealed against the mandate as obtained under false pretences ; the bishop of Rochester joined in the appeal, and Symon, archdeacon of Wells, also appealed on behalf of

¹ Gervase (1601) defends the deception practised by the monks on the grounds that the archbishop had already sent messengers with a great supply of money to Rome. It is probable that Hubert had agents generally at Rome ; but the whole tenor of the succeeding controversy shows that he had acted in good faith on this occasion. In fact, he believed himself to have power to do all that he wanted in the matter, and even if he did send an agent to obstruct any petitions the convent might make, it was no more than he had a right to do on the terms of the agreement.

the canons. He then proceeded to send the abbots of Chertsey and Waltham to Canterbury, with a letter of remonstrance, and a strict command that the monks should write a true statement of the whole case to Innocent.

The convent demanded time for consideration before answering, and in the meanwhile sent four monks to serve the obnoxious letters on the archbishop. They arrived at Lambeth on the 7th of June, but were kept waiting two days before they were suffered to execute their office. The information had now reached the king in Normandy, and provoked him to great indignation. He immediately prohibited the archbishop from obeying the mandate, and wrote to the pope and cardinals, protesting vigorously against so monstrous an invasion of English liberties in Church and State.

Council of the bishops;
and attempts at mediation.

Hubert had already summoned the bishops to Canterbury to the consecration of Geoffrey Muschamp, elect of Coventry, which was fixed for the 21st. He himself arrived there on the 19th. On the 20th he visited the convent, and complained bitterly of the ill faith of the prior. On the Monday after the consecration the abbots of Waltham, Chertsey, and Reading again appeared as his messengers; with them came several of the bishops, and Geoffrey Fitz Peter and Hugh Bardolf, on the part of the king. These produced a letter from Richard, in which he forbade the execution of the mandate, and himself appealed against it, at the same time taking the college at Lambeth under royal protection, and summoning the prior to account for the offence against the liberties of the realm. When this had been read, the archbishop appeared in person, and tried by persuasion to prevail on the monks to renounce the papal sentence, and to accept an arbitration. Finding all argument useless, he left Canterbury in disgust on the 23rd, and directly on his departure the royal officers entered on the possessions of the convent. This first occupation lasted only a few days, and was withdrawn at the archbishop's request,

Both parties now sent accredited messengers to Rome. Hubert, in the simplicity of his heart, furnished his with a load of the relics of SS. Albinus and Rufinus;¹ not neglecting, however, to send a great treasure of ready money with them. His envoys were the Cistercian abbots of Boxley and Robertsbridge, who had already attempted to act as mediators.² They were furnished with letters in defence of the archbishop from all the suffragans of the province, and from the Cistercian abbots of England.

Although Hubert deemed it wise to appear at Rome by his agents, he could foresee the sentence of the pope, and was not inclined to acquiesce in it. He devoted himself, therefore, to another attempt to persuade or to compel the convent to a compromise. He again applied to the king, who issued a letter on the 23rd of July, ordering the convent to choose five bishops and five abbots as arbiters.³ The prior refused on the old grounds, that as all the prelates in England were committed to the design of Hubert, no fair arbitration could be obtained.

The month of August passed away without any alteration in the position of parties, the archbishop being called away by the war on the Welsh marches,⁴ and no new mandates being received from Rome. Hubert was employed further in surrendering the jus-ticiarship, which, according to Hoveden and Matthew Paris, the pope, at the suggestion of the monks, had forbidden him to retain. It is curious that not a word on this subject is found in the present volume. If it were not for the strong contemporary evidence, the statement would seem improbable; as it is, we must suppose that the allegations were made by word of mouth, or the letters containing them were destroyed, as dangerous documents, should they fall into the hands of either Hubert or the king. In the midst of business, however, the archbishop found time to send for the third time to Canterbury the schedule of cautions with which he was prepared to secure the status of the mother church in case the new foundation should take effect.

Richard was not disposed to let matters rest even for a time. The treasures of the church had not been exhausted by his ransom; sufficient yet remained to swell considerably the hoard he was laying up in France, and this he would not suffer to flow into the pockets of the Roman courtiers. He renewed the struggle early in September by a command addressed to the justiciars to visit Canterbury and make an inventory of the treasures of the convent. This was to be followed by a similar visitation of the other cathedral monasteries.² The visit was paid on the 26th of September;³ the royal officers presented themselves in company with Henry of Castillon, archdeacon of Canterbury, and the abbot of Faversham, on the part of the archbishop. The prior stoutly refused to suffer the treasure to be seen by profane eyes; the envoys did not choose to use force, but departed as they came. The refusal was an act of rebellion against the king; on the 28th,⁴ therefore, the conventual estates were the second time occupied by the king's officers. On that day Hubert left the kingdom ; but on hearing of what had been done, he wrote an urgent letter to the king, begging him, out of consideration for himself, to recall the order. Such an act of violence would, he saw, effectually destroy any favour he might have found at Rome ; and although he did not expect a favourable sentence, it would be better not, by following the violent policy of his predecessor, to lay the foundation of future difficulties, or arm the monks with their favourite plea of "vis et metus." ¹ The king complied with the petition, and the estates were restored by a letter dated October 29th. ² Before this, prior Geoffrey, notwithstanding his age and the melancholy precedent of Honorius, had determined to carry his appeal in person to Rome. Since the 31st of May ^{The prior goes to Rome.} no news had been received from the brethren there ; the messengers despatched with the report of July 6th had not yet certified their arrival ; the pope was known to be away from the city, and the worst anticipations began to prevail as to the fate of the absent monks. ³ Not content, therefore, with sending a reinenvoys.

The two brethren who had carried the first appeal were dead; the arrival of the abbots of Boxley and Robertsbridge was expected early in September, and the pope, anticipating the action of the convent, wrote urgently on the fifth of that month for new advocates to be sent.¹ This letter was not received at Canterbury until after the prior's departure, but the arrival of the two or three reinforcements sent out from home had rendered it unnecessary to regard it. The brethren John and Hubert must have reached the court, which was now at Perugia, before the 11th of September, on which day the pope wrote to the priors of S. Augustine's and S. Gregory's at Canterbury, to declare invalid a sentence of excommunication which the archbishop had fulminated against them.² About the same time, before the arrival of the archbishop's agents, Innocent wrote to the king rebutting his arguments in Hubert's favour, and declaring his intention of walking in the footsteps of his predecessors.³ A few days after this, before the 17th, the abbots arrived at Perugia.⁴ But the cause was not heard before the 21st of October, after the court had returned to Rome. On that day⁵ the pope heard the abbots on behalf of Hubert, and listened to a long letter on the same side from the archbishop of Lyons.⁶ On the 22nd he heard the answer of the monks, and the following day the abbots were suffered to reply. The monks on this occasion secured the all-powerful advocacy of Ugolino, the pope's chaplain, the very eminent canonist who afterwards filled S. Peter's chair as Gregory IX.¹

Innocent took a month to draw up his judgment, which was delivered on the 6th and dispatched on the 20th of November. It contained a clear and tolerably fair statement of both sides of the question, but concluded with reiterating the former mandate. It must be executed within thirty days, or Hubert would be deprived; this was notified to the suffragans, and the king himself was threatened with spiritual punishments if he should interfere to prevent the execution.² Such was the news that brother Salomon had for the prior at Lucca.³ Great, however, as were the advantages thus assured, Geoffrey was aware that all was not yet gained, and he had his own appeal to prosecute. He therefore went on to Pisa, whither he summoned three of the brethren who were at Rome. He also retained Salomon, and sent the mandates home by William the precentor. When he had ascertained the state of affairs, he proceeded to Rome, where he arrived on the 11th of December,⁴ and soon after had an interview with the pope. He laid his complaint formally against the archbishop and the justiciars for the visitation of September 26. Innocent, without waiting to hear how his second mandate was received, wrote on the 22nd to the king, urgently enjoining on him, "in remissione peccatorum," to recall the measures he had taken against the convent; he also wrote to the archbishop of Rouen and the bishop of

The archbishop received the second mandate on the 2nd of January 1199,² and prepared immediately to fulfil it. The offending chapel was levelled with the ground on the 27th; the collegiate buildings, however, were left standing. The bishops of Ely and Lincoln and the abbot of S. Edmund's, to whom the execution of the mandate was committed by the pope, summoned the rectors of the alienated churches to appear at Westminster on the 10th of May to give account to the convent.³ Whilst the latter were congratulating themselves on the obtaining of an unprecedented success, the letters which the pope had issued at the prior's request arrived.⁴ The monks being wise enough to see that it would be ruinous to them to provoke the king by making use of these, abstained from presenting them.⁵ It is probable, however, that the royal agents at Rome had informed their master of the issue, and on the 13th of March⁶ the estates were again seized, on the pretext that the convent had refused to allow the king's officers to inspect their treasure, the very point upon which the papal letter had been most urgent. This time the archbishop refused to intercede with the king. The messengers who were sent to Richard himself were informed on their way into Poictou,¹ that he had fallen under that fatal bolt which ended so many high hopes and opened the way for the bitterest humiliation of the house of Anjou. Richard died on the 6th of April. The monk who was sent to him returned without redress; but Geoffrey Fitz Peter, hearing that his lord was dead, very shortly after restored the estates of the convent. The monks would not, however, regard this as an act of reparation, but pretended to look upon it as a reinvestment, or confirmation such as was usually obtained on the succession of a new prince.² They dispatched accordingly a third series of complaints to Rome, the burden of which was the continued detention of the disputed churches in contempt of the papal mandate, and the fact that the condemned buildings of the college were still suffered to stand.³

Richard.

Fresh complaints sent
to Rome.

The archbishop had now determined on a new plan. He probably thought that the pope might be satisfied with the obedience exhibited in the demolition of the chapel, and that he would be willing to listen to an application on behalf of the college, if it were made to himself first. Immediately after the demolition of the chapel he sent his agents to Rome to announce that so far the mandate had been fulfilled, and that he was ready to grant the convent further redress for any injuries that they could prove to have been inflicted on them in consequence of their opposition to the new college. He prayed further that a papal licence might be granted him to found a college in honour of S. Stephen and S. Thomas at Lambeth, but on a new site. This application the pope could not well refuse to entertain; he directed, therefore, a commission to the bishops of Lincoln and Ely, and the abbot of S. Edmund's,⁴ to examine into the whole case. They were instructed first of all to use their best endeavour to restore concord between Hubert and his convent; if that failed, they were first to compel the archbishop to restore all that had been taken from the convent to enrich the new foundation, or in consequence of their opposition to it, and then to adjudicate on the question itself; or if they could not do that, to hear evidence and refer the decision back to the pope. They were further empowered to visit Canterbury, and to examine into the condition of the monastery, both external and internal.

Hubert's
further aggressions.

Whilst his envoys were at Rome, Hubert had been provoked to fresh acts of aggression. He had seized the marsh of Appledore, and the oblations of the high altar. After his return to England in Easter week,¹ he had, towards the end of May,² closed the conventual courts of justice. These acts were made the burden of fresh complaints: the pope was further informed that the archbishop refused to let the monks approach him, even in the solemn processions of the church, but hedged himself in with clerks before and behind; the very dress of the clerks was a ground of accusation. Wearied with these petty complaints, Innocent once more wrote, on the 11th of September,³ to the archbishop, to induce him to more fatherly behaviour: he had also ordered him, on the 21st of August, to restore all the churches on the estates of the convent.

Proceedings
of the delegates.

The delegates on receiving their commission summoned the parties to appear before them at Westminster on the Friday after Michaelmas.⁴ The monks did not condescend to obey. Hubert appeared, and laid before the judges his terms of reconciliation. The convent were informed of this, and notice was given that the delegates would hold their visitation at Canterbury on the 18th of November.⁵ It does not appear on what day it actually took place: the result was signified to the pope by the convent :¹ they had offered the archbishop fair terms: they would remit three years' revenue of their possessions, and the mesne profits of the disputed churches and the xenia, in all fifteen thousand pounds sterling: the churches were to be confirmed to their incumbents for life, at a small annual pension, and Hubert was to retain the xenia for his life. The convent undertook the completion of the building of the cathedral; and further, they offered when the cathedral was finished to consent to Hubert's building in some unsuspected place a college of canons regular. The archbishop refused to listen to this proposition, and insisted that the convent should throw themselves upon his mercy.

Proposals of the convent
for peace.

The formal hearing of the case was resumed, as it would seem, on the 26th of January 1200, at Westminster:² for that day the delegates peremptorily summoned the convent, who had failed to attend on the 30th of September and the 27th of November; if they refused the third summons, judgment would go against them by default. When they had presented themselves, the archbishop made a formal claim to be allowed to build his college.³ The monks insisted that before the question could be entertained, their claim of restitution according to the mandate should be satisfied. Everything that had been taken from them, on account of the chapel at Lambeth, must be restored. So the commission ran; the delegates were warned not to go beyond the letter of their authority. Hubert sheltered himself under a verbal ambiguity; and this having been reserved by the judges, they proceeded to hear evidence. They decided that the convent had failed to prove that they had lost anything on account of the interdicted chapel:
 they notified the decision to the pope, with the points

reserved; thus, virtually, giving sentence in favour of Hubert. His clerks began to triumph; the king forbade the papal judges to enter on the question of the disputed advowsons:¹ the quarrel broke out again with its old bitterness. Innocent was prevailed upon by the convent to rescind the powers of the delegates, and to recall the cause to Rome, the parties to appear before the pope himself on the feast of S. Martin. This letter was issued on the 21st of May.²

Sudden change in the position
parties.

Before, however, the letter was received, a sudden change had taken place in the feelings of the combatants. The delegates had appointed the Thursday before the feast of S. Simon and S. Jude,³ for the last day of hearing. What produced the change in the archbishop's tactics it is impossible to say: according to the monks he was prevailed upon by the arguments of certain foreign scholars who visited Canterbury;⁴ it is more likely that he had found by experience that he must not reckon on the continued support of the king; it is probable also that most of the original promoters of the college being now provided for, less pressure was brought to bear upon him than had been before. Of one thing we may be sure, that he was anxious that the cause should not be referred to Rome, but should be settled in a way that was compatible with the laws of the kingdom.

Hubert
proposes to choose the delegates as arbitrators.

On whatever motive he acted, he came down to Canterbury before the day of hearing, and proposed that instead of proceeding on the apostolic letters, himself and the convent should agree to elect the delegates to arbitrate in the case. The bishop of Lincoln was dying; Roger of Rolveston, the dean, might fill his place. The convent having now, by Innocent's letter⁵ revoking the commission, the means of quashing further proceedings

if they should be unfavourable, accepted the archbishop's proposal. The bishop of Ely, the dean of Lincoln, and the abbot of S. Edmund's sat at Westminster, not as papal delegates, but as umpires chosen by the parties to the suit.¹ They pronounced their decision on the 6th of November. It was highly favourable to the monks. The archbishop might build at Lambeth, not, however, on the forbidden site, a church of canons, but the church must be a small one, and the canons Premonstratensians. It might be endowed from the archiepiscopal estates or churches, but not from those of the convent or of the almonry, or to an amount of more than a hundred pounds per annum. No consecrations or ordinations were to be celebrated in it: no church of secular canons must be built by the archbishop without the consent of the convent. As for the alienated churches, they were to be held by their present possessors, John, late archbishop of Lyons, Ralph of S. Martin, Symon of Wells, and Master Virgil, at a small rent for life; when vacant they should be apportioned between the almonry and the archbishop. Hubert was to have the xenia for his life. The question of the marsh of Appledore should be settled by a jury of twelve men.

Final award of the arbitrators.

The several parties signified this arrangement to the pope, who ratified it on the 30th of June 1201.

In the foregoing sketch of this famous struggle I have not thought it necessary to be constantly recurring to the legal character of the proceedings. These were, in fact, a series of repetitions, and may be dismissed in one sentence. The whole case turns on the persistence of the convent in compelling obedience to the papal mandates, and on the persistence of the king and archbishop in defeating them by law, by force, or by fraud. The case was never tried on its merits. Whatever was the opinion entertained upon them both in Rome and in England, and they are found frequently discussed in the unofficial, sometimes in the official correspondence, the proceedings turned at Rome on the disobedience of the primates, in England, on the contumacy of the convent. The same has been the case with the few writers who have ventured to dip into the history. On one side the reasonable rights of the archbishops have been obscured by the arbitrary means they took to secure them; on the other, all sympathy has been alienated by the dishonesty and litigiousness of the monks.

Points for canonical discussion.

There were, however, from beginning to end, points in dispute that were quite open to free discussion, both at canon and at common law. What right had the former archbishops to sacrifice the interests of their successors? What authority did the papal confirmation give to acts ipso facto uncanonical, such as the alienation of the oblations from the archbishop? What were the powers of the convent to restrain the acts of the primate as archbishop, or what, as abbot of Christ Church? These points were never considered pro tribunali at Rome. Each party avoided appearing before the pope in the presence of the other. The popes themselves issued their letters on ex parte statements. The constant argument of the monastic party was, that the right of appeal must be maintained; they would not have a second pope at Canterbury. It might indeed have been tolerable, had they been his cardinals, but as it was, the liberties of the whole Western Church were imperilled. To this representation the successive mandates were granted; when they were contemned they were followed up with others, and, on the non-fulfilment of these, the decision of the whole case, had it been decided at Rome, would have turned.

In England, on the other hand, the questions for legal decision were manifold, but the actual proceedings were as simple as at Rome, and probably, with some few exceptions, more directly opposed both to law and equity. What was the real state of the law on the question of appeals? They were not unlawful, for the constitution of Clarendon that forbade them had been renounced by the king, and never renewed. Yet every possible means was taken to defeat the prosecution of them. The mandates delivered from Rome were actually illegal, but Henry did not venture to prohibit the publication of them. Richard, on the other hand, did so prohibit them, and in both cases with manifest advantage; still the transgressors were not punished. Other questions might have been entertained at law without any risk of coming in contact with the papal authority: What was the validity of the charters of the convent which the king denied? What was their interpretation, if genuine? What was the nature of the tenure of their property, immediate of the crown, or through the person of the archbishop? What right had they to refuse to answer in the king's court except through the archbishop, and yet to refuse his officers leave to hold the private courts in which, as their abbot, he was the source of justice? These questions were avoided. The law was not strong enough to assert itself. If the monks were guilty of illegal conduct, it was not by excommunication or by confinement and blockade that they were legally punishable. If they were never tried, they ought not to have been persecuted. The archbishop was at Rome, admitting the legality of an appeal by answering the appellants, whilst at home he was excommunicating them, and throwing every obstacle in the way of a judgment that he seemed to be soliciting.

Inconsistency of the conduct of the archbishop.

The power of the Church of Rome was exerted, and the spirit of the court of Rome was aroused on the one side, on the other were the national feeling and the majesty of the law of England. Irrespective of law, the pope and cardinals were engaged in sympathy with one side, and the king, clergy, and lawyers on the other. Yet they avoided coming to an actual collision, and in a manner tried to gain a triumph rather by checking their adversaries in alternate moves than by fairly facing the difficulties of the situation. In this game the popes had a decided advantage, for they confined themselves to ground which, on their own hypothesis, was strictly legal, and to a series of measures, each of which sprang naturally and logically from its predecessors. Their adversaries, on the other hand, afraid to bring about a collision, moved in crooked paths and fought with weapons that no law could justify. The policy of Rome was not hampered with either the fear of law or the desire of peace; the popes played accordingly the more open game; but they had nothing to lose, whatever loss resulted would fall on insignificant monks; the law of England had the better cause, but it was enthralled by the fear of spiritual weapons, or a second excitement such as had been so fatal in the earlier years of Henry's reign.

The same plan pursued in both the disputes.

The two struggles were conducted by the monks on the same principles. In each case appeal was made against the acts of the archbishop, and in each the appeal was withdrawn, or the archbishop was persuaded that it was so. In each the withdrawn appeal was secretly prosecuted, so that the convent might get the first word at Rome, and yet be able to recognize or disavow, as occasion served, the acts of their messengers. In each the result of the appeal was an unfair judgment. A mandate was issued on ex parte representations. The archbishops were warranted in the belief that such acts were null or illegal, or tried to anticipate the blow by excommunicating the appellants; the excommunication was made the gravamen of a new appeal; so mandate followed mandate, and appeal followed appeal. At last extreme spiritual censures were threatened and defied. In both the matter was settled by compromise; in the former the good sense of Richard and his advisers prevented a schism or an interdict; in the latter Hubert was wise enough to yield; he saw, in fact, that the time for successful resistance was still far off.

The characters of the two archbishops gave, however, a distinctive colour to each of the disputes. Baldwin, with his Cistercian notions, his learning and unworldliness, was a very different man from Hubert, the legate, chancellor, and justiciar, primate and commander-in-chief, holding more than regal power in England, and possessing supreme influence over the royal mind. Baldwin might be expected to conduct the struggle as a priest, Hubert as a statesman or a soldier. Possibly, as has been remarked above, the proceedings of Baldwin may be regarded as characteristic of an unworldly man under the influence of unprincipled advisers; but Hubert certainly acted for himself. Hubert was careful to observe some regard to the law, and was ready to yield where he saw he could not succeed. But Baldwin, or those who acted with his authority, uniformly perverted the process of law, and preferred the weapons of terrorism. Yet in the final arbitration it was by a side wind that Hubert saved the dignity of the country, losing at the same time all that he had contended for; whilst in the first, Baldwin gained all that he wanted except one unimportant point. The difference of the result probably arose from the different characters of Richard and John, and the decreased interest that Hubert took in the design. He could not reckon on John's support as he could upon Richard's. He was content to sacrifice his own interest to save the law. The papal commission and the long series of mandates were all set aside, and so far the law was upheld; but the points in dispute were all given against him; and the very arbitrators who decided the award were the persons whom the pope had commissioned as delegates. The law was strong enough to rob the papal proceedings of their logical conclusion, but not strong enough to decide the cause on its merits or by its own virtue.

And this is not to be wondered at; for, not to speak of the constant and accumulated aggravations of papal interference, the administration of the law of the land was in the hands of men too rough and self-willed to handle so delicate an instrument. For the law itself was not in its infancy, and was fully competent to decide on nearly all the points involved; but though the weapons were ready and appropriate, they were crushed by the hands that wielded them, and the law was broken in the attempt to enforce it more than in the attempt to evade it.

character.

The character of Richard is illustrated in some minor points by his course in these disputes. He stands in pleasant contrast with his father in respect both of his openness and of his firmness. His stout determination not to yield is manifest from the first. He would not suffer the law of the land to be overridden by a rescript from Rome. He condescended to none of what S. Thomas called his father's mousetraps: the tricks by which that astute king managed to put his adversaries in the wrong without committing himself to a decided course. He not only threatened, but actually defeated, the legate, John of Anagni, in a way worthy of his father's bolder days. He forbade the execution of the mandate of Innocent, instead of trying to elude it either by chicanery or by bullying. And the success of his resistance fully justified the more manly line he took.

Hubert.

Not less conspicuous is the influence exercised over him by archbishop Hubert. Hubert's character has suffered a good deal from his connexion with Richard. From S. Hugh downwards, judgment has been passed upon him as a man of secular mind, ambitious, unscrupulous.

pulous, the willing minister of a greedy tyranny. In some respects his position was one of his own seeking. He was the first archbishop of Canterbury who had retained secular power after his accession to the primacy. With the exception of S. Thomas, he was the only primate since the Conquest who had been chosen for any other reason than learning or sanctity: he was raised to the high position which he filled simply for secular reasons. But it should be taken into account that Hubert never worked for himself alone; he never enriched or aggrandized himself;¹ if he grasped a power, there were no other hands capable of grasping it, or even of holding it for a moment. No one exercised over Richard an influence to be compared with that of Hubert. In the recollection of this lies the excuse for much of that arbitrary conduct that has offended his critics. If the yoke when held by Hubert was heavy, what must it have been in the hands of William Longchamp, a man who, not inferior in zeal and faithfulness, and perhaps even superior in political acuteness, had not the tact or the moral influence, or a particle of the English feeling that characterized the archbishop. That the influence of Hubert over Richard was not a mere accident, but the result of something in the character of the former, can scarcely be questioned; for he exercised the same among the haughty nobles and among the citizens of London. The extent and character of this influence was especially apparent in

Position of Hubert.

¹ Giraldus Cambrensis gives Hubert a very bad character for dishonesty, incontinence, ambition, avarice, and tyranny. Besides this, he was both utterly unlearned, and only saved by his ignorance from being heretical. See Giraldus' Invectiones, passim; especially, Opp. iii. 28, 38, 39. These calumnies would be utterly unworthy of attention, if the inventor had not thought fit to retract them. As it is, we must set against them the character given by Gervase, 1681, 1682. Giraldus accuses Hubert further of aspiring to the cardinalate, and even to the papacy. Opp. iii. 23.

minister.

the pacification of England during Richard's captivity and in the management of the election of John.¹ On the former of these occasions it is almost amusing to remark the way in which the minor actors who had acquired some importance in the medley, vanish before his strong and sensible proceedings. William of Longchamp dwindles down into the king's chancellor; Walter of Coutances disappears almost entirely from the arena of English politics; Hugh of Puiset and Hugh of Nunant are compelled to keep order; John and Geoffrey are both put in their proper places; Richard reigns as powerfully from Spire or Worms as he did from Roche d'Andeli or Azai. Hubert was himself a Norman nobleman, and allied with the greatest names of the period of amalgamation. He had stood face to face with Saladin both in the field of battle and in the council. He who knew how to keep the lion-hearted king in something like order, was not likely to cower before a fellow noble. He was not, perhaps, the best conceivable minister for Richard, but he was probably the best, if not the only one, possible. He was a true patriot, a man of honest purposes, and of pure life. That such a man should have the authority he had with Richard is enough to outweigh any charges that can be brought against him as a minister, and the details of the association bring out some of the better features of the king's character at the same time.

Hubert as a
bishop.

If we regard him as a bishop, other considerations come in. The exchequer of a Norman sovereign could hardly be a good school of financial honesty, much less of theological training. Hubert was sadly deficient in both the scholarship and the doctrinal learning that become a bishop. The secular occupations to which he devoted himself could not be satisfactorily pursued without some dereliction of his spiritual work. It can only be said for him that the greatness of his country's need was his best excuse. Yet the results of the system which he represented were very terrible. Under an archbishop whose time was filled with secular work, and whose energies, however commanding, could scarcely have grappled alone with the evils of the disordered church, the state of religion in the country was extremely bad. Unhappy state of religion.

Nigel, the monk of Canterbury, and author of the Speculum Stultorum, whose name is found two or three times in the following pages, has left us in his book, De Abusu Ecclesiastico, a picture of the state of the church as viewed by a sincere and by no means prejudiced monk. The following of secular pursuits by the superior clergy had the double effect of laying open the spiritual offices to unworthy persons, and of perverting religious endowments to mere secular uses. Immorality and simony were crying sins in the portion of the clergy, that was supposed to be devoted to spiritual duties, and these were rather encouraged than restrained by their poverty. The superior clergy were generally free from these stains, but ignorance, meanness, avarice, and servility were common amongst them. Nigel doubtless attributed much of this to the inherent corruptness of secular life; but a careful study of these letters will show that there was another cause at work, that did not lie, indeed, so deep in human nature, but was almost as difficult to eradicate as if it had done so. This was the paralysis of discipline in the church itself. There can be no reasonable doubt that the hands of the bishops were tied by the sufferance of appeals to Rome, contrary to the ancient custom of the realm; the evil that had called for the constitutions of Clarendon; the old evil, foreign to the English Church, which had been gradually creeping in since the Conquest. It was practically in the power of any contumacious priest to Nigel's view of the clergy.
Paralysis of discipline.

Mischief of appeals.

lodge an appeal to Rome, which at once removed him from the authority of his diocesan, and placed him, whatever his merits might be, under the protection of the holy see. Neither the spiritual nor the lay courts could try him; no bishop would subject himself to the annoyance and expense of a suit which would almost to a certainty be decided against him. All-powerful money could purchase, or wearisome pertinacity extort a mandate; pains and penalties would follow the refusal of the bishop to obey; from that moment he ceased to be a judge and became a defendant; and that under a charge on which the Italian lawyers never acquitted a bishop. The great proportion of English cases which are found in the Decretals of Gregory IX., and the space that English letters occupy in the letters of Alexander III. and his successors, which are of course only picked cases and letters of supposed importance, speaks more convincingly than any complaints of the historians of the paralysis of judicial power in the English Church. Although Hubert was neither a learned man nor a great theologian, he did his best, by the means of councils and legatine visitations, to remedy the evils that he saw existing. He failed under circumstances in which S. Hugh of Lincoln and Baldwin of Canterbury failed too.

Perversion
of church endowments.

With the ideas that prevailed during this period on the subject of church preferment, there was doubtless a difficulty in attracting a superior class of minds to mere clerical work. The better endowments were heaped upon men who were ready to serve the king in the business of the State. The monasteries engrossed a vast proportion of tithe and only scantily provided for the duties legally attached to the possession. Piety was driven out of the church and choked in the monastery. The foundation of colleges and enrichment of the cathedrals would have served to provide for the learned and legal clergy, and have left parochial endowments to their natural purpose. But this could only be done at the expense of the monastic order, either by alienating their revenues or by diverting that stream of pious liberality that had flowed so long in their direction. It was partly with this view that Henry II. and his ministers encouraged the design of Baldwin; and this, like every effort after reformation that proceeded from the bishops, was foiled by the appeal to Rome.

Sacrifice demanded of the monastic orders.

The Hakington and Lambeth foundations may be regarded as the last attempt to utilize the property of the monasteries before the Reformation. It failed signally, and the need of the moment was satisfied within a few years by the introduction of the mendicant orders, who undertook the religious revival of the people; these in their turn provoked the parochial clergy to greater activity, and so reform worked itself out; later the lawyers set themselves to oust the clergy from their secular occupations, and thus what was lost to the State was gained to the well-being of the church. The monastic system was left to itself until the sins of the fathers were visited upon the children, and the endowments which might have nursed learning and amply provided for monastic peace and hospitality, served to enrich the greedy courtiers of Henry VIII. and Edward VI.

Importance of the Hakington and Lambeth cases in church history.

From the end of the twelfth century until the Reformation, from the days of Hubert Walter to those of Wolsey, the monasteries remained magnificent hostleries; their churches were splendid chapels for noble patrons; their inhabitants were bachelor country gentlemen, more polished and charitable, but little more learned or more pure in life than their lay neighbours; their estates were well managed, and enjoyed great advantages and exemptions; they were, in fact, an element of peace in a nation that delighted in war. But with a few noble exceptions, there was nothing in the system that did spiritual service; books were multiplied, but learning declined ; prayers were offered unceasingly, but the efficacious energy of real devotion was not found in the homes that it had reared. The monastic body had sacrificed the opportunity of doing good work for the triumph of a moment. The great prize of their ambition, the government of the church, fell from their hands. The position occupied from henceforth by the monks of Canterbury,—and their state and weight may be taken as a fair criterion of the whole system,—was void of all political importance ; their action in the election of the primate was merely nominal ; in spite of many efforts to elect men of their own order, only once more did a monk fill the throne of Augustine. With the exception of Simon Langham, whose merits were by no means those of a monastic saint, Baldwin was the last monk who governed the Church of England.

ARCHIEPISCOPORUM.

LIBER PRIMUS.

UNIVERSIS sacrosanctæ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ filiis et fo. 1.
fratribus, vitam monasticam professis, et in futurum, Domino favente, professoris, quidam ejusdem ecclesiæ filius et tribulationum socius salutem, et sereno tempore meminisse nubilosi.

Rerum gestarum notitia, et ea quæ præcesserunt in sæculis quæ fuerunt ante nos, nobis jampridem longa fuissent oblivione sepulta, et cum tempore transeunte pertransissent, nisi præcedentium prudentia posteritati suæ litterali beneficio prospexisset; ipsamque sui originem homo ignoraret, nisi scripta hominum viva-ciora quam corpora, futuræ corruptioni consuluissent.
Cœli et terræ, hominum et angelorum creationem, lucis et tenebrarum divisionem, aquarum ab arida separati-onem et cætera quæ fecit Deus valde bona, tot anno-rum millibus jam elapsis, quis vel hodie somniaret, nisi monumenta scripturarum mortalitatis nostræ defectui subvenirent, et nostrum suppletes defectum, præterita quasi præsentia memoriæ nostræ ministrarent?

Hinc est quod ad futurorum non solum notitiam, The fifteen verum etiam et ad cautelam, ea quæ gesta sunt years' trials tempore tribulationis, quæ per annos circiter quindecim of the church in ecclesia Cantuariensi duravit, huic operi inserere of Canterbury.

utile visum fuit, ut videant qui venturi sunt, et viriliter agant eorum recordatione roborati; quæ conventus sustinuit pro libertate Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, temporibus summorum pontificum Urbani, Gregorii, Clementis, Coelestini, Innocentii, et archiepiscoporum Baldewini, et Huberti, sub regibus Anglorum Henrico, Ricardo et Johanne, sicut ex eorum omnium epistolis, vario tempore scriptis, et in hoc opusculo in ordinem et unum corpus redactis, diligens lector poterit intueri.

Hujus autem tribulationis prima causa fuit, quod jam dictus Baldewinus, ipso promotionis suæ anno,¹ exenia maneriorum quæ de jure antiquo ad conventum pertinebant; postmodum quatuor ecclesias quas decessor ejus Ricardus magna pietate qua pollebat, ad alendos Christi pauperes, eleemosynaria scriptura interveniente, assignaverat, procedentibus nihilominus domini Alexandri papæ tertii consecratoris sui confirmatione, et Lucii qui eidem Baldewino pallium direxerat, nescio quo spiritu repente subduxit. Unde capitulum Cantuariense coactum est supremæ sedis judicium per appellationem postulare. Crescente igitur semine jurgiorum, per quosdam venerabiles viros actum est, ut appellationi renunciaretur: nec tamen generaliter;² nam quidam fratrum constantiæ magnæ et fidei, multorum confratrum consilio suffultus, ad curiam Romanam profectus est, prædictorum spoliationem domino Papæ Urbano qui jam Apostolicæ sedi præsedet contestans, et litteras impetravit commissorias. Nondum enim secundum promissionem archiepiscopi fuerant ablata restituta. Interim inimico homine ampliorem seminante discordiam inter patrem et filios, tacita veritate, impetratæ sunt litteræ ab eodem Urbano, ut liceret archiepiscopo sub nomine capellæ, canonicorum sæcularium numero circiter sexaginta ecclesiam celeberrimam ædificare.

Primo igitur in ecclesia Sancti Stephani de Hakin-tune extra muros civitatis, canonicos instituit, volens eos ibidem certum domicilium habere, donec eis cele-briorem et ampliorem fundaret ecclesiam. Quod cum conventui innotuisset, missis pluribus de fratribus ad locum, ipso archiepiscopo præsente, in aure totius populi qui ad hoc confluxerat, secundo etiam tunc solemniter appellatum est, tam super institutione canonicorum, quam super detentione ablatorum. Nitebatur autem archiepiscopus ecclesias in fundo conventus sitas sicut et suas appræbendare, unde et clericos jam ante jurare coegerat, quod canoniam illam foverent, et quamdiu viverent modis omnibus promoverent. Nam ante missis tribus ex fratribus provocatum fuerat, quos etiam idem archiepiscopus provocatus in diversa claustra retrusit. Qua in re conventus matricis ecclesiæ sub-versionem tam in spiritualibus quam in temporalibus conspiciens imminere, amplius cœpit formidare, anim-advertens quod quantum illa cresceret, ista decres-ceret, quæ nihil habuit unde illa dotaretur, nisi quod matrici detraheretur. Prosecutionem igitur appellationis per priorem Honorium et alios confratres nostros, et varios hinc inde rerum eventus qui acciderunt, epistolæ subsequentes latius prosequuntur.

Urbanus papa Cantuariensi archiepiscopo Baldewino. Quanto majoris religionis es, nominis et dignitatis, tanto propensiori studio iis teneris intendere, quæ ad honestatem pertineant et religionis augmentum. Quoniam igitur omnimodis sicut venerabilem fratrem nostrum sinceræ caritatis brachiis amplexamur, per te corrigi malumus quam per alium, quod in præjudicium juris est in hac parte commissum, monemus fraternitatem tuam, consulimus et hortamur, quatenus si res ita se habet, hæc per te ipsum non expectata correctione alterius corrigas, et præscriptas ecclesias usibus illis restituas, quibus eas de prædecessoris tui et apostolicæ sedis constat auctoritate confirmatas. Si vero juxta consilium et exhortationem nostram id per te ipsum congrua non fuerit emendatione correctum, juri prædictorum fratrum aliter volumus providere, cum in eo loco simus et officio, licet insufficientibus meritis, providentia supernæ dispositionis assumpti, ut nemini nedum viris religionis apostolicum possimus suffragium denegare. Urbanus papa Lincolniensi episcopo et de Favresham et de Boxelia abbatibus, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Dilecti filii nostri Cantuariensis ecclesiæ suam ad nos querimoniam transmiserunt, quod cum ecclesiæ de Estreia et de Munechetun eidem ecclesiæ ad usus pauperum rationabiliter deputatæ fuissent, et non solum a bonæ memoriæ Ricardo quondam Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, sed etiam prædecessorum nostrorum Alexandri et Lucii [auctoritate] confirmatæ, venerabilis frater noster Baldewinus Cantuariensis archiepiscopus, apostolicæ sedis legatus, eas usibus ipsis ex sua voluntate subtraxit, et ipsas quibusdam clericis minus juste concessit. VI. LITTERÆ IMPETRATÆ A BALDEWINO, TACITA VERITATE, PRO CANONIA SÆCULARIUM ERIGENDA. A.D. 1186.
October 1.

Urbanus papa Baldewino Cantuariensi archiepiscopo. Significatum est nobis ex parte tua, quod cum beatus Thomas martyr Christi in vita sua propositum gereret et voluntatem haberet ecclesiam in honore beati Stephani ædificare, et præbendas in ea de ecclesiis parochialibus quæ ad ipsius donationem spectabant construere, de quibus clerici eidem ecclesiæ deservientes, in communi honeste possent et congrue sustentari; martyrio feliciter coronatus, non potuit quod intenderat in hac parte pro voto complere. Verum quia significasti ejus te in hac parte pietatis ostendere successorem, præsentium tibi auctoritate duximus indulgendum, ut liceat tibi ecclesiam illam in honore beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ, sicut idem gloriosus martyr disposuerat in honore beati Stephani construere, et de idoneis personis ordinare, quibus beneficia ad sustentationem eorum constituens debeas canonice assignare. Ea tamen habita providentia, ut ecclesiæ illæ debitis obsequiis et necessariis stipendiis non fraudentur. Nulli ergo omnino hominum liceat hanc paginam nostræ concessionis infringere, vel ei ausu temerario contraire. Si quis autem etc. Datum Veronæ, kalendis Octobris.

A.D. 1186. VIII. FRATERNITAS QUAM INSTITUIT BALDEWINUS ARCHIEPISCOPUS PRO CANONIA.

Baldewinus Dei gratia Cantuariensis archiepiscopus, et apostolicæ sedis legatus, omnibus Christi fidelibus ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit, salutem in Domino. Cum igitur Christi confessor beatus Anselmus et postmodum successor ipsius Sanctus Thomas in desiderio animæ suæ habuissent ecclesiam clericorum in honore Sancti Stephani prope Cantuariam ædificare, alter felici in Domino pace quiescens, alter glorioso martyrio consummatus, pium propositum suum posteris suis adimplendum reliquerunt. Unde quoniam indignum nimis videri debet, quod, cum beatus Thomas ubique terrarum glorificetur et ecclesias habeat, in terra natalitatis suæ nullam habet; de consilio et assensu domini papæ, necnon et domini regis omniumque suffraganeorum nostrorum, et magnatum hujus terræ, novam in honore præfatorum martyrum clericorum ecclesiam per gratiam Dei ædificare decrevimus. Cujus rei gratia hanc fraternitatem per provinciam Cantuariensem constituimus, ab hoc anno Dominicæ Incarnationis, M^oC^oLXXX^oVI^o in septennium duraturam. Omnibus itaque qui hanc fraternitatem ingredientur, et aliquid de suo annuatim ad præfatum opus miserint, vel in fine legaverint, si septennem vel majorem agunt pœnitentiam, vere confessis tertiam partem remittimus; si vero minorem, sexaginta dies eis relaxamus. Minuta etiam peccata et oblivioni tradita, offensæ quoque in parentes nisi in eos manus violentas injecerint, sub pœnitentia cæteris peccatis imposita colligantur. Iis etiam qui per pœnitentiam sunt extra ecclesiam toto anno præterquam in Quadragesima, liberum ecclesiæ ingressum concedimus. Adjicimus etiam quod omnes fraternitatis participes Christianam habeant sepulturam, quicumque fuerint morte præventi, nisi vel sibi ipsis manus injecerint, vel nominatim invasistis. Pro quibus illatis decrevimus tunc appellare et appellavimus: et quia sperabamus asperitatem vestram per lenitatem nostram precibus et fletibus emollire, et hoc in-ductione quorundam abbatum qui ad hoc confluxerant, spe inani et verbis nudis seducti, illi appellationi renunciavimus;

non tamen generaliter, quia aliqui fratrum maximæ constantiæ omnia summo Pontifici Urbano, et scripto et verbo præsent-ut ablata restitueretis. Immo manus vestras quotidie aggravastis in nostra oppressione. Hoc veraciter indicat opus et Supplicamus itaque generositatis vestræ pedibus obvoluti, quatenus gloriosum martyrem Thomam, adhuc in membris suis laborantem, benignius excipiat, et litteras domino papæ ad quem appellavimus, et jam priorem nostrum direximus, pro statu et honore ecclesiæ nostræ conservando, velit dirigere; quatenus dum ejus quasi regnum terrenum diligentia vestra servatis, ipse meritis suis et intercessione vestrum temporale conservet et conferat sempiternum. Si ergo placet excellentiæ vestræ nos pro Dei et beati martyris amore, pro liberalitate vestra et salute exaudire, facite ut intelligat dominus papa petitionem quam pro nobis facietis ex affectu procedere. XII. P. ATREBATENSI EPISCOPO¹ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

A.D. 1186.
December.

Venerabili patri et domino P. Atrebatensi episcopo, conventus ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariæ salutem et sinceram in Christo dilectionem. Quæsivimus pacem et non venit, tempus curationis, et ecce turbatio. Post multa gravamina, et propter quædam ablati graviora, quæ contra nos cognovimus subtilius procurata, maxime quia turrim dominus noster erigere intendit [contra] faciem Jerusalem, et clericorum ecclesiam juxta nos construere, unde secundum sapientum assertionem poterit Cantuariensi ecclesiæ in dignitatibus præjudicium provenire, audientiam domini papæ compulsi sumus appellare, nos et nostra omnia sub ejus ponentes protectione. Cæterum eo ipso quo cohiberi debuit, aggravata est manus patris nostri super nos, et quia genuimus et vociferavimus, durius cæsi sumus. Prior siquidem noster suspensus est a prioratus officio; fratres vero quamplures, quia obviam ei perrexerunt supplicaturi pro loco mutando in quo fundare parat ecclesiam, a celebratione missarum. Virum etiam religiosum qui verbum appellationis proposuit a domo nostra expulit, et nunc demum omnium bonorum nostrorum nos potestate privavit. Satagat ergo sanctitas vestra [secundum] fiduciam quam de vobis habemus, dominum nostrum rogare, monere, et modis quibus potestis inducere, ut nostri misereatur et mitius agat nobiscum. Quæ enim gloria nos erit expugnare, cum quibus turpe est etiam dimicasse? Rogamus etiam tam confidenter quam devote, quatenus veritatis amore domino papæ supplicare velitis, litteris ad eum directis per harum bajulum, ut statum Cantuariensis ecclesiæ solitum et debitum diligentius studeat conservare, necnon abbati et conventui Cystersiensi, ut curent animum ejus ab hoc revocare proposito.

Abbati et conventui Clarevallensi salutem et se semper devotos. Nacti de sacro collegio vestro pastorem plurimum gavisi sumus, sperantes quod et ejus industria nobis in temporalibus incrementum afferret, et vitæ sanctitas recte vivendi præferret exemplum. Quippe amabilis videbatur dominus noster archiepiscopus super amorem mulierum, facies ejus ^{2 Sam. i. 26.} quasi angeli degentis inter homines; eloquia oris ejus super ^{Psalm xix. 11.} mel et favum, membrorum motus et corporis qualitas virtutem mentis prædicabant, et abnegabant ineptias. Spopondit nobis in primo sermone, in cujus verba tutum putabamus jurare, quod nos diligeret, etiamsi non diligeretur a nobis, et nostro in agendis suis uteretur consilio. Cæterum in prima reversione sua ad nos, aversus est animus ejus a nobis, adeo ut quotiescunque ex tunc usque adhuc ecclesiam suam ingressus fuerit, conditio nostra in aliquo senserit. Post multa tandem gravamina, et maxime quia clericorum ecclesiam juxta nos construere intendit, quæ secundum assertionem sapientum poterit Cantuariensi ecclesiæ præjudicium generare; ne pro domo Israel ex adverso stare dissimulantes, nec nomen mereremur filiorum, subsidium apostolicum imploravimus, et quoniam jus nostrum ausi sumus protestari, priorem nostrum suspendit dominus noster archiepiscopus a prioratus officio; fratres vero quamplures, quia ei obviam de præcepto prioris processerunt supplicaturi pro loco mutando in quo fundare parat ecclesiam, a celebratione missarum. Virum etiam religiosum qui verba appellationis proposuit a domo sua expulit; et nunc demum omnium bonorum potestate privavit. In quibus omnibus non tam nostra lugenda est læsio, quam ordinis vestri et honoris injuria. Sæpe enim unius delictum solet licet indebite in contemptum¹ universitatis redundare.² Hæc itaque, venerabiles in Christo patres et domini, ideo vestræ nota facimus sanctitati, quatenus erga eum, si potestis, si minus, apud Deum, vestris nos juvetis orationibus; hoc solita devotionis instantia exorantes, ut Deus pacis et dilectionis inter ipsum et nos dilectionem reformare dignetur et pacem. Si autem placuerit vobis hac de causa ad patrem nostrum legationem mittere, credimus quia dominus Atrebatensis episcopus laborem hunc pro nobis libenter suscipiet et negotium efficaciter promovebit.

XIV. IDEM REMENSI ARCHIEPISCOPO.¹

December.

Remensi archiepiscopo conventus Cantuariensis, salutem et semper paratum piæ dilectionis obsequium.

The monks entreat the help of the archbishop of Rheims for the sake of S. Thomas.

De benignitate vestra nos præsumere, non merita nostra sed piæ dilectionis affectus, et quam erga gloriosum martyrem Thomam geritis facit laudanda devotio. Sæpe enim filios quamvis degeneres reverenda patrum protexit auctoritas, et aditus faciliores præparavit ad gratiam. Hac itaque consideratione inducti et animati confidentia, excellentiæ vestræ necessitates nostras audacter exponimus; sperantes quod qui martyrem devote colitis, martyris causam pia affectione confovebitis. Noveritis itaque quia post multa et magna gravamina a domino et patre nostro nobis illata, quia juxta nos clericorum construere proponit ecclesiam, unde juxta seniorum sententiam Cantuariensis ecclesiæ dignitatibus poterit dispensium provenire; ad subsidium confugimus apostolicum, eo magis formidantes in hoc opere quod intendit, quanto eum omnia contra nos usque adhuc subtilius procurasse cognovimus. Quotiescunque enim ad nos reversus est, ecclesia nostra, quod et mirabile dictu est et miserabile, aliquid passa est detrimentum. Nos autem, ut coram Deo sit dicere, in nullo meminimus eum offendisse, nisi forte offensam vocet, quod jus ecclesiæ nostræ ausi sumus quamvis sero protestari. Hanc ergo martyris causam ideo diximus, quia ipsum quoque pro dignitatibus hujus ecclesiæ nulli dubium est dimicasse. In Dei igitur et ipsius paternitati vestræ supplicamus dilectione, quatenus apicibus vestris ad dominum papam per præsentium latorem directis, ipsi supplicare velitis ex affectu, ut jura et dignitates Cantuariensis ecclesiæ integras et illæsas curet conservare, et priorem nostrum et fratres qui cum eo profecti sunt, in justis petitionibus suis clementer exaudiat.

XXIV. BALDEWINO ARCHIEPISCOPO EXONIENSIS EPISCOPUS.

Reverendo patri et domino Baldewino, Dei gratia, Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, totius Angliæ primati et apostolicæ sedis legato, Johannes¹ eadem gratia Exoniensis episcopus, salutem et debitum obedientis affectum.

The bishop of Exeter sends to the archbishop a copy of his letter to the pope.

Sanctitatis vestræ preces caritate plenas benigne suscepimus. Quas juxta rei seriem et tenorem propositi, prout sanius duximus, pro posse nostro secuti sumus. Litteras itaque parvitatis nostræ summo pontifici ex parte nostra pro vobis dirigendas cum earum transcripto paternitati vestræ transmittimus in hanc formam.

“ Sanctissimo patri et domino Urbano, Dei gratia, summo pontifici, Johannes, divina miseratione, Exoniensis ecclesiæ minister humilis, tam devotum quam debitum subjectionis obsequium, cum salute.

He reminds the pope of the reformation that followed the death of S. Thomas.

“ Scitis, pater sanctissime, quomodo in Anglicana ecclesia diebus nostris per mortem beati Thomæ martyris pacem populo suo et salutem operatus est pacis Auctor et salutis. In cujus memoriam recens devotio et rei novitas in ecclesiis altaria super numerum et capellas in compitis erexit innumeras, in quibus fervente quæstu fervebat obsequium. Sed processu temporis tepescente causa effectus² intepuit, adeo ut martyrem gloriosum hactenus non usquequaque debito veneremur obsequio, qui in remotis mundi partibus apud exteras, ut accepimus, nationes, propriarum ecclesiarum honore gaudet et patrimonio, cum in gente sua et patria locum non habebat præterquam in alieno, adhuc hospes in suo. Merito itaque in gloriosi martyris honore et nomine specialis ecclesia apud suos construi debuit, dotata uberius, et venerabilibus personis ditata plenius, unde velut a latere domini Cantuariensis totius Anglicanæ ecclesiæ et regni consilium procederet et prudentia. Commodius autem prope Cantuariam, gloriosi martyris nativitatis locum, hoc fieri potuit, ubi ob honorem et libertatem ut gregi suo parceretur, pastor capiti non pepercit. Hinc est quod venerabilis patris B. nunc Cantuariensis archiepiscopi propositum approbantes, desiderium ejus desideranter amplectimur et commendamus; non solum Anglicanæ ecclesiæ sed toti regno, in Christo loquor, profuturum. Eo etiam favorabilius est facti propositum, quod

A reaction has set in, and devotion to S. Thomas has cooled.

The archbishop is founding a new church in his honour.

In omnibus siquidem agendis nostris cum ea, annuente Deo, sagacitate et modestia procedere curabimus, quod jus et dignitatem domini Cantuariensis absque cujusque scrupulositatis figmento illæsa conservabimus. Expedit vobis ut cum summa celeritate per fratres vestros ad hoc magis idoneos et alios, litteræ domini papæ tam judicibus quam domino Cantuariensi dirigantur, et quid super hoc facere decreverint nobis quantocius renunciatur. Nos vero in illius stabilitatis scabulo anchoram nostram collocavimus, quod neque terrores neque angustiae ab ecclesiæ nostræ caritate vel vestra nos aliquatenus poterunt separare. XXVI. URBANUS PAPA BALDEWINO CANTUARIENSI ARCHIEPISCOPO.¹

Urbanus episcopus, servus servorum Dei, venerabili fratri B. Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, apostolicæ sedis legato, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Dum ad mentem reducimus religionis tuæ fervorem et locum regiminis quem in ecclesia Dei ad procurandam salutem fidelium suscepisti, non possumus non dolere si quid nobis de tuæ fraternitatis actibus proponatur, quod gravitati tuæ et pontificali officio contradicat. Dignum siquidem est et consonum rationi, ut sicut te, speciale videlicet membrum ecclesiæ, sincera in Domino caritate diligimus, ita de conversatione tua et moribus specialem sollicitudinem habeamus, quia nostram² crederemus non modicam læsionem, si laudabilis tuæ religionis opinio occasione qua-

Sane veniens ad præsentiam nostram dilectus filius noster, prior ecclesiæ tuæ, cum quibusdam ex fratribus suis, diligenti¹ nobis insinuatione monstravit, quod post promotionem tuam in qua sui conventus statum crediderunt ad honorem Dei omnimodis augmentandum, a te enormia gravamina sint perpessi et quotidie sustineant graviora. Pro quibus cum ad sedem apostolicam appellassent, ut ad præsens cætera transeamus, Dominica qua cantatur Lætare Jerusalem, terminum præfigentes, tu, quod mirabile gerimus et indignum, ipsi appellationi non deferens, in executione ipsius quendam ex fratribus suspendisti, qui etiam de præcepto tuo postmodum, sicut dicitur, ab ipsa ecclesia est remotus. Post eandem etiam appellationem, licet prior et fratres se et sua sub apostolica protectione posuerunt, priorem nihilominus suspendisti, objiciens ei quod unum ex fratribus suis ad præsentiam nostram venire permisit, et quendam alium qui appellaverat in ecclesia et consortio fratrum suscepit. Postquam autem ob prædicta gravamina iter arripuit ad sedem apostolicam veniendi, in basilica quam in ipsorum gravissimum detrimentum construxisse proponeris, quosdam sæculares canonicos, appellantibus et reclamantibus fratribus, diceris statuisse, eisque ecclesias ipsorum assignasse, et universos qui appellaverant ab altaris officio suspendisse. Quia vero, licet super principalibus quæstionibus in termino appellationi præfixo tuos responsales et nuncios expectemus, ea tamen quæ tam manifeste in contemptum sedis apostolicæ peracta dicuntur, quantumcunque tuæ velimus fraternitati deferre, relinquere nolumus incorrecta, auctoritate tibi apostolica mandamus atque præcipimus, quatenus prædictarum suspensionum sententias, tam in priorem quam in alios fratres ejusdem ecclesiæ, post appellationem ad nos interpositam promulgatas, infra decem dies post susceptionem præsentium publice denuncies non tenere, et quod post primam appellationem in juris eorum præjudicium attentasti, in statum pristinum reducere non omittas, sciturus quod si infra præscriptum terminum exsequi distuleris quod mandamus, nos nequaquam super hoc poterimus injurias ecclesiæ sustinere. The prior and brethren have complained of his oppressions, and have fixed their appeal for Mar. 8.

The pope is astonished that the archbishop should have suspended the prior after appeal, and should have instituted canons in his new chapel in spite of it.

The principal charges he will leave to the term of appeal, but insists that the sentence against the prior be rescinded within ten days, and all things restored as before.

Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, apostolicæ sedis legato, post promotionem suam enormia gravamina sint perpessi et quotidie sustineant graviora. Quibus elapsis et adhuc infecto quod mandastis, sicut alias sanctitati vestræ significavimus, directis tribus ad eum monachis etiam tunc cum potestas ejus in hac parte videretur exspirasse, rogavimus quatenus mandatum vestrum ipse compleret, alioquin nos in ejus executione utpote obedientes non posse non procedere. Redeuntibus qui missi fuerant, et de adimplendo quod jussistis nihil certi reportantibus, juxta formam mandati vestri ad jam dictorum fratrum instantiam denunciavimus publice sententiam¹ post appellationem ad vos interpositam, in priorem et fratres promulgatam non tenere; monachis ipsis sufficienter edocentibus sententiam ipsam post appellationem prolatam. Qui cum de multis quererentur, alia in litteris vestris contenta, quia ambigue dicta videbantur, ad discretionem vestram retulimus. Cæterum aliquanto tempore interjecto, jam dicti archiepiscopi clerici, magister H. Pigun et magister Silvester, me contumeliis et minis affecerunt, non aliter obedientiam quam paternitati vestræ exhibui punientes, quam deberent si contemptorem comprobassent. vestram quasi dubia, cum tamen de rei evidentia non dubitent, referentes. Ipse autem archiepiscopus post litterarum vestrarum susceptionem, oleum et chrisma contra consuetudinem prædecessorum suorum Londoniis confecit, et exinde ad Cantuariensem ecclesiam quasi ad vacantem transmisit. Et cum pro universo ecclesiæ nostræ statu ad majestatem vestram appellatum sit, qui in hoc maxime articulo visus est immutari, et officii sui debitum omisit,¹ et appellationi minus detulisse videtur. Insuper cum adhuc redditus quos Londoniæ percipere consuevimus nobis dari prohibeat, etiam pro fratribus maneriarum nostrorum procuratoribus, ne administrationem suam implere exeant, interdixit. Similiter ne pro necessitatibus nostris et præcipue pro causa ecclesiæ nostræ construendæ, de rebus ecclesiæ pignus ponere audeamus, inhibuit. Edicta præterea proponit nova et negotio suscepto contraria, ut nos quasi comprehendat in inobedientia; in quibus omnibus majus est quod timeamus quam quod patimur. Quæ enim erit forma in rebus ecclesiasticis, quis rigor disciplinæ, si contemnitur auctoritas sedis apostolicæ? Verum adversarii nostri qui magnitudinis suæ mole nos premunt, quibus Deus Sui nominis timorem incutiat pariter et amorem, de virtute sua confidunt et de nostra nihilominus imbecillitate, qui utique utpote alia habemus studia, in disceptatione causarum minus instructi sumus, exercitati minime. Opus ergo habemus,² pater venerande, et ab officii vestri non discrepat qualitate, ut ad vos causa pauperum ingrediatur, cui tanto favorabilius et aurem inclinetis et animum, quanto qui humilitatem nostram vident et tribulationem, contemnere videntur potestatem. Supplicamus igitur sanctitatis vestræ omnes genibus provoluti, quatenus priorem nostrum et fratres in justis petitionibus exaudire velitis, et Cantuariensis ecclesiæ statum indemnem conservare, pro qua et in qua gloriosus martyr Thomas sanguinem suum dignum duxit effundere. Dominis suis et fratribus carissimis, Gaufrido suppriori et conventui ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis, Honorius prior et socii sui, salutem et veram in Domino consolationem.

The prior informs the convent of his increasing favour at the Roman court.

Hactenus Pater misericordiarum in nobis misericordiam Suam 2 Cor. i. 3. declaravit; hactenus iter et actus nostros pro votis nostris laudabiliter prosperavit; tantum namque gratiam et favorem omnium qui sunt in curia nobis per Dei gratiam alleximus, quod una nobiscum stant, nobiscum agunt, ultro se martyris Thomæ servitio et nostro ingerunt, tanquam eis divinitus esset inspiratum. Hoc itaque vestræ dilectioni scribimus ad consolationem, quatenus qui tribulationum et laborum nostrorum indesinenter estis participes, simul sitis et gaudiorum. Expedita sunt negotia nostra, Deo gratias, pro parte, quæ per aliquem fratrum nostrorum ad vos quam citius transmittemus, qui vos vivæ vocis colloquio plenius de statu nostro poterit certificare. Nihil adhuc actitatum est super causa principali; expectamus enim domini Cantuariensis responsales, qui quoniam nondum comparuere sufficientes, præfixit nobis dominus papa diem Veneris proximam post Quasi modo geniti, quatenus

Quoniam igitur ambigua sunt fata causarum, et res tam ardua quem sortiatur effectum incerti sumus, nihil lite pendente certitudinis, nihil adhuc firmitatis vestræ possumus significare fraternitati. Verumtamen quia curiam Romanam æquitate debita jurisque gloria florere comperimus, cum eadem sit oppressis subsidium, personis miserabilibus solatium, pro verisimili præsumptionis argumento cepimus, quod sinum clementiæ suæ nobis solum non subtrahet, quæ quibuslibet suum præstare patrociniū, et in justitia sua exequenda hactenus solet subvenire; præsertim cum nos, sicut ab omnibus prædicatur, causam rationi consentaneam et æquitati consonam videamur confovere. Cum autem super causæ nostræ ventilatione certitudinem reportaverimus, nuncium nostrum ad vos cum summa celeritate transmittere curabimus, per quem rei series vobis plenius innotescet. XXXVI. HONORIO PRIORI CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Venerabili domino Honorio, priori Cantuariensi, et fratribus, Gaufridus supprior et totus ejusdem ecclesiæ conventus, salutem et orationum suffragia.

Lætificastis animas nostras in verbo spei quod mandastis, nec singulariter in spe constituistis nos, sed etiam in timore. Quamdiu enim res desiderata speratur, timore quoque suspenditur desiderium, et donec rem consequatur, formido semper denigrabit gaudium. Hoc autem inter mundi desiderabilia nos maxime noveritis affectare, ut constructio novæ præter nos ecclesiæ, si fieri potest, in nihilum redigatur, quam non ambigimus, si facta fuerit, et nobis in detrimentum esse, et posteritati nostræ posse præjudiciū generare. Vos ergo in negotio arduo quod suscepistis altiori utentes consilio, quamvis minus necessarium putemus ultro currentibus¹ calcar subdere; viriliter agite, et vigilanter semper, quasi præ oculis habentes appensum quod salus nostra in manibus vestris est, et vestra erit gloria, si stamus, vestra nihilominus confusio si occidimus. Sicut enim victoriam nostram nemo vestræ non attribuet virtuti, sic, quod Deus avertat, si secus acciderit, non deerit qui incuriæ vestræ imputet aut tarditati. Nos autem, per Dei gratiam, ad omnia quæ possumus pro honore ecclesiæ nostræ perferenda paratos invenietis. Valete.

Vanum videtur et vacuum vento viscera commendare. Ridiculosum etiam, ut cum una nobiscum matris vestrae languorem deploretis, sermonem vobis exhortationis praetendere debeamus. Vestrum namque laudabile usque in hodiernum diem principium feliciori semper exitu, annuente Domino, concludetur. Verum quia "nil nocet admissio subdere calcar equo," in vestrae sinceritatis constantia, fratres nostros, si qui fuerint in hac parte debiles, quod Deus avertat, vel infirmi, unanimes efficite et constantes, et ad debitae unitatis indesinenter redigite perseverantiam, et bonus Deus, Qui nos sicut et vos de die in diem in causa ista laetiores reddit et ferventiores, hoc, quod Dei solius intuitu et libertatis obtentu feliciter hactenus incepimus, felicius velit consummare. Scribimus in nube vobis et conventui, nolentes omnibus exprimere vel denotare, quia non expedit, quae dominus papa vestrae ecclesiae ad nostram instantiam indulget, sicut ex litteris transcriptis quae vobis transmittimus perpendere potestis, quae ab omnibus sepulta teneatis, praeterquam illis solis quibus noverritis ea communicanda. Circa privilegium vestrum innovandum ita votis vestris respondimus, quod antequam assensum vestrum super hoc reciperemus, prout volebatis, effectui fuerat mancipandum. De oblationibus Sancti Thomae ita nobis per Dei gratiam, videtur esse cautum, quod nullam super hoc in posterum quaestionem formidare poteritis. Constructio novae ecclesiae vel in nihilum ut speramus redigetur, vel si fiat, ita mutilabitur, quod nostrae futuris temporibus ecclesiae non debeat aliquatenus praepjudicare. Restitutionem ecclesiarum et omnium ablatorum per litteras comminatorias, Deo providente, habebimus; si possit constare iudicibus vos juris ordine non observato fuisse spoliatos. In hoc enim articulo de jure nobis aliter nequaquam poterit subveniri. Viri sapientis est et discreti et præcipue religiosi in tribulationibus gaudere, in persecutionibus consolari. Illi enim soli beati reputantur, qui persecutionem patiuntur propter S. Matt. v. justitiam. Cum igitur Omnipotens Deus nostram sicut et 10.
vestram humilitatem hujus temporis tempestati reservavit, quod capita nostra pro domo Israel ponere possumus, quibuslibet felicibus nos feliciores reputare debemus. Quanto enim poena sive tribulatio vehementior fuerit et immanior, tanto magis erit apud Deum meritoria, et apud homines cumulo cedit honoris et gloriæ. Præliemur ergo fortiter prælia Dei nostri, et posteritati nostræ sanæ doctrinæ relinquamus exempla, in illius constantiæ perseverantia pedem ponentes, quod neque mors, nec vita nos ab unitate ecclesiæ nostræ valeat separare. Unicum verbum vobis certissime proponimus, quod quamdiu unanimes fuerimus in causa inchoata et constantes, quorumlibet potentum adinventiones vel machinationes in nostram depressionem minime poterunt præ-valere: cæterum etsi vobis inpræsentiarum graves videantur et molestæ, omnes injuriæ et depressiones de novo vobis
fo. 11 vº. illatæ, causam vestram ea videntur ratione extollere, quod quæ modica videbatur, jam præ sui magnitudine Monti Jovis possit comparari. Dominus sit vobiscum, et actus vestros secundum Suam disponat voluntatem. Rescribatur domino papæ et nobis diligenter quid judices delegati super mandato domini papæ executi fuerint. Si quid etiam novum penes vos postea emer-

LV. URBANO PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

The convent has delivered the letters of pope to the archbishop (June 10).

As he is building his new church more actively than ever, the convent sent to ask how he could proceed against the pope's prohibition.

The clerks reply that they are acting for themselves, not for the archbishop.

fo. 11 v^o.

The monks trust that the pope will not give in to lies about S. Anselm and S. Thomas.

Their treatment of the convent was very different.

Apices sanctitatis vestræ domino et patri nostro archiepiscopo porreximus. In quibus de consilio fratrum districte præcepistis, ut ab illius novæ ecclesiæ constructione, a canonicorum institutione, fraternitatis etiam quam hujus operis causa instituit exactione cessaret, donec quid de ipso ædificio fieri deberet auctoritas vestra statueret. Verumtamen quia a tempore illo opus ipsum magis fervere vidimus, adeo ut capella ibidem post prohibitionem et appellationem erecta, prius lignea, opere surgeret cementario, misimus ad locum de fratribus nostris cum aliis multis, quatenus rei certitudinem, quam pure ad paternitatem vestram referre possemus, oculis suis perviderent, et quamvis adhuc nobis minus profuerit appellatio, de contemptu vestro appellarent. Quærentibus ergo fratribus, quomodo operi insisterent, a quo auctoritas apostolica cessari jussisset, ita etiam ut quod contra prohibitionem ejus attentaretur in irritum revocasset, responderunt clerici qui aderant, voce jam mutata, quod nomine archiepiscopi nihil agerent sed suo. Dominus enim archiepiscopus, ut dicebant, ex quo mandatum accepit, se nullatenus intromisit, ipsi vero libere et licite ecclesiam suam faciebant et faciunt. Intelligit dilectio vestra, pater sancte, verbum hoc ad elidendum quod mandastis adinventum, et cavillatorias nobis, immo et vobis, proponi exceptiones. Vestra etenim res agitur, ubi Sanctæ Romanæ sedis majestas illuditur. De cætero causam ecclesiæ Christi et gloriosi martyris Thomæ, in sua namque, non in aliena, martyrio consummatus est, in manus vestras commendamus, sperantes quod nos tandem Deus sive per vos sive quo placuit modo respiciet, et labor labiorum ipsorum operiet adversarios. Sicut namque Ps. cxl. 9. in sanctis impie vituperatur veritas, ita et majori fortassis scelere in eisdem laudatur falsitas. Hoc idcirco diximus, pater sancte, quod dicunt beatum Anselmum, sanctum etiam martyrem nostrum, de opere hujusmodi cogitasse. Et revera non omnis cogitatio sanctorum, sed reliquiæ cogitationis Ps. lxxvi. 10. diem festum agunt Domino. Cæterum et paci nostræ uterque studuisse dinoscitur, non perturbationi. Alter enim pro pace Cantuariensis ecclesiæ quinquennio exulavit, alter pro eadem sui prodigus, post sex annorum exilium, septimo sanguinem suum impendit: et quidem martyr gloriosus qui etiam de minoribus nobiscum tractatum in capitulo habere consuevit, quod utinam hic pater noster vel semel fecisset in magnis, de domo quadam hospitali ad receptionem peregrinorum et pauperum extra Cantuariam in loco qui dicitur Blen facienda, quem locum ei, cum noster prius esset, petenti concessimus, tractavit, sed de ecclesia nunquam. Videat sollicitudo omnium ecclesiarum, pater sancte, ne decor Cantuariensis ecclesiæ depereat, vel tempore vestro dignitas imminuatur: immo nec occasionem præstet unde lædi possit in posterum. Nobis autem qui in locis istis sedimus sub protectione apostolica ferme septingentis annis, a beato Augustino per beatum Gregorium instituti, bonum est hodie hinc migrare, quam perpetuum debite dispendium incurrere. Per omnia tamen benedictus Deus, Qui nobis propinat de calice patrum nostrorum. Dominus vitam vestram conservet ad honorem ecclesiæ Suæ in tempora longa.

Quoties epistolas gloriosi martyris Thomæ ad vos quondam directas legimus, quantam de virtute vestra habuerit confidentiam, et quam sincera amplexus vos fuerit caritate, possimus liquido intueri. Cum enim consuetudinem habeat sic scribendi, "Gratiæ filio Gratiano, Thomas exul salutem," et certissimum in vobis dat veritatis indicium, et quem ad vos propensius caritatis habuerit ostendit affectum. Hinc est proculdubio quod de generositate animi vestri fiduciam plenior reportantes, et audacter petimus et confidenter, quatenus Dei et gloriosi martyris intuitu, causam ecclesiæ Cantuariensis quæ in præsentia domini papæ actitatur, quantum parti nostræ justitia suffragatur, efficaciter fovere velitis, ne adversariorum potentia deprimatur. Certo enim certius habeatis, quod non nostrum agitur, sed totius Anglicanæ ecclesiæ, sed martyris ipsius negotium. Qui utique, quamvis in pace positus sit, et flagellum non appropinquat tabernaculo ejus in cœlis, in membris tamen suis persecutionem etiam hodie patitur gravioriorem in terris, et revera si aliquando manifestius impugnatus est, sed subtilius nunquam. Verumtamen hæc et alias et aliter innotescunt. Valete.

LXV. URBANO PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Sicut vestræ jam pridem innotuit sanctitati, videntes ecclesiæ in qua divino officio deputati sumus subversionem imminere, cum non esset qui pro nobis ex adverso ascenderet, ipsi elegimus aut malitiæ quæ operatur resistere, aut certe nos objicere adversariis. Detrimentum itaque rerum passi et diminutionem, quia honestatem quoque ecclesiæ nostræ, nisi subventum esset, prævidimus perituram; audientiam vestram appellavimus, frivolum satis arbitantes possessionum amissionem ad jacturam dignitatum. Extunc et modo de die graviora perpassi sumus, nec nos reverentia protectionis apostolicæ, sub qua nos et nostra omnia posuimus appellantes, aliquatenus defendere, vel jussionis vestræ virtus in statum quo tempore appellationis fuisse dinoscimur, potuit reformare. Nos tamen gratiam vestram multiplici prosequimur gratiarum actione, quia necessitatibus nostris clementer intendistis, nec defuit qui juberet, sed non erat qui faceret. Verum quoties apices pro nobis directi sunt, toties manus patris nostri contra nos aggravata est, et conditio nostra in aliquo facta deterior. Nunc autem demum cum de Bello, de Favresham et Sancti Augustini abbates mandatum vestrum, ut videbatur, mandare vellent executioni, et secundum tenorem litterarum vestrarum, quæ post appellationem ad vos interpositam, in præjudicium nostrum facta sunt, in statum pristinum reducere, justitarius domini regis nobis scripsit in hæc verba. "Randulfus de Glanvilla, et cætera," ut supra. Quo accepto Londonias misimus ad dominum archiepiscopum, tunc temporis Londoniis positum, volentes ei, tanquam sedis apostolicæ legato, mandatum hujusmodi ostendere, et quid faciendum esset edoceri. Ipse vero nec videre voluit nec audire, dicens nihil ad eum pertinere, cum ipse non mandasset. Ad justitarium ergo domini regis venientibus¹ indictum est ex parte domini regis, ut revocaremus priorem nostrum, aut suppriorem cum quinque vel sex fratribus mittamus ad ipsum regem in partibus transmarinis longe agentem, privilegia nostra exponere, ut videat et judicet. Inhibetur similiter ne res nostræ administrarentur nisi per archiepiscopum, nihilominus ne vel privilegiis utamur vel mandatis apostolicis, nisi domino rege requisito, alioquin ecclesia nostra bonis omnibus spoliabitur. Videt itaque discretio vestra et intelligit, quia jam res in eminenti est, quam miserabiliter opprimamur quibus nec sua suffragari permittitur justitia. Cum enim dominus archiepiscopus quocunque modo impetratis a sanctitate vestra in læsionem nostram utatur, etiam prohibitus, nos nullo modo mandatis vestris uti permittimur, et abbates nihilominus quod jubetis exequi prohibentur. Hoc sane est, pater sancte, quare ecclesia nova construitur, quare rerumstrarum administratio aufertur, et alia multa contra nos subtiliter procurantur, ut in possessionibus et dignitatibus ecclesia Cantuariensis conteratur. Nunc ergo, domine, et pater reverende, utroque gladio percutimur, undique ferimur, et qui, si patrum suorum vestigia observaret, in capitis sui periculum oves sibi creditas tueri deberet, videt et dissimulat, immo, sicut dicunt et sentiunt, ipse omnia operatur. Filiis itaque in arcto positis, si auxilium impendi non potest, saltem consilium pietas paterna non deneget, ne animarumstrarum detrimentum faciamus, certum habentes quoniam quantumcunque potestas instet et urgeat, nihil per Dei gratiam in hac parte faciemus, unde vel Dei indignationem incur-rere debeamus, vel sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ fecisse injuriam comprobemur. Pia vota vestra, pater sancte, pietas divina promoveat. The justiciar has forbidden the abbots to execute the mandate. (No. lix.)

The archbishop refused to have anything to do with the mandate as legate.

The justiciar ordered them to recall the prior, or to send the subprior to the king in Normandy with their charters.

The archbishop is allowed to use the privileges granted him by the pope, but the convent is not.

Ultimæ vero litteræ nostræ super novi ædificii prohibitione, quæ de communi cardinalium deliberatione et consilio emanaverant, ita suum consecutæ sunt officium, quod opus ligneum conversum est in lapideum, et qui prius fuerant ligni vectores, facti sunt lapidicæsores. Et ut completa sit omnis iniquitas, nobis publica potestas inhihet ne aliquo mandato domini papæ utamur aliquo modo nisi rege consulto, nec abbates quibus data est mandati apostolici executio, secundum tenorem litterarum procedant nisi similiter per regem. A negotio hactenus in tenebris perambulante, ad incursum et dæmonium pervenimus meridianum, cujus rei seriem expedit Ps. xci. 6. ut agnoscatis. Sicut domino priori significavimus, archiepiscopus, receptis litteris super operis cessatione, usque ad sententiam causæ, et aliis quibusdam capitulis, ut solet, obtemperavit, adeo ut opus ipsum etiam auctoritate apostolica prohibitum opere majore surgat quam prius. Capella prius lignea ex lapidibus et cemento construitur. Clerici a tempore inhibitionis prædictæ domos suas certatim erigunt, cum nulla prius in loco fuisset. Litteræ vero domini papæ de non exigenda fraternitate causa illius operis, et prædicatoribus non admittendis, reverenter fere ubique receptæ sunt, et firmiter, ut dicunt, servatæ. Qua de re dominus archiepiscopus vehementer commotus, conceptionem litterarum domino regi contra nos misit, satis, sicut dicitur et supra, malitiosam; petens ut vel eum a monachorum suorum infestatione liberaret, vel a terra sua exire permetteret. Circa tempus idem rumor erat redeuntium a curia, quod magistro Petro Blesensi instante, quasi nomine regis, quatenus novam illam ecclesiam fieri permetteret, dominus papa respondisset, "Quid hoc ad regem?" Quem sermonem idem Petrus domino regi seriatim dicitur demandasse. Ex hoc verbo et litteris archiepiscopi de quibus præmisimus, dominus rex occasionem nactus, manifeste incanduit. Redeunte itaque nuncio domini regis, cum abbates dati executores diem ipsi archiepiscopo præfixissent quo mandatum apostolicum exequi deberent, litteras hujusmodi acce-

Sic ex parte domini regis abbatibus qui dati sunt executores interdictum est, ne in executione procederent, per fidem quam debent et sacramentum quod domino regi fecerunt: et mandatum est ipsis ut essent Londoniis in festo sancti Jacobi apostoli, et profecti sunt illuc domini regis voluntatem audire, cum mandatum domini papæ in vigilia ipsius apostoli exequi debuissent. Hæc dominum archiepiscopum procurasse nemo qui dubitet. Hoc sane est quod alicui ex fratribus quondam præostensum fuit. Duplici enim gladio manifeste nititur in subversionem Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, et utroque funesto. Justos injusta ligat excommunicatione. Justitiam impedit laica potestate. Ecce cujus consilio et qua intentione fundata fuerit nova illa ecclesia, ut videlicet ibi sint episcopi quasi cardinales, archiepiscopus sedeat quasi papa, et ibi omnis causa subsistat, vel ad curiam regis procedat, et ibi terminetur, sicut in primo capitulo pro quo passus est beatus Thomas martyr. Hoc est quod archiepiscopus intendit, rex conatur efficere, episcopi approbant; ideo proculdubio ut possit de sub jugo sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ collum excutere. Idcirco omnes episcopi et rex ipse, ut ipsi dicunt, debent ibi canonizari. Caveat ergo dominus papa Cantuariensi ecclesiæ; caveat Romanæ, caveat sibi, quia ecce auctoritas ejus in Anglia evacuata est. Præcepit enim dominus rex privilegia nostra ei exhiberi, ut quæ placuerint teneant, quæ voluerit robur amittant. Ergo de voluntate regis domini papæ pendebit auctoritas; administrationem rerum nostrarum nos habere prohibet, et domino archiepiscopo cedere jubet omnia, ut omnia in manus ejus devolvantur. Ad summum, interdicat ne aliqua perquisitione domini papæ utamur, donec cum eo locuti fuerimus; et cum loquemur, præcipiet quod vult, cui si non obtemperaverimus, actum est de nobis; si audierimus, dominus papa, quoad nos, potestate privatus est. Absit autem ut Deo vel domino papæ faciamus

Paternitati vestræ uberiores refero gratiarum actiones, quod parvitatem meam litteris vestris jam semel et iterum dignati estis visitare. In quibus cum singula verba dolore et mœrore plena perspicerem, quid inde aliud nisi dolorem mœroremque conciperem? Nihil enim aliud amico propinare potuistis, quam quod commiscuit vobis ipse qui cibavit vos felle et absinthio. Non modica tamen in calce litterarum data est mihi consolatio, viso scilicet quod fit inter nos unitas fraternitatis, et quod hi qui videbantur aliquando non recte incedere, et gregem Domini perturbare, modo ambulaverint vobiscum in veritate. Sed et omnes audito hoc verbo, et de domino priore quod ita strenue egerit, præ gaudio admirati sunt dicentes, "Quia hæc est mutatio dexteræ Excelsi, et quia Deus visitavit plebem Suam, et magnificavit misericordiam Suam nobiscum." perat nos excusare sufficeret. Cæterum et sollicitudo pastoralis officii quam suscepistis nobis confidentiam præstat, et fervor justitiæ quo vos accendat Qui ministros suos facit ignem urentem. In causa enim quam agimus, dum iudicis attendimus æquitatem, iudicium formidare non possumus. Nam ut coram Deo sit dicere, et cui mentiri nefas ducimus in præsentia sanctitatis vestræ, unum petimus, quod præ Dei timore dissimulare non audemus, ut Cantuariensis ecclesia in statu solito bono et recto possit permanere. Cæterum quominus gravet manum suam super nos pater noster et dominus archiepiscopus, nec appellatio efficit ad vos interposita, nec apostolicæ munimen protectionis. Ecce enim, post litteras vestras susceptas quas misistis, ut, donec de causa cognita cognosceretis, in constructione novæ quam juxta nos cœpit desisteret ecclesiæ, post mandatum etiam vestrum, de iis quæ post appellationem in præjudicium nostrum fecerat in statum pristinum revocandis, duos e fratribus, viros utique honestissimos, qui rerum nostrarum exteriorum curam agebant, et in gradu suo tam prudenter quam fideliter ministrabant, nec in capitulo, ut moris est monasticæ professionis, nec extra, vel conventos, excommunicavit, et nobis cum longe positus legatione fungeretur in Guallia¹ arctius devitandos denunciavit. Quod et alia quæ etiam post appellationem passi sumus gravamina, tanto utique videntur graviora, quanto ab eo inferuntur qui pater noster est et protector esse debuit. Verum et hoc doloribus nostris adjicitur, quod nisi nos Veritas liberaverit, quomodo liberari valeamus non videmus, cum veneranda jussionis vestræ majestas nondum vel ad tempus liberare prævaluerit. Quia enim abbates, quibus mandatum est, juxta quod mandastis, sententiam in priorem et fratres post appellationem ad vos interpositam etiam publice in multitudine magna clericorum et laicorum prolatam, denunciaverunt non tenere, ita contumeliis et minis affecti sunt ut ulteriora exequi reformident. Verumtamen et operi quod auctoritate vestra interdictum est, ne procedat donec quid de ipso fieri debeat statuatis, adhuc æque insistunt ac prius. Verbum autem de fraternitate quam causa illius dominus archiepiscopus constituit, non observanda, usque ad unum divites et pauperes animo læto et aure erecta percipiunt, tanto utique ex eo lætiores quanto matrem suam Cantuariensem ecclesiam magna amplectentes devotione, de alterius constructione majori mœrore afficiuntur. Sanctitatis ergo vestræ genibus obvoluti, supplicamus omnes et singuli, quatenus filiorum oppressioni pietas paterna intendat, Fecimus quod mandastis per H. puerum nostrum, quocunque gravamine, vos providete diligentius, ut si alias mutuum acceperitis, quod apud nos fiat solutio, propter viarum pericula et transferendi difficultatem. Nolite tamen de sumptibus timere, dummodo possitis negotium susceptum adimplere. Rescripta enim quæ impetratis et domini papæ mandata archiepiscopus nec attendit, statim cum porriguntur de falsa appellans suggestionem, et in voluntate sua perdurans, confidens in principibus et in filiis hominum. Revera nisi dominus papa sibi caverit et ecclesiæ Dei in opere isto quod archiepiscopus intendit erigere, etiam sacerdotium in manu regis concludetur in Anglia, et de Cantuariensi actum est ecclesia, sicut audivimus Rothomagensis archiepiscopum² in conclavi dixisse cum intimo suspirio, qui secretorum domini regis conscius est, ut scitis; "Certe," inquit, "nisi Dominus custodierit et sancti coemptio compellet nos hinc migrare. Ex parte jam cognoscimus, et ex parte prophetamus. Verumtamen mirum est si dominus papa nostri non miseretur, quod non prospicit successoribus domini Cantuariensis, quorum conditio miserabiliter læditur in hoc opere. Poterant enim archiepiscopi Cantuarienses hactenus clericos suos ditare pro voluntate, unumquemque secundum suam virtutem ad quinquaginta, ad sexaginta, ad centum libratas vel ducentas. Nunc autem cum præbendam unam

Nihil est: melius est nobis hinc discedere, quam diem quo fiat illa ecclesia expectare. Unde si quocunque modo decreverit eam dominus papa fieri, nos ante tribunal Supremi Judicis

Nullo autem modo, sicut alias mandavimus, melius poterit Dei indignationem avertere et gratiam omnium mortalium sibi in

Fratres carissimi, non possumus non moveri quoniam moti estis propter recessum nostrum a curia, cum dilecto fratri nostro Haymoni serio injunximus, ut causam et modum nostri recessus, et quorum consilio recessimus, vobis plenius explanaret. Nec credimus quod per incuriam omiserit quod ei tam diligenti mentis affectu injunctum fuit. Cæterum miramur discretionem vestram nobis talia mandata destinasse, quasi videritis nos a debita constantia, sive ab instantia causæ nostræ velle declinare. Sed ut certius illud metuentibus conferam solatium, totum a primo [ad] ultimum nostrum vobis exponam propositum. Quod nos per gratiam Ipsius Qui nos animavit ad pugnam, et potens est dare victoriam; dum vitalis spiritus in mortali corpore nostro palpitaverit, consilio fretus vestræ dilectionis, in sanctitatis vestræ orationum adjutus suffragiis, nequaquam deficiam donec perduxerit ad bravium, Qui movit ad cursum. Currite ergo ut incepistis et comprehendetis: state in fide, viriliter agite et confortamini, quia humilibus dabit Dominus fortitudinem et gratiam, et retribuet abundanter facientibus superbiam. Omnia vero quæ super causa nostra post discessum nostrum gesta sunt in curia, magister Damianus¹ vobis viva voce plenius explanabit. LXXX. HONORIO PRIORI CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.¹

De consilio forte saniori processisse intelligimus quod a curia recessistis. Sed audaciæ imputamus quod, cum potens ille prope sit in partibus illis, tantum accessistis. Si autem vocaverit et non veneritis, ignem contra nos accendistis. Si vos ad vocantem contuleritis, actum est de nobis: forte erit etiam difficile vos excusare de transitu vestro, conscientia satis excusatos, qui moram tantam in terra feceritis aliena, et ipsum prope positum non videritis. Cavete vobis et cautius agite. Dominus archiepiscopus ad appellationem convolvit, in propria persona eam prosecuturus, et in proximo, sicut pro certo audivimus, transfretabit, ad regem iturus ante omnia. Qui, nisi fallimur, ut ei impediat progressum ad curiam, vos voce blanda ad se evocabit. Sed consilium nostrum est ut ad loca ulteriora vos secretius transferatis, ne vos mandatum ejus comprehendat, ubi quasi in via positos, tanquam urgentius mandatum receperitis revertendi ad curiam. Nolite terreri. Res in augmento est. Majora vos pro Christo manent certamina. Estote animo forti et viriliter præliamini bella Domini. Miramini quod tam subito, tam cito, fratrem nostrum H. remisimus. Miramur et nos quomodo venerit, nec apostolica protectione munitus, vel apud nos nec una hora securus. Latuit autem duos dies, timentibus nobis ne quæreretur. Et revera si dominus archiepiscopus prope positus aut præsens esset, immunis non evasisset, ut credimus. Hoc enim certum habeatis, quia spem gratiæ ejus recuperandæ nullam prorsus habemus, scientes quod nec vos in gratiam recipiet in vita sua, unde nec nos etiam si velit ullo unquam tempore ei reconciliabimus. Cæterum responsum litterarum domini papæ de quo interrogatis, hoc esse noveritis et effectum. Quarto idus Junii porrectæ sunt ei litteræ domini papæ, prohibentes constructionem novæ ecclesiæ, canonicorum institutionem et fraternitatis exactionem, apud Bredune prope Theochesberiam, per manus Aaron et Symonis de Dovra monachorum. Qui venientes vix atrium ingressi sunt, recedentes benedictionem ejus impetrare non potuerunt. Subinde apud Salopesberiam in vigilia beati Johannis Baptistæ, accepit illas de reformandis in statum pristinum, quæ post appellationem intulerat, gravaminibus. Utrisque idem redditum est responsum in scriptis; h. s. "Vidimus mandatum domini papæ et faciemus quod habemus facere." Utrique præcepto similiter respondit, et pro utroque tantundem fecit, nihil nisi quod cum capella prius lignea fuisset, ex tunc fit opere cementario. Postea nihilominus quasi prohibitionem uterentur pro præcepto, canonici domibus suis faciendis acrius insistunt, et operi majoris ecclesiæ necessaria præparantur ut prius, immo studiosius. Litteræ vero super fraternitatis inhibitione, episcopis et prælatis Anglicanæ ecclesiæ directæ, pene ab omni clero, sed plene ab omni populo, devotissime recipiuntur, et multis in locis cessat fraternitatis exactio. Qui autem sint, qui domini papæ mandatum non impleant, cum certiores fuerimus, vobis innotescet. Abbates autem quibus mandata est executio, similiter procedere parant, ut in causæ alicujus commissione, citando videlicet archiepiscopum primo et secundo, et tertio peremptorio: nec speramus nobis tandem in aliquo profuturum hoc mandatum. Cæterum et certi sumus, quia quamvis executores aliquid statuant, dominus archiepiscopus non obtemperabit vel in modico, quia forsitan ideo transfretabit, ut omne mandatum domini papæ possit elidere. Decreverunt adversarii nostri quicquid expendunt, si obtinuerint, de nostro solvere, usque ad novissimum quadrantem, si omnia ornamenta ecclesiæ nostræ oporteret distrahere. Secretiora verba quæ sæpe scripsimus vobis, causam videlicet persecutionis hujus et originem, domino papæ secretius suggerite, et de quibus confiditis cardinalibus. Credimus enim expedire ut sciant, qua subtilitate Anglicana ecclesia impugnetur in capite, et quia nisi caverint sibi in hoc negotio tam magno et manifesto, nemo in Anglia ad dominum papam appellabit, cujus et totius curiæ vilipenditur auctoritas, dum non impletur mandatum. Dicunt clerici quod sua est ecclesia quæ ædificatur, et ipsi ædificant non jam archiepiscopus, ut sic cassent litteras domini papæ. Unde opus est, si potestis, ut præcipiat dominus papa ecclesiam construentes aut ibi celebrantes excommunicari, nisi destiterint. Hoc autem credimus abbates facere, si eis expresse injunctum fuerit, in virtute obedientiæ. Providete vobis quam citius. Timemus ne sacrista cum nuncium nostrum acceperit, statim ut solet, omnia effundat, dicenda tacenda locutus, et poterit libertas nostra de facili impediri, nisi prius iter arripueritis. Veniunt ad pedes sanctitatis vestræ Johannes et Radulfus fratres nostri, viri audemus dicere religiosi, non sine magno rerum nostrarum quibus præfuerunt dispendio, quos pater noster dominus archiepiscopus vinculo anathematis innodavit, et quod hactenus apud nos inauditum est, publice per parochias denunciari præcepit excommunicatos, cum pro statu ecclesiæ Cantuariensis, pro rebus et personis omnibus et singulis primo, et postmodum pro ipsis specialiter et nominatim, ad audientiam vestram appellatum fuisset, et prior noster cum quibusdam de fratribus in præsentia vestra essent constituti. Volebat enim obedientiam illam, sicut et alias quarum sibi dispositionem non vendicabant patres ejus, per ipsum moderari, et rebus nostris quibus ipsi præerant, similiter ac suis disponere contra consuetudinem utique ecclesiæ, tot sanctorum usibus approbatam, contra tot sanctiones sedis apostolicæ, et privilegia etiam a sanctitate vestra nobis indulta. Quod quia non consentimus per ipsum fieri, sed reclamantes appellavimus, nisi fallimur, præsentium bajulos, qui rerum nostrarum per nos ut assolent curam gerebant, excommunicavit. Hoc autem indubitanter verum noveritis, quia non coram fratribus in capitulo, sicut præscribit regula, et prout habet ecclesiæ nostræ consuetudo longæva et constitutio nostra, super aliquo delicto conventi sunt, nec extra. Nos ergo tanto magis de eorum absentia prægravati, quanto diligentiam ipsorum nobis experti sumus necessariam, majestati vestræ obnixius supplicamus, quatenus eos gratia vestra remittat absolutos; si tamen hujusmodi ligatos esse decreverit, quia, ut asserunt qui talium videntur habere scientiam, sententia hujusmodi contra juris ordinem prolata, et post interpositam appellationem, nec timenda aliquatenus esset nec tenenda. Ignoramus tamen penitus quid a paternitate vestra filii afflicti petere debeamus. Quoties enim apices vestros super gravaminibus saltem post appellationem nobis illatis in statum pristinum reformandis dominus archiepiscopus accepit, toties manum suam super nos magis aggravavit, et fratres nostri litteras vestras ad eum perferentes, sicut conqueruntur redeundo, vix in atrium vel domum exterioriorem admittuntur, benedictionem recedentes impetrare non possunt. Utinam qui nos conturbant tantum erubescerent in hujusmodi actione, quantum nos confundimur de talibus conquerendo. Et certe si indignitas nostra digna est hoc sustinere, dignitas patris nostri, hactenus in nos durioris, nos longe indigna est sic opprimere. Pauperum enim vexatio quorum protector esse debuit, nec meritis ejus accedit nec honori. Pia vota vestra pietas divina promoveat, reverende pater et domine.

Placuit paternitati vestræ de ordinatione quorundam in ecclesia vestra facienda, per fratres nostros R. R. et Jo. monachos, propter prioris, ut dicitis, absentiam mandare. Quæ, quoniam contraria sunt iis quæ præsens petentibus annuistis, vix fide digna putavimus. Cum enim per fratres quosdam ostenderemus, quod consuetudo in Cantuariensi semper fuisset ecclesia, sicut et in multis, ut priore absente vel mortuo, supprior vicem ejus suppleret in omnibus tam exterius quam interius, petentes ut liceret etiam nunc consuetudinem antiquam rationi et regulæ consentaneam observare, concessistis, et omnia in ordine suo jussistis permanere. Sive ergo, quæ per jam dictos fratres denunciata sunt, illius sermonis immemores mandastis, sive aliter putastis faciendum, sanctitatis

Sic enim ordinare officia sine consilio conventus vestri, quæ ad prioris vel ejus quî ordini præest spectant dispositionem, nos scimus quod consuetudo non est nostra, quia nec regulæ consentaneum; quod autem nos rerum nostrarum potestate privatis propter prioris absentiam, ut dicitis, vis est, non jus. Nobis enim sive priore absente, sive mortuo, libera semper fuit rerum nostrarum administratio. Prioris enim nulla sunt bona, sed omnia conventus communia. Ejus ergo sollicitudo est in conventu prima, potestas sine conventu nulla, et cum ex omnibus nihil habeat in possessione, prior est nomine tantum et dignitate. Hæc consuetudo, hic status ecclesiæ, apostolica firmatus auctoritate. Propter hujusmodi subsidium apostolicum imploravimus. Quæ res, si placet, nec animum vestrum deberet avertisse a nobis, nec subtraxisse præsentiam. Non enim debet discretio vestra, quod jus nostrum protestamur, reputare injuriam, cum justum putetis nos quodlibet petere. Quod si etiam nunc delinquimus, quia mandatum vestrum quod statum ecclesiæ nostræ intus et extra immutaret non suscepimus, ecce oves vestræ in manu vestra sumus, sine viribus sive protectore. Speramus autem de benignitate vestra quia cum irati fueritis misericordiæ recordabimini, nec vestræ dabitis voluntati, nec alterius suggestioni, ut bona pauperum abeant in dilapidationem.

LXXXVI. CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS CAPITULO CYSTERCLE.

The convent reminds the chapter of Cîteaux of the aggressive conduct of the archbishop: Satis et supra sanctitati vestræ innotuit, quia bono semini inter venerabilem patrem nostrum et nos inchoatæ dilectionis, inimicus homo discordiæ superseminavit et zizania. Postquam enim eum in patrem et pastorem elegimus, quamvis in eligendo, ut fit, ad novitatem difficiles, coram Deo loquimur, tanta eum caritate amplexi sumus, ut putaremur nos Spiritum Dei non habuisse, qui talem ac tantum virum nobis aliquando præesse noluimus. In spiritualibus siquidem et temporalibus provenire speravimus incrementum: promissionibus ejus quibus standum videbatur exhilarati. Cæterum statim ab ingressu suo æmulis nostris aurem dedit, et animum avertit a nobis. Coepit autem subtiliter agere contra nos, et occasiones quærere ad nocendum. Afflicti et damnis gravioribus attriti, sustinuimus, sperantes quod poneret tandem pater noster cor suum super vias suas, et pœnitens pedem referret. Processit autem ulterius, et de bonis hujus nostræ, quandam clericorum ecclesiam juxta nos fundare instituit. Ex cujus constructione liquido pervidimus

Valete.

XCII. IDEM ODONI ABBATI DE BELLO ET DE FAVERSHAM ET SANCTI AUGUSTINI.

The bishop of Ostia informs the abbots that the pope will excuse them from visiting the papal court on account of the archbishop's appeal.

Viros religiosos et eos præcipue qui se devotos et humiles sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ exhibent, apostolica mansuetudo ex assuetæ pietatis officio propensius diligere consuevit, et modis quibuscunque potest eorundem parcere laboribus et expensis, ut tanto liberius sacræ religionis observantiæ, et aliis bonis operibus vacare studeant, quanto se senserint ab apostolica sede in suo bono proposito benignius confoveri. Inde est quod dominus papa de innata mansuetudine et consueta bonitate, vestro volens gravamini providere, necessitatem veniendi ad curiam quam propter appellationem a venerabili fratre nostro Baldewino Cantuariensi archiepiscopo interpositam suscepieratis, vobis clementer relaxavit, nobisque dedit in mandatis ut per litteras nostras vobis significaremus, vos esse ab illius necessitate itineris absolutos.

The archbishop on his return from Wales has seized our manors, and appealed to the pope.

suas recepit. Misimus ergo ad eum fratres nostros rogantes, quatenus quod fecerat, pro amore Dei et reverentia domini papæ et honore proprio emendaret, ostendentes nos contra hujusmodi appellasse et contra hoc nominatim appellare, injuriam eum domino papæ facere, qui appellationi non deferret. Ipse vero protestabatur nos quidem appellasse pro statu ecclesiæ, pro rebus et personis omnibus, et omnia sub protectione domini papæ posuisse, et se similiter intulit appellare et appellasse et appellationem prosequi velle. Ubi magister Henricus Pigun palam omnibus subjunxit, "Et nos appellavimus et expilabimus;" Gallico sermone dicens, "E nos appellerun, e pellerun." Ad quæ quidam de fratribus, "Verum est," inquit, "Quia nos turpiter expilatis." Summa est quod maneria nostra, nostris ejectionis, invasit, dicentibus ministris quos ad hoc miserat, "Hæc seisimus, sicut ea quæ archiepiscopus clypeo suo et lancea erga regem defendit, cum rusticæ sint omnes possessiones vestræ." Ipse vero archiepiscopus conventus a fratribus, dixit se non spoliasset eos sed potius ad opus ecclesiæ ea velle servare; ideo autem per suos, quia nostri requisiti ea per ipsum et ab ipso recipere noluerunt, sibi responsuri et fidelitatem facturi. Nos autem parati fuimus per nos et nostros, sicut hactenus, omnia facere, et hoc palam protestati sumus, si permetteret. Privilegia vero de libera rerum nostrarum administratione idcirco non ostendimus, quia, ut accepimus, dominus rex petebat ea quasi contra coronam suam perquisita, et forte sic volebat ea extorquere archiepiscopus. Præterea redditus nostros Londonienses, quos post appellationem nobis dari prohibuit, modo ut dicunt percepit. Duxit autem secum Willelmum de Alba Villa, ut eos qui alterius nomine quam archiepiscopi in rebus nostris agebant, caperet. Nihil enim pro appellatione facta vel reverentia domini papæ omittit dominus archiepiscopus, adeo ut senescallus ejus Rogerus de Tanton, canonicus Hakintune, apud Godmersham cum seisinam faceret, prohibitus a fratribus ibi præsentibus, ex parte domini papæ, ne in possessiones ecclesiæ manum mitteret, coram multis diceret, "Certe non magis dimitterem pro domino papa, etiam si præsens esset, quam pro vilissimo garcione totius domus." Vobis itaque exilium noveritis interminatum et iis qui vobiscum sunt, nec tutum ad nos habere regressum, nisi re mutata, vel lite sopita. Celerarius ab obedientia sua suspensus est, et inhibitum est ei sub interminatione anathematis ne se intromittat, quia maneria recipere noluit ab archiepiscopo, nec contra privilegia et consuetudinem ecclesiæ quicquam in hac parte agere. XCIV. URBANO PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS,

In causa quam pro honore Dei et ecclesiæ nostræ tuitione suscepimus quamvis inviti, ea hactenus modestia usi sumus, ut quoties sanctitati vestræ scripsimus, veritatem quidem semper ut decet locuti fuerimus, sed non omnem, volentes in injuriis illatis et gravaminibus aliquid suppressere ne tanquam filii degeneres paternam videremur turpitudinem velle revelare. Verumtamen ex quo jam rei immanitas modum excedit, et contemptus omnibus manifestus nullo potest integumento contegi, nulla tergiversatione defendi; quod videt mundus et dolet non possumus non proferre. Noverit itaque paternitas vestra quod dominus archiepiscopus postquam iterato jam in mandatis accepit, ut quæ post appellationem ad vos interpositam in præjudicium nostrum fecerat, in statum pristinum revocaret, et de cætero a vexatione nostra desisteret; a legatione sua ad nos veniens, et ecclesiam suam sicut solet in virga visitans, ut simul et semel ageret quod intendebat, maneriorum proximorum nos possessione et potestate privavit. Celerarium nostrum, qui contra privilegia et consuetudinem ecclesiæ in gradu suo ministrare non consensit, ab officio suo suspendit. Miseremini ergo, pater sancte, miseremini oppressionis nostræ et afflictionis injustæ, ut percussionibus quotidianis et continuis attriti, respectu gratiæ vestræ valeamus respirare. Miserabiliores omnibus hominibus sumus, quia ad vos appellavimus. Postquam enim pro personis et rebus appellatum est, et omnia sub protectione vestra posita, prior et fratres suspensi fuerunt. Canonici instituti sunt. Capella erecta post novi operis nunciationem: celebratum est etiam in ea appellantis nobis et reclamantibus. Ecclesiae nostrae illi novae ecclesiae assignata exenia. Redditus nostri interdicti apud Londonias. Pensiones ecclesiarum quas Londoniis habemus similiter, et nunc demum maneria nostra nobis ablata sunt, et eorum quae hactenus habuimus administratio libera, ex quibus omnibus vix unum praevaluit auctoritas apostolica reformare. Quoniam ergo ad extremum jam perducti sumus, nec instat jam nobis aliquid nisi exire aut expelli, vel inedia deficere; provideat discretio vestra pro Dei et gloriosi martyris Thomae reverentia, ne idcirco domus Dei depereat, quia nomen vestrum invocavimus, sed magis ex correptione unius corrigantur multi. Alioquin impunitas peccati, ut fit, audaciam pariet delinquendi, et sanctae Romanae ecclesiae majestas, dum toties potest impune contemni, contemptibilis reputabitur. Dominus vitam vestram conservet in tempora longiora, pater sanctissime.

XCV. DOMINO MELIORI CARDINALI HUGO LUCENSIS.

August.

Si pro sanctae matris ecclesiae honore, et totius Romanae curiae devotione, unde recognosco si quid valoris habeo, magnificentiam vestram quae novit et vult ipsius honorem diligere, jura et incrementa servare illaesa, meae parvitatibus litterulis inquietare praesumo, nec vos gravet, nec in arrogantiam velit mihi benignitas vestra ascribere. Novit enim Deus coram quo loquor, noscat et benignissima vestra discretio me in hac litterarum serie nihil proponere, nisi ea quae vidi oculis, persensi mente, et plurium proborum certissima assertionem audivi, Cantuariensi ecclesiae mirabiliter et miserabiliter periculosa, et honori et dignitati Romanae ecclesiae manifeste et aperte contraria, et modis omnibus detrahentia. Attendat et intendat virtuosa magnanimitas vestra, quo animo, qua intentione, quali etiam devotione processum sit in causa et negotio Cantuariensis ecclesiae. Videntibus et recognoscentibus sane monachis, quod eam dominus archiepiscopus vellet pernimum aggravare, se et sua ante novae ecclesiae initia protectione domini papae, appellatione interposita, posuerunt coram multis, hoc profitentibus et attestantibus, cum necesse fuerit; dominus vero archiepiscopus nihilominus juxta desideria cordis sui, in opere concepto processit: quin ibi ligneam firmaret ecclesiam, sicut bene audistis; tandem prohibuit dominus papa, prout melius

Præter gravamina quæ nobis venerabilis pater noster dominus archiepiscopus fecit antequam transfretaretis, modo de novo sicut alia vice sublimitati vestræ mandavimus, maneria nostra, unde vivere debemus, seisivit. Itaque, carissime domine, supplicamus excellentiæ vestræ quatenus, pro reverentia Dei, et sanctorum quorum corpora in nostra requiescunt ecclesia, statum nostrum quem toto tempore nostro habuimus in possessionibus et libertatibus, et advocamus per Deum et per vos, nos habere faciatis; et quod tam bene servastis usque nunc, non patiamini modo deperire, nec ad alicujus suggestionem fieri consentiatis aliquid quod contra honorem vestrum sit vel salutem. Verum ut in summa sit dicere quæ singillatim dinumerari nequeunt, noverit paternitas vestra quoniam non modo possessionibus sed et dignitatibus antiquis spoliati sumus; dominus enim archiepiscopus sibi omnia vendicat, homines nostros, maneria, etiam curiam, in qua solemus a fundamentis ecclesiæ hominibus nostris justitiam exhibere; quæ omnia cartæ regum antiquæ et modernæ nobis confirmant, sicut et archiepiscopis nostris sua omnia. Statum præterea ecclesiæ bonum et rectum divellere contendit, a prædecessoribus et ab ipso quandoque approbatum, et a summis pontificibus confirmatum; et quod dolendum nobis est, per dominum regem omnia operatur, ut asserunt. Intendat ergo caritas vestra pro Dei et gloriosi martyris Thomæ reverentia, et cum locus aut tempus inciderit, partes vestras pro pauperibus interponere non omittatis. Hoc Sanctitatis vestræ mandatum cum debita suscepimus reverentia, quo sollicitudinem nostram attentius monere dignata est, ut ad pacem reformandam inter dominum archiepiscopum, et priorem et monachos Cantuariæ debeamus operam adhibere. Cum autem tunc in partibus Normanniæ, propter urgentissima detineremur negotia, tamen ut mandato vestro nihilominus pareremus, de consilio fidelium nostrorum memoratum archiepiscopum ad nos ab Anglia fecimus evocari. Cumque tam ipse quam aliqui ex monachis in nostra essent præsentia constituti, de verbo pacis quanta potuimus sedulitate tractavimus, et eatenus divina gratia aspirante processum est, quod spes plenæ pacis illuxit. Proinde sanctitati vestræ supplicamus obnixius, quatenus memoratum priorem ad nos maturius remittatis, ut negotium pacis quod de mandato vestro laudabiliter jam inchoatum est, præstante Domino feliciter consummetur. Quod si prior ipse vel monachi aliquid a sanctitate vestra duxerint expetendum, quod bonum pacis valeat perturbare, rogamus attentius ne eos in hoc exaudire velitis. Certum est enim quod in pace illius ecclesiæ pax nostra et tranquillitas regni nostri consistit.

Qui cum in nostra esset præsentia constitutus, inter eum et quosdam fratres vestros qui simul aderant, de bono pacis tractavimus: et eatenus aspirante Domino processum est, quod plenæ pacis spes nobis illuxit. Proinde mandamus vobis et districtè præcipimus, quatenus sicut diligitis honorem nostrum et ecclesiæ Cantuariensis, visis litteris istis ad nos properetis, ut verbum pacis quod jam inchoatum est, vobis præsentibus felicius consummetur. Inhibemus ergo districtius ne aliquid obtinere contendatis, quod bonum pacis valeat perturbare, scientes quod in pace illius ecclesiæ pax nostra et tranquillitas regni nostri consistit. Alioquin nisi statim ad mandatum nostrum redieritis, pro constanti habebimus quod nec pacem nec honorem nostrum vel ecclesiæ vestræ diligitis. Unde et merito nec nostram vobis gratiam, nec regni nostri favorem poteritis ulterius comparare.

CXV. HENRICO REGI ANGLIÆ PRIOR CANTUARIENSIS ET SOCIJ.

Litteras regiæ majestatis in hac forma suscepimus, "Henricus Dei gratia," etc., "Ob reverentiam mandati apostolici," etc., ut supra; quibus cum summa devotione susceptis et diligenter intellectis, non quas tenemur, sed quas nos servi vestri possumus, gratias Omnipotenti Deo referimus, Qui vobis ex abundantia Suæ pietatis dignatus est inspirare, quod ecclesiam Cantuariensem et nunc sicut et semper veræ caritatis affectu respicitis, ipsius tranquillitati paternaliter intendendo, ipsius pacem et securitatem misericorditer procurando. Verum, rex benigne, sub cujus alis et tutela vivimus et sumus, qua pace, qua quiete poterit de cætero Cantuariensis ecclesia gaudere, si consurgat opus illud quod intendat dominus noster archiepiscopus Cantuariensis construere? Vos bene scitis, rex pie, quia modica vel nulla: bene scimus et certo certius credimus, quod ex hoc, vestra sibi providente clementia, Cantuariensis ecclesia vestris temporibus nullum in suis dignitatibus consequetur dispendium; sed posteritati nostræ discrimen formidamus provenire gravissimum et contentionem perpetuam. Verumtamen statim ad mandatum vestrum iter ad vos sicut ad dominum et patronum nostrum veniendi arripuissemus, nisi urgentissima et inaudita gravamina ad vocem conventus nostri lacrymosam nos subsistere coarctarent. Pax namque quæ in præsentia vestra debuit inchoari, facta est eis in cumulum doloris et augmentum. Promisit enim dominus noster Cantuariensis, ut accepimus, conventui pacem, sed pax non est subsecuta. Promisit securitatem, et ecce tribulatio. Omnibus namque bonis et possessionibus servulos vestros, sicut jam auribus nostris intonuit, violenter spoliavit. Moveat igitur, divinæ caritatis intuitu, regiam pietatem tanti conventus desolatio, pauperum Christi perturbatio, et qui nihil aliud nisi pacem desiderant, nisi ut in ea libertate, et statu quo tempore vestri imperii hucusque vixerunt, sub vestræ protectionis gratia deinceps possint permanere. Cæterum licet tanti principis gloriæ vel laudibus minime possit ascribi, ut in nos, personas contemptibiles et hactenus quod merito regiam dignitatem offendere, vel pacem in aliquo debeat perturbare, perquisivimus, quicquid vobis in contrarium fuerit suggestum. Dominus, Qui est Rex regum, per merita beati Thomæ martyris augeat regnum vestrum et imperium ad laudem et gloriam suam, et det vobis vitam bonam et exitum bonum, vestrisque visceribus inspiret, ut ita tranquillitati Cantuariensis ecclesiæ velit intendere, quatenus per vos vigere valeat libertate, et statum quem vestra sibi conservavit munificentia, vestris temporibus se gaudeat obtinere.

September. CXVI. BALDEWINO ARCHIEPISCOPO CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

The convent informs the archbishop that they refuse assent to the acts of Robert and Roger, and still appeal to the pope. Noverit discretio vestra iis quæ per fratres nostros Robertum sacristam et Rogerum Noreis ob aliud ad dominum regem directos, contra regulam et ecclesiæ nostræ consuetudinem rationabilem statuistis, nos nullatenus assensum præbere, nec recipere; sed iis magis stare quæ in ea recte et regulariter ordinate consistunt. Scitis enim quia ne status ecclesiæ, in qua divino officio deputati sumus, bonus et rectus divellatur aut immutetur, audientiam apostolicam appellavimus, et noverritis quoniam etiam adhuc appellamus. Adaperiat Dominus Macc. i. 4. cor vestrum in beneplacito suo, et faciat pacem.

September.

CXVII. EIDEM SYMON CAMERARIUS.

Symon the chamberlain refuses to accept his office from the archbishop. Audivi quod vestra jusserit paternitas me per manum domini Rofensis quædam maneria quasi ad cameram pertinentia debere recipere. Sed sciatis pro certo quod nulla ratione ad hoc induci potero, ut alio ordine vel alio modo quam hactenus feci vel antecessores mei camerarii fecerunt, obedientiam illam administrare consentiam, contra statum et consuetudinem ecclesiæ et contra privilegia ab apostolica sede indulta.

September.

CXVIII. EIDEM ROBERTUS SACRISTA.

Robert the sacrist tells the archbishop that he did not understand, and refuses his consent to, what was done at Alençon. Minus intellexeram quod mihi obedientiam sacristariæ aliter administrandam injunxissetis quam huc usque fere per quadraginta annos administraverim. Unde noverit paternitas vestra me nullo modo consentire contra debitum et jus ecclesiæ cujus servus sum, et contra privilegia eidem ecclesiæ indulta, ut aliquid contra consuetudinem faciam. Valete.

CXIX. HENRICO REGI CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

A.D. 1187.
September.

Gratias agimus excellentiæ vestræ, quod de statu nostro reformando solliciti estis, et ut bonus dominus servorum oppressionem vultis reparare. Verumtamen, carissime domine, quamvis dominum archiepiscopum induxerit gratia vestra, ut maneria nostra quæ seisivit, nobis velit reddere, litteras misit alias [quam] prælocutæ fuerant ante præsentiam vestram, sicut testantur fratres nostri, quibus quia magis nos disseisiat quam seisiat, et tali modo reddere est omnia auferre, uti nolumus. Melius enim nobis est quamdiu volueritis vestram et illius gratiam expectare, quam ablata in subversionem status nostri accipere contra libertates quas hactenus habuimus, et quas nobis in possessionibus nostris antecessores vestri concesserunt et confirmaverunt cartis suis, et contra vos maxime, qui possessiones nostras et libertates nobis non tantum confirmastis, sed etiam auxistis. Non enim tenuerunt maneria aliquando cellararius et sacrista, sicut modo vult dominus archiepiscopus, sed nos communi consilio fratribus commisimus servanda, quibus melius et utilius videbatur, et per tres fratres thesaurarios, omnia quæ de maneriis proveniebant, similiter et omnes redditus ecclesiæ et obventiones per tallias et scriptum percipientes distribuebantur illis tribus obedientiariis, et aliis omnibus prout cuique opus erat. Hunc statum nostrum dominus archiepiscopus, cum ei apud Wingham ostensus esset coram de Evesham et Feversham abbatibus, magistro Feramino et multis aliis, plurimum approbavit, et verbis quibus, si placeret ei, stare deberet, confirmavit. De rebus autem nostris nos libere ordinare solemus, sicut ex transcriptis cartarum prædecessorum vestrorum, quæ vobis mittimus, manifeste potestis perpendere, si placuerit benignitati vestræ ea inspicere vel audire. Unde majestati vestræ supplicamus omnes et singuli, quatenus pro reverentia Dei et sanctorum quorum corpora in Cantuariensi ecclesia requiescunt, hunc statum nobis velit reformare, quia possessiones nostras quibus adhuc quotidie spoliamur non advocamus nisi per Deum et per vos, nec ad alicujus suggestionem, carissime domine, faciatis aliquid vel fieri consentiatis, quod contra honorem vestrum sit vel salutem.

The convent thanks the king for his good intentions; but the archbishop, instead of restoring the manors of the convent, has deceived both, and introduced an innovation.

The cellarer and sacrist have never held their manors in the way now introduced by the archbishop.

He himself had approved the former arrangement.

Dominus archiepiscopus majorem beato Petro et reverentiæ vestræ faciens injuriam quam parvitati nostræ, nobis bonis fere omnibus spoliatis, ad dominum regem profectus est in Normanniam. Ubi duo de fratribus nostris in præsentia domini regis constituti, et procerum multorum, alter decrepitus et simplicior, alter ut jam claret dominandi cupidior, sicut audivimus, de manu domini archiepiscopi rerum nostrarum administrationem receperunt; quos ob alia omnino negotia ad excellentiam regiæ majestatis misimus. Quod idcirco paternitati vestræ significare decrevimus, ut si res ad vos perlata fuerit, noveritis nobis nec scientibus nec consentientibus factum esse, nec possessiones nostras nobis aliquatenus restitutas, sed nos magis per hoc destitutos universis. Res enim sive rerum administrationes quas illis contulit, nobis abstulisse convincitur, et in hoc etiam facto, si tamen fecit, consuetudini antiquæ et rationali ecclesiæ suæ, immo et sacræ regulæ quam et ipse professus est, injuriam fecisse comprobatur, scripta nihilominus authentica prædecessorum suorum, et privilegia sedis apostolicæ, quantum in ipso est, evacuavit. Unde liquet eum et statum ecclesiæ in qua Deo deservimus, omnino velle subvertere, sicut ex transcriptis cartarum Theobaldi archiepiscopi, et Wilhelmi et Henrici regum, quæ fratres nostri vobis exhibere possunt, facile est comprobare. Cæterum fratres quos sic voluit præficere in Normannia, qui nec auctoritatem habebant nec mandatum acceperant, ad nos reversi, quicquid ibi egerint, nihil contra consuetudinem et privilegia ecclesiæ facere consenserunt. Placeat ergo majestati vestræ, vel nunc, cum ad summum miseriarum perducti sumus, misereri, et bona quæ sub alis vestris posita dominus archiepiscopus a vobis tulit et nobis abstulit, ecclesiæ Dei restituere. Etenim rex noster, cui Deus vitam adjiciat et salutem, sicut protestatur, eorum quæ in nos fiunt nec auctor est, nec assentit. Valeat vita vestra, pater sanctissime, ad honorem Dei et ecclesiæ suæ libertatem.

CXXI. CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS HONORIO PRIORI.

The convent
informs the prior that they sent to four monks

Ideo quoties opportunitas se ingerit, quæ circa nos sunt vobis significamus, ut instructiores possitis in causa procedere. Necessarium namque est, non res tantum sed et rerum nosse circumstantias. Misimus igitur ad dominum regem, sicut jussit justitiarius dominus Randulfus, ex parte domini regis; privilegia vero nostra non misimus sicut jussi sumus. Destinavimus autem Alexandrum de Dovra, et R. quondam beati Thomæ capellanum, ad Robertum sacristam et Rogerum thesaurarium, qui propter aliam causam præcesserant, cum litteris hujusmodi ; “ Domino regi, etc., conventus Cantuariensis, humilis et afflictus, “ salutem. Suggestum est vobis, sicut accepimus,” ut supra, et cætera. His auditis, respondit, se neminem nostrum vocasse, nihil tale de vobis suspicasse, nihil egisse contra nos aut scripsisse. Ecclesiam illam novam minus sano consilio inceptam esse, et Deum in eo cœpto non fuisse, et se quidem dixit assensum dedisse ut fieret, sed consilium nunquam; de maneriorum vero invasione vehementer visus est admirari.

 Hæc omnia nobis retulit frater Alexander de Dovra citius ad
 nos reversus propter infirmitatem qua molestabatur; reliquis tribus relictis in Normannia, ut statum nostrum in talibus a domino rege reposcerent. Quid multa? In præsentia domini regis et domini archiepiscopi constituti, et procerum multorum, cum inquisiti super multis eleganter et caute respondissent, si fideles verbi sui sunt relatores, ad hoc tandem perducti sunt, domino rege procurante et pacem perpetuam in omnibus promittente, ut maneria nostra de manu domini archiepiscopi reciperent, ad opus trium obedientiariorum, cellararii, camerarii, et sacristæ. Dominus Rogerus cellararii curam accepit et nomen cellararii. Hæc cum ad nos retulissent, et litteras super hoc domino Rofensi et magistro Radulfo, officialibus domini archiepiscopi, nobis ostendissent, inhibuimus ne pos-sessiones nostras ingrederentur, nec contra privilegia vel consuetudinem ecclesiæ aliquid agerent, vel sibi usurparent, et adquieverunt. Litteras autem quas miserat archiepiscopus, quasi pro vobis signatas, cum nullum earum haberent transcriptum, et uti vellemus, in capitulo fregimus et earum exemplar vobis destinamus. Rogerum vero quondam thesaurarium, primipilum et totius sceleris procuratorem, ab officio suo de-positum custodiæ deputavimus arctiori, claustrali tamen; sa-cristæ veniam dantes quia ignorans fecit et condigne pœnituit.
 Camerarius maneria recipere non adquievit. Noveritis nos eis in Normanniam litteras misisse tales; “ Gaufridus supprior “ et conventus ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis, Roberto sacristæ, “ et Rogero thesaurario, Alexandro et R. monachis, salutem “ et dilectionem. Transiens per nos dominus archiepiscopus, “ cum transfretaret, seisivit maneria nostra et obtulit cellarario “ et camerario, ut ea quæ quondam ad eorum obedientias “ pertinere dicebat, ab eo reciperent, ei fidelitatem facturi et “ responsuri. Ipsi vero sicut fratres fidelissimi responderunt “ se obedientias illas paratos esse, sicut hactenus fecerant, ad“ ministrare, sed contra consuetudinem ecclesiæ et privilegia “ nihil omnino agere. Mandamus itaque vobis, et ex parte

CXXIV. HENRICO REGI CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

They entreat him to assert their rights.

Postquam in protectione vestra et pace, serenissime domine, possessionibus nostris spoliati sumus, major dolorum cumulus malis nostris accessit. Clerici enim domini archiepiscopi, ex parte vestra et ipsius, in ecclesia Cantuariensi coram multis e diversis nationibus illuc confluentibus interdixerunt, ne curiam aliquam de cætero teneamus, nec potestatem ullam habeamus super homines nostros. Quæ utique prohibitio tanto nobis magis molesta est, quanto contra honorem vestrum facta dinoscitur. Itaque, benignissime princeps et domine, pro amore Dei et reverentia sanctorum quorum corpora in Cantuariensi requiescunt ecclesia, necnon et honore vestro, dignamini oppressionibus nostris intendere, et ecclesiam quam gratia vestra libertatibus donavit et ampliavit possessionibus in statum debitum et solitum reformare, quatenus pro amore matris vestræ ecclesiæ secundum eloquium divinum longævus sis super terram, et videant qui aliter suspicantur benignitatem quam habetis et exhibuistis circa eam. Nunc autem opus est ut gloria vestra mundo innotescat, quia nec cartæ prædecessorum vestrorum regum nec vestræ, nobis prodesse possunt, vel nos in aliquo defendere, sed homines nostri qui literas vestras de facienda justitia in curiam nostram deferunt, capi jubentur. Vos vero judicate si honor vester servatur cum majestati regiæ non defertur.

CXXV. HENRICO [REGI] CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

The sheriff

fo. 25 vº.

Noverit celsitudo vestra, quod postquam a vobis redierunt Robertus Sacrista et Rogerus Norreys fratres nostri, venit ad nos vicecomes Cantia cum aliis multis, dicentes se audisse quod Rogerum Norreys in contemptum vestrum aliter tractabamus quam deceret, et jusserunt ex parte vestri et justitarii ut educeremus eum, quatenus eum videre posset et convenire. Nos autem respondimus, vere quidem, nihil nos in contemptum vestrum egisse, vel agere, vel acturos esse; fratrem illum regulariter in disciplina teneri, nec consuetudinem ecclesiæ habere aut regulam, ut tales exirent ad colloquium. Diximus præterea non credere nos quod regulam vel consuetudinem ecclesiæ nostræ rationabilem servari prohibetis; quod vero circa eum fecimus, paratos nos, ubi deberemus et coram quo deberemus, ostendere rationabiliter et regulariter egisse. Hoc ideo significamus majestati vestræ, ne maligni interpretes possint pervertere sermonem nostrum et indignationem vestram adversum nos injuste excitare. Incerti autem fuimus, quamvis prædicti nuncii quasi ex parte vestra virent, an vos eos misissetis. Alii enim similiter venerant qui mandatum vestrum non acceperant, sicut postea per fratres nostros ex ore vestro didicimus. Vitam et incolumitatem vestram Deus conservet in tempora longiora.

The convent answered that they had proceeded regularly, and did not believe the king would take offence.
They doubted whether these people had authority from the king.

CXXVI. HONORIUS PRIOR CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI.¹

October.

S. Luke i. 68. Benedictus Deus Israel et laudetur, Qui nostra hactenus in unitatis vestræ constantia direxit opera. Benedictus Oriens ex alto, Qui nos in orationum vestrarum devotione sub umbra manus suæ feliciter prospexit usque in præsentem diem. Dominus vero papa nostris miseriis et pressuris solita condolet caritate et compatitur; ferventiori provocatus studio ut noster perpetuis conservetur temporibus status et libertas. Cum vero domesticos ejus ut pro nobis intercessores existant interpellemus, dicunt et certo certius affirmant, sicut etiam experimento cognovimus, quod in vestræ causæ tuitione potius indigeret fræno quam calcaribus. Omnium cardinalium et singulorum, uno excepto, gratiam habemus et favorem, et eos de constantibus et benignis constantiores in adventu nostro comperimus et benigniores. Hæc ergo omnia ex divina procedunt clementia, quæ Ipsi Deo et meritis sanctorum nostrorum attribuere potius quam humanæ vigilantiae possumus aut industriæ. Nunc igitur indesinenter clamemus in cælum, et miserebitur nostri Deus noster, Qui nunquam deserit sperantes in Se. Non sine labore et difficultate gravi hoc ultimum domini papæ mandatum, adversariis nostris solita fraude reclamantibus et renitentibus, extorsimus; quod ne suo defraudetur effectu per fratres ad hoc magis idoneos et alios cum summa diligentia et celeritate procurete. Dilectionis vestræ gratiæ innotescere volumus omnia apud nos prospere evenisse, postquam a Gallia recessimus. Proxima enim die Veneris post Nativitatem beatæ Mariæ, Veronam venimus, et totam fere curiam pro adventu nostro nobis condolentem et compatientem super gravaminibus de novo nobis illatis reperimus; et maxime dominum papam, qui adjutor factus est nobis in tribulationibus quæ invenerunt nos nimis. Unde in præsentia adversariorum nostrorum et [non] sine confusione illorum, litteras urgentissimas domino Cantuariensi direxit, de novi operis demolitione tam capellæ quam aliorum ædificiorum, et ut locus ille maledictus habeatur et profanus, et omnes illi qui post prohibitionem inibi celebraverunt, suspensi sunt ab officio et beneficio, donec se domini papæ conspectui repræsentent. Adhuc quidem scire vos volumus dominum papam litteras vobis indulsisse, ut, pendente lite, nullam poterit archiepiscopus in vestros excommunicationis sive suspensionis ferre sententiam. Multa haberem vobis dicere quorum modo memoriam non habeo. Ista quidem scribo sicut mihi occurrunt memoriæ. Sed hoc vobis dico, ut vos sani et salvi sitis, constantes quoque et patientes in tribulationibus vestris. Dominus det vobis pacem et salutem, et redimat vos a malis. Amen. tibi ecclesiæ, etsi non pro nostra reverentia, quam aliter quam te deceat visus es in hoc contempsisse, saltem metu credidimus divini iudicii revocandum. Speravimus equidem, et suadente nobis conscientia credebamus, quod postquam illum quem obtines in Anglicana ecclesia celebrem locum adeptus esses, tu obedientiæ et reverentiæ sacrosanctæ sedi apostolicæ ab omnibus viris ecclesiasticis exhibendæ forma fieres aliis et exemplum. Unde te circa nostræ et tuæ pariter promotionis initia, inusitato hactenus et novo modo curavimus honorare, credentes nos pro honore nostro ecclesiæ virum fidelissimum invenisse. Sed, quod sine gravi admiratione non dicimus, frustrati sumus cogitationibus nostris; et quem fidum tutorem honoris nostri esse credidimus, nunc in membris nostris oppugnatorem sentimus. Multoties enim pro quiete fratrum commissæ tibi ecclesiæ, litteras nostras transmisimus, ut ab eorum inquietatione desisteres, et in jura ipsorum saltem pro nostra reverentia non turbares. Sed tu non solum in hoc, sed et in aliis, sicut ubique fama divulgante fere ab omnibus prædicatur, nostras litteras et appellationes ad sedem apostolicam interpositas parvipendens, quid contra eos post multiplices appellationes et prohibitiones nostras feceris, nos enarrare confundimur. Sed tu ipse revolve in animo, et si bene feceris, in conscientia tua deliberes et decernas. Nos vero, quia clamores ipsorum fratrum et contemptum apostolicæ sedis pertransire surdis auribus nec possumus nec debemus, adhuc licet in vanum videamur jussiones nostras effundere, fraternitati tuæ per apostolica scripta mandamus, et in obedientiæ virtute præcipimus, quatenus eo etiam non obstante si ab ecclesia tua absens fueris, quicquid post appellationem ad nos factam, vel inhibitionem nostram, in opere capellæ quam erigere in destructionem Cantuariensis monasterii statuisti, actum est, tuis expensis non differas demoliri, revocans et deducens prorsus in irritum, quicquid de instituendis canonicis et aliis circa capellam factum est, et enormiter innovatum; locum etiam illum maledictum habeas et profanum, et eos qui celebraverunt in capella ipsa post prohibitionem nostram habeas et teneas pro suspensis ab officio et beneficio, donec nostro se conspectui repræsentent, demolitis universis operibus quæ inibi facere præsumpserunt. Ministros etiam conventus, quos post appellationem ad nos interpositam amovisti, quos nos restituimus, habeas restitutos, et eos quos pariter post appellationem excommunicare vel suspendere præsumpsisti habeas nihilominus absolutos; et universa quæ post appellationem ipsam in eorum gravamen attentata sunt, in invasione videlicet villarum et possessionum suarum, reddituum quoque et aliorum quæ ante

October 3. CXXIX. IDEM BATHONIENSI ET CICESTRENSI EPISCOPIS, ET DE BELLO, ET FAVERSHAM ABBATIBUS.⁸

The pope informs the bishops of Bath and Chichester and the abbots of Battle and Faversham, that he has listened to the complaints of the monks against the archbishop.

Licet fratres et coepiscopos nostros, et præcipue qui in ecclesia Dei locum obtinent digniorem, speciali teneamur caritate diligere, et in quantum cum Deo possumus honorare, cum tamen ab eis aliquod enorme committitur, tanto ad correctionem ipsorum propensiori cura debemus intendere, quanto in ipsorum culpis pro eminentia dignitatis, ecclesiasticæ honestatis sinceritas amplius denigratur. Sane clamores dilectorum filiorum nostrorum prioris et fratrum Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, contra gravamina quæ a Cantuariensi archiepiscopo patiuntur, jamdudum recepimus, et licet eidem archiepiscopo libenter, in quantum possumus velimus cum ratione deferre, quia tamen postposita reverentia mandatorum nostrorum nimis videtur in inceptæ oppressionis proposito perdurare, jam sustinere nec possumus nec debemus, quin tranquillitati prædictorum fratrum pro nostri officii debito consulamus. Cum igitur in grave detrimentum ejusdem ecclesiæ, quædam capella a memorato archiepiscopo incepta fuerit, et post appellationem ad nos factam, et inhibitionem nostram ne ulterius progrediretur opus, sit in fraudem prohibitionis ejus, prout credimus, consummata;

His high-ness cannot be ignorant of the afflictions of that church, which he has tried to remedy.

He begs the king to see that the judges delegated execute the mandate.

Licet universos, principes et minores, libenter velimus ad semitas rectitudinis provocare, et pro nostri officii debito ad viam salutis inducere; id tamen circa excellentiam tuam propensius exequi volumus et debemus, quanto personam et regnum tuæ sublimitatis majori amplectimur caritate, et tuis profectibus tam spiritualibus quam temporalibus abundantius congaudemus. Regalis siquidem sollertia non ignorat, quod inter cætera quibus potes divinam gratiam promereri, conservatio status ecclesiarum regni tui, et illarum præcipue quæ religionis et ordinis titulo decorantur, non modicam tibi adaugent gloriam et salutem. Cum igitur Cantuariensis ecclesia antiquæ privilegio dignitatis et meritis novi martyris gloriosi, non solum in regno tuæ celsitudinis, sed fere per totum orbem celebris habeatur, quantum expediat regiæ bonitati eam semper immutabili pietate respicere, manutenere pariter et augere, tuæ discretionis prudentia non ignorat. Multum etiam expedit regno tuo, ut dictum gloriosum martyrem continuum intercessorem habeas apud Deum, quod proculdubio, si quantum in te fuerit ipsius permiseris reverentiæ derogari, nequaquam in cœlis poteris obtinere. Et quidem quot gravamina et oppressiones ab archiepiscopo ecclesia illa pertulerit, sicut tua sublimitas nescire non potuit, ita dissimulare non debuit, sed tota intentione studere ad eundem archiepiscopum ab oppressionis inceptæ proposito revocandum. Verum quia jam hujus querelæ materia excrevit pariter et ascendit nimis, nos licet² sæpedito archiepiscopo velimus in quantum possumus cum ratione deferre, nequaquam ruinam ipsius ecclesiæ clausis possumus oculis pertransire; sed quibusdam personis ecclesiasticis regni tui correctionem eorum quæ enormiter attentata sunt, duximus committendam. Quocirca serenitatem tuam hortamur in Domino, rogamus attentius et in remissionem tibi peccatorum injungimus, quatenus, sicut pius et catholicus princeps, ad ipsius ecclesiæ tranquillitatem intendas, nec ipsam permittas quantum in te fuerit indebite molestari, et quod jam dicti iudices a nobis delegati statuerint, observari facias, et nequaquam impedias vel a tuis impediri permittas, quominus executioni mandetur,³ ita quod ex hoc zelo rectitudinis tuæ serenitas commendari valeat, et ab omnipotenti Deo gratiam promereri. CXXXI. URBANUS PAPA CAPITULO CANTUARIENSI.¹

A.D. 1187.
October 3.

Cum venerabilis frater noster Baldewinus archiepiscopus vester, sicut ex multiplici vestra conquestione didicimus, tranquillitatem vestram crebra molestatione perturbet, et statum monasterii vestri multimodis inquietet, dignum est et consonum rationi, ut qui ex injuncto nobis officio tenemur ab oppressis injuriam propulsare, vobis contra indebita gravamina ipsius favorem protectionis apostolicæ impendamus. Ea propter auctoritate vobis præsentium indulgemus, ut pendente lite quæ inter vos et eundem archiepiscopum haberi dinoscitur, archiepiscopus ipse nullam in ecclesiam vel personas vestras excommunicationis, suspensionis vel interdicti sententiam audeat promulgare, vel ecclesiæ hominibus, aut possessionibus vestris aliquid gravamen inferre. Quod si memoratus archiepiscopus in vos aut ecclesiam vestram aliquam prædictarum sententiarum promulgare præsumpserit, sententiam ipsam, sicut contra indulgentiam apostolicam promulgatam, vires decernimus non habere et in nullo penitus observari. Nulli ergo omnino hominum liceat hanc paginam nostræ concessionis et constitutionis infringere, vel ei ausu temerario contraire. Si quis autem hoc attentare præsumpserit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei et beatorum Petri et Pauli apostolorum Ejus se noverit incursum. Datum Ferariæ, v. nonas Octobris.

The pope grants to the convent that the archbishop shall not promulgate any sentence against them during the continuance of the suit.

Quam miserabiliter et sine causa pauperes Christi diutina jam oppressione afflicti fuerimus, cum narratio hæc omnium fere aures et ora compleverit, paternitas vestra ignorare non potest. Unde quia correctio eorum quæ post appellationem ad sedem [apostolicam] jam dudum interpositam innovata sunt, et in præjudicium nostrum attentata, discretionis [vestræ] a summo pontifice demandata est, caritati vestræ obnixius supplicamus omnes et singuli, quatenus ereptioni nostræ, pro Dei et gloriosi martyris Thomæ reverentia, operam dare velitis et diligenter intendere ut virtus obedientiæ vobis coronam pariat, et pauperum devotio paternitati vestræ devotior in sempiternum existat.

Licet multis et infinitis ubicunque terrarum degentibus, super occasu domini papæ qui de novo accidit, condolendum, illi tamen de quorum sumus numero tanto vehementius gemunt et contristantur, quanto eos ferventiori videbatur amplecti caritate, et fructuosa confovere devotione. Cum igitur in crastino festivitatis beati Lucæ diem clausisset extremum, et verendæ sequenti die sepulturæ commendaretur, feria quarta dominus cancellarius in papam solemniter et concorditer est electus, et Gregorius octavus denominatus. Agite ergo felices recordationis Urbani papæ memoriam devotissime, qui nos et ecclesiam nostram usque in finem dilexit. Hujus vero qui S. John xiii.
 nunc præsidet promotioni congaudete, quem propitium in agendis nostris invenimus et benignum, quicquid vobis in contrarium fuerit suggestum. Frequenter etiam nobis vultu placido proponebat, quod ecclesiam nostram in dilectione personæ domini Cantuariensis semper præferre volebat; nec eo vivente suo jure defraudaretur. Si quid vero rancoris vel amaritudinis, ob favorem cujuslibet aut incitamentum, visus est in nos olim concepisse, honor tantus mutabit mores, et erit mutatio dextræ excelsi, quæ convertet virum in divinum. Ps. lxxvii. 10.
 Consolamini ergo et nolite timere, quoniam etsi differatur ad

horam, videbitis gloriam Domini super vos in proximo. Quanto ergo magis depressi fueritis et fame et inedia coangustati severius, tanto constantiores estote et robustiores, Ipsi adhærentes Qui dicit per prophetam, "Junior fui, etenim senui," etc. Nunc tempus est ut firmiter stemus, unanimiter pugnemus, ne prævaleat adversus nos homo, quod nulla fiet ratione, quamdiu in unitatis perseverantia steterimus et oratione. Melius est nobis inediam pati et pauperiem aliquamdiu, quam ob nostram inertiam et defectum ecclesiam nostram perpetuæ subdere servituti. Nos vero fame vel nuditate poterimus interire, causæ certo certius sciatis quoad viximus nunquam renunciabimus, donec debitum sortiatur effectum. Consolamini rogamus et gaudete, quod causam nostram visus est confovere, cum omnia nobiscum miraculose per orationum vestrarum instantiam processerint. Omnes cardinales unico excepto nobiscum stant et stabunt constantissime, de quorum conscientia quicquid in curia obtinuimus emanavit. In occulto enim factum est nihil. De statu vestro quam citius et quoties poteritis nobis significetis, et nos quam citius aliquid nobis necessarium a domino papa perquirere poterimus, vobis transmittemus. Dominus conservet unitatem vestram et constantiam in vinculo pacis. Amen.

CXXXVI. GREGORIO PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

A.D. 1187.
November.

Audito lætabundo de felici promotione vestra rumore, de venerabili patre nostro spem majorem concepimus, credentes quod reverenda sedis apostolicæ mandata, quæ pro quiete nostra toties emanasse noscuntur, licet adhuc distulerit, gratia saltem et intuitu personæ præsentis impleret. Expectantibus autem nobis, ut vel post appellationem ablata restitueret, et¹ innovata in statum pristinum juxta tenorem mandati reformaret, causamque jurgiorum et materiam, capellam, post appellationem et inhibitionem domini papæ ne progrediretur opus, erectam, personas quibus injunctum est demoliri sustineret,² aut victimis et voluntati propriæ obedientiam anteponebat ipse dejiceret; ipso proculdubio procurante, ministri domini regis super-venientes, capellam et personas in manum domini regis receperunt, vicinis convocatis arctius indicentes, ne vel domini papæ auctoritate vel alterius, aliquam a quocunque potestatem in ipsa capella exercere paterentur. Clerici vero inibi post appellationem similiter et prohibitionem apostolicam instituti, quamvis de suspensione sua mandatum acceperint, in loco illo scandalorum, sicut apices pronunciant apostolici, maledicto et profano, divina celebrare non verentur. Hæc idcirco, pater reverende, sanctitati vestræ significare decrevimus, ut non modo Cantuariensis, sed et Anglicanæ ecclesiæ quam sit status miserabilis, attendat sollicitudo vestra, sollicitudo omnium ecclesiarum, ubi per potestatem laicam sacrosanctæ sedis apostolicæ majestas excluditur, et quod mœrentes dicimus, ipsi clerici minus reverentur. Provideat itaque discretio vestra, pater sanctissime, Christi sponsæ in Anglia, ut Cantuariensi ecclesiæ justitia sua suffragari possit, pro qua et in qua novus martyr gloriosus occubuit, per orbem fere universum famosa et celebri. Alioquin, si statum ejus, quod absit, permiseritis vacillare, facile erit omnes occidentis hujus ecclesias subvertere.

The convent had hoped that the accession of a new pope would have improved their relations with the archbishop.

Contrary to their hopes the king had taken the chapel, &c. under his protection. (Nov. 18, No. cxxxiii.) The clerks continue to celebrate in the chapel in spite of their suspension.

If the pope forsakes the church of Canterbury, all the churches of the west will fall.

CXXXVII. HONORIO PRIORI ET FRATRIBUS CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

The convent had received the news of pope Urban's death after the publication of his last mandate.

They are determined to persevere, and encourage the prior to do the same.

They cannot believe that the pope or the court will forsake them.

If they are successful, it will be due to the prior's watchfulness.

They will not despair, even if the Visitasse nos visus est Oriens ex alto, cum postremum mandatum sanctæ recordationis Urbani papæ de operis novi demolitione ad nos pervenisset. Cæterum rumor superveniens de morte ipsius, ipso mandato jam porrecto et publicato, tanto animas nostras et spiritus transverberavit acrius, quanto eum ferventius ecclesiam nostram diligere cognovimus ex effectu, et causam quam pro ejus tuitione suscepimus fidelius confovere. Verumtamen quia bonum est calicem Domini bibere quam calicem dæmoniorum, et ante litis ingressum omnia dura et aspera nobis proponentes, in causa ista pati decrevimus, tribulamur sed non deficimus, aporiamur sed non destituimur, gratanter suscipientes quod propinat Dominus, et ut scriptum est, etiam si nos occiderit, sperantes in Eum. Itaque et vos confortamini in Domino et in potentia virtutis Ejus, et gratiam nobis domini papæ, quibus potestis modis, satagite comparare. Nullatenus enim credimus sanctitatem viri tantam, aut curiam ipsam, tam manifestæ consentire iniquitati, maxime cum non Cantuariensis, non Anglicanæ ecclesiæ, sed servitium Romanæ certum sit cardinales in negotio nostro promovere, nec possunt spectabilius aliquid facere, si bene egerint, vel si aliter, sinceritatem sedis apostolicæ et famam magis denigrare. Sicut enim oppressio nostra toti fere mundo innotuit, ita nimirum quicquid egerint justius vel remissius mundi terminos non latebit, et nisi in causa tam patenti, quod post appellationem tam solemnem tam enormiter innovatum dinoscitur, reformaverint, appellationis nomen vanum erit et frivolum, et impunitas tanti delicti passim audaciam pariet delinquendi. Insistite ergo et sicut hucusque viriliter agite: coronam capitis vestri non projicientes, a quorum gloria mundus obruitur et obstupescit, dum intuetur. Si vos audierit dominus papa in causa quam suscepistis, vigilantia vestra et vos et nos salvasse cognoscetur. Si non audierit, nec homo ignaviæ vestræ improperare poterit, nec Dei justitia imputabit. Nullatenus enim de nobis dubitetis, quia in cordibus nostris unanimiter posuimus, et fixe, magis famem et sitim, nuditatem, persecutionem et his similia pati, quam manus nostras materno funere vel consentiendo commaculare. CXXXVIII. GREGORIUS PAPA ARCHIEPISCOPIS ET EPISCOPIS ET CÆTERIS ECCLESIE PRÆLATIS.²

A.D. 1187.
October 29.

Quoniam ad episcoporum maxime spectat officium afflictis et laborantibus subvenire, unumque illorum licet deficientibus meritis Deus esse nos voluit, prospicere tenemur et volumus, ne quis ex fortuitis casibus per Romanæ visitationem ecclesiæ laboris sui quem ad eam veniens sustinuit, debito frustretur effectu. Inde siquidem fuit quod nos multorum prospicere volentes expensis et alleviare labores, de consueta misericordia sedis apostolicæ duximus statuendum, ut litteræ prædecessoris nostri domini Urbani, a tribus mensibus ante ipsius obitum destinatæ, pro facienda justitia et litigiis dirimendis, quæ tamen manifestum alicujus præjudicium non continent aut calumniam æquitatis, eundem habeant tempore nostro administrationis effectum, quem habere, si adhuc ille viveret, debuissent. Cesante igitur exceptione de mandatoris morte: perficite quod ille mandavit agendum, et nemo ad nos pro excusatione hujusmodi, a concepta per illum de sua justitia obtinenda fiducia cogatur vacuum laborare. CXXXIX. IDEM EPISCOPIS ET ABBATIBUS ANGLIÆ.

Although the pope has confirmed by a general edict all rescripts issued by pope Urban within three months before his death, he excepts the business of the archbishop and monks.

Licet pro communi utilitate litteras emisimus generales, ut rescripta quæ a tribus mensibus ante mortem prædecessoris nostri domini Urbani papæ fuerant impetrata, non obstante exceptione de morte mandatoris, eandem firmitatem obtineant quam obtinere, si adhuc viveret, debuissent; negotia tamen quæ venerabilem fratrem nostrum Baldewinum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum et clericos ejus contingunt, sub generalitate nolumus concludi. Inde est quod per apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus si quæ litteræ hujusmodi adversus eos apparuerint impetratæ, secundum earum tenorem, nisi de novo mandato, minime procedatis. CXL. BALDEWINUS ARCHIEPISCOPUS ROBERTO DE BECHETUN, ET MAGISTRO SAMSONI, ET ALIIS CANONICIS DE HAKENTUN.

The archbishop informs the canons of Hakinton that they may rejoice in the annulling of the mandate issued against them.

Dilectioni vestræ mandamus atque præcipimus, quatenus in ecclesia beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ, Deo devote ministrantes, et beatæ Virgini Mariæ, beatisque martyribus Stephano et Thomæ, corde et voce simul alte jubiletis; Deum collaudantes super omnibus quæ circa nos dignatus est operari. Ecce enim consilium Achitofel infatuatum est, et omnia quæ 2 Sam. xv. 31. adversarii nostri a sede apostolica impetraverunt quassata sunt, et ad nihilum redacta. Confidite ergo in Domino, Qui Job v. 11. mœrentes erigit sospitate, nec minas nec verba timeatis adversariorum; nec in aliquo quod audieritis turbetur cor vestrum S. John xiv. 27. neque formidet. CXLI. PHILIPPO REGI FRANCIE CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

As king Philip's former intercession had been fruitless owing to the pope's death, the convent asks his influence with the new pope.

Gratias exsolvimus excellentiæ vestræ, quod pro statu ecclesiæ nostræ conservando litteras domino papæ dirigere voluistis. Et quidem quam reverenter eas suscepisset, si viveret, opus comprobasset. Cum enim oppressionem nostram cognovisset, ad petitionem vestram cœperat nos in statum debitum reformare. Sed quia antequam perficeretur quod mandaverat, exspiravit, necesse habemus iterum ad novum papam querelam nostram deferre, et ut nobis justitiam exhibeat postulare. Eapropter majestati vestræ supplicamus omnes et singuli, quatenus pro reverentia Dei et martyris nostri gloriosi, iterum pro servis vestris litteras destinare dignemini, ut ope vestra a præsentī calamitate liberati, pro incolumitate vestra et statu regni vestri, Deo et glorioso martyri semper suppliciores existere teneamur et devoti. Vitam et incolumitatem vestram, excellentissime princeps, conservet Omnipotens Dominus.

A.D. 1187.
December.

Quamvis de morte domini Urbani papæ vehementer contristati et afflicti, hoc tamen maxime consolationis accepimus, quod sicut dicitur, novus papa Gregorius paternitatem vestram intimo amplectitur caritatis affectu; quem non dubitamus circa negotia nostra et necessitates sicut nos ipsos moveri, immo tanto ardentius quam nos, quanto caritas vobis perfectior inesse cognoscitur. Supplicamus itaque pietati vestræ, quatenus ipsi pro Cantuariensis ecclesiæ statu conservando litteras vestras, quales discretio vestra expedire viderit, per fidelem nuntium dirigere velitis. Multum enim præsumit pars adversa de sua complenda voluntate et de deprimenda veritate nostra, maxime quia omnes litteras prædecessoris sui a tribus mensibus ante mortem ejus datas robur suum habere decreverit, negotium nostrum tantum suspendit, gratiam nobis subtrahens quam ecclesiæ universali indulget. Quod factum multi secus quam deceat interpretantur, adeo ut judicium ejus incipiant habere suspectum, præcipue cum nos injuste affligi Romanus orbis non ignoret, et passionibus nostris omnis Christi compatiatur ecclesia, et præ aliis magis qui mysterium, quod contra nos operatur, intelligant. Verum tamen pro certo credimus, quod si dominus Urbanus papa adhuc superstes in rigore concepto perstitisset, jam mala nostra remedium invenissent. Quod utique difficile erit, ne dicamus impossibile, nisi materia malorum et causa, capella contra nos exurgens, cujus se jam dominus rex confitetur auctorem, dissipetur. Vitam et incolumitatem vestram Deus conservet. Valete et orate pro nobis.

The convent is consoled for the death of pope Urban by the report that the new pope is a special friend of the dean of Rheims.

The pope's late measure leads people to doubt his judgment.

CXLIV. HONORIO PRIORI ET SOCIIS CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Afflictis afflicti, ponere in Domino Deo spem suam. Afflictio nostra, tanto durior quanto diuturnior, hoc durissimum habet, quod jam prope quantum ratio humana metiri potest, sine spe laboramus resurgendi. Quæ namque gregi evasionis via, cum in ejus interitum æque pastor et lupo insurgant? Immo lupo pastor, eo quod non satis sponte sua videatur insanire, instruit et instigat. Proh dolor! Qui sperabatur mensuram patrum suorum implere, utinam deserendo tantum mercenarium se ostenderet, non insurgendo adversarium. Et quidem cum se lupo præpararet ad rapinam, sicut per Johannem quondam capellanum suum mandavit, si meministis, pro grege sibi credito stare proposuerat; sed mutatus est color optimus, et argentum in scoriam conversum. Ecce appellationem interpositam ad summum pontificem, ad principem prosecutus, judicium ecclesiasticum mutare contendit, ut efficiat cum non possit recte, "quocunque modo rem." Suscepit princeps onus belli in se, pollicitus, ut dicitur, et juratus se propositum ejus per omnia mancipaturum effectui: quo tutus protectore audet domini papæ omne mandatum contemnere. Cum enim contra eum aliquid dirigitur, mox regem consulit, non quid debeat facere, sed quo modo possit mandatum elidere. Ipse ergo

rex vel justitarius regis nomine, quod summus pontifex præcipit fieri non permittit, ut ita videatur archiepiscopus manus lotas et mundas habere: contra ecclesiam Dei sibi invicem confederati sunt, adeo ut ipse regis archiepiscopus dicatur. Quippe avitas consuetudines, immo abusiones, pro quibus gloriosus martyr dimicasse et passus fuisse, et quas rex ipse abjurasse dinoscitur, omnes confirmavit in regno. Quasi enim pro crimine nobis imponitur ab archiepiscopo, quod sine regis licentia ausi fueritis a regno exire et ad dominum papam prosequi appellationem. Dicit namque se adhuc paratum esse regis et episcoporum regni in omnibus stare in iudicio: in quo verbo maxime principi placet, et nos displicere videmur; quia non in hoc consentimus. Ecce primus articulus in causa novi martyris, qui dixit et evicit in sanguine suo, liberum esse debere oppressis et appellantis in causis ecclesiasticis, summi pontificis adire præsentiam. Hinc est quod rex vos revocat, et archiepiscopus curiam Romanam refugit, ne videatur constitutioni regis in aliquo derogare. Qui utique novam ecclesiam ideo fundare intendunt, in qua episcopi¹ omnes et rex ipse canonici futuri sunt, ut illuc quæstiones regni referantur, et omnis causa subsistat. Præterea Cantuariensis ecclesiæ bona omnia et rerum dispositio regi cedit in posterum, si archiepiscopus obtinuerit. Ecclesias omnes dabit sede vacante, quia censebuntur præbendarum nomine; si res ad obedientias pertinentes, non personarum tantum institutionem, habuerit, rex quoque idem juris habebit. Unde et archiepiscopus obedientias tres in curia regis nuper contulit, ut regem mitteret in possessionem. Propter hæc emolumenta rex partem ejus fovet. Vos autem scitis quod ecclesiam Cantuariensem semper infestam habuit, quæ prima ausa est de electione canonica in Anglia verbum facere. Hæc est causa recens odiorum, præter illam indignationem quam concepit dominus archiepiscopus, ex eo quod difficiles nos habuit in electione sua, quæ jam in operis exhibitione palam facta est omnibus. Creditur etiam quod illuc partem conferat maneriorum, sicut et oblationes nostras assignaverat, cum sibi vendicet dominium universorum et dispositionem eorum. Itaque dominum regem nobis, immo certe curiæ Romanæ, constituit adversarium duriores, qui et se operis illius confitetur auctorem et protectorem, ne vel locus maledicto vel personæ sententia possint suspensionis involvi. Nobis quoque denunciatum est ex parte regis hoc, quod, scilicet, rex auctor sit capellæ et protector clericorum, ut si de cætero oblocuti fuerimus, quasi rei majestatis reputemur.

Now it is a crime to quit the realm and appeal to Rome without leave from the king.

They are trying to found a new church in which the king and bishops shall be canons, and which shall be a court of final appeal. The king will get complete possession of our church. The archbishop has recently made three obedientiaries in the king's court, as if to put the king in possession. They are in league against free elections.

By becoming the patron of the new church the king subjects its opponents to a charge of treason.

Unde rei exitum non videmus, nisi exitium nostrum, maxime cum novum papam negotium Cantuariensis archiepiscopi credant promovere. Quod etiam si pro ecclesia Cantuariensi stare decrevisset, nihil conferret, nisi magna nobis virtute succurreret, sicut dominus Urbanus proposuerat, qui principem non agnovit cum disceptaret cum paupere. Facilius erit pauperum causam contemnere, difficilius autem principum voluntati contraire. Faciat quod placuerit. Nos per Dei gratiam vel in capellæ constructionem vel in status nostri subversionem nunquam consentiemus. Exemplum dedit nobis gloriosus Dei athleta. Vidimus pugnam ejus. Audivimus doctrinam, triumphum videmus et gloriam. Ad hoc nos perductos noveritis, quod non habemus in domo quondam tam omnibus exposita et opulenta, quod apponi possit hospitibus, ut de nobis taceamus, ne videamur abundare didicisse et non penuriam pati. Omnes nos plangunt. Multi etiam de bonis suis unde vivamus transmittunt, clam tamen, quia mysterium quod operatur intelligunt. Orant pro nobis, qui obloquio videntur in ore suo; etiam ministri regis, qui ejus crebro contra nos perferunt mandata, nostri miserentur et muniunt, videntes angustias animarum nostrarum, et quia affligimur innocentes. Maledicunt locum illum scandalorum omnes transeuntes viam et abominantur. Ipsi clerici absolvi desiderant a juramento quod domino archiepiscopo præstiterunt, quod videlicet circa locum illum ejus in omnibus sequerentur consilium. Dicunt tamen quod novus papa archiepiscopi et principis nihil negabit petitionibus. Et si contrarium jusserit, non audietur nec ei obtemperabunt. Minor est apud nos ejus reverentia, qui cum litteras omnes prædecessoris sui a tribus mensibus ante mortem ejus datas confirmaverit, negotium nostrum solummodo suspendit; factus eo ipso judex suspectus omnibus, adeo ut etiam apud nos scandalum oriatur fidei Christianæ; nec modo in Oriente vacillat, sed et in Occidente, religio Christiana. Ut plenius instruamini de statu nostro, hæc vobis transmisimus, vera quidem, pro parte tamen nisi tutis auribus committenda. Virtutem vobis conferat Deus et gratiam.

Merito, pater sanctissime, in primo aspectu vestri anima nostra vobis conglutinata est; et adhærebit semper in Christo individua. Majus est quod in vobis pauperum Christi invenit necessitas, quam quod de vobis ausa est sperare caritas. Ecce enim tantum veritate sua et virtute vestra nititur Cantuariensis

- ecclesia, impugnantibus illis qui se pro ea proponere debuerant propugnaculum. Scimus quidem quod adversarii nostri, ut vel specietenus causam justam fovere videantur, quod intendunt, se pro Dei gloriosi martyris Thomæ asserant velle reverentia. Et vox quidem “vox Jacob est, manus autem manus sunt” “Esau.” Opera enim illorum mentiri convincunt illos. Spoliis enim nostris jam lætantur et exultant; quippe, cum de bonis hujus illam ditare proposuerint, necessario crescente illa, ista patietur detrimentum, et nos quod professioni nostræ gravius est, tranquillitatis et pacis perpetuum incurremus dispendium. Cæterum si dominus Urbanus papa, qui principem non agnovit cum disceptaret cum paupere, si modicum superstes in rigore concepto perstitisset, jam ecclesiæ Dei, ut creditur, pax esset reddita, et didicissent in pœna unius viri ecclesiastici sacrosanctæ sedis apostolicæ non contemnere majestatem. Mirabatur siquidem orbis occiduus, quod tam diu dissimularet et differret negotium, et in contemptu tam manifesto tanta incederet modestia. Nunc autem, eo de medio sublato, defecit gaudium cordis nostri; versus est in luctum chorus noster. In promotione enim novi papæ spem conceperunt adversarii nostri, omne propositum suum ad finem perducendi quem desiderant; et tanquam non sit in homine veritas aut justitia, pauperes Christi potenter humiliare proponunt, quasi non habentes protectorem. Confidentiam præstat eis gratia quam se statim in initio congratulantur invenisse, et nobis timorem non modicum incussit. Papa namque Gregorius, cum omnes litteras domini Urbani prædecessoris sui a tribus mensibus ante mortem ejus datas, eandem firmitatem quam si adhuc viveret, habere decreverit, quod contra dominum Cantuariensem impetratum est viribus ad præsens evacuavit, et misericordiam quam generali ecclesiæ indulget nobis subtrahit, qui miserabiliores omnibus hominibus effecti, majori indigemus misericordia. Nos vero etiam si nos occiderit, sperantes in Eum, et de gratia vestra, cui quod vivimus debemus, non dubii, quod habemus, hoc facimus; funeri materno, quod vitam restituere non valemus, lacrymas debitæ dilectionis impendimus, clementiam sedis apostolicæ expectantes et expetentes justitiam: litteris quas ad sanctitatis vestræ servos direxistis in stupido prius pectore cor novum creantibus, ut videamur nobis pro defensione ecclesiæ nostræ, si casus inciderit, bibere posse calicem patrum nostrorum. Gratias igitur paternitati vestræ super omnibus beneficiis rependentes quas possumus, nos et ecclesiæ nostræ causam in manus vestras commendamus. CXLVII. OMNIBUS CARDINALIBUS CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.¹ A.D. 1188.
January.

Universali ecclesiæ jam credimus innotuisse appellationem quam ad apostolicæ sedis audientiam enormiter prægravati interposuimus, statum ecclesiæ cui subversionem vidimus imminere, nos et nostra omnia sub apostolica collocantes protectione. Novit nihilominus mundus quam quotidianam et quasi continuam extunc passi sumus injuriam. Et quidem vivente adhuc in carne sanctæ recordationis papa Urbano, quamvis qui² nos opprimunt et impugnant, gravamina de die in diem graviora inferant, tamen zelum justitiæ in eo formidantes cohibuerunt a totali subversione ecclesiæ cujus servimus manus suas, ne eos animadversionis apostolicæ gladius inveniret. Cæterum postquam idem in fata concessit, et promotus est summæ sanctitatis papa Gregorius, nescimus qua de re animati, statim contempta tanti temporis possessione, cartis regum et pontificum, privilegiis sedis apostolicæ, et tam solemniter interposita appellatione, universa invaserunt: omnibus possessionibus nostris et libertatibus, quas ab ingressu Christiani nominis in Angliam habuisse dinoscimur, nos spoliantes, adeo ut venerabilis pater noster, auctor omnium, illustrissimum Anglorum regem dominum nostrum, quem semper propitium habuimus, ad læsionem nostram inducere et incitare conetur, arctius inhibens per officiales suos sicut olim per se ipsum, ne aliqua ratione septa ecclesiæ nostræ exire audeamus. Jussus est thesaurus ecclesiæ conscribi et signari, et sigillum nostrum nobis auferri; populus vicinus publice prohibitus nobis alimenta vendere, et servientes proprii ministrare. Si ergo aliquo modo præsens pauperum Christi conquestio ad vos prævaluerit pervenire, rogamus et obsecramus in Domino Jesu, ut tam manifestum sedis apostolicæ contemptum zelo justitiæ accensi amplius non dissimuletis, quorum patientiam in tantæ ecclesiæ subversione mundus miratur et queritur. Credimus enim et per gloriosum martyrem Thomam satis edocti sumus, quia in gladio beati Petri liberabimur. Exsurgite itaque reverendi patres et domini, et ascendite ex adverso pro domo Israel: non prævaleat homo adversus eam. Quod si differre decreveritis, cum jam expulsi fuerimus aut fame consumpti, difficilius erit ferre remedium. Det vobis Deus ut officium vestrum et velitis et valeatis implere.

Creator omnium rerum atque Dispensator, sub illo dispensationis moderamine tam superiora quam inferiora inevitabiliter coarctatur, quatenus ea quæ a temporum æternitate in arcana sui consilii providentia voluntarie trutinantur, non humanæ conditionis fragilitas declinare, nulla mundanæ rationis argumentosa subtilitas usquequaque poterit avertere, quando secundum divinæ dispositionis seriem suo revertuntur tempore, sibi deputatis atque dispositis dominicaliter terminis et eventibus. Cum ergo Largitor bonorum et Auctor ecclesiam Cantuariensem a Suae creationis primordio, crebris et fere continuis subiacere tusionibus præordinaverit, ita tamen eam hactenus in ipsis tribulationibus visus est confovisse, quatenus ex suarum cumulo semper incrementum consequeretur et gloriam. Licet jam solito vehementius in Suis temporibus, forte demeritis nostris exigentibus, malis vallata fuerit et angustiis, si fidem habuerimus et unitatis constantiam, respiciet eam desuper Omnipotens pietate solita, eritque nobis turris fortitudinis a facie tribulationis. incurrimus, in cuius morte fere ad mortem afflixit nos Dominus, tamen pro certo scire vos volumus, quia totam curiam etiam cum justitia nostra nobiscum habemus: ita quidem quod omnium pro nobis apud dominum papam supplicat devotio, omniumque devote pro nobis intervenit supplicatio. Unde licet dominus papa ad tempus justitiam nostram distulerit, tamen processu temporis quod justum fuerit nobis denegare non poterit. Nec aliquo modo sustineret Romana ecclesia, quod nobis et ecclesiæ nostræ tam manifesta fieret injuria. Ideoque consolamur vos et exhortamur in Domino ne deficiatis in tentationibus et tribulationibus istis, scientes quia probatio fidei patientiam operatur, patientia autem opus perfectum habeat, ut sitis in nullo deficientes. Et fidelis Dominus non permittet vos tentari ultra quam poteritis sustinere, sed faciet cum tentatione proventum ut sustinere possitis. Præterea super aliquo adhuc vos certificare non possumus, quia nondum in aliquo certificati sumus; quod tamen in proximo fieri non dubitamus. Vos autem quam citius poteritis calamitates nostras et gravamina domino papæ ex ordine significetis, sicut prædecessori suo fecistis. The convent entreats all the faithful to intercede for the church of Canterbury.

Omnibus sanctæ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ filiis, servi ejusdem loci miserabiles et afflicti, salutem et sui meminisse. Universitatis vestræ genibus obvoluti gratias agimus super devotione quam circa matrem, morbo graviore laborantem, hactenus habuistis. Verumtamen quia jam spiritu in pectore tantum palpitante quasi in extremis posita est, non nisi respectum gratiæ desuper expectans, obnixius supplicamus, quatenus quanto acrius infestata est et morti proxima, tanto magis necessariis insistentes suffragiis, pias lacrymas propensius impendatis, ut precibus vestris exoratus Dominus, si dissimulat propter peccata nostra, exaudiat propter reverentiam vestram, et si non ad voluntatem, saltem ad salutem. Quæ enim mala patiatur non jam facile est, sed quibus angustiis non angustiatum enarrare difficile. Valete.

CLIII. GREGORIO PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.¹A.D. 1188.
January.

Sicut alias sanctitati vestræ significavimus, audito verbo de promotione vestræ, intelligentes ecclesiæ Dei provisum esse in ea, ad vos appellationem solemnem innovavimus, tanto certiores de consequenda justitia, quanto majoris justitiæ zelo virtutem vestram fervere cognoscimus; statum ecclesiæ nostræ, nos et nostra omnia quæ adhuc manus venerabilis patris nostri nobis reliquerat, sub beati Petri et vestra ponentes protectione. Licet enim, vivente adhuc in carne sanctæ recordationis papa Urbano, qui nos opprimunt et impugnant gravamina de die in diem graviora inferant, tamen animum ejus zelo justitiæ attendentes accensum, et invincibilem admirantes constantiam, a totali ecclesiæ ejus servi sumus subversione cohibuerunt manus suas, ne eos animadversionis apostolicæ gladius inveniret. Cæterum postquam is pauperum protector, heu, heu! jam ereptione nostra proxima et malorum causa prope dejecta, in fata concessit, et sanctitas vestra cathedram apostolorum implevit, statim majorem, nescimus qua de re, concipientes fiduciam pauperes Christi liberius impugnare cœperunt et acrius, quasi non habentes protectorem, et contempta tanti temporis possessione cartis regum et pontificum, privilegiis etiam sedis apostolicæ, et tam solemniter et toties ad vos interposita appellatione, bona ecclesiæ universa invaserunt, possessionibus omnibus et libertatibus quas ab ingressu Christiani nominis in Angliam habuisse dinoscimur, nos spoliantes, nec volentes restituere quæ tulerunt, nisi velimus in modum et conditionem servilem consentire, quam præscribunt. Venerabilis enim pater noster, heu! grave verbum et dictum onerosum, officii suscepti nimis immemor, illustrissimum Anglorum regem dominum nostrum quem semper propitium habuimus et benignum, ad nos lædendum inducere et incitare conatur: arctius inhibens per officiales suos, ne aliquo modo aut mare transire, aut septa ecclesiæ nostræ exire audeamus. Jussus est thesaurus ecclesiæ nostræ conscribi et signari; sigillum nostrum nobis auferri: populus vicinus publice prohibitus nobis alimenta vendere, et proprii servientes ministrare. Forte, pater sancte, quia nos a misericordia excepistis, quam generali gratia vestra indulsit ecclesiæ, arbitrantur vos subversionem nostram vel dissimulare velle vel posse certe æquanimitate sustinere. Hoc enim publice improperant clerici

The convent informs the pope that since his promotion their enemies have oppressed them more and more.

They have set at nought their charters and privileges, and seized their goods.

The archbishop incites the king against them.

He has ordered the treasure to be sealed, the seal to be surrendered, &c., &c., trusting in the friendship of the pope.

domini et patris nostri, quorum manibus cædimur, sed illius viribus, quod omnia rescripta quæ a sede apostolica pro reparatione nostra Urbanus papa quamvis inaniter emisit, in verbo uno quam facillime cassaverunt, quasi auctoritatem inde sumentes et audaciam. Verum in paternitate vestra sperantes, etiam si nos occiderit, non credentes aliquo modo pauperum et oppressorum conditionem ex promotione vestra fieri posse deteriore, ad sinum clementiæ vestræ confugimus, suppliciter obsecrantes, ut vel nunc cum immanitas doloris modum excedit, nec permittimur ad audientiam vestram querelam perferre, aut juris publici subsidium expetere, dum adhuc spiritus quasi extremus palpitat in pectore, remedium laborantibus ferre non differatis, ne sero sit velle, cum jam aut expulsi fuerimus aut fame consumpti. Quid enim aliud expectemus? Quibus nec suis uti licet, nec ab aliis alimenta mendicare. Et forte dum hæc auribus vestris intimantur, accidunt omnia quæ verebamur. Et quidem, domine reverende, facile esset nobis ex ecclesiæ nostræ discrimine clausis oculis sub silentio præterire, sed manus nostras vel consentiendo funere materno commaculare credimus omnino damnabile. Unde præ oculis habentes in martyre nostro glorioso, et laborem certaminis et mercedem laboris, malumus et gratia juvante decrevimus calicem quem dederit Dominus pro ipsius bibere defensione, quam animarum nostrarum detrimentum facere. Miseremini ergo, pater sancte, miseremini ecclesiæ tantæ tam desolatæ et nostræ conditionis extremæ; miseremini familiæ sub protectione vestra in sinu sanctitatis vestræ tam enormiter tam miserabiliter afflictæ; miseremini, quam viri ecclesiastici hodie minus reverentur apud nos, majestatis apostolicæ; et quæ etiam in orbe hoc occiduo periculum in nobis patitur, fidei Christianæ. Quia si vera sunt senum nostrorum somnia, si juvenum nostrorum visiones, in gladio beati Petri machina contra ecclesiam Cantuariensem consurgens disparebit et dissipabitur. Nunc ultimo calamitates vobis credimus enarrare. Multa tamen habemus, domine, quæ atramento mandari nolunt. Miseremini itaque, quia tempus miserendi est, ut per merita et intercessionem gloriosi martyris Thomæ universali ecclesiæ quam vestro commisit regimini, misereatur Altissimus. Ad principia nascentis ecclesiæ nostræ recurrat vestræ discretionis memoria. Recolat cum patribus tempora, et vix invenietis aliquem patrum vestrorum qui non sit passus pro libertate ecclesiæ vestræ exilium vel mortem: sic de patribus loquimur. Nec fratres excipere possumus, si tempora prædecessorum nostrorum non præterimus. Si ergo pro libertate illius ecclesiæ constanter statis, vere filii illorum estis. Degeneres filii sunt qui bonitatem parentum non sequuntur. Et ut alios ad præsens omittamus, illum ad memoriam revocate, qui temporibus vestris sex annis exul effectus, tandem in oculis vestris in ecclesia vestra et pro ecclesia martyrio coronatus est. Et si recte recolimus, ipse aliquando vos præmunivit et hortatus est ad constantiam, dicens, quia ipse certamen inceperat pro libertate ecclesiæ quod vos expectabat. Animemini ergo ad certamen monitu beati martyris. Mundus laudat causam vestram: commendet et constantiam vestram. Quantas et quam continuas a patre et domino nostro Cantuariensi archiepiscopo sustinuerimus oppressiones, [sanctitati]² vestrae prout credimus satis innotuit. Quae autem de novo superaddita sunt, tum quia ob sui enormitatem incredibilia videntur, tum quia patris nostri et tantae opinionis viri in- honestant auctoritatem, nobis confusio est enarrare. Sed quoniam causa potens est ecclesiae nostrae subversio et exterminatio nostra, in januis omnino silere non possumus, quin ea quae nobis illata sunt sanctitati vestrae proponamus, misericordiam postulantes. Siquidem in ingressu dicti patris nostri in Angliam, statim nos villis et possessionibus, quas usque tunc nobis reliquerat spoliavit universis. Factumque est ut qui, obtentu urgentis mandati sanctae recordationis praedecessoris vestri Urbani papae reformando statu ecclesiae nostrae, ablatorum speraveramus restitutionem, jam in omnium incidimus destitutionem. Adjecit autem his dominus et pater noster satis duriora. Tertia die adventus ejus in Angliam, directi sunt a latere ipsius aliqui de clericis novae capellae quae totius scandali materia est, et cum eis milites non sine multa sequela, qui curiam nostram invaderent. Eodem autem die, antequam hæc fierent, dum dominus archiepiscopus nondum venisset Cantuariam, duos de fratribus nostris ad ipsum misimus requisituros, an,¹ juxta quod moris archiepiscopis de transmarinis venientibus, solemni vellet suscipi processione. Quibus ille, antequam ipsius apparerent conspectui, mandavit quod excommunicati erant, cum tamen indulserat nobis prædictus felicitis memoriæ prædecessor vester, quod non liceat prædicto archiepiscopo, lite pendente, in quenquam nostrum excommunicationis vel suspensionis sententiam promulgare. Quod etsi non esset, ad ipsorum fratrum protectionem suffecisse debuerat interposita ad majestatem vestram appellatio. Ulterius autem adversus dictos fratres concepta domini archiepiscopi processit indignatio, et quod auditu quoque indignum est, ipsos, equis super quos venerant ablatis, pede ad nos usque remisit. Sequenti vero nocte, repleta est curia nostra armatis, portas et ostia circumquaque diligenter observantibus, ne cui nostrum aliquo modo pateret exitus, ea scilicet ut dicitur intentione, ut quæ faciunt enormia, vestram possint latere sanctitatem. Sed et ipsi servientes nostri tactis sacrosanctis jurare compulsi sunt, quod si quis eorum quemlibet nostrum exeuntem compererit, ipsum impediet, et quam citius poterit, officialibus domini archiepiscopi rem indicabit. Hæc ideo, pater sanctissime, majestati vestræ innotescimus, ut nobis servis suis tam miserrimis sinum misericordiæ vestra dignetur aperire misericordia, et ecclesiam Cantuariensem, jam ut videtur in extremis agentem, paterna celerius benignitate respicere. Et quidem nocte ipsa qua hæc scripta sunt, obsessi circumquaque, et quid de nobis in crastino futurum esset incerti, in mœrore expectabamus, oratione clamantes ad Dominum. Ideoque maiestati vestrae miseriae et tribulationis nostrae confidentius significamus immanitatem; sperantes a misericordia vestra dolorum nostrorum reportare solatium. Siquidem quae et quanta a domino et patre nostro archiepiscopo fere a promotionis ipsius initio sustinuerimus gravamina, vestra pro parte novit excellentia. Quae autem [post]¹ reversionem suam in Angliam superaddiderit, pia aures audire refugient. Et quidem in ipso ingressu suo, nos omnibus possessionibus nostris quas nobis ante reliquerat spoliavit. Duos tamen de fratribus nostris, ut ipsum ex parte conventus salutarent, eique de more antiquo processionem offerrent, Wingeham missos, antequam ad eum accessum habere potuissent, per internuncios excommunicatos denunciavit, eosque, equis in quibus venerant ablatis, pede remisit. Ipso die directi sunt a latere ejus quidam cum sequela multa, qui murum curiae nostrae perforantes, januas et seras et ostia usque ad ipsum claustrum confringentes, curiam totam occupaverunt; nihil obstante ex Dei parte et vestra facta inhibitione. Qui, victualibus etiam nostris asportatis, aditus et exitus curiae nostrae, sed et monasterii portas, nocte et die adeo vigilanter observant, ut neque nobis alimenta deferre, nec ad sanctorum nostrorum corpora introire volentibus liber possit esse accessus. Servientes nostros quosdam in curia nostra, quosdam in ipso coemeterio interceptos, caesos et spoliatos in vincula projecerunt et carceres. Sic igitur, serenissime domine, novo et inaudito more intra ecclesiam nostram obsessi, quotidie finem nostrum expectamus cum lacrymis. In proximo enim est ut fame deficiamus et inedia, nisi manum misericordiae vestra citius interposuerit celsitudo. Moveat igitur, domine, pietatem vestram afflictio nostra, quam teste Deo et conscientia nostra sustinemus, quia ecclesiae Cantuariensis et ordinis nostri subversionem sustinere non possumus. Moveat, domine, pietatem vestram vox populi pro nobis in gemitu clamantis ad Dominum. Recordamini, si placet, quod ante ipsius patris nostri electionem nobis in capitulo nostro vestra promiserit magnificentia. Miseremini nostri, domine, dum tempus miserendi, dum adhuc nobis remedium pollicetur spes sola Dei et vestra misericordia concepta. Valeat magnitudo vestra in tempora longiora.

The prior informs the monks of an unexpected remedy for their troubles.

Pope Gregory VIII. is dead (Dec 17), and Clement III. has (Dec. 19) succeeded him.

Gregory VIII., though a good man, was inferior to Urban III.

Omnipotentis Dei clementiæ abundantiam omnimoda et abundanti gratiarum actione prosequimur, fratres dilectissimi, de Cujus munere provenit et gratia, nos inter pressuras tribulationum vehementissimas subito et inopinato remedio refoveri, ita quidem quod omnes una voce una devotione dicere possumus et debemus, Benedictus Deus Qui consolatur nos in omnibus tribulationibus nostris. Nunc enim certo certius credimus 2 Cor. i. 3, 4. et speramus, quia in proximo eripiet nos Dominus de manu tribulantis, et de manu contra legem ordinis et religionis nobiscum agentis. Quoniam cum in angustioribus constituti fuimus angustiis, supra omnem spem nostram et etiam opinionem omnium misertus nostri, dilatavit nobis Dominus. Piæ namque recordationis papa Gregorius octavus proxima die Jovis post festum beatæ Barbaræ virginis viam universæ carnis est ingressus, et Paulus¹ Prænестinus episcopus per gratiam Dei sequenti die Sabbati in papam est electus, qui nunc Clemens est vocatus. Ille siquidem Gregorius, licet vir pius esset et religiosus, fautorque justitiæ et zelator devotissimus, tamen justis et piis factis prædecessoris sui felicitis memoriæ boni Urbani minus juste ac pie videbatur favere. Unde contigit quod justitiam quam idem Urbanus nobis fecerat, toto tempore suo vobis exhibere denegavit Gregorius et distulit. Alius etiam casus nobis et causæ nostræ utilis ex

Ideoque, dilectissimi fratres, unanimes et constantes estote. Videbitis enim in brevi auxilium Domini super vos, et gaudebit cor vestrum, et gaudium vestrum nemo tollet a vobis. Gaudete ergo gaudio magno, iterum dicimus gaudete, constantia namque vestra nota est omnibus hominibus, consolatio vestra prope est, nihil solliciti sitis, quia in omni petitione vestra orationes vestrae innotescunt apud Deum. Acts. vii. 34.

Consolamini, consolamini, dilecte frater, et nolite timere. Ecce enim Deus videns vidit afflictionem et tribulationem nostram, et suscitavit nobis patrem et pastorem piissimum defensoremque ecclesiae nostrae strenuum et devotissimum. Proxima namque die Jovis post festum Beatae Barbarae virginis ex hac luce migravit pie recordationis Gregorius, cui sequenti sabbato successit Paulus Prænестinus episcopus, qui modo Clemens est vocatus. Hic semper nobis et ecclesiae nostrae fidelis extitit et devotissimus. Ostiensis quidem eadem die electus fuit, qui nullo modo onus et sollicitudinem illius suscipere voluit, sed prostratus ad pedes fratrum suorum, ne promoveretur, cum gemitibus et lacrymis misericordiam postulavit. Unde bene certi sumus ipsum de cætero in curia posse quicquid juri et rationi innititur: de quo ita plene sicut de nobismet ipsis confidimus, quia ut secretius tamen dictum sit, nobis secreto revelavit, quod ante recederet a curia quam deficeret in causa nostra. Unde nullatenus dubitare velitis, quin ad bonum et optatum effectum perducatur negotium nostrum. Præterea proprio ore dixit nobis clementissimus Clemens noster, post promotionem suam in secretis suis, quod liberaret nos a faucibus mortis. Qua occasione tamen hoc dixerit, annuente Deo et vita comite, vobis aliquando viva voce dicemus. Ad hæc etiam illud specialiter vestrae commendamus memoriae, ne sepulti et memorandi Urbani penes vos sepeliatur memoria, nec a devotione vestra successor ipsius excludatur Gregorius, quia in memoria æterna erit justus. Isti siquidem qui nunc præsides, negotia vestra, calamitates et injurias transcribere faciat, tanto studiosius et confidentius quanto de ipso ampliorem spem et fiduciam reportatis. Valete.

CLXVI. CLEMENTI PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.¹

Sanctissimo patri et domino Clementi, Dei gratia, summo pontifici, conventus ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariæ, flebilis et afflic- tus, debitam ac devotam in Domino obedientiam. In luctu et lacrymis jam multo tempore constituti, auditis de sanctitatis vestræ promotione rumoribus gavisi sumus gaudio magno, Illi soli in exultatione cordis gratias referentes, Qui nunc unxit Heb. i. 9. vos oleo exultationis præ consortibus vestris. Speramus enim de misericordia Ejus Qui non derelinquit sperantes in Se, quod per manum Clementiæ vestræ visitabit nos Oriens ex alto, et S. Luke i. 78. calamitatibus quas pro causa Christi et ecclesiæ passi sumus, et de die in diem patimur graviores, dum adhuc est tempus miserendi, miserebitur sollicitudo vestra, sollicitudo omnium 2 Cor. xi. 23. ecclesiarum. Quæ et quanta, pater sanctissime, a domino nostro Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, postquam eum in patrem et pastorem suscepimus, pertulerimus gravamina, nisi quia ultima necessitate urgente compellimur, sanctitati vestræ confundimur enarrare. Cantuariensis siquidem ecclesia, quæ prima inter occidentales tenebras prædicante Augustino, a beatissimo papa Gregorio transmissa, veri luminis in tabernaculo suo cognovit et suscepit Auctorem; in his diebus novissimis facta est omnium ecclesiarum tanquam novissima. Et quæ ordinis et honestatis forma et exemplum occidentalibus radiabat in tenebris, et, juxta apostolum hospitalitatem non obliviscens, non solum peregrinis et pauperibus, verum etiam in omnibus se petentibus, largam et liberalem exhibuit, nunc omnium miserrima etiam mendicantium compulsa est mendicare suffragia. Dominus enim et pater noster Cantuariensis archiepiscopus, nec prædecessorum suorum nec regum cartis, sed nec summorum pontificum deferens privilegiis, statim a promotione sua xenia nostra nobis abstulit, ecclesias sustentationi pauperum et peregrinorum deputatas et auctoritate apostolica eorundem usibus confirmatas, clericis suis, nobis reclamantibus et ad sedem apostolicam appellantibus, assignavit. Post hæc, nihil omnino obstante ad sedem apostolicam solemniter facta appellatione, prior et fratres quidam suspensi sunt. Canonici instituti, nova capella erecta post novi operis nunciationem. Celebratum etiam est in ea post inhibitionem apostolicam. Redditus nostri, et pensiones ecclesiarum quas Londoniis habuimus, interdicti. Quidam fratrum excommunicati. Nec multo post, transiturus ad regem in Normanniam villis nos et possessionibus maxima pro parte spoliavit. In Normannia igitur constitutus, suscepto inibi sanctæ recordationis Urbani papæ urgenti mandato super reformando in integrum ecclesiæ nostræ statu, et de demolitione novæ capellæ, et eorum qui in ipsa capella, post inhibitionem ne progrediretur opus, celebraverunt suspensione, et de circa statum ecclesiæ nostræ lite pendente nihil immutando, nihil fecit ex omnibus, sed et amplius de die in diem manum in nos duriores extendit et nostra, quo apostolicam videbamus implorare suffragium, et ad appellationis confugisse remedium. Emenso igitur aliquanto temporis spatio, revertens in Angliam, in ipso ingressu suo rebus nos et possessionibus universis quas ante nobis reliquerat, spoliavit. Nos tamen de antiqua ecclesiæ nostræ consuetudine duos de fratribus nostris offerendæ ei processionis gratia, ad ipsum destinavimus. Quos ille antequam cum eo verbum communicarent, per internuncios denunciavit excommunicatos, et equis in quibus ad eum venerant ablati, per quinque fere milliaria eos ad nos usque pede fecit reverti. Ipso die directi sunt a latere ejus quidam cum sequela multa, qui muro curiæ nostræ manu valida perforato, januis, seris, et ostiis officinarum nostrarum usque ad ipsum ostium claustrum violenter effractis, equis abductis et aliis pro libito direptis, victualia etiam et utensilia immisericorditer asportaverunt. Quorum signiferi capellæ, quæ totius mali seminarium est, canonici, insultantes et tanquam de nobis triumphantes, conventu quasi expulso et in ecclesia obsessa, omnia in curia nostra pro libito disponunt. De instabili statu nostro per litteras pendentes pro tempore vobis sufficienter significatum est. His jam inspectis et prima cum eo venerant thesaurum ecclesiæ ostendi et annotari, et annotatum dispositioni regiæ conservari, ut in auro Cantuariensi captivos redimeret Jerusalem. Sigillum quoque ecclesiæ videre voluerunt, arctiori et tutiori per manus eorum depu-tandum custodiæ. Pontifex etiam iniquitatem parturiens quam conceperat, et in Domino nihil, sed dolo loquens omnia, juravit et dixit: Bonum nobis esse, cum patre nostro pacis

primo die usque ad ultimum: et nullius esse momenti nec etiam ad pretium unius denarii, nec robur aliquod habere

idcirco consiliosum nobis fore, regi et regno et clero discus-nisi per os regis finem posse sortiri. Ut cessavit autem loqui, petivimus nobis inducias per noctem dari, ad conferendum super his quæ proposuerant, quibus vix impetratis egressi sunt. Mane vero facto, in capitulum reversi sunt, assumptis

Eadem hora exeuntes milites et cum eis clerici paraverunt se ut curiam nostram occuparent, de quo secretius præmuniti portas curiæ observari jussimus, quibus vix clausis adsunt milites, et cum eis clerici quidam novæ capellæ, ex parte regis et archiepiscopi petentes introitum: quibus serviens qui januis astabat respondit, se nequaquam portas posse aperire, quia claves non haberet. Nunciatum est interim nobis milites astare januis et ingressum expectare, et duobus missis monachis, quæsivimus an pacifici advenissent. At illi dixerunt, se ex parte regis et archiepiscopi advenisse, ut curiam nostram omniaque quæ in ea erant occuparent, et nobis omnibusque circumquaque adventantibus necessaria ministrarent; nobis autem contradicentibus et appellantibus, abierunt, et omnia hortum invaserunt. Hæc die Dominica ante octavas Epiphaniæ facta sunt. Secunda vero feria de transmarinis veniens apud Dovram applicuit archiepiscopus. Feria tertia venit Wingeham, et communicato cum fratribus consilio, misimus ad eum duos

de fratribus ut ei juxta morem processionem offerrent; quos ut jam scitis ad colloquium non admisit, sed appellantes excom-municatos, equis eorum ablatis, pedes remissi sunt Cantuariam;
et missis militibus jam sæpedictis, et cum eis quibusdam clericis juxta quod vobis significavimus, curiam nostram occupa-

insultantes nobis et dicentes; "Appellant monachi ad curiam
" Romanam, nos autem cardinales effecti causam eorum judi-
" cabimus, edentes et bibentes quæ apud illos sunt." Die Dominica sequenti portam clausurunt cœmeterii, et multa arma-torum manu admota, per tres dies custodiri fecerunt, ita ut nulli hominum pateret ingressus. Quarta denique die aperta est, et soli peregrini introire permissi, sed ad nos intrare volentes repulsi sunt, et quæ nobis a fidelibus mittebantur victualia retenta et ablata. Nobis adhuc nullus patet egressus, neque locus aliquis derelictus est nisi claustrum et ecclesia, in quibus horam expectamus qua aut fame aut gladio moriamur, aut quod certius credimus, de ecclesia extracti in dispersionem mittamur. His igitur et aliis hujusmodi de causis, a divinis cessavimus et cessabimus quousque de tenebris educat Sol

necessarium judicamus, quatenus cum multa festinatione, si fieri potest, indulgentiam a felicis memoriae Urbano papa nobis indultam, lite pendente confirmari faciatis. Jam enim sero suppriorum nostrum et omnes in Christi causa consentientes, totum scilicet conventum, excommunicatos publice denunciari fecit. Eapropter indigemus quatenus per litteras domini papae sententia non tenere denunciatur. Litteras etiam de demolitione novae capellae confirmare petite, et in forma efficaciori si potestis. Non enim nisi in manu forti de demolienda capella quicquam contra voluntatem regis fiet, qui se dominum, fundatorem et advocatum gerit operis. Quod si quid indulserit summus pontifex, duo paria ad minus litterarum dirigite, ne forte uno solo directo, quo amisso vel perduto nostrum omnino impediatur negotium: sed neque nobis per viam porrigendae mittantur litterae, si per ipsos nuncios executoribus perferantur; fame enim pereuntibus nobis non patet exitus. Civibus etiam nostris timemus, ne etiam illos excommunicationis sententia feriat, quae jam eis ut dicitur intentata est, tum quia victualia noctu mittere nobis asseritur, tum quia, ne ab inimicis nostris mancipati, in dispersionem mittamur, ecclesiam nostram magis solito die noctuque vigilanter incolunt. Quae si forte promulgata fuerit, ut viribus omnimodis careat, nec tenere, per dominum papam efficite. Turpe enim esset et indecens, si benefactores nostros morsibus luporum relinqueremus, et gratiam quam nobis impenderunt eis subtrahamus, quantum vires nobis suppetunt et domini papae Clementis de qua praesumimus clementia. Gratia Spiritus Sancti cohabitaret vobiscum, et vestrum ad laudem nominis Sui promoveat negotium Dominus et Creator omnium.

Miseris et injuste oppressis majestatis est regiae subvenire. Quas calamitates et misérias mater nostra sancta Cantuariensis ecclesia a patre et pastore nostro, fere a promotione sua usque nunc, perpessa sit, quoniam mundus agnovit, et sanctitatem vestram latere non potuit. Quæ autem de novo superaddita sunt gravamina præ magnitudinis suæ mole vix credi possunt, cum modum et rationem excedant. Ne autem sinistro interprete aliter quam se res habet referente, ea vobis innotescant, sub brevitate stili compendium veritatis paternitati vestrae dignum duximus manifestare. Revertente itaque domino et patre nostro Cantuariensi archiepiscopo de Normannia in Angliam, statim in ingressu suo visitavit nos in virga ferrea, et brachio extenso, et quod mirabile et miserabile dictu est, inaudito et inusitato hactenus oppressionis modo; in primis enim nos possessionibus omnibus quas nobis ante egressum suum ab Anglia reliquerat spoliavit, ita ut nec passum pedis extra parcum nobis reliquerit. Directi sunt tamen ad eum duo de fratribus nostris, ut moris est antiqui, processionem et omnem honoris reverentiam ex parte conventus ei oblaturi; sed ille nimis sui oblitus, quod sine dolore non dicimus, eos per internuncios denunciari fecit excommunicatos, et quod verecundum est piis auribus audire, equis in quibus venerant sibi ablatis, domum pede redire dimisit. Eadem die aggravata est manus ejus super nos; missi sunt namque a latere ejus quidam servientes cum sequela multa, qui muro curiæ nostræ perforato, portas, ostia, et seras diversarum officinarum circumquaque usque ad ostium claustrum confringentes, equos et victualia nostra extrahentes et diripientes, patrimonium Crucifixi dederunt in dilapidationem.

de Leia, bishop of S. David's, 1176-1198.

Processit ulterius furor immanis; servientes nostri contra nos jurare compulsi sunt, ut in nos, si forte causa nostra egredere-
mur, manus injicerent, aut publico clamore notarent. Qui autem jurare renuerunt contumeliis sunt affecti et custodiæ mancipati. Excrevit malitia eorum insuper et ascendit. In cœmeterio nostro ante ostium ecclesiæ quidam de ministris ecclesiæ capti sunt, et incarcerati; quidam spoliati et cæsi; clerici etiam duo ordinati extracti et inhoneste tractati. Porta etiam cœmeterii diebus tribus et totidem noctibus continuis obserata, et armatorum manu etiam adhuc die noctuque vigilanter obsessa est, ut nulli nostrum pro causa ecclesiæ nostræ liber pateat egressus, vel inclusis nobis victualia deferre volentibus liceat esse ingressus. Tantam igitur Christo in ecclesia injuriam non æquanimiter sustinentes irrogatam, neve etiam sacrosanctæ sedis apostolicæ ad quam appellavimus indignationem incurreremus, si post tam enorme sacrilegium perpetratum celebraremus, a divinis et solemnibus modulationibus cessavimus. Unde indignatus dominus archiepiscopus Gaufridum suppriorem nostrum et alios quorum consilio hoc factum fuerit, cum tamen in his et in aliis omnibus consuleret conventum, et nihil de se præsumens solus faceret, per parochiales ecclesias Cantuariensis civitatis excommunicatos denunciari fecit, licet tum per appellationis interpositionem contra hujusmodi sententiam tuti simus, tum per indulgentiam a sanctæ recordationis Urbano papa nobis indultam, ne lite scilicet pendente dominus archiepiscopus excommunicationis vel interdicti sententiam in ecclesiam vel personas ecclesiæ promulgare audeat; vel sententia hujusmodi in aliquo teneat. Sanctitatis itaque vestræ genibus obvoluti supplicamus omnes et singuli, quatenus materno dolori filiali compatiētes affectu, dominum et patrem nostrum a concepto animi sui proposito revocare studeatis, ut ecclesiam Cantuariensem debito et privilegiato permittat honore gaudere. Quod utique nullatenus esse poterit, nisi totius scandali fomes et materia, capella juxta nos erecta, fuerit demolita. Moveat itaque viscera vestra quoniam undique obsessi sumus, nec nostra nobis permittitur suffragari justitia, nec domini papæ ad quem appellavimus reverentia. Licet ad aures pietatis vestræ, pater venerande, rumor eorum quæ apud nos nuper acta sunt fama, ut credimus, prævolante pervenerit, nos tamen inviti ea subscribere tandem ex necessitate compellimur, volentes patris nostri verenda, quod non sine mœrore dicimus, detecta tegere, et nudata quantum in nobis est operire. Qui fere a prima promotione sua, contra juris formam et antiquam antecessorum suorum consuetudinem, in nos et nostra manum extendit duriorem, exenia nostra et ecclesias nostras, quæ usibus pauperum et peregrinorum fuerant deputatæ, contra juris ordinem et Romanorum pontificum indulta privilegia, nobis abstulit, et eas clericis suis nihilominus nobis reclamantibus assignavit. Sane in discessu suo ab Anglia quibusdam maneriis nostris nos spoliavit; in reditu vero suo nec passum pedis extra portam nobis reliquit. Processit ulterius prædicti patris nostri inclementia, et infundens vulneribus nostris plus vini quam olei, qua apud nos hactenus inauditum est, in tempore et loco pacis murum curiæ nostræ valida et violenta manu fecit perforare, seris et ostiis officinarum nostrarum usque ad ostium claustrum dirutis et confractis, et victualibus nostris exinde asportatis, milites suos et clericos novæ capellæ, quæ totius seminarium est discordiæ, introduxit; non habito respectu vel ad sanctorum merita quorum corpora in Cantuariensi requiescunt ecclesia et pro ejus amore sanguinem suum fuderunt, vel ad Romanæ sedis, ad quam appellavimus reverentiam, in cujus conspectu cum priore nostro et fratribus nostris jam anno secundo stetimus, licet status noster jam pene nullus est, immo penitus adnihilatus. si retinere non possent, tanquam latrones publico clamore notarent. Inire vero volentium, alios in curia, alios in cœmeterio interceptos in carcerem projecerunt et compedes, ita ut nec clericis quidem loci aut ordinis quicquam patrocinaretur auctoritas. Cæterum januas ecclesia et ostia claustrum non solum obserare, sed die et nocte armatorum manu observare non desinit, ne vel nostra in publicum prodeat miseria, vel ad obsessos aliqua possit intrare misericordia. Pro his igitur et aliis nobis et ecclesiæ nostræ, immo sedis apostolicæ dignitati irrogatis injuriis, nos et ecclesiam nostram a solita et solemni divinorum celebratione, super flumina Babylonis sedentes et flentes suspendimus organa nostra, quia musica in luctu importuna declaratio, nec minimum universali ecclesiæ matri derogatur, cum spiritualis filia sub materna protectione tam enormiter et impudenter violatur. Cum igitur non haberet "in nobis jam nova plaga locum," super dolorem vulnerum nostrorum addidit, quod dominum Gaufridum suppriorum nostrum et omnes sibi in causa Christi consentientes, scilicet omnes nos, quia omnibus nobis cor unum et anima una, publice denunciari fecit per parochias Cantuariensis civitatis excommunicatos, licet ab iniquis sententiis excommunicationis et interdicti, et appellationis remedio et speciali sedis apostolicæ privilegio, lite pendente, simus exempti. Hæc igitur perpessi et adhuc graviora pati de die in diem pertimescentes, paternitatis vestræ pedibus provoluti postulamus ut miseriæ nostræ misereri dignemini, et pro his apud Deum et homines partes vestras interponere, ut vitam nostram, si vivere contingat, sollicitudini vestræ debeamus ascribere, et in perpetuum sanctitati vestræ cedat ad gloriam, si naufragantis ecclesiæ navicula per manum misericordiæ vestræ ad portum deducta, protecta fuerit a turbine et a pluvia. Nobilitatis vestræ excellentiæ et regii sanguinis generositati, multiplices gratiarum referimus actiones, quia pro nobis miserabilibus et interdictis summo pontifici scribere vestra dignata est serenitas, et amorem quem Christianissimus pater vester rex Lodowicus, cujus memoria in benedictione est, erga gloriosum martyrem Thomam in vita sua habuit, filiis suis post mortem patris voluistis impendere, et paternam imitando clementiam a progenie in progeniem opera pietatis transfundere. Siquidem in Cantuariensi ecclesia gloriosi patris vestra memoria erit æterna, nec delere poterit vicissitudo temporum, quod multitudo meritorum fieri meruit sempiternum. Ecclesiæ etenim Cantuariensi regnum Francorum a generatione et generatione factum est refugium, sed nunquam adeo sicut hodie ipsius auxilio visa est indigere. Dominus enim noster archiepiscopus Cantuariensis quicquid in rebus temporalibus habuimus nobis abstulit, et præter sola corpora et parietes claustrum et ecclesiæ nihil omnino reliquit, ita quod perforato et demolito in multitudine armatorum muro curiæ nostræ, et officinis nostris effractis et victualibus asportatis, nos intra claustrum et ecclesiam obsedit, ubi jam tribus fere mensibus pauperum et mendicantium et etiam Judæorum viximus elemosynis. CLXXXII. CLEMENTI PAPÆ HENRICUS REX ANGLIÆ.

The king informs the pope that the visit of the archbishop to the Roman court was prevented by the fatal news from the East, and excuses him.

Cum venerabilis pater noster Baldewinus Cantuariensis archiepiscopus in procinctu esset itineris ad sedem apostolicam veniendi, et a nobis jam licentiam habuisset, supervenit rumor ille tristissimus de desolatione terræ Jerosolimitanæ; qui cor nostrum ea quam dicere nequimus amaritudine percussit, et nos et filium nostrum primogenitum Ricardum et multos alios de nobilioribus terrarum nostrarum ad subventionem terræ illius vexillo crucis armavit. Cum igitur in tanti deliberatione negotii, et in tanto mœrore simus constituti, præsentia præfati archiepiscopi his diebus nullo modo carere possemus, cujus sanctitas et prudentia viam nobis in nostris agendis per Dei gratiam plenius ministrabit. Verum ne ei præjudicium generet quod magis debet gratiam comparare, benignitati vestræ de qua a multis diebus rerum experientia certi sumus, preces quantas possumus cum omni devotione porrigimus, ut hoc, quod a nobis sustinuit cogi pro gloria crucis et exaltatione nominis Christi, ei apud vos ad excusationis gratiam cedat, quia magis inde favorem vestrum debet promereri, quo amplius nobis aliis spiritum fortitudinis inspirabit; ne, quod Deus avertat, cum vexillo fidei fides ipsa valeat periclitari. Non autem sufficit nobis eum apud vos excusare, quem necessitas temporis et ratio fidei excusat, sed pro ipso vobis totis visceribus supplicamus, ne clamor monachorum Cantuariensium contra eum prævaleat, quos non de justitia et veritate niti cognovimus, sed sola malignitate armati, non solum archiepiscopum, sed totum regnum nostrum turbare nituntur. Quod enim de ecclesia in honore beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ fabricanda, ab eo noscitur inchoatum, de consilio Romani pontificis, et assensu Romanæ ecclesiæ defluxit, et nos post inspectionem litterarum domini papæ non subito vel temere, sed de consilio episcoporum et baronum totius regni nostri, propositum jam dicti archiepiscopi approbavimus, et opus faciendum confirmavimus, in eo siquidem loco in quo nulli ecclesiæ generatur dispendium; et si qui sunt qui falso timore futuri incommodi trahuntur, eis de omnimoda indemnitate cautionem sufficientem præstari volumus et præstare. Locum ergo illum quem ad honorem martyrum ædificari volumus et confirmavimus, quem etiam in nostram manum jam cepimus, oculo benigno respicite, et ei pro amore Dei et nostro benedictionis et confirmationis vestrae gratiam impendite, quia nobis ad confusionem cederet, nec sine gravi molestia totius regni nostri fieri posset, quod opus tam solemniter inchoatum et confirmatum aliquomodo posset in irritum revocari. Præterea monachos Cantuarienses contra jura et honorem regni nostri nullatenus, si placet, audiat, sed eorum insolentiam reprimate, et ecclesiam Cantuariensem in statu solitæ libertatis propensius conservate, sicut tempore nostro et archiepiscoporum usque ad tempus Ricardi archiepiscopi noscitur exstitisse. Nullo enim modo pati possemus, ut quod ab antiquo statutum est, et usque ad tempora nostra conservatum, aliquatenus in nostræ præjudicium dignitatis posset immutari. Prius enim a capite nostro coronam deponeremus, quam sustineremus quod monachi aliquid obtinerent contra dignitatem archiepiscopi Cantuariensis, quod nunquam temporibus prædecessorum nostrorum fuisset obtentum. Licet autem monachi multa contra dignitatem regni nostri et jura Cantuariensis archiepiscopi hucusque fecerunt eo magis licenter, quo magis impune, sustinuimus tamen omnia ut pacem Cantuariensi ecclesiæ reddere possemus. Nunc autem tanta monachorum ebullivit insania, tantaque contra nos ascendit superbia, quod ecclesiam quæ caput est et corona regni nostri, archiepiscopo suo præsentem et non requisito, et me penitus ignorante, omnibusque officialibus meis ignorantibus, subito sua tantum auctoritate supposuerunt interdicto, altaria denudantes, campanas suspendentes, omnem reverentiam beati Thomæ martyris et memoriam excludentes, locum devotioni et orationi addictum penitus profanantes. Cum igitur crucis signum accepissemus dominus rex Francorum et nos, et in regnum nostrum intrare vellemus, in introitu terræ tenebras invenimus pro luce, spiritum mœroris pro cantico exultationis. Hoc autem etiam sine dolore dicere non possumus, quia hoc præsertim tempore regnum nostrum nobis debuit congaudere, quo crucis vexillum portantes crucis injuriam volumus vindicare. Hoc nobis faciunt monachi Cantuarienses; nec ulterius possumus sustinere, immo manus regiæ severitatis fortius apponemus, nisi apostolicæ pietatis prudentia citius occurrat, quæ monachorum supercilium conterat, et archiepiscopo, viro simplici et prudenti, pacem de vestra æquitate reportet. Ipse vero consilio omnium episcoporum, abbatum, religiosorum virorum, et baronum totius regni nostri stare desiderat et promittit, sed monachi, qui lites et contentiones amant ut licentius discurrant, omnem ei obedientiam denegant, et si benedicit, contemnunt, et si male-

CLXXXIV. EIDEM CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

A.D. 1188.
January.

Tribulationum et dolorum quos pro justitia quotidie patimur, quia in omnem terram exivit sonus eorum, majestatis vestrae auribus, pater clementissime, rumor flebilis satis insonuit, et quod fere ubique notum vestram non credimus latuisse clementiam. Novit enim sedes apostolica quot et quantis jam fere per triennium pro justitia afflicti sumus injuriis, quibus provocati et affecti opprobriis, quam duris oppressi exactionibus et angariis, et qualiter nunc ultimo nos et nostra patuimus deprædationibus et rapinis. Nos vero, quasi ad nihilum redacti, dum non est qui redimat, a spe quam de misericordia et judicio sedis apostolicæ, tum de puritate conscientia, tum de justitia causæ concepimus, penitus excidimus, gementes et flentes non solum in subversione nostra totius Anglicanæ desolationem ecclesiæ, sed et Romani pontificis in partibus nostris auctoritatem et reverentiam deperire, et quia nomen vestrum invocavimus super nos, facti sumus populo in fabulam, hostibus nostris in direptionem et derisum: sane juxta prophetam qui ait, "Expecta, remanda," sub paternæ castigationis verberibus speravimus et expectavimus maternæ consolationis uberibus refoveri. Sed licet frustrati et fraudati sumus a desiderio nostro, præelegimus tamen in his omnibus parere Deo quam hominibus, et obedire potius piscatori quam principi. Possemus siquidem posthabita sedis apostolicæ reverentia, si vellemus clausis oculis sub silentio præterisse, et inter omnes occidentales ecclesias longe amplius felicitatis momentaneæ transitoriis gaudere successibus; nec dum adhuc essemus peccatores quoad homines, si adhuc omnium sequeremur voluntates. Sed absit ut matris nostræ jugulo manus ingeramus degeneres, et commoditate nostra universali ecclesiæ generantes incommodum, per pacem nostram ipsius procuremus dispendium. Malumus enim mundo fieri spectaculum, quam posteritati nostræ tam perniciosum relinquamus exemplum. Unum tamen est quo inter miseras nostras, cum etiam hostibus miserabiles, sed et omnibus hominibus simus miserabiliores, acrius movemur et affligimur; quia ea qua fundati sumus manu confundimur, qua plantati sumus evellimur, qua ædificati sumus destruimur, et unde gloriosam duximus originem ignominiosum deducti videmur ad finem. Coram Deo et majestatis apostolicæ reverentia loquimur; cui falsa pro veris suggerere valde esset temerarium, et nostræ professionis honestati inhonestum, ab octavis Epiphaniæ, quo die rebus et redditibus spoliati sumus universis, et officinis nostris effractis victualia nostra asportata

Sollicitudini et affectioni quam in negotiis nostris promovendis paternitatis vestræ adhibere dignata est diligentia, omnes et singuli multiplices gratiarum referimus actiones, Ipsum apud Quem nihil est impossibile, voce et voto unanimi S. Matt. xix. 26. deprecantes, ut juxta multitudinem miserationum Psalm li. 1. Suarum, quas nostris impendistis miseriis, retribuat vobis in tempore Cf. No. clxxxix. opportuno pro omnibus quæ retribuistis nobis, et ut digne possimus, antequam moriamur, tantæ liberalitatis vestræ gratiæ respondere votivo desiderio, si rerum et temporum tribuatur nobis facultas et occasio. Serenitatis enim vestræ dignationi debemus et debere fatemur, quicquid papa Urbanus, cujus memoria in benedictione est, de misericordia et iudicio sedis Eccles. xlv. 1. apostolicæ nobis indulsit. Sed quia tot et tantis vulneribus nostris nova de novo superaddita sunt vulnera, et adhuc eisdem graviora superaddenda formidamus, quia mors et dejectio nostra jam in januis est, maturioris et majoris efficacis necessaria sunt medicamina. Nisi enim summus pontifex de salute nostra sollicitus, vulneribus nostris dili-gentiorem curam maturius impenderit, vitæ nostræ dispendium omnes et singuli mortis redimemus compendio, et si tantæ enormitatis excessum et tam manifestum sedis apostolicæ contemptum, exserto gladio Petri, punire dissimulaverit aut distulerit, timemus ne Romana ecclesia in perpetuum magna sui corporis portione privetur, et a maternis sinibus filiam spiritualem irrevocabiliter conqueratur elapsam. Jam enim in partibus nostris, sedis apostolicæ, quod salva pace omnium dixerimus, evanescit immo vilescit auctoritas, nobis enim eversis, alios subvertere non erit difficile. Dominus siquidem Cantuariensis eo acrius in nos et nostra manum extendit duriores, quo de statu nostro in integrum reformando et lite pendente nihil immutando de cætero, mandata urgentiora recepit; nec sufficit ei quod universis tam in rebus quam in possessionibus ablatis, murum curiæ nostræ militari manu et clericorum novæ capellæ, cujus creationis causa diutius occultata jam plenius in lucem prodiit, violenter perforavit, et ostiis officinarum nostrarum usque ad ostium claustrae effractis, et victualibus omnibus asportatis, omnia pro voto disponens licitum libito coæquavit; sed adhuc manus ejus extenta, cum nihil omnino de omni substantia nostra nobis reliquerit, præter solos ecclesiæ quatuor claustrae parietes, inter quos pauperum et peregrinorum eleemosynis utrumque vivimus, vivere non permittit, sed ad nova et excogitata supplicia in subversionem nostram excogitanda vires convertit, justificans se et causam suam coram hominibus, cum super ipsius determinationem, nisi coram complicibus suis, judicium et justitiam semper subire declinet; innocentiam vero et æquitatem nostram sub prætextu justitiæ in conciliis suis in conspectu hominum execrans, superbiæ et insolentiæ nos arguit, cum, teste conscientia, ex his omnibus quæ de jure ei competunt, nihil omnino volumus, nec unquam volumus usurpare; et coram curia Romana, quam ipse refugit, semper parati fuerimus de operibus nostris reddere rationem. Super his igitur et aliis miseriis nostris, omnibus hominibus facti miserabiliores, pietatis vestræ pedibus provoluti postulamus, ut sinum misericordiæ vestræ justis petitionibus nostris aperientes, priorem et fratres nostros solita benignitate exaudiatis, et quos hactenus justitiæ et pietatis fovistis intuitu, ne deseratis in tempore tribulationis. Utinam, pater venerande, viderent oculi vestri et omnium cardinalium, calamitates quas patimur pro justitia et sedis apostolicæ, cui stamus aut cadimus, reverentia. CLXXXVI. HONORIO PRIORI ET SOCIIS CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

The convent

(February 4,

The king,
shortly after his arrival in England, sent to Caninsist that divine service should be restored

in the church;

and to summon the

The monks

Licet malorum præteritorum crebra sit apud nos recordatio, eorum tamen quæ de novo superaddita sunt gravior et intolrabilior videtur esse afflictio. Si enim statum nostrum sufficienter voluerimus describere, quicquid extra sola corpora et claustrum parietes nobis relictum est, totum in hoc verbo "nihil," poterimus comprehendere. Sed quamvis nihil omnino possideamus in temporalibus, crebris tamen adhuc tentamur pulsationibus. Nuper enim revertente domino rege in Angliam, quarta die postquam applicuit, misit ad nos Gaufridum de Sai, Gaufridum filium Petri, Willelmum de Heynesford, magistrum Osbernum de Camera, Stephanum de Torneham et alios cum eis, qui accedentes mandatum domini regis in hæc verba proposuerunt: "Sciatis dominum nostrum regem Angliæ in "terram istam advenisse, qui peregrinationem suam, ut ei "moris est, ad memoriam sanctorum hujus ecclesiæ ince- "pisset, nisi quia statim in ingressu suo in regnum audivit, "unde non magis admiratur quam movetur, ecclesiam istam, "caput scilicet regni sui, a divinis cessare, et quasi contra "adventum ipsius suspensam fuisse. Mandat ergo, vult et "consulit ne ecclesia amplius in silentio maneat, sed ut in ea "divina celebrentur. Et tu, supprior, sis coram eo apud "Norhamtun cum quibusdam de fratribus, et maxime illis "duobus qui missi fuerant ad archiepiscopum Wingham, et "Robertus sacrista et alii, ut sitis ibi decem vel duodecim "cum consensu capituli." Ad hæc respondimus, quod domi- nus archiepiscopus suppriorem, et omnes ei in suspensione ecclesiæ consentientes, per totam provinciam fecit excommuni- cari; nec nos aliquatenus de ecclesia excommunicatos debeant velle egredi, vel tales in conspectu principis, cleri, et populi appa- rere, maxime cum ex inhibitione archiepiscopi pacificus nobis non esset egressus; sed pace nobis reddita, et sententia in nos lata non tenere denunciata, licet ei nullam in nos lite pen- dente liceat ferre sententiam, ut præcepto patet apostolico, nos ad dominum nostrum regem paratos esse venire. Illi autem his auditis cum festinatione reversi sunt ad regem, nunciantes ei quæ apud nos viderant et audierant. Habuit autem in proximo dominus rex apud Norhamtun colloquium cum episcopis totius Angliæ et Walliæ et principibus et procuratoribus terræ. Quorum in conspectu archiepiscopus de vobis conquestus est dicens, quod ab exili vos elevaverat, et quod contra eum vestrum levastis calcaneum, et conversus ad nos dixit, quia nullam omnino ei volebamus exhibere obedientiam, et quod eo inconsulto et in ejus despectum ecclesiam suspendimus. Denunciavit ibi etiam supprior excommunicatum propter inobedientiam, cum in provincia Cantuariensi propter ecclesiæ suspensionem denunciatus fuerit excommunicatus. Suscitavit autem Dominus spiritum episcopi Bathoniensis, et exurgens coram populo, archiepiscopo restitit in faciem, asserens quod nullam in nos haberet potestatem, nec tales in nos posset promulgare sententias, tum propter appellationem, tum propter privilegium quo lite pendente dominus papa potestatem ejus suspendit. Quod cum vidissent fratres sui, aliquantulum conversi sunt retrorsum, et alia via quam proposuerant processerunt. Instabat enim archiepiscopus opportune et importune, ut supprior tanquam excommunicatus caperetur per regem, et ad hoc episcoporum allexerat sibi voluntatem et consilium; sed Bathoniensis, murum opponens se pro domo Domini, super indulgentiam Urbani papæ plura constanter proposuit. Unde exterriti sunt a facie ejus, et fere universorum in hoc resedit consilium, ut transmissis nunciis probaretur utrum talem haberemus indulgentiam. Venerunt igitur ad nos, Seffridus Cicestrensis, Willelmus Wigorniensis, Willelmus Herefordensis episcopi, et Walterius abbas de Waltham et magister Osbernus de Camera, missi a domino rege cum litteris suis in hæc verba,¹ “Henricus Dei gratia rex Angliæ et dux Normanniæ et Aquitanniæ et comes Andegaviæ, toti conventui ecclesiæ Sanctæ Trinitatis Cantuariæ, salutem. Mittimus ad vos dilectos et familiares et fideles nostros, Seffridum Cicestrensem, et Willelmum Herefordensem, et Willelmum Wigorniensem episcopos, et Walterium abbatem de Waltham et magistrum Osbernum clericum nostrum de camera nostra, per quos significamus vobis quædam quæ, sicut intelligimus et credimus, commodum et honorem ecclesiæ vestræ et vestrum contingunt. dominus archiepiscopus conquestus erat de nobis in concilio, et qualiter se offerebat super iis quæ inter nos et eum vertuntur, regis scilicet et regni stare iudicio, rogantes ut qui primo ad vocationem regis non venimus, saltem ad citationem secundam accederemus, et exponeremus ei gravamina nobis illata. Respondimus vero, ideo nos ad regem non venisse, quia obsessi fuimus, nec ulli nostrum licebat exiri. De suspensione vero diximus, quod propter violentiam manifestam et enormitatem operum celebrare non præsumpsimus. Ad regem vero libenter aliquos de fratribus nostris ad exponenda gravamina, et non ad causandum transmitteremus, si salvum et securum nobis præstarent conductum. Ipsi autem ex timore nostro, sive metuentes periculum, ut et nobis et sibi prospicerent, Wigorniensem ad archiepiscopum transmiserunt, qui super negotio præscripto in hac forma litteras reportavit. “Baldewinus, Dei gratia, Cantuariensis archiepiscopus, totius Angliæ primas, venerabilibus fratribus Cicestrensi, Wigornien-“ niensi et Herefordensi episcopis, et dilectis filiis abbati de Waltham et magistro Osberno de Camera, salutem. Ad omnium notitiam volumus pervenire, quod nos warantizamus securitatem quam promisistis monachis Sanctæ Trinitatis, scilicet ut secure et in pace domini regis et nostra ire possint et redire ad curiam domini regis. Quapropter firmiter præcipimus ne quis præfatis monachis euntibus vel redeuntibus in hujus itineris progressu et reditu molestiam vel gravamen inferre præsumat. Litteræ autem istæ¹ penes vos reserventur ut nobis restituantur. Valete.” Dederunt etiam nobis episcopi, quia instanter hoc postulavimus, litteras pendentes de salvo in eundo et redeundo conductu, in hæc verba. “Seffridus Cicestrensis, et Willelmus Wigornien“ sis Dei gratia episcopi, et Walterius eadem gratia abbas de Waltham, et magister Osbernus de Camera, dilectis fratribus suis in Christo monachis ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariæ, salutem. Securitatem vobis promittimus ex parte domini regis et domini archiepiscopi, ut monachi² quos ex parte vestra ad curiam domini regis destinaretis securitatem in eundo et redeundo haberent, quam nos per has litteras patentes warantizamus, et dominum regem et dominum archiepiscopum hujus securitatis auctores laudamus in Domino, Valete.” Ex quibus satis potestis perpendere in quanta sumus amaritudine. Unde, quia consiliosum nobis et amicis nostris videbatur, quatuor de fratribus nostris ad dominum regem destinavimus, qui cum redierint, ea quæ nobis ab ipso reportaverint

maturius vobis significare curabimus. Cæterum, noveritis quod Rogerus Norreis, qui a nobis recessit, nobis in quantum potest persequitur, et sicut audivimus, secreta capituli nostri adversariis nostris denudat. Walterius vero de Ba in hospitali de Blen remoratur, habens ibi quotidie de curia nostra sufficientem sibi et suis procuracionem. Dominus archiepiscopus apud Norhamtun crucem accepit, in nostrum, ut multi asserunt, detrimentum: sic enim putat et nos confundere, et ipsius obtentu iudicium et justitiam declinare. Constanter igitur coram summo pontifice et tota curia miseriarum nostrarum multitudinem et magnitudinem exponite; pro certo scientes quod plusquam quadraginta diebus antequam præsentium lator a nobis recederet, eleemosynis viximus pauperum et mendicantium, et etiam Judæorum qui nobis compatiuntur: et quod nullum sub sole nisi a solo Deo et a curia Romana speramus vel expectamus auxilium. Quod si subvenire nobis dissimulaverit vel iudicium tardaverit, deficiente nobis in via ista viatico, omnes præ dolore et inedia in proximo deficiemus. Omnes enim de quibus ultra quam debuimus in tempore prosperitatis præsumebamus, in tribulatione ista terga vertunt nobis et non faciem, nolentes propter nos incidere in manus hominum. Dominus vero servavit eos, ita quod nec super aliquo beneficio nobis impenso ab quolibet possint argui, nec nos in aliquo eis, si tempora gratiora arriserint, teneamur obligati. Si qua executio facienda est in negotio nostro, abbati de Bello, quia infirmus est non committatur, sed abbati de Waltham, cum tamen de commissione aliqua parvum aut nullum speremus emolumentum, quapropter nobis necessarium esset, et magnorum virorum hoc esse noveritis, quod si dominus papa miseris nostris proposuit finem imponere, sub arctioris temporis termino et gravioris poenæ interminatione scribat archiepiscopo. Alioquin circa hoc opera peribit et impensa. Procurate etiam quam citius poteritis, ut dominus papa, reservata sibi de malefactoribus vindicta, ecclesiam a suspensione absolvat, et nobis celebrare præcipiat, et sententiam in superiorem et alios promulgatam non tenere denunciaret, et ut indulgentiam saltem papæ Urbani confirmet, si majus vel melius aliquid impetrare non potestis. Quid vero de domino papa et curia in nostra causa de cætero sperare debeamus, maturius significate, quia mora solatii nobis suspecta est, et afflictio ista qua graviter opprimimur plusquam credi possit onerosa. Si quid vero contra nos impetratum fuerit, quid nobis agendum sit cum omni festinatione nos præmunire studeatis. Valet.

Super crebris et continuis petitionibus nostris et querelis, vestra, pater reverende, satis posset admirari clementia, nisi oppressionem nostram et oppressionis causam plenius adverteret et diligentia patris et sollicitudo pastoralis. Licet enim vellemus, quod nullatenus possumus, innumerabiles afflictionis nostræ enumerare injurias, nequaquam ordinis et honestatis nostræ id posset sustinere verecundia, nec epistolaris sufficeret adimplere modestia. Jam enim ultra numerum et mensuram calamitatumstrarum cumulus excrevit, ita quod ad multitudinem et enormitatem operum verba non sufficiunt admittentium. Verumtamen hæc omnia patimur quia pro libertate ecclesiæ Cantuariensis et pro conservanda sedis apostolicæ reverentia, ausi sumus aliis tacentibus os nostrum aperire, et invocare nomen vestrum super nos, sperantes quod universale afflictorum nobis solum non deesset suffragium, nec suam in nobis sedes illa pateretur deperire justitiam, quæ non solum propriam sed etiam alienam acrius consuevit vindicare injuriam. Attendat, si placet, sanctitatis vestræ discretio, quam subtiliter Cantuariensis ecclesiæ fuerit subversio excogitata, quam callide machinata, quam operose dissimulata, et sub prætextu pietatis tandem coram populo palliata. Considerate, si placet, quia, quoties ad apostolicam appellavimus clementiam, ut expellamur ab adversariis nostris, acrius impugnamur et impellimur, et gravioribus de die in diem afflictis injuriis, cum luctu et lacrymis ad extrema deducimur. Quando enim hoc vobis scripsimus plusquam quadraginta jam dies effluxerant, quibus continue intra ecclesiam et claustrum nostrum arctius obsessi pauperum et mendicantium utrumque sustentati sumus eleemosynis; et quia, Salomone testante, amici divitum multi, pauper vero etiam amico suo odiosus erit, in manus Prov. xiv. 20. fortunæ gravioris incidimus, divitibus facti sumus subsannationi et despectui, pauperibus vero præ longitudine dierum tædio cœpimus esse et oneri. Ut ergo de statu nostro, de quo in integrum reformando dominus archiepiscopus in obedientiæ virtute præceptum receperat Urbani sanctæ recordationis prædecessoris vestri, plenius vestram certificemus clementiam; noveritis canonicos loci illius maledicti et profani omnes curiæ nostræ officinas occupasse, et præter sola corpora et nudos ecclesiæ parietes nihil nobis in mundo reliquisse. Sed hoc patri et pastori nostro domino Cantuariensi archiepiscopo nequaquam adhuc videtur sufficere, sed coram principibus et populo terræ in conciliis suis superbiæ et insuper nos arguit, quia de his quæ inter nos et ipsum vertuntur, regis et regni formidamus subire judicium, et in eorum, quia nobis suspecti sunt, nolumus compromittere arbitrium. Nos vero in omnibus prompti et parati sumus et semper fuimus sedis apostolicæ, cui stamus et cadimus, stare iudicio, et de operibus nostris in lumine, et non in tenebris, coram non suspectis iudicibus reddere rationem. Eapropter sanctitatis vestræ pedibus omnes et singuli provoluti postulamus, ut secundum iudicium et justitiam, intuitu Dei et beati Thomæ martyris, cujus passioni in persecutione nostra perhibemus testimonium, finem maturius nostris imponatis miseriis. Solum enim post Deum clementiæ vestræ speramus et expectamus auxilium, quod si vel modicum tardaverit, Cantuariensis ecclesia præ multitudine dolorum suorum in perpetuum non respirabit. Valeat sancta paternitas vestra, domine clementissime, ut nos per eam valeamus respirare.

CLXXXVIII. CLEMENTI PAPÆ NICHOLAUS SUUS ALUMNUS ET CLERICUS. February.

Quanto sanctitati vestræ, pater reverende, parvitatæ meæ devotio arctius tenetur astricta, tanto confidentius ea quæ vos contingunt et ad maiestatis vestræ spectant reverentiam, excellentiæ vestræ possumus suggerere. Hinc est quod miserabilis Cantuariensis ecclesiæ statum miserabilem, quem in ea positus oculata fide inspexi, vestræ quamcitiùs significare clementiæ omnimodis credidi expedire. Monachi siquidem prædictæ ecclesiæ a domino Cantuariensi archiepiscopo rebus et redditibus spoliati sunt universis, et muris eorum perforatis, et officinis effractis, victualia eorum asportata sunt, et ipsi intra claustrum et ecclesiam retrusi et obsessi. Clerici vero illius novæ capellæ, quam prædictus fundavit archiepiscopus, curiam et officinas monachorum occupantes, omnia in eis pro libitu disponunt. Unde clamor populorum utriusque regni die in diem prævalet, et ascendit in cælum. Prædicti enim monachi pauperum et mendicantium jam multo tempore vixerunt et adhuc vivunt eleemosynis, qui quanto nomen vestrum super se invocare non desinunt, tanto gravioribus affliguntur et opprimuntur injuriis. Ipsi vero beati martyris Thomæ patroni sui imitantes constantiam, pro tuenda libertate ecclesiæ et servanda sedis apostolicæ reverentia parati sunt in carcerem et in mortem. Quapropter sanctitatis vestræ pedibus provolutus humiliter postulo, ut tam nobilis ecclesiæ oppressiones et miseras misericorditer respiciatis, scientes pro certo, quod nisi maturius a manibus quærentium animam ejus in manu forti eam liberaveritis, non erit in proximo in partibus illis, qui ad sedem præsumat appellare apostolicam, vel

Ex quo per gratiam Dei accepimus signum crucis, operam dedimus diligentem, pacem in omnibus terris nostris statuere in firmam. Unde cum in ecclesia Cantuariensi, quæ est caput et gloria regni nostri, consilio episcoporum et magnatum terræ pacem vellemus inter sanctissimum patrem nostrum Baldwinum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum et monachos ejusdem ecclesiæ procurare, præfatus archiepiscopus firmiter proponens velle se iis esse contentum quæ, usque ad tempora Ricardi Cantuariensis archiepiscopi qui novissime ibi sedit, omnes sui antecessores habuerant; de omnibus controversiis inter eos habitis, judicio sive consilio omnium episcoporum atque abbatum terræ humiliter ac devote se obtulit, et eorum se stare arbitrio, tanquam pacis amicus et filius, promisit. Porro monachi, eos solos timentes qui rei veritatem plenius cognoverunt, atque per varios et frequentes excursus virum sanctum diffamare vestramque religionem fictis contra eum mendaciis corrumpere malitiose attentantes, nec arbitrio religiosorum, nec nostro aut episcoporum vel abbatum consilio acquiescere voluerunt. Baldewinus sane præfatus archiepiscopus ad gloriam et honorem Dei et solatium populi Sui signum crucis accepit, cui facto plurimum congaudemus; nam in societate ipsius laborem pro quiete, pericula pro securitate, peregrinationem pro patria reputamus. Si ergo nostram nostrique regni pacem et quietem diligitis, immo quia diligitis, paternitatem vestram rogamus humiliter et devote, ut præfatum archiepiscopum per contumaciam et rebellionem monachorum suorum nequaquam turbari de cætero permittatis. Turbatio enim ejus redundat in omnes. Cumque hodie omnia pacificet crux Christi, crucem Ejus gratanter ferre non poterimus, quamdiu viderimus hominem innocentem et justum per contumaciam et mendacium talium hominum molestari. Confidunt siquidem in mendaciis suis, et in thesauris ecclesiæ quos ibi posuerunt progenitores nostri, quorum partem maximam absportasse, et insuper ecclesiam prægravasse, dicuntur. Sed cum ad nos illius ecclesiæ advocatio et tutela pertineat, ita, dante Domino, manus eorum studebimus cohibere, ut necessariis abundant, et ecclesiæ thesauros eisdem ulterius non liceat dissipare.

Satis audivit et novit eminentia sedis vestræ, quanto tempore et quanta pertinacia monachi Cantuarienses nomen meum persequi, meque omnibus odibilem reddere vanis excursibus, multiplicibus expensis, et aliis quampluribus modis, me quasi Romanæ ecclesiæ inobedientem et rebellem arguere moliti sunt, et adhuc manus eorum extenta est, atque ab inceptis injuriis non desistunt. Scimus et publice profiteamur, quod non est humanæ inventionis obedientia Romanæ ecclesiæ debita, sed de sententia Christi, de schola evangelicæ disciplinæ, et de fidei Christianæ fundamento processit. Duxissem inconsultissime, immo perditissime, dies meos, si in hac vespera vitæ meæ, quando me negotiis salutis æternæ vigilantius procurare oportet, rebellionem aut inobedientiæ consentirem, si adversus Romanam ecclesiam rebellionis aut inobedientiæ spiritum concepissem. Excellentiæ vestræ, domine et princeps serenissime, satis innotuit, qualiter dominus et pater noster Cantuariensis archiepiscopus, postquam eum ad petitionem et voluntatem vestram in patrem et pastorem suscepimus, manum suam super nos aggravavit, et nos et statum nostrum perturbavit, et pene ad nihilum redegit, et qualiter libertates et possessiones, quas habuimus a tempore Sancti Edwardi regis et Willelmi, et regis Henrici avi vestri, et toto tempore vestro usque nunc, nobis abstulit contra cartas antecessorum vestrorum et vestras. Quapropter celsitudini vestræ supplicamus omnes et singuli, quatenus pro amore Dei et beati martyris Thomæ, et aliorum sanctorum quorum corpora in Cantuariensi requiescunt ecclesia, statum quem ante promotionem domini archiepiscopi habuimus, faciatis reformari, ut in ea pace qua hactenus sub vestra protectione viximus, de cætero vivere possimus. CXCIII. CLEMENS PAPA BALDEWINO CANTUARIENSI ARCHIEPISCOPO.¹

Quanto in ecclesia Dei scientiæ munere et religionis præmines honestate, dignitatisque apicem in partibus Anglicanis obtines digniorem, tanto decet caritatem tuam vigilantiori studio a subjectorum injuriis vel oppressionibus temperare, et iis postpositis quæ justitiæ pulchritudinem decolorant, odoremque bonæ opinionis extinguunt, obedientiam et reverentiam debitam majoribus exhibere. Unde non sine causa miramur, quod, sicut nobis proponitur, post appellationem ad sedem apostolicam factam et bonæ memoriæ Urbani prædecessoris nostri prohibitionem, adeo circa novæ capellæ constructionem et alia multa, manus tuas in ecclesiæ tibi commissæ fratrum molestias aggravasti, ut nihil eis de interpositæ appellationis remedio accessisse, prout ratio juris expostulat, æstimetur, nec tu honori sacrosanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ matris tuæ

Licet autem propositum nobis sit, fraternitati tuæ quantum cum Deo possumus deferendi, et personam tuam in omnibus quæ ex officio nobis incumbunt statuerimus honorare, quia tamen eorundem fratrum pressuras pariter et clamores cum bona conscientia præterire clausis oculis nec possumus nec debemus, fraternitati tuæ de consilio fratrum nostrorum per apostolica scripta præcipiendo mandamus,¹ quatenus omni contradictione et occasione postposita, eo etiam non obstante si te abesse contigerit ab ecclesia tua, quicquid post appellationem ad sedem apostolicam factam, vel prædecessoris nostri prohibitionem, in opere capellæ actum est, non differas demoliri, revocans et deducens prorsus in irritum quicquid de instituendis canonicis et aliis circa capellam factum est, et perperam innovatum. Eos etiam qui, post inhibitionem sæpediti prædecessoris, in capella ipsa celebrare divina officia præsumpserunt, donec condignam nobis satisfactionem exhibeant, ab officio et beneficio habeas interdictos. Ministros etiam conventus, quos post appellationem interpositam amovisti, quos et idem prædecessor restituit, habeas restitutos, et eos quos pariter post appellationem excommunicare vel suspendere voluisti, habeas nihilominus absolutos, et universa quæ post appellationem in eorum gravamen attentata sunt, videlicet in invasione villarum et possessionum suarum, reddituum quoque et aliorum quæ ante appellationem habuerant, et ablatione similiter aliarum rerum, in statum pristinum, cessante appellatione et contradictione, reducas. Ad hæc, quia secundum formam juris post appellationem nihil est innovandum, volumus et præcipimus, ut pendente iudicio, in eorundem fratrum detrimentum circa statum monasterii nihil omnino satagas immutare. January 26.

Inter fluctuantis sæculi varias et insolitas alterationes, tum pro summorum videlicet pontificum raptu tam repentino, tum pro terræ Jerosolimitanæ desolatione tam dolorosa, vir constantissimus, nedum idiota quilibet vel insipiens, metu justo concuti possit et moveri, satisque majori stupore duci vel admiratione, ubi gentis adversæ merita iram superni Judicis super se provocassent, quare casus lugubres et tam detestabiles modernis debeant temporibus præter solitum germinare. In tantum namque hæreses diebus istis pullulant et vitia, et non solum per vicos et castella, sed civitates et regiones sectis variis commaculavere et nefariis; et gens contra gentem, et regnum adversus regnum, in sese consurgunt ad invicem: cæteraque per prophetas latius enumerata modernis jam emergere temporibus, quod totus tam veteris quam novi Testamenti sermo propheticus per exempla imminetia videretur adimpletus, si filius ille perditionis caput exsereret in medio populorum, et prodiret in lucem gentium, viresque evidenter exerceret atque potestatem. Hunc utique certis argumentis advenisse, vel in proximo crederemus affuturum, nisi status universalis ecclesiæ, qui terribiliter ecliptitare videbatur, a sui languoris volutabro feliciter respirasset, et vigorem jam diu deperditum triumphaliter resumpisset. Quæ vero post domini Urbani transitum aliquamdiu, proh dolor! ruinam minabatur et defectum, in Clementis papæ clementia revixit cum exultatione, et in solido Petri refluoruit stabilitatis fundamento. Unde nos, et ii qui Deum diligunt in veritate, gratias Omnipotenti Deo referre tenemur merito devotissimas, Qui in præsidentis papæ sublimatione plebem Suam visitavit, et erexit in medio ecclesiæ cornu salutis nostræ, per ipsum quod perierat reformato, præteriti damna temporis cum lucro multiplicato singulis et universis resarciendo. Gaudemus igitur et exulemus et demus gloriam Deo, quoniam ecce advenit dominator Dominus, ante Cujus adventum ita nos ludibrium aquilonis deterruerat, sic nos fortuna severior præcipitaverat, quod nobis, in quorum perniciem et eradicationem hinc mundi elementa, hinc regnum et sacerdotium conspiraverant, nihil aliud superesse videbatur, nisi cum tam enormi dispendio vel causæ renunciare, vel montana conscendere, et cum feris et avibus victitare, de supernis cœlorum aliquando subsidium præstolando, vel qualemunque consolationem. Quid plura? Non sufficeret dies singula præconia, singulas ante papatum suas enarrare virtutes. Quid sibi postmodum sanctitatis vel gratiæ infuderit Omnipotens, non est nostræ facultatis solvere corrigiam. Sed quis sanctum esse dubitet, quem apex tantæ dignitatis attollit? quem ad regimen summi culminis Dominus invitavit? Nullus. Sicut enim instar est sacrilegii dubitare utrum dignus sit quem elegerit imperator, ita nimirum longe detestabilius, longe profanum, non credere justum esse vel sanctum, quem Dominus Petri successorem præordinavit, et ad erudiendam plebem Suam constituit, nisi casus propter peccata populorum aliud inducat. Vos igitur, fratres reverendi, qui in pulvere et mœrore diutius consedistis, expergiscimini et respirate. Veniet enim in proximo gloria Domini super vos ab excelso: et pridem desideratam diuque postulatam recipietis consolationem. Dominus namque papa super negotio nostro cum cardinalibus deliberavit, et quid nobis facturum fuerit præordinavit, volens videlicet domini Urbani prædecessoris sui vestigiis inhærere, et quæ nobis ante decessum suum indulserat innovare. Quibus consummatis, per aliquem fortasse de fratribus nostris ad vos destinabuntur, ut vos vivæ vocis colloquio plenius possit consolari, et de statu nostro certiorare. Non vos aliquorum blandimenta seducant, vel terrores principum concutiant, sed more solito constantes estote et robusti, quia securi estote, quia non prævalebit adversum vos homo. Bene valete, et orate pro nobis.

The pope and cardinals have examined the cause, and will shortly announce a favourable decision.

CXCVI. GAUFRIDO SUPPRIORI MAGISTER EADMUNDUS MONACHUS.

Multoties calamum arripui, multoties, ut vobis scriberem, cartam et atramentum adaptavi, et fortasse de nos contingebat aliqua vestræ sinceritati plerumque denotassem, nisi

meam hinc inde modicitatem tum tanti patris et domini majestas a tantæ præsumptionis supercilio revocasset, tum eloquentiæ dispendium et peritiæ ori silentium imponere maturius invitasset. Vanum etiam esset et supervacuum litteras vobis singulares destinare, cum unus omnium et singulorum nomine scribere sufficiat, quorum unam et eandem in nostrorum prosecutione negotiorum constat esse voluntatem et affectum. Verumtamen quia solito feliciora claruerunt tempora, et inclementioris fortunæ ludibrium disparere, et ad terminos contendere lætiores coangustetur, totus in scriptis præ gaudio, totus in litteris cum tripudio, ad sacra vestra carmen affero nostrum, quatenus qui nimiae desolationis infortunium diutius deplorastis, consolationis instantis participium nobiscum vultu gratiore degustetis. Sicut igitur per domini Urbani urbanitatem et scientiam, universalem ecclesiarum statum jam pridem amissum aspirare, et solitæ dignitatis littora contingere videbatur, ita post ipsius ad cœlestia transitum, aliquamdiu satis gemebunde nutare censebatur, et, ut verum fatear, lapsum intentabat et occasum. Advenit namque desideratus omnibus gentibus; sed et nobis tanto specialius et fructuosius, quanto de ipsius gratia et benignitate uberiores meruimus usque in diem hodiernum reportare confidentiam: utpote de cujus industria, ad cujus instantiam quicquid egimus emanavit, quod et ipse in sublimi constitutus solio firmiter recolit, et per rerum argumenta subsequentium memoriæ commendavit. Considerate diligenter et videte, si esset dolor, sicut dolor noster; Lam. i. 12. nisi is papa Gregorius naturæ maturius concessisset, qui de plenitudine gaudebat potestatis, nos per orbem terrarum essemus dispergendi et de terra viventium extirpandi. Considerate etiam quam miraculose vobiscum egerit Omnipotens de illo alio, Albanensi,¹ oppugnatore vestro adhuc superstite, cujus licet morte mandatoris exspirasset auctoritas, tamen ex abundanti, ne ulterius procederet quæ non seminaverat congregando et accumulando, per mandatum apostolicum de consilio cardinalium est cum sua confusione revocatus. Dignum namque fuit et rationi consonum, ut quod inconsultis fratribus modo hactenus inusitato inoleverat, eadem facilitate qua et factum est solemniter irritaretur, et nullius censeretur esse momenti. Non suffecit ei per regnum Teutonicorum debacchare, et suas exercere jurisdictiones, nisi et in regno Francorum et Anglorum generali fungeretur legatione, utpote qui summum tunc temporis pontificem suis blandimentis circumvenerat, quatenus si voluisset omnia regna mundi suis nutibus exposuisset. Verumtamen, antequam terminos Alemanniæ plene subintrasset, suus ipsum delusit Apollo, et eum litteræ revocatoriæ comprehenderunt. Sive redierit in proximo sive non, minus solito ipsum verebimur, qui minimum poterit, qui de cætero solus erit, et væ soli, etc. Quicumque confluunt ad curiam, sive fuerint de clericis regis, sive non, sive fuerint divites, sive mediocri fortuna laborantes, se nobis opponunt adversarios, ita vero quod a clericis publicus hostis reputatur, qui nobis serenum vultum a partibus vestris veniens ostenderit, aut in sermone aut alio communicare præsumpserit. Quanto vero plures adveniunt et plura confingunt, tanto eis minor fides habetur, nosque minus eos formidamus, quia si venerint mille vel decem millia, ad nos per Dei gratiam non appropinquabunt. In omnibus litteris regis domino papæ directis inseritur hæc clausula, "Quicquid pro domino Cantuariensi feceritis, personæ nostræ impensum reputabimus;" de opere vero sive de aliis nos contingentibus nihil expressius mandatur. Dominus siquidem archiepiscopus, præter sola corpora et claustris parietes, nihil nobis reliquit in mundo, sed clerici illius novæ capellæ, quam prædictus archiepiscopus in subversionem matris ecclesiæ fundavit, curiam nostram, villas et possessiones et prædia invaserunt. Quæ omnia qualiter ipsi distrahant et diripiant, enarrare nobis valde esset difficile. Sane cum dominus archiepiscopus de reformando in integrum statu nostro, et de novi operis demolitione, sæpius mandatum receperit apostolicum, in nullo ei penitus obtemperans, nec appellationi in aliquo deferens, manum suam de die in diem in nos et nostra aggrare non cessat. Non sufficit ei quod omnia exteriora nostra abstulit, et quod nos intra claustrum et ecclesiam multo tempore in mendicitate et ferro obsederit, nisi modis omnibus satagat procurare, quatenus de iis quæ inter ipsum et nos vertuntur, spreto sedis apostolicæ iudicio, in eorum quæ sibi sunt subditi et nobis suspecti compromittamus arbitrium, et eorum etiam ante restitutionem aliquam subiremus iudicium, de quibus non confidimus, quod quamvis justitiam prædicent, in causa nostra juste iudicarent. Eapropter sanctitati vestræ, pater reverende, omnes et singuli supplicamus attentius, quatenus intuitu Dei et beati martyris Thomæ, cui in persecutione sua speciale patrocinium impendistis, vulnera patris in passione filiorum respiciatis, et gratiam quam in filio gratiæ, prout martyris adhuc scripta testantur, ipse martyr assecutus est, Cantuariensi ecclesiæ continuare dignemini, et privilegia amoris quæ in sanguine suo conscripta, in morte martyris confirmata sunt, filiis suis et famulis vestris illibata servare velitis, quatenus cum eo coronam constantiæ et justitiæ percipiat in cœlis, cui pro justitia dimicanti constanter subvenistis in terris. Vitæ et prosperitatis vestræ gaudia dilatentur, pater piissime, in tempora longiora.

CC. DOMINO JACINCTO CARDINALI CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS. February.

Cantuariensis ecclesia, postquam a beato Gregorio per venerabilem Augustinum apud occidentes fundata est, et in religione monastici ordinis nobiliter est instituta, quot et quantas perpessa est tribulationes et pressuras, de facili non posset enarrari; nunc autem appropinquante senescentis sæculi termino, abundantioris tristitiæ castigata est flagello. Dominus etenim Cantuariensis, obtentu illius novæ capellæ quam, post appellationem et prohibitionem etiam apostolicam, in subversionem matricis ecclesiæ fundavit, eoque in nos et nostra manum suam extendit et aggravavit, quod de universis rerum substantiis, nihil nobis in mundo præter solum claustrum et corpora nuda reliquit. Cum enim in virtute obedientiæ præceptum recepisset apostolicum, ut nos in statum nostrum restitueret et prædictam capellam suis expensis faceret demoliri, murum curiæ nostræ demolitus est, et clericos jam dictæ capellæ in curiam nostram intrusit, qui usque hodie non solum in curia nostra, sed etiam in omnibus villis et possessionibus nostris, omnem substantiam nostram distrahentes et lapidantes pro libitu debacchantur. Et quod hucusque in partibus nostris inauditum est, multitudine armatorum tam interius quam exterius circumquaque sumus obsessi, ita

Hæc et alia multa, quorum non est numerus, non minus terribilia quam detestabilia, dominus archiepiscopus tam per se faciens quam per suos passim fieri permittens, nec etiam præcepto summi pontificis recepto, in aliquo paruit vel pepercit, et quod inauditæ crudelitatis est, nomen vestrum, quod invocatum est super nos, et universis contra oppressiones solet esse remedium, nobis solis afflictionis semper accessit ad augmentum. Et juxta id quod a clericis domini archiepiscopi a principio impropertum est, et adhuc quotidie impropertur, "Vos "appelletis et nos expilabimus." Et quotiescunque appellavimus, conditionis nostræ terminos deteriorari sensimus. cum multa et gravia passi fuerimus, adhuc tamen graviora pati formidamus. Dominus siquidem archiepiscopus, ut nos in perpetuum crucifigat, crucem accepit temporalem; sed avertat Dominus cor ejus a cogitatu maligno, ne crux ipsius fiat nobis crux scandali et offensionis. Universorum tamen assertio est, qui dominum archiepiscopum et quid facere decreverit plenius, si tamen cognosci potest, cognoverunt, videlicet quod obtentu crucis summi pontificis præcepta omnia nostrum contingentia negotium, declinabit, nec aliquid pro hujusmodi mandatis, donec a peregrinatione sua redierit, adimplebit. Sic enim per crucem proposuit nos, dum absens est, affligere, ut cum reversus fuerit, quod Deus avertat, nec unus supersit, qui possit affligi. Nuper autem, antequam litteras domini papæ recepisset, cum rescripta earum a clericis suis sibi transmissa recitari fecisset, magister Silvester non siluit, sed deridendo et subsannando sic summo pontifici coram pontifice suo respondit, "Ptrut," et his dictis statim rescripta litterarum destinavit, ut audivimus, ad regem. Cæterum rescripta litterarum regis et archiepiscopi, qui pro nobis domino papæ scripserunt, vobis transmittimus. Unde liquido potestis perpendere, quo utriusque vergat intentio, et quid vel qualiter pro nobis debeatis respondere. Constanter igitur coram summo pontifice proponite, quod nisi velocius et maxima cum celeritate nobis subvenerit, nos et ecclesia penitus subvertemur, nec erit de cætero qui velit vel audeat ad Romanam appellare ecclesiam. Noveritis igitur quod nihil est de cætero dissimulandum, sed omnia nude et aperte summo insinuanda pontifici, qui nisi durius et districtius et sub gravioris interminatione pœnæ hac vice scripserit, et etiam aliis executionem præcepti cum potestate magna et manifesta commiserit, actum est de nobis. Si enim dominus papa ad instantiam regis archiepiscopo indulserit, ut juxta voluntatem liceat ei vel nos tractare vel de rebus nostris disponere, quod tamen non credimus, omnes exterminati sumus. Pauperes enim qui nos hucusque suis sustentaverunt eleemosynis, spem habentes quod per curiam Romanam citius erueremur ab ærumnis, præ multitudine dierum confecti sunt. Cum enim totam provinciam victualium affligat inopia, penes mendicantes fames residere minatur stationaria. A divitibus vero, qui etiam a salutatione nostra se cohibent, quid sperare possimus solatii vel expectare consilii? Certe aut nihil aut modicum. Non enim nostri sed prosperitatis amici sunt, prout ex fructibus eorum nihil gustando percipimus. Spiritus Sancti gratia sit coadjutrix et cooperatrix vobis in omnibus necessitatibus vestris et operibus.

The convent have heard from a messenger of the provost of S. Bernard's that the dean of Rheims is in trouble, and sympathize with him.

Transiens per nos sacerdos quidam, nuncius præpositi Sancti Bernardi de Monte Jovis, vulnera superaddidit vulneribus nostris, et totius corporis nostri membrum spectatissimum, quod reliquo sauciato corpore adhuc nobis reservari credebamus intactum, subito nunciavit vulneratum. Asserebat enim vos in tribulatione non minima constitutum, et super quibusdam casibus contristatum recenter angustari. Unde gladius compassionis animam nostram tanto pertransivit atrocius, quanto vos meritis exigentibus in caritate non ficta diligimus affectuosius. Sed benedictus [Deus] quod pro Ipso, Qui pro nobis in patibulo crucis passus est, digni habiti sumus contumeliam pati. Speramus enim quod, si compatimur, et conregnabimus, et Qui proprio Filio non pepercit, propter Filium flagellatos post flagella coronabit. Cæterum noveritis quod dominus archiepiscopus ad hoc modis omnibus instat, ut de his quæ inter nos et ipsum vertuntur, in regis et regni compromittamus arbitrium. Nec adhuc videtur ei sufficere, quod universa exteriora nobis abstulit, nisi manum suam adhuc extentam extendat ulterius. Unde per litteras vestras vestrum quantocius desideramus consilium, utrum debeamus ad aliquorum instantiam, sive pro timore expulsionis, sive pro alia urgentioris necessitatis causa, ante restitutionem ablatorum et malefactorum satisfactionem celebrare, aut sine priore et fratribus, qui ad curiam pro causa ista profecti sunt, compositioni alicui possimus consentire. Totius enim regni consensus contra nos regiæ voluntati consentit. Vos autem quod super hoc sentiat, scire maturius desideramus. Audivimus per eosdem quæ de novo pertulistis gravamina et injurias, et quamvis in afflictione vestra tam enormi vehementius moti sumus et afflicti, in augmento tamen meritorum vestrorum et gloriæ facti sumus sicut consolati. Qui cum summo pontifice in verbo quod audierunt intime confossi, remedium festinum malis tantis nostris pollicentur omnes et singuli. Spem itaque et fiduciam certam habemus, quod in proximo visitabit nos Oriens ex alto, Qui respicit in orationem humilium, et non spernit precem eorum. Subito recessit harum bajulus, sabbato proximo postquam proposuimus, cum nondum deliberatio inter fratres habita aut in publicum processit, aut quod facturi sint conjectura aliqua consequi prævaluit. Unum ergo est quod interim desideramus et monemus, ut videlicet, in Domino Qui magnificavit facere vobiscum confortati, expectetis Eum, viriliter agatis et sustinere velitis; educet enim vinctos in fortitudine; vinctos in mendicitate et ferro, ad honorem proculdubio nominis Sui, ad salutem vestram, et posteritatis vestræ gloriam. Certum enim in proximo accipietis, Deo disponente, jocundum. Conservet in vobis Dominus unitatem Spiritus in vinculo pacis. Gloriosa vestræ constantiæ simulque fervoris integritas, et vinculum sinceræ caritatis qua vobis astringor, iteratas vestræ paternitati litteras cum tota cordis affectione destinare coarctant, quæ utinam sic lectoris mœstitiam demulceant, et dies lætos adaugeant, sicut scriptoris affectat devotio, et jugi meditatione plenis suspirat desideriiis. Vestris, proh dolor, ex partibus, nihil audivimus nisi carmen et væ. Vestræ vero calamitates et miseriæ nos in continuo frixorio languere compellunt. Quod cum beato Job lacrymantes dicimus, "Numquid non paucitas dierum nostrorum finietur brevi?" Sic itaque torquemur in anima. Trenis hujusmodi producimus [dies] dolorosos et noctes insomnes, flentes vobiscum et gementes, tanquam corpus unum et anima una. Sed putas, durabo? putas, videbo? putasne veniet dies illa, quæ finem nostris imponet miseriis? Hoc utique quandoque crederem affuturum, sed nostra persecutio nullam suscipit comparisonem. impulsu, pari tribulationis Indibrio laborare, nisi modum excederet persecutorum immanitas, nisi eam hinc patris, hinc patroni argumentoso conspirationis jaculo niteretur impietas eviscerare. Quippe distribuantur tempora, et concordabit scriptura. Solus, inquam, Pharao pœnas Israelitis ante legem latam intentabat et aspera. Solus utique Pharao populum sibi rebellem, gentem quam enutriebat et exaltaverat, sub debitæ servitutis catena merito deprimebat, Judæum Gentilis, occultus disparitatem, et exitum ab Ægypto severius angustabat. Cantuariensem vero ecclesiam, dictu miserabile, hinc patronus expugnat, hinc pater extirpat, pater novercatur in filios, patro nus delirat in sbditos. Regnum et sacerdotium suas in ipsam exacuere sagittas, publica videlicet potestas, sacerdotalis dignitas; locum tam celebrem mutilare, personas Deo dignas exquisitis intendunt adinventionibus de medio populorum exterminare. O scelus detestabile! O peccatum inexoptabile! O criminis enormitas! sæculis præteritis inaudita! Quid enim sceleratius? quid immanius? quidve inimicius, quam in Christi sacerdotes insurgere, senes inermes et decrepitos debellare? A diabolo factum est istud, et est Ps. cxviii. 23. mirabile in oculis nostris. Si fuerint hæc inulta, si fuerint impunita, credimus esse Dominum? Absit. Sed quid dicam? Unde verebor? unde contremiscam? Si Deus pro nobis, Rom. viii. 31. quis contra nos? Nonne sicut Deus Hebræos in manu forti et brachio extento, voluit mirabiliter expedire, ita et nos a laqueis venantium poterit liberare? Si misericorditer cum illis egerit Omnipotens, nonne et nobiscum hactenus mirifice operatus est? Ipsos equidem per Rubrum semel transvexit mare; sed enim nos et nuncios nostros vicibus infinitis per mare, per terras, per plana, per aspera absque impedimento hactenus transmeare curavit. Ubi etiam multi bonis suis spoliabantur, alii, dignitatis aut ordinis non habito respectu, vincula subibant et carceres, quidam in tenebris dehonestabantur; et nos evasimus manus eorum in nomine Domini. Et ut cætera omittamus ad præsens, in nostri prosecutione negotii, ita Suam hactenus in nostræ causæ tutione visus est in omnibus exercuisse potestatem Omnipotens, tanquam diceretur, "Indurabo cor Pharaonis, et eruam populum meum de manibus ejus in manu forti." Certe cum pane nostro multis diebus in dolore et amaritudine vesceremur, cumque chorus noster more desperantis canticum convertisset in luctum, et Lam. v. 15. jam præ doloris angustia cithara nostra sua suspendisset organa, subito refrigeravit nos divina clementia, et quæ prius Isaiah xvii. erat labrusca in vineam Sorech est alterata, et qui nobis erat 11. potus amaritudinis conversus est in suavitatem dulcedinis. Numquid inter omnes mundi nationes fæx hominum et abjectio plebis Ps. xxii. 6. reputabimur? Absit ut cum tam vili discrimine incurramus opprobrium sempiternum, et ita simus risus populorum et fabula transeuntium per viam. Cæterum, sicut difficile est ut bono exitu peragantur quæ malo sunt inchoata principio, sic a contrario sensu perrarum est et impossibile, ut quod initium sortitum est laudabile, jocundo defraudetur effectum. Vos igitur in conspectu Dei et hominum gratiose hactenus dimicastis, fidem servastis, et agonem, cum Deus voluerit, explere potestis. Sed quid confert opus inchoare et ab incepto desistere? Modicum aut nihil. Melius est enim viam veritatis non agnos- 2 S. Pet. ii. 21. cere, quam post agnitam retroire. Quid plura? Cui promittitur a Deo triumphus? In tribulatione et angustia invenerunt nos mandata vestra, sed visis rescriptis litterarum domini papæ, quæ in manu præsentium latoris pervenerunt, facti sumus sicut consolati, quia spem, de curia Romana pene desperati, recepimus. In arcto siquidem et corpore et anima sumus constituti. Sunt enim nobis quotidie intus timores, et foris pugnae. Affligunt enim nos fratrum afflictorum gemitus et lacrymæ, hostium nostrorum machinationes et insidiæ, principum et potestatum terrores et violentiæ, et "causa valentior istis, anxietas animi" nos gravat, immo premit. Dominus siquidem archiepiscopus opportune et importune instare non cessat, ut regia manu supprior tanquam excommunicatus capiatur, et ut in arbitrium regis et regni nos et negotium nostrum poneremus. Minantur nobis adversarii nostri, quod et plurimum timemus, archiepiscopum, scilicet, in manu valida venturum, nisi ad nutum ejus absque satisfactione celebrare voluerimus, nobis expulsis clericos suos aut alios faciet in ecclesia nostra missas facere, quod nullatenus quoad vixerimus poterimus sustinere. Eapropter necesse est, ut quamcitius nobis subvenire studeatis. Hoc autem scitote, quod si a faucibus mortis debemus liberari, terminus et pœna tortoribus nostris interminanda est. Quod si nec sic ab oppressione nostra cessaverint, domino Bathoniensi et abbati de Waltham committenda est executio cum potestate interdicens provinciam aut partem provinciæ, donec mandatum apostolicum mancipetur effectui. De depositis factum est ut imperastis. In expensis vobis pro posse nostro providimus et providebimus, sed et si quidem prodesse credideritis, ne parcatis expensis. Rogerus Norreis, qui quoniam nobis non erat necessarius, per necessaria exivit immundus, in quibuscunque potest nos et ecclesiam persequitur, et secreta nostra malitiose revelat. Nuncios pro timore insidiantium vobis duplicavimus, quod et vos similiter facere omnimodis rogamus. Si dominus archiepiscopus eos de quorum eleemosynis vivimus, causa nostri in aliquo gravare voluerit, per dominum papam aliquod procurate remedium; sed et futuris temporibus contra similia si forte acciderint, quod Deus avertat, per privilegia ecclesiam præmunire non esset inutile, ne malitia nos persequentium processu temporis traheretur ad consequentiam. Valete.

quam mendaciter omnia in nos refuderunt. Prius enim litteras domini archiepiscopi receperant, quas et habebant præ manibus, in quibus continebatur, quod ipsi a transmarinis partibus venienti portas ecclesiæ suæ clausistis, organa vestra in confusionem ejus suspendentes, nec secundum ecclesiæ consuetudinem solemniter eum recipere voluistis, sed quod aliæ et quæ non tenebantur ecclesiæ honoris et obsequii impenderunt, soli vos qui magis tenebamini, irreverenter denegastis. Super quibus injuriis domino papæ multum conquestus, ut ei justitiam exhiberet attentius supplicabat, obsecrans ne cui aliud asserenti fidem haberet, aut in præjudicium ejus, nisi re plenius cognita, quicquam statueret. Nobis autem rem, ut enarravimus, docere paratis, quamvis fides habita est ab hominibus, non videbatur tamen contra absentem admittenda probatio. Hinc est quod adversariorum astutia tum pollicente majora, tum proponente contraria, majorem recepit quam sperabamus dilationem. Ut enim vobis loquamur, Romæ omnes Romanos inveni, et dominus papa Romanus est, natione videlicet, et genere. Nec miremur si Romani sint indigenæ, quia ex curiæ qualitate etiam alienigenæ Romani fiunt. Papa ergo sæpius opportune importune requisitus, se nihil dixit posse facere, donec responsum litterarum quas archiepiscopo direxerat recepisset, præcipue cum in illis et opus demoliri, et omnia in statum pristinum redigi præcepisset et reduci, nec minus corrigere teneretur ex earum tenore dominus archiepiscopus quæ recenter commiserat, quam quæ olim præsumpsisse dinoscitur. In hoc verbo stetit, nec aliqua supplicatione nostra moveri potuit. Institimus ut in murorum effractores et eos qui bona ecclesiæ diripuerunt, vel curiam detinent occupatam, excommunicationis ferret sententiam, suspensis presbyteris parochialibus, qui post appellationem, et contra sedis apostolicæ indulgentiam, quam in synodo audierant, vos aut vobis consentientes excommuni- care præsumpserunt. Qui ad instantiam nostram vix tandem concessit quod per harum bajulum accepistis, nimis tepide, ut videtur, injurias Christi et ecclesiæ tam enormes persecutus. Verumtamen, si credi potest, non deerit nobis in causæ nostræ justitia. Quod autem aliter quam vellemus vel minus aliquid positum est, non tam de inaffectione domini papæ, quam de adversariorum nequitia, simul et potentia, procedit. Ad omnia enim quæ confingunt, testibus abundant subornatis, ut non sit quasi minor læsio quam ex mendaciis eorum patimur, quam malorum numerus quæ in vos machinantur, qui miserunt ipsos. Cæterum speramus in Domino quia mendacia eorum tandem prævalere non poterunt. Veritas enim liberabit nos. Multa haberem vobis dicere, "sed non est mora libera nobis." Valete. Salutate nobis, si placet, fratres nostros omnes et singulos, et memores estote nostri in orationibus vestris.

Angunt nos angustiae et anxietates vestrae, quas et nostras reputamus, scientes quod multum a se discrepant patientis sensus et compatientis affectus; ille etenim sentiendo quod urget affligitur, iste cruciatus alienos miseretur, sciens magis quod patitur alter quam sentiens. Novimus omnes quam acerbum sit uri, sed admotus igni solus sentit ardorem. Confidimus autem in Domino, quoniam in eo quod pro veritate coepistis permanebitis in hilaritate animi, quantum patitur humana mortalitas, suscipientes quicquid moeroris tempestas instans ministrabat, non habentes tantummodo sed et aliis dantes animum. Quia vero super hujusmodi nobis scripsistis, notum vobis facimus, dominum papam Clementem domini Urbani imitatore[m] esse, et ejus in omnibus adorare vestigia; vias vero Gregorii non attendere. Audacter itaque utimini omnibus quae ille indulsit, quia iste nec unum eorum infirmabit. Indulgentiam nobis idcirco extremam, sicut petitis, non reconfirmat, quia non solent hujusmodi indulta temporaliter innovari, nec viribus carere possunt usque ad tempus, nisi de speciali fuerint infirmata mandato. Unde et cum peteremus ut sententiam in vos et alios post appellationes latam denunciaret non tenere, respondit nullam eum ferre potuisse, et quod nemo ignorat apicibus supervacue apostolicis committere. Hinc est quod in litteris quas domino archiepiscopo misit pro reformando statu nostro, non dixit quos post appellationem excommunicasti, sed excommunicare voluisti, videlicet ostendens eum promptam forte habuisse voluntatem, sed ejus in omni suspensam esse potestatem. Itaque timores adversariorum ne timueritis, neque multum attendatis verba eorum.

Ps. xviii. 24. In proximo enim retribuet vobis Dominus secundum justitiam vestram, et eorum superbia finem quem semper solet sortietur, ignominiam. Quod aliquid contra nos impetretur, non multum formidamus. Quidam enim de ordine nostro monachus Johannes dictus, quasi vicecancellarius factus, diligentissime observat, ne quid possit a cancellaria sine conscientia nostra emanare. Notarios praeterea Gregorianos nobis semper infestos omnes eliminavit summus pontifex, ordinem Cisterciensium etiam et dominum Albanensem minus amplectens. Cui noveritis nos [annulum] secundum¹ beati Thomae contulisse, quem et gratanter accepit et frequenter gestat in digito. Gaudemus aliud par litterarum domini papae ad vos pervenisse, cum aliud interceptum fuerit.

The prior counts the sufferings of the subprior as his own, but tries to cheer him.

Pope Clement treads in the footsteps of pope Urban.

He refuses to annul the sentences issued by the archbishop, as they are ipso facto null.

We have a friend in the chancery named John, who will see that no instrument passes against us without our knowledge.

Quantumcunque in afflictionibus vestris angustiat et afflicti, gratias tamen semper agimus Deo pro omnibus vobis, quibus de munere largitatis Ejus datum est, non solum ut credatis in Eum, sed ut patiamini pro Eo. Multi quippe ^{Phil. i. 29.} fidem habere videntur, sed paucos eam in tribulationibus contingit comprobare. Ad tempus enim credunt, et in tem- ^{S. Luke viii. 13.} pore tentationis recedunt. Per necessarium est autem martyrum gloriæ, ut sicut fortes in fide, ita longanimes in spe et perseverantes sint in caritate, quatenus ab ea nec persecutione separentur, nec morte, nec gladio. Et quidem hæc omnia in vobis, unde et lætum factum est in dolore nostrum, supra spem multorum conspicua fuerunt, adeo ut super constantia vestra miretur omnis mundus. Cæterum dicitis, operibus opus est, non sermone. Non quærit loquentem æger medicum sed curantem. Et nos pro certo solliciti sumus morbo quo laboratis medicinam citius ferre competentem. Verum multa sunt quæ obstant et impediunt. In primis nuncii domini Cantuariensis, qui contradictionibus et contentionibus dediti, et confingere sunt subtiles et ad inventiones suas periti proponere, et quæ asserunt parati testibus comprobare. Quotquot enim de gente nostra ad curiam Romanam veniunt, eis ad omnia quæ jusserint testes assistunt. Hostes itaque publicos nominant, non tantum eos qui contra ipsos mutire audent, sed et omnes qui causam domini regis et archiepiscopi fovere contemnunt. Quibus accedit quod cum utriusque litteras tum ad dominum papam, tum ad cardinales pro causa quam agunt destinatas frequenter accipiant, etiam regem Apuliæ, quem dominus papa inter principes magis diligit, propitium habent, qui ad regis nostri petitionem pro domino Cantuariensi affectuose supplicat, et nuncios transmittit. Nobiliores quoque Romani ad ejusdem instantiam pro Cantuariensi summum pontificem, ut dicitur, sollicitare non cessant. Quid ergo dicemus ad hæc? nisi quod subjungit ^{Rom. viii. 31.} scriptura. "Si Deus pro nobis, etc." "Astiterunt reges ^{Ps. ii. 2.} terræ, et principes convenerunt in unum," sed contra quem? Numquid non adversus Dominum? Immo. Ipse enim ait, "Qui vos spernit, Me spernit, et qui tangit vos tangit pupil- ^{Zech. ii. 8.} lam oculi Mei." Non est dubium quin et inferiores congregiantur et impares, quia non est fortis sicut Deus noster, ^{1 Sam. ii. 2.} nec vobis aliquatenus aut nobis diffidendum, quia Christus vincit. Ecce enim Cujus sensimus hucusque justitiam, facturum videtur nobiscum in proximo secundum misericordiam

Suam. Nam cum dimicaverit contra nos orbis terrarum, et adversarii nostri in nos omne malitiæ suæ venenum effuderint, sagittæ parvulorum factæ sunt plagæ eorum. Et in proxima sequenti septimana salutem nobis fore speramus. Præsentium vero bajulus kalendis Aprilis recessit a nobis, per quem idcirco non mandamus quid vobis agendum, vel qualiter utendum sit impetratis, quia si modum præscriberemus, impedire vos magis videremur quam præstare consilium, quod enim competeret dum scribimus, mutandum forte esset cum accipitis. Unde vobis omnia secundum quod Deus dederit, pro loco, tempore, et causa, et variis rerum circumstantiis moderanda relinquimus.

Quod aliis indicare non expedit, infirma nostri, videlicet, intima, fidei vestræ audacter intimamus. Adversarii nostri justitiam nostram potenter impediunt. Quæ enim loquuntur falsa docere parati, ut nos exterminent, pecuniam infinitam promittunt. Quippe de nostro nos confundere conantur. Cæterum quamvis cum illis in quantitate munerum non valeamus contendere, tamen quia sine his non potest causa duci, malumus et quæ non habemus effundere, quam sumptibus parcendo perpetuæ nos subdere servituti. Minus sobrium esset, cum parati videamur animas nostras pro ecclesiæ nostræ defensione ponere, in corruptela pecuniæ parciores esse. Nolite solliciti esse de nobis. Consuevimus aliquando abundare, discimus ad præsens penuriam pati. Confortate igitur fratres nostros, scindetur enim, Deo volente, sine mora quam patimur difficultas; si prosperaverit Dominus quod agimus, et quod tempore Suo vobis innotescet, tribulationes vestræ finem habent, et machina contra Cantuariensem ecclesiam nequiter erecta dissipabitur. Nolite solliciti esse neque suspensi, conjiciendo super hoc vel cogitando. In proximo scietis. Nondum erat certum aliquid quod vobis scriberetur, cum litteræ præsentis exirent a nobis. The prior of

No. ccxvii.,
informs the

Ostia that he has done

Susceptis nuper sanctitatis vestræ apicibus, quibus me super negotio Cantuariensis ecclesiæ vestra exhortari dignata est dilectio, habita consideratione ad malitiam temporis, quæ multa est in partibus Anglicanis, in negotio prædicto processu, non tamen eo usque quo volui, sed quatenus ad præsens potui.

Sane ecclesia illa, quæ totius Occidentis ordinis et honestatis forma et exemplum hucusque extitit, quam etiam Dominus in tempore nostro longe ante alias quadam singularitatis prærogativa decoravit, non solum his diebus contra principatus et potestates, sed etiam pugnare habet ad bestias, quia non est dolor sicut dolor ejus. Cum enim denunciata esset domini papæ sententia, quam in malefactores illos tulerat, qui bona monachorum diripuerunt, et muris eorum effractis, curiam, villas et possessiones eorum invaserunt, presbyteri Cantuarienses sententiam domini papæ denunciaverunt non tenere, nec ei in aliquo debere deferri, sed et ipsi excommunicatis communicantes exemplum novi schismatis in ecclesia Dei inducentes, quosdam pauperes et imperitos etiam, sacramento ab eis extorto, excommunicatis communicare coegerunt. Sed et nepos gloriosi martyris Thomæ, Radulfus nomine, cum quibusdam civibus Cantuariensibus et aliis, in carcerem et custodiam publicam projecti sunt, quia excommunicatos evitare præsumserunt. Si autem nepoti martyris, cujus sanguis adhuc recens est, non parcitur, cui de cætero parceretur? Verumtamen super patientia et dissimulatione summi pontificis in tantis et tam manifestis ecclesiæ eidem, immo sedi apostolicæ, irrogatis injuriis, non solum tota occidentalis obstupescit et admiratur ecclesia, sed et clamor populi utriusque regni jam ascendit in cælum. A sæculo enim inauditum est viros religiosos a fidelibus ita tractari, quorum etiam unanimiorem et constantiam dum orbis noster admirari non sufficit, prædicare non desinit, divinæ majestatis ascribens miraculo, quod in tenebris occidentalibus inventi sunt qui non curvaverunt genua sua ante Baal, sed elegerunt ponere animas pro fratribus suis. Ea propter pietatis vestræ pedibus provocatus, pro Cantuariensi ecclesia preces porrigo affectuosas, ut causam ipsius quam vestram reputatis, fovere dignemini, pro certo scientes, et id ipsum domino papæ, si placet, suggerentes, quod nisi maturius Cantuariensem ecclesiam in statum suum restituerit, tota occidentalis ecclesia, et maxime monachorum religio, perpetua sub oppressione lugebit.

Sed cum in extremis finibus Walliæ vos moram facere crebro commeantium relatu audiremus, misimus ad dominum Rofensem, ut more ab eo vice vestra chrisma, aliis per provinciam dividendum ecclesiis, reciperemus. Qui se super hoc vestrum non habuisse mandatum respondit, nec id nobis aliquatenus absque vestri auctoritate mandati se nobis traditurum asseruit. Unde paternitati vestræ omnes et singuli supplicamus attentius, quatenus eidem episcopo detis in mandatis, ut nobis chrisma aliis distribuendum ecclesiis conferat; ne status ecclesiæ, prout dominus papa præcipit vobis, in aliquo immutetur. Non enim discretionem vestram ignorare credimus, quam pium et pretiosum sit in conspectu Domini subvenire afflictis, et ab eorum qui undique oppressi sunt abstinere injuriis. Caeterum dilectionem vestram nosse volumus, quod cum post passionem beati martyris Thomae, aliis non cessantibus, cessaremus, a praedecessore vestro more solito chrisma aliis ecclesiis distribuendum recepimus. Quod et modo ne aliter fiat, cum sub alis et protectione domini papae, non solum appellationis remedio, sed et de nihil immutando circa statum monasterii ad dominum archiepiscopum de novo facto mandato, dilectioni vestrae omnes et singuli supplicamus attentius. Nuper enim cum prior de Faversham, post trinam admonitionem publice et solemniter factam, denunciasset excommunicatos malefactores illos qui effractis muris et officinis nostris bona nostra diripuerunt, villas et possessiones nostras contra voluntatem nostram violenter invaserunt, presbyteri Cantuarienses et alii, præcepto clericorum novæ et maledictæ capellæ, ex parte domini archiepiscopi, ut asserebant, eisdem facto, parochianis suis solemniter et publice denunciaverunt sententiam sedis apostolicæ non tenere, nec ei in aliquo deferri debere. Jusserunt etiam ne ipsi ab aliquo vitarentur, quos sanctitatis vestræ sententia cautius præceperat evitari, et ut secure communicarent etiam eis qui adhuc curiæ nostræ, villis et possessionibus violenter incumbunt, et patrimonium Crucifixi distrahunt et diripiunt. Sed et clerici sæpeditæ capellæ statim in crastino post sententiæ denunciationem, in curiam nostram cum clericis et laicis quasi ad nuptias convenerunt, subsannationi et derisui habentes quicquid auctoritate sedis apostolicæ contra eos fuerat promulgatum. Attendat igitur, si placet, sanctitatis vestræ clementia, pater reverende, Cantuariensis ecclesiæ statum, immo destitutionem miserabilem. Dominus vero archiepiscopus nihilominus in proposito suo, ut ei moris est, tenaciter persistit, quamvis de reformando statu nostro et novi operis demolitione litteras domini papæ receperit. Qualiter autem de novo manum suam super nos aggravavit, et vulnera vulneribus nostris addiderit, prior et fratres nostri sanctitati vestræ plenius poterunt enarrare. Unde paternitatis vestræ pedibus provoluti postulamus attentius, ne in tempore mendicitatis nostræ et miseriæ, vultum serenitatis vestræ avertatis a nobis, sed omni fortunæ pro causa Christi et ecclesiæ jam dudum expositos ad portum tranquillitatis velitis transponere, et ad ereptionem pauperum manum pietatis extendere.  acquievit donec pater prædicti pueri tactis sacrosanctis juraret, quod neminem eorum qui excommunicati sunt pro excommu-

Itaque consolamini invicem in verbis istis, attentius providentes ne hæc per vos passim omnibus palam fiant. Nos vobis interim in iis quæ negotio sunt necessaria, de nostro et amicorum nostrorum consilio, Spiritu consilii aspirante, prospiciemus, de fratribus nostris quos utiliores putabimus citius vobis remissuri. Non vos sollicitet, quod crucem accepit dominus archiepiscopus. Poterit enim ei salutem operari, sed vobis nullatenus præjudicium poterit generare. Pax et communicatio Sancti Spiritus sit semper cum omnibus vobis. Amen.

Quoniam de dilectione vestra quam in necessitatibus nostris sæpius experti sumus, plurimum confidimus, urgente necessitate ad vos fiducialius confugimus, omnes et singuli deprecantes attentius, quatenus intuitu Dei et beati martyris Thomæ, operam et sollicitudinem diligentem adhibeatis, ne nepos gloriosi martyris Radulfus, qui cum aliis de civibus nostris in carcerem ignominiosum projectus est, et cum latronibus deputatus, quamcitius liberetur per industriam vestram a custodia, attendentes, si placet, quantum regiæ majestatis detrahat honori, quod nepos martyris sine causa et absque omni judicio inter latrones mancipatus est carceri. Variis rerum eventibus præpediti, licet anxii atque solliciti, nondum potuimus desiderium nostrum adimplere, nec ad effectum quem speramus producere. Aliquando enim domini papæ infirmitas otiosa indixit tempora. Sæpe fratrum nostrorum imbecillitas exequendi negotium impossibilitatem induxit, et nunc tandem domini Ostiensis ægritudo, de qua nondum plene convaluit, mora nos diuturniore afflixit. In eo enim post Deum spes ereptionis nostræ tota consistit, quem sicut vobis amicum nulla fecit prosperitas, ita a patrocínio vestro nun-

June. CCXXXI. HONORIUS PRIOR ET SOCII CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI.

The prior praises the unity of the monks, and their perseverance.

In gloria certaminis vestri et inaudita unitatis vestræ constantia, Romana ecclesia, immo jam fere totus mundus obstupescit, et nos ipsi. Quippe si tempora percurramus retroacta, salva martyrum qui se ipsos impenderunt reverentia, non invenimus ubi fuerit persecutio magis manifesta, atrocior pugna, aut par vel in parvis constantia. Adversariis tantis nudi et inermes tamdiu vos objecistis, non armis dimicantes sed jugulis, substantiam terrenam et mundi gloriam qua florulistis non tantum ablatam contemnentes, sed etiam respuentes oblatam, fœnum in cornu formidantes.  nec sitis arida, nec laterum nuditas quicquam vobis persuadere potuerunt in subversionem libertatis vestræ, ut cum martyribus verius dicere valeatis, "Anima nostra, sicut passer Ps. cxxiv. 7.

Eapropter, carissimi, interiori magis dolore mordemur, quod debitum laboribus vestris auxilium tam molesta dilatione suspenditur, timentes ne quis forte imputet ignaviae nostrae. Verumtamen quot et quanta crebrius intercurrerint impedimenta, ex litteris quas dilectioni vestrae postremo direximus satis credimus claruisse, ubi de domini Ostiensis aegritudine nos mentionem fecisse meminimus. No-veritis ergo quoniam cum praesentium lator exiret a nobis plenius convaluerat, et meliori quam prius sospitate gaudebat. Speramus itaque quod cooperante gratia Dei, negotium nostrum expedietur citius, nec ulterius poterit protelari, sed ad honorem vestrum in Domino disponente, procedet. Palam enim profi-tetur dominus papa, seorsum asserunt cardinales omnes, etiam et frater ille noster falsus, qui quamvis se mentiatur amicum, solus in curia nobis est adversarius, quod forma in qua veniet qui mittendus est executor, optima erit. Legatus autem dabitur sicut speramus ad libitum. Quamvis enim unum praes-aliis desideremus, plures tamen in curia habemus amicissimos, de quorum gratia et virtute incorruptibili nullatenus trepidamus, scientes quod manus suas excutiunt ab omni munere, nec poterit eos quispiam avertere a veritate. Omnia ergo vobis praenunciare curabimus, cum facta fuerint. Gratiam Suam augeat Deus in vobis.

Gaudemus paternitatem vestram ex recessu nostro desolatam, tandem invenisse consolationem; virum, videlicet, qui absen-sori nostro quamvis stilo elegantiori non invidemus, sed congaudentes ei et congratulantes, Deo gratias agimus, Qui domum Suam et officiis distinctam exhibet, et ministris: de

CCXXXIII. HONORIUS PRIOR CANTUARIENSIS GAUFRIDO SUPPRIORI.

A.D. 1188.
April 11-17.

Dominum Ostiensem instanter petimus, et speramus accipere, si possit ipsius aliquo modo dominus papa carere præsentia. Ipse vero requisitus a nobis pro honore Dei et Cantuariensis ecclesiæ paratum se exhibet, et in carcerem et in mortem ire, optimam virtutum suarum consummationem aestimans, si ecclesiæ Dei pacem reddere prævaleret. Non est in conscientia nostra quis mittendus sit, sed in Paschali hebdomada quisquis is est credimus profecturum. Litteris potius ageretur negotium, sed vox viva et potestas pro rei qualitate moderanda videtur efficacior. Mandata in contemptoribus minus possunt et morosius operantur. Mora vero certum ad se periculum trahit, et nisi citius subventum esset, ad extremum jam perductam inevitabile esset non expirare ecclesiam. Ne ergo terreamini, quicquid audieritis. Pars enim adversa commissionem faciendam putat, et prædicat, sed aliud omnino quam sibi promittant, accipient. Mittetur autem vobis qui causam vestram agat et peritissime pro vobis proponat. Valete.

The prior hopes that the bishop of Ostia will be the legate and will start on his mission in Easter week.

Delay is dangerous.

CCXXXIV. HONORIUS PRIOR ET SOCII CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI.

June.

Summa, ut noveritis, petitionum nostrarum est, ut dominus Ostiensis ad negotii nostri executionem destinetur; aut dominus Gratianus, quia gratiam et zelum rectitudinis æque in utroque vigere cognovimus. Cum itaque venerandas martyrum reliquias Albini et Rufini domino papæ, per priorem et fratres porrexerimus, indubitanter scimus quod alter eorum veniet, aut litteræ emanabunt cum poena suspensionis inflictæ domino Cantuariensi, nisi fecerit quod in mandatis accipiet. Tenor vero mandati erit, ut ad omnia conventum restituat quæ tempore promotionis ejus habuisse dinoscitur, in exeniis, ecclesiis, redditibus, villis, libertatibus et aliis omnibus; novamque clericorum ecclesiam penitus demoliatur et destruat. Litteræ quoque emittentur generalis prælatis Angliæ et personis, clero et populo, quatenus locum ipsum maledictum habeant et profanum, et clericos qui ibi celebraverint suspensos ab officio et beneficio, donec restitui mereantur, et omnes qui ibidem de

The prior hopes that the legate will be either the bishop of Ostia or cardinal Gratian; and that he will be able to annul all the doings of the archbishop.

A.D. 1188. June. We have heard from cardinal Ralph Nigel that the legate will have power to suspend and excommunicate the archbishop, and to put the country under interdict. The king of England is in the greatest difficulties, and the king of France has rebuked the archbishop for his cruelty.

Unde confidenter agite et constanter, et fratres expectatione morosa fatigatos, ne in fine deficient, confirmate, neque aliquatenus pervidere possumus aut intelligere quod miseria possit vestra, immo concertandi materia, diutius protelari. Didicimus enim per magistrum Radulfum Nigellum, quod legatus si venerit, in potestate magna veniet. Dabitur enim ei posse archiepiscopum ubicunque positum suspendere, excommunicare, et regnum Anglorum pro maxima parte sub interdicto concludere. Ecce enim pro vobis pugnat Dominus, Exod. xiv. 14. et per regem Francorum, qui martyris nostri fovit justitiam, martyris videtur vindicaturus injurias. Nunquam etenim dicunt exercitiores in talibus, rex noster in arcto positus fuit, ut hodie; cui, cum in eum omnes insurgant, quæque natio pro facti sui atrocitate assistere reformidat, putantes, ut dicunt, ecclesiæ Cantuariensis hac vice ultum iri injurias. Rex autem Francorum dominum archiepiscopum ad eum transmissum nec Cf. Gervase, 1535. salutatione dignatus est, nec responso nisi turpiori, et in quo ei immanitatem qua in vos operatus est, ut audivimus, in faciem objecit. Attamen orate pro persequentibus et calumniantibus vos, expectantes Dei misericordiam in patientia, et manum ejus æquanimiter sustinentes. Valete.

The prior tells the monks that the matter of the legation is proceeding happily.

The pope has promised to send the bishop of Ostia.

Quod vobis scripsimus de executore a latere domini papæ ad vos transmittendo, bene noveritis et juxta voluntatem nostram procedere, nec nos a desiderio nostro fraudari in aliquo, nisi quod res majorem quam sperabamus cepit dilationem. Quod tamen nullatenus intercurrisset, si ut Romanus aliquis mitteretur, vel quicunque alius, faciles fuisset adquiescere. Cæterum unum petivimus a domino, scilicet dominum Ostiensem episcopum ordinis nostri monachum. Hunc requiremus, quem et nobis dominus papa die qua præsentium bajulus exivit a nobis, per camerarium suum pollicitus est destinare, adversariis nostris et qui foveant partem eorum id solum agentibus, ut is non mitteretur, quippe de aliis spem haberent quamcunque, quod modo aliquo mutari possent aut corrumpi, de isto nullam. Exultate itaque in Domino, et fratres nostros confirmate, quia exauditæ sunt petitiones nostræ et vestræ, ut credimus, apud Deum, et videtur dominus papa Clemens aurem clementiæ suæ et animum necessitatibus nostris inclinare, clementius supra spem multorum, et contra consilia principum nullas litteras contra vos impetratas esse. Unde si quæ apparuerint, sive illæ quarum nobis remisistis rescriptum, sive aliæ, noveritis eas falsas esse, nec de conscientia curiæ aliquatenus emanasse. De cætero cardinalibus ne scribatis,

Timeo tamen ne detineant Ostiensem cardinalem propter passionem cardiacam qua dominus papa molestatur, ut si decesserit, quod speratur in proximo, ipse summus pontifex fiat, quamvis sæpe et semper reluctaverit. Sperate itaque in Domino. Si venerit, bene erit nobis. Si remanserit, forte melius. Faciat Dominus quod bonum est in oculis Ejus. 1 Sam. iii. 18. Scio quidem quod archiepiscopo clavus in oculo factus sum, quia in consistorio steti contra eum, et causam nostram exposui. Sed nihil idcirco quod me facere velitis omittam. Si ergo litteræ hujusmodi nobis Remis occurrerint, gratius erit et melius. Scio quia in vanum laboravi, scribens cum non possitis intelligere unum solum verbum. Hoc enim famæ opinionis ejus sinceritatem denigrabit, et tam domino Ostiensi, quam toti ordini Cluniacensi, plurimum displicebit. Totius enim corporis causa agitur, cum membrum aliquod specialiter impugnatur. Eapropter dilectioni vestræ supplicamus attentius, non tam nostræ utilitatis obtentu, quam suæ religionis et honestatis intuitu, quatenus eum ab hujusmodi proposito pro posse vestro revocetis. CCXXXVIII. WILLELMO REMENSI ARCHIEPISCOPO CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

June.

Reverendo patri et domino Willelmo, Dei gratia, Remensi archiepiscopo, tituli Sanctæ Sabinæ cardinali, conventus Ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis in mendicitate et miseria, et multo tempore miserabiliter afflictus, salutem, et quicquid afflictorum potest affectus. Quoniam humanæ consuetudinis est ad eos confidentius in necessitate recurrere, a quibus desolationis suæ solatia consueverunt recipere, ad sanctitatis vestræ excellentiam miserabiles et mendici confugimus; spem et fiduciam plurimam concipientes, tam de innata vobis benignitate qua consuevistis consolari afflictos, quam de generosi sanguinis nobilitate, quæ sæpe solita est relevare oppressos. Cum enim ad memoriam reducimus, quam misericorditer cum martyre nostro egeritis, dum adhuc exul miserabilis militaret in terris, non de meritis nostris sed de mera liberalitate vestra præsumentes, speramus et credimus quod, intuitu patris misericordiam cum filiis faciens, non dedignabitur serenitas vestra in membra infirmiora continuare et transfundere gratiam, quam invenit in oculis vestris caput nostrum, antequam de peregrinatione sua transiret ad patriam. Verumtamen licet inter nos et ipsum nulla possit esse comparatio, tamen pro Cantuariensi ecclesia, pro qua et ipse passus est, et nos quotidie patimur, et diuturnioris jam morbi invalescente materia, et corpore et animo amplius de die in diem angustiamur et affligimur. CCXL. CONVENTUI FRATRES MISSI AD CURIAM REGIS.

After
March 1.

Salutem et obedientiam. Apud Clarendone regem invenimus in die Lunæ. Die Martis locuti sumus cum eo coram Randulfo de Glanvilla, Rogero eleemosynario, Johanne filio regis, Hugone Bardulfo, Willelmo de Sanctæ Mariæ ecclesia, Willelmo de Haubervilla, qui eodem die contra nos ad curiam venit, Willelmo de Glanvilla. Auditis ergo litteris vestris, rex consequenter jussit legi sibi rescripta cartarum, et audita prima carta, eorum quæ statuit jam oblitus, magnifice juravit asserens hujusmodi cartam nunquam ex assensu regis factam fuisse. Sic et de secunda juravit in furore suo, oculos suos tangens et collum percutiens. Sic de tertia et quarta, et quinta et sexta et septima, proprias sicut et alias in quibusdam abnegans, maxime in illis quæ archiepiscopum contingunt, dicens quod archiepiscopo hujusmodi libertates nusquam nec unquam concessit. Cui omnes adstantes testimonium perhibebant in omnibus, exceptis Rogero eleemosynario et Willelmo de Sanctæ Mariæ ecclesia, qui tacebant. Sed et gravamina satis perfunctorie audivit, parvipendens omnia, ut nobis videbatur. Nobis itaque in igne et spiritu ardoris locutus est, jurans se archiepiscopo nunquam deesse, cum ei in nullo obedire velimus; sic et omnes dicebant, sed nobis verbum nullum loqui licebat, et si quid loquebamur, in derisum acceptum est, et pro frivolo reputant. Rex tandem secretius iniens consilium vocavit nos et Randulfum de Glanvilla, Hugonem Bardulfum, ibique minas multiplicavit et terrores, et inter cætera mendacia et enormia, multa de fugitivo et maledicto vestro objecit, Rogero scilicet Norreis; et furori suo finem imponens jussit nos apud Wintoniam expectare, donec cum

 EPISCOPUS.

The bishop of Ostia professes his fo. 59^{ro}. regard for the king of France. Illustri et magnifico, Dei gratia, Philippo Francorum regi, Theobaldus eadem gratia Ostiensis et Velletriensis episcopus, perennem in Christo coronam et devotam fidelium orationum instantiam. Quod regiam magnificentiam vestram sincerissima affectione diligamus, et ad exequendum quicquid vestrum spectat commodum et honorem, promptissimam geramus devotionem, licet majora desint argumenta, qualibuscunque tamen indiciis sublimitati vestræ credimus innotuisse. Ad hoc autem pluribus inducimur causis, tum quia velut naturali jure semper nos regię majestatis vestrę profitemur alumnum, tum quia illustrissimi genitoris vestri quondam inter nos favor exuberavit. Unde semper vita comite vobis etiam specialiter tenemur obnoxii. Quia igitur plurimum de clementiæ vestrę gratia præsumimus, confidenter audemus vobis suggerere, quod et apud Deum mercedem vobis adquirat, et apud homines nominis vestri gloriam splendidiorē efficiat. Credimus ad aures regias calamitatem Cantuariensis ecclesię, et oppressionem reverendi conventus ejusdem, qui intus et extra rebus omnibus ab archiepiscopo suo spoliatus extremis afficitur miseriis, pervenisse. Quę si plenius vobis innotuerunt, eo certius habemus vos doluisse, quo generosa regum Francorum successione velut hæreditario jure transfusum est in vos, ut semper in afflictionibus bonorum misericordes geratis animos, et cum omnibus hominibus invincibiles sitis, a sola pietate vincamini. Inde est quod cum præfatę ecclesię fratribus, regię majestatis pedibus profusi quo humiliter possumus, supplicamus, ut pro amore Dei et reverendi martyris Thomę atque nostrę humilitatis, qui vestri penitus sumus, pro salute etiam animę vestrę simul et regis illustrissimi progenitoris vestri, qui præfatum martyrem, ipsamque ecclesiam speciali amore dilexit et fovit, amico vestro domino Anglorum regi scribatis, et diligenter

CCXLII. HENRICO REGI ANGLIÆ THEOBALDUS OSTIENSIS EPISCOPUS.

June.

Illustrissimo principi nobisque in Christi visceribus dulciter amplectendo et devote recolendo, domino Henrico, Dei gratia, regi Anglorum, duci Normanniæ et Aquitaniæ, et comiti Andegaviæ, Theobaldus divina miseratione Ostiensis et Velle-trensis episcopus, in præsentī feliciter et in futuro regnare perenniter.

The bishop of Ostia salutes the king of England.

Vetus est sententia quam nos quotidie recentem experimur, quia præsumptuosa res amor est, et plena audaciæ, quæ nihil se posse diffidit, nec timet in rebus difficillimis apud amicum repulsam. Inde est quod non solum pro nobis, sed et pro amicis in causis præsertim honestis, ad thronum celsitudinis vestræ confidenter petituri accedimus, nec illius affectus, quo vos teste Deo diligimus, majus dare possumus indicium, quam quod apud sublimitatem vestram omnia nos justa posse confidimus. In præsentī vero negotio, si nobis aures clementiæ vestræ pateant, non tam nobis fatebimur præstitum, quam gloriæ et honori provisum. Urit enim animam nostram et spiritum cruciat, quicquid vestri nominis serenitatem obnubilat. Rogamus igitur, patienter audite, ut et vos Deus in tempore die tribulationis exaudiat, clementer exaudite. Cantuariensis ecclesia in regno vestro fidei mater et Christianæ religionis signifera, per multa temporum volumina in dignitatis suæ statu quiete processit, et divini cultus obsequio gratiaque religionis suaviter circumquaque redoluit. Unde nunc quietem ejus turbare nihil aliud fore credimus, quam divinitatis sacrario manum violentam inferre. Scimus autem quod in mundo futura sint scandala; "verumtamen, Væ homini illi per quem scandalum venit." Credimus autem prudentiam vestram non latere quanta in promptu sit materia scandalorum, si opus illud quod venerabilis frater noster Cantuariensis archiepiscopus in ejusdem ecclesiæ præjudicium, immo scandalum et ruinam aggressus est, habeat consummationem. Vetus enim proverbium est, quod inter disparem mores non potest esse certa amicitia firmaque concordia. Si igitur illic alterius possessionis et sectæ viros intruserit, erit priori et legitimæ ecclesiæ illa fictitia et adulterina, lancea in latere et clavus in oculo, et stabit altare contra altare, quod divina lex penitus detestatur. Volentibus enim singulis sua jura defendere et aliena mutilare, erit infinita materia jurgiorum, erunt sectæ, dissensiones, animositates, quæ omnia plurimum valebunt ad perditionem animarum. Avertat hoc Deus, et regia magnificentia vestra. Quis enim erit status ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, cum matrem suam tabescere viderit in angustia et mœrore. Timendum ne in se ipsam divina ecclesia desoletur, et certe turbata ecclesia regni negotiis pax et honesta quies esse non poterit. Sufficere vero deberet ad malum quod his diebus ab inimicis crucis, qui extra sunt, tam misere dilaceratur ecclesia, maxime transmarina, si non etiam interius a domesticis evisceretur. Et certe inter omnes hodie principes Christianos ad opprobrium Christianitatis diluendum, et sanctæ civitatis in qua Dominus nostram operatus est salutem citius subveniendum, tum sapientiæ, tum divitiarum et potentiae, tum etiam maturi consilii intuitu, præcipuum speratur a vobis et expectatur suffragium. Sed quomodo transmarinæ ecclesiæ poteritis vel debetis intendere, nisi prius eam quæ regni vestri caput est, studeatis pacificare? Proinde supplicamus pedibus sublimitatis vestræ, et in ea qua vobis fide et amore tenemur, omnino consulimus, ut præfatam ecclesiam in eo statu quo usque ad hæc tempora, quæ certe extremo jam vicina credimus, duravit, pacifice conservetis, nec aliquid fieri permittatis quod insolentia novitatis scandalum in ecclesia Dei generet; et gloriosæ opinionis vestræ, quod absit, splendorem obnubilet. Nihil autem regię celsitudini vestræ magis accedit ad gloriam, quam ecclesiarum statum tranquillare, et singulis sua jura illibata servare. Quod vobis scribimus, testamur Deum et horrendum Ejus tribunal, quod juxta datum nobis a Deo intellectum, et ad honorem vestrum et pacem regni vestri spectare confidimus. Valete.

intuitu remittatis, attendentes innocentiam nostram, nec vindicantes aliorum peccata in nobis. Si peccavimus, publice puniamur: sin autem, quod ecclesia Cantuariensis, de qua omnes Anglorum reges non solum fidem Christi sed etiam coronam regni sumpserunt, quæ usque modo libera exstitit, captivatur et conculcatur ab hominibus, cum sit mater omnium in regno Anglorum manentium; in Christo Jesu vobis dicimus, timemus ne novitates multæ et malæ subito oriantur, quarum principia etsi nos sensimus, forsitan exitus alios quam nos tanget, nec transire permittet immunes, sed involvet. Quis hanc novitatem non admiretur, quod dominus archiepiscopus dicit nos debere de eo terras et possessiones nostras tenere? cum jam per quingentos annos et eo amplius, a tempore scilicet magni Theodori, qui terras partitus est, et utrique parti suam portionem assignavit, conventus in pace possederit portionem suam, et libere administraverit. Quod et cartæ regum et pontificum plenius attestantur, ex quarum tenore perspicuum videre est, quod usque ad hæc infelicitatis tempora, archiepiscopus nihil juris vel dominationis plus habebat in terris monachorum quam monachi in terra archiepiscopi. Et ne super hoc quisquam dubitet, proferantur in medium carta Sancti Ædwardi regis, et Sancti Anselmi archiepiscopi, et aliæ multæ regum et pontificum. Quod autem dicitur Lanfrancum divisisse terras, ideo est, quod cum Normanni, capta Anglia, omnium ecclesiarum terras occupassent, rex Willelmus ad instantiam Lanfranci eas resignavit; Lanfrancus vero singulis ecclesiis reddidit quod antea possederant, sibi autem quod antecessorum fuerat suorum retinuit. Quod autem tempore Lanfranci non sit facta terrarum divisio, testantur chirographa ante tempora beati Dunstani facta, inter archiepiscopos et monachos de concambiis terrarum multarum. Sed et hæc attestantur scripta vetustissima, quæ lingua Anglorum Landbokes, id est terrarum libros, vocat. Quia vero non erant adhuc tempore regis Willelmi milites in Anglia sed threnges, præcepit rex ut de eis milites fierent ad terram defendendam. Fecit autem Lanfrancus threngos suos milites; monachi vero id non fecerunt, sed de portione sua ducentas libratas terræ dederunt archiepiscopo, ut per milites suos terras eorum defenderet, et ut omnia negotia eorum apud curiam Romanam suis expensis expediret; unde adhuc in tota terra monachorum nullus miles est, sed in terra archiepiscopi. Terram tamen ducentarum librarum adhuc habent archiepiscopi. Pro quibus omnibus valde miramur quod vel talia dicit, vel quod assensum ei præbetis, quod vestra auctoritate et in nomine vestro, per ministros vestros, res et possessiones nostras invadit, cum nihil

CCXLIV. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI FRATRES R. ET J.

Brother John and his companion have been prevented by the letters of the convent from coming to England.

Alpini frigoris et fervoris Italici experti violentiam, itinere remenso ad vos venissemus, nisi nos, venientibus occurrens, epistola vestra subsistere præcepisset. Quod quidem, quamvis desiderio universitatem vestram videre desiderantes, tanto levius ad præsens sustinemus, quanto faciem vestram lacrymis abstersis exhilaratam in proximo speramus intueri. Certi enim rumores a curia jocundos in brevi expectamus. Nunc ergo, sicut hactenus, confidentius state in Domino, exemplo vestro pusillanimes confortantes et genua debilia roborantes, ^{Isaiah xxxv. 3.} ut in odore unguentorum vestrorum currant qui prope sunt, et ^{Cant. i. 3.} qui longe, fortitudinem vestram cognoscentes, ad bravium ^{Phil. iii. 14.} supernæ vocationis. Itaque "durate et vosmet rebus servate ^{Virgil, Æn. I. 207.} "secundis," habentes quasi præ oculis semper appensum, quia "non sunt condignæ passionēs hujus temporis, etc." ^{Rom. viii. 18.} Cæterum operibus opus est, non sermone, immo sermonibus opera reddenda sunt. Auditores namque obliviosi facti, et ^{S. James i. 25.} non factores operis, beatitudinem promissam non adquirunt.

When they were at Arras, they heard that the bishop of Arras was going to Canterbury with proposals from the archbishop.

Audivimus apud Atrebatum positi, et a quodam amicissimo vestro didicimus, quod ad vos veniat Atrebatensis episcopus a domino Cantuariensi directus, pacem si quo modo possit inter ipsum et vos reformare. Forte per amicos et familiares suos in curia commorantes edoctus est, quid super negotio nostro ecclesia Romana statuerit. Si ergo venerit, consiliosum nobis videtur, ut ei ad purum omnia patefiant, status videlicet ecclesiæ, privilegia et cartæ et injuriæ quas passi estis nullatenus supprimendæ. Eaque in omnibus utendum erit modestia, ut si pacem bonam obtulerit, vos paratiores inveniat; si tamen mandatum domini Cantuariensis et litteras rati ostenderit, salvo in omnibus jure ecclesiæ pro qua dimicatis, quia nec juri vestro vos aliquatenus consulimus renunciare, nec in novæ illius ecclesiæ constructionem consentire, sed nec dominum priorem aut fratres ad hoc ulla unquam adversitas inclinabit. Sin autem animos vestros tantum tentare venerit, æque miseros et mendicos videat, et constantes ac lætos inveniat. Quicquid enim viderit aut audierit, domino primum Cantuariensi et multis passim aliis palam fieri non dubitetis. Viam mandatorum Suorum doceat vos Dominus.

They advise the convent to be open with the bishop, but firm.

Answer to No. ccxlv.

Quoniam undique nobis sunt angustiae, et variae sunt varia inter tormenta sententiae, nescimus quid debeamus eligere, vel cujus consilio potius adhaerere. Consiliosum autem nobis videtur quod, si de adventu domini Atrebatensis certi fueritis, et in qua forma et in potestate venturus sit, ambo vel alter vestrum, scilicet relictis ibi equis suis, ad instruendum nos de statu curiae et aliis, cum episcopo quasi occasione ipsius ad nos revertatur; si tamen dispendium inde nobis provenire non videritis. Necessarium enim esset et nobis plurimum expediret, si verbum de pace inter reges insonuerit, ut omnes simul ad dominum regem Francorum et alios amicos nostros accederetis, supplicantes ut partes suas pro nobis apud dominum regem et archiepiscopum interponerent, et nostris miseriis subvenirent. Summa vero diligentia et sollicitudo adhibenda est ad inquirendum quid dominus noster archiepiscopus, qui Turonis esse dicitur, contra nos machinetur, quia, sicut audivimus, Cistercium iturus est, moram ibidem facturum, donec veniat cardinalis ille qui venturus est, ut cum venerit, per aliam viam ad curiam accedat, ut nos et eam tam dolis quam donis suis confundat. Quapropter solliciti et circumspecti estote, astutiam hominis timentes, et ei pro posse vestro obviantes. Caeterum si dominus J. cum domino Atrebatensi venerit, dominus R. et H. ibidem subsistant, praestolantes adventum cardinalis, et profecturi iterum ad regem Francorum propter vina, et alibi ubi nobis et causae nostrae viderint expedire. Valete.

The convent wish brother John and his companion to return, if it is true that the bishop of Arras is coming.

We must appeal to the king of France, if there is likely to be peace.

We hear that the archbishop is at Tours, and is going to Citeaux to avoid the legate.

CCXLVII. CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS FRATRIBUS CANTUARIENSIBUS.

The convent inform the brethren in France that the bishop of Arras has visited them, and has read their charters: he advises them to send to the chapter at Cîteaux, where the archbishop will be. (Sept. 14.)

When we told him we could not send messengers, he advised us to write a moderate and quiet letter to the chapter, and promised to use his influence for us.

Veniens ad nos dominus Atrebatensis, facto sermone brevissimo, dixit se gratia orandi venisse, et quia nobis sicut fratribus suis intimo cordis affectu compatiebatur, partes suas pro nobis, si quam viam pacis inveniret, libenter et affectuose interponeret. Lectis igitur in præsentia ejus cartis regum et pontificum et indulgentia domini Urbani et litteris ejus, sed et litteris domini Clementis omnibus tam archiepiscopo quam clero et populo et nobis directis, consilium nobis dedit ut ad capitulum generale, cui ipse et dominus archiepiscopus, prout certius æstimare dicebat, suam exhibebunt præsentiam, aliquem de fratribus nostris cum litteris conventus mitteremus, supplicantes attentius ut pro nobis domino archiepiscopo supplicarent; seque ad hoc ex parte sua plurimum elaborare velle dicebat, ut statum nostrum et gratiam suam ad petitionem eorum et aliorum bonorum virorum facilius et citius animum inclinaret, et cum demolitione operis statum nostrum reformaret, quam si invitatus et ab alio coactus hoc facere. Dixit etiam eum forsitan quasi aliorum precibus a proposito velle revocari, quam contra voluntatem suam aliqua occasione compelli. Ad hoc respondimus, quia facultas illuc mittendi defuit, et quod omnino exire non licuit. Nuper enim cum ad dominum regem de fratribus nostris vellemus transmittere, ad portam cœmeterii retenti sunt et exire prohibiti. His auditis postulavit, ut litteras sine amaritudine et cervicositate aliqua per eum ad capitulum generale mitteremus, et ipse, operante gratia, vota nostra ad effectum perducere laboraret. His itaque gestis, omnes coram eo prostrati sumus, gratias ei referentes, et obnixius deprecantes, ut vice nostra capitulo Cisterciensi supplicaret, quatenus pro nobis apud dominum archiepiscopum intercederent. Sicque a nobis recessit, non divertens ulterius in domum archiepiscopi, ubi prius hospitatus fuerat, calumniatus a nobis quod excommunicatis domini papæ communicaverat; inscianter tamen. Eapropter mandamus

Placet nobis quod de domino Atrebatensi scripsistis; videturque nobis ipsius ad pacem vestram attentius implorandum auxilium, et eum in necessitatibus vestris erga capitulum Cisterciense constituendum intercessorem sive advocatum. Cum enim, sicut annis retroactis, nunc quoque utpote in majori anxietate constituti, proposueritis ipsi capitulo supplicare, prudentiori ac magis devoto non credimus negotium posse committi. Litterarum ergo formam, et licet rudem materiam, [quas] vel ipsi episcopo vel capitulo destinare poteritis, vobis transmittemus. Caeterum nec ejus nec alterius promissis arbitramur ab eo quod statuit curia Romana recedendum, nec impetratis, quantumcunque rigoris habeant, utendum segnius, sive legatus venerit, siye litterae emanaverint, quales petimus; sed omnimodo instandum, ut possit status ecclesiae, pro quo statis, reformari, scientes toti curiae Romanae complacere, ut dominus archiepiscopus ad omnia restituat Cantuariensem ecclesiam, quae tempore promotionis ejus habuisse dinoscitur. Ecclesiam quoque novam omnino dejiceret; et ad hoc decretum est eum quocunque modo coarctari debere, salva sibi in omnibus quaestione juris. Nec credimus decretum hoc, etiam si cum omni pecunia sua Romam ierit, posse mutari. Verumtamen dubium esse non debet, quin domino priore inconsulto, et qui cum eo sunt fratribus, integrum vobis sit, cum demolitione operis illius profani, ablata recipere, cum ipsi hac tantum de causa

Consiliosum nobis itaque videtur, aut omnes nos aut aliquos nostrum in partibus istis moram facere, ut quæ agenda sunt in cismarinis valeamus expedire, ubi constat hac tempestate negotium quocunque modo agi oportere. Verum ista quæ mandastis de profectione archiepiscopi ad capitulum Cisterciense, decanum Remensem nobis similiter noveritis enarrasse, qui se a magistro Joseph cuncta seriatim asserit didicisse. Sed nec sic evadet manum cardinalis, aut litterarum laqueum adventantium. Velocior insequetur quocunque diffugiatur. Misimus ergo puerum quem destinastis in Normanniam, omnia inquirere, et super iis quæ a sapientibus jubetis inquire: certiores effecti, vos certificare curabimus, videlicet de nuncio Cistercium dirigendo, si opus fuerit, et aliis. Scimus tamen, quia per se patet, litteras ad capitulum dirigendas patentibus esse non debere, sed clausas. Moram majorem facimus quam vellemus apud Sanctum Bertinum, ubi dominus abbas et fratres socialiter nos recipiunt: quandoque, ne eos nostri tædeat, ad alia monasteria transimus. Quasi ergo semper apud Sanctum Bertinum residentes, sæpe Withsand mittimus ad magistrum Henricum, quærere si mandatum aliquod habeat ad nos directum a vobis. Nos quidem, quia bene fartis oculis Roma recessimus, expensis non indigemus, ideoque nisi Romani essemus, possemus vobis aliquid de paupertate nostra transmittere. Parcite itaque, si potestis, saltem animabus nostris, et absolvite nos. Remittimus puerum hunc veteriorem lapide ad vos infirmatum. Consilium ei date, et exhibete humanitatem quam potestis, totum enim pro nobis reliquit, et multum laboravit. Transcriptum indulgentiæ domini Urbani, et sententiæ domini Clementis in malefactores vestros latæ, nobis mittite. Gratias habemus vobis quod nos

September.

Antequam Atrebatum venissemus, audivimus dominum Atrebatensem longe versus capitulum jam profectum, longius quam ut assequi possemus, præcessisse. Unde restat ut nos illuc omnimodis accedamus, nisi forte legatus et dominus prior occurrerint, quorum nobis arbitrio standum erit, dummodo ad capitulum perferantur et domino Atrebatensi litteræ quas destinastis. Itaque prosequimini nos orationibus vestris, quatenus Dominus dirigat negotium vestrum in manu nostra. Speramus enim commodum causæ nostræ ex hoc posse provenire. Super hoc quod nos consulistis, utrum domino papæ etiam nunc scribendum esset, nescimus quid respondeamus. Certi namque sumus litterarum missione curiam minus moveri. Alioquin cum toties contra vos scripserint principes populorum, ad nihilum redacti essetis. Præterea quamvis nuncium nondum acceperimus super hoc certiore, non possumus credere quod legati adventus diu differatur. Unde adhuc expectate, si placet. Quod si scribendum esse decreveritis, summa injuriarum quas tempore domini Urbani sub protectione apostolica, et post appellationem passi estis memoranda erit; conscribatis singula, et quomodo, quamvis adversarii nos tunc incessanter affligerent, a totali tamen subversione ecclesiæ, cujus servi sumus, continuerunt manus suas, formidabilem admirantes viri justitiam et constantiam invincibilem. Deinde tacita mentione Gregorii, hujus qui nunc præsidet tractanda sunt tempora, et jocunde dicendum quam irreverenter et audacter, audito rumore de promotione ejus, omnia invaserunt adversarii, et abominationes temporis illius singulariter exprimendæ. Demum contemptus ejus et ecclesiæ Romanæ ponendus, et potest faciem ejus confundere. Duræ etenim frontis est. Quomodo scilicet in capella contra prohibitionem ecclesiæ Romanæ erecta, clerici denuo ejus auctoritate suspensi celebrant, in loco maledicto et profano, sicut testantur apices apostolici. Quomodo sententiam, quam dominus papa tulit in malefactores vestros, denuntiaverunt presbyteri parochiales solemniter non tenere. Quomodo qui excommunicatos vitant, incarcerantur, et nomen apostolicum

CCL. GAUFRIDO SUPPRIORI FRATER J.

Brother John arriving at Whitsand found his messenger with the copy of the letter to Cîteaux, unable to cross into England, and paid his passage for him. The convent need not be alarmed at the movements of the bishop of Arras.

He gives oracular advice as to the terms to be accepted from the archbishop.

He has some domestic secrets for them.

Veniens Withsand rumores de nuncio quem expectamus inquirere, inveni formam litterarum, quas ad capitulum Cistercii destinare poteritis, multo jam tempore ibi detentam. Pedes enim ad vos transire non potuit, quia intercapedinem locorum et distantiam profundum occupat, nec erat qui naulum non habentem gratis transferret. Dato ergo pro ea pretio, ventis et mari eam commisi. De eo quod putastis Atrebatensem causa pacis vestræ ad dominum archiepiscopum profectum esse, inaniter movemini, neque enim liberum ei esset illuc transmeare etiam si vellet. Unde supervacuum arbitramur de regressu ejus ad vos consilium prudentium inquirere, utrum videlicet si vobis offerret vel demolitionem operis sine redditione rerum ablatarum, vel e converso, recipere deberetis alterum sine altero; et hujusmodi quæ a sapientibus jubetis inquiri. Verumtamen sine omni inquisitione constanter dicimus, quia utrumque sine altero recipere potestis et debetis, et neutrum sine altero solum potestis aut debetis recipere. Utrumque enim, si jus prævalere potest, faciet dominus archiepiscopus, sive spontaneus, sive invitus. Attamen si voluerit capellam illam delere, sustinendum, immo optandum est; si res nostras restituere, non oportet respuere. Qui enim centum absolute debet, si quinquaginta reddiderit, tutius est partem debiti recipere. Si vero solvendo quinquaginta, medietatem alteram debiti detinere voluerit, audiendus non erit. Utrumque ergo sine altero, vobis, ut mihi videtur, placere debet, et neutrum remittendum propter alterum. Apertius dicam. Certum sit vobis neque dominum priorem neque fratres qui citra sunt, sive rerum rapinam approbare, sive in ecclesiæ illius constructionem consentire aliquo unquam modo. De his hactenus. De secretis curiæ non habemus vobis aliqua præter ea quæ scripsimus significare. Sed sunt quædam domestica, quæ vobis innotescere

Inspectis litteris domini papæ et vestra consultatione, quod mihi videtur vobis paucis respondebo. Primo; ad quem spectet excommunicatorum absolutio? Mihi videtur, quia dominus papa super hoc nihil expressit, hoc delegatis esse concessum, ut secundum formam Romanæ consuetudinis, accepta ab illis prius juratoria cautione, quod eorum debeant stare mandato, absolvantur. Quia sicut eis datum fuit in mandatis, ut si malefactores admoniti vellent satisfacere, in sententia non procederent, si cautionem de satisfactione susciperent, ita post excommunicationem, accepta cautione, eos absolvere valeant. Cum autem absoluti fuerint, præstito prius juramento de damnis illatis, si digne voluerint satisfacere, hoc per datos iudices potest expediri. Sed de immunitate infracta et violata, domino papæ poterunt reservare qua poena puniendi sint, an alia quæ canonibus est taxata, scilicet triginta libris examinati argenti, an alia. Ad secundam sic respondeo quæstionem. Excommunicatis nominatim nullo modo licet vobis communicare, immo, eis in ecclesia præsentibus, debetis cessare, et non eos violenter expellere, sed ut exeant commonere. De illis autem qui in genere, nisi crimen eorum fuerit notorium, id est, manifestum et publicum, aliter sentio; quia nisi notorium fuerit, vitari non debent. Notorium autem dico quod ita manifestum est, quod nulla tergiversatione aliquis inficiari potest, maxime cum evidentia delicti ipsum accuset. Si quis ergo vestra manifeste detinet occupata, admoneri debet auctoritate domini papæ ab illis quibus commissum est, ut reddat ablata et relinquat occupata, aut sententia excommunicationis nominatim innodari: nec aliter absolvi nisi fecerint sicut prius dictum est. Ad tertiam sic respondeo quæstionem. De presbyteris Cantuariensibus nihil aliud potestis vel debetis facere, nisi domino papæ ejus contemptum et illorum inobedientiam significare. Quod autem in fine mihi mandastis, ut secundum rescripta domini papæ vobis quid faciendum esset rescriberem, secundum ea nihil vobis certum rescribere valeo, quoniam eorum copiam non habeo, nisi tantummodo istius ultimi quod mihi misistis. Hoc tamen addo; quod si dominus archiepiscopus vel quicumque alius domino papæ non obtemperaverit, vestrum est tantummodo sustinere, et domino papæ contemptum suum significare.

Quos supremæ potestatis indulgentia absolvit, inferioris potestatis auctoritas nullo jure ligare potuit, et si factum est, pro infecto habendum est. Ideoque vobis licuit et licet, tanta fretis auctoritate, et missarum solemnia celebrare, et divini altaris participare sacramentis, cessatis propter illatas injurias; sed interdictum quod posuistis de jure non debetis relaxare, sine digna satisfactione et ablatorum restitutione. De vi majore et metu, nihil aliud possum diffinire, nisi quod docet scriptura, quod vis metusve causa dolove malo factum est, raturum non habebo. Vis major est cui resisti non potest: metus autem debet esse justus, id est, talis qui caderet in constantissimum; hoc est, qui salutis periculum aut corporis contineat cruciatum. Hæc a vobis divina avertat misericordia. Causa vestra in sinu domini papæ versatur deposita. The writer

a general

Quæritis utrum sufficiat, quod in genere excommunicentur ii qui possessiones vestras invaserunt. Ad hoc respondeo, quod qui invasionem fecerunt et a rebus invasis recesserunt, quia actu peccare desierunt, sufficit si in genere excommunicentur. Qui autem adhuc per violentiam res vestras possident, quia factum publicum est et notorium sui perseverantia, nominatim debuissent denunciari quoniam sunt excommunicati. Et si forte jam judex protulit sententiam denunciationis in genere, unde videtur functus officio suo, poterit tamen adhuc manum aggravare, quia secundum formam litterarum domini papæ ei duo mandata sunt, scilicet, ut excommunicatos denunciaret malefactores, et ut faciat ab omnibus cautius evitari. Satis igitur congrue poterit adhuc præcipere nominatim evitari ab omnibus, quos perseverantes in malitia invenerit. Quod autem quæritis de communicantibus excommunicatis, hoc ex auctoritate habemus, quod familia etiam nominatim excommunicati, quæ auxilium perpetrandi facinoris non dedit, communicans domino suo, excommunicatione non innodatur. Illi etiam communicantes excommunicatis ab excommunicatione subtrahuntur, qui officia sua eis quondam legitime assignata adhuc retinent, et in illis officiis excommunicatis obediunt. Magis enim

- videntur officia pristina peragere, quam excommunicatis consentire. Sed hoc generaliter verum est, quia qui communicat excommunicato in genere et non nominatim, quantum ad exteriorem communionem non est evitandus. Cæterum in verbo illo quod mihi commisit ille vester, firmiter perseverat, rogans attentius ut illud effectu complere non differatis; vos facietis juxta quod consilium sapientum dederit. Cæterum si idcirco illud omittatis, quia talia frequenter audistis et obedistis, et tamen frustrati estis a desiderio vestro, hæc sunt verba, ut mihi videtur, non quæ misericordiam provocent, sed quæ iram excitent, et indignationem accendant. Numquid ita arctatus est Dominus, ut certum vobis diem et horam liberationis vestræ constituat? Qui idcirco proculdubio differre videtur, ut gratior et jocundior vobis sit salus cum venerit, magisque Sibi vos in æternum reddat obnoxios et devotos, et ubi diuturnior et acrior fuerit pugna, ibi gloriosior reddatur corona victoriæ. Numquid frustrati estis desiderio vestro? Ergo viribus vestris hucusque certastis? vestra prudentia, inter tot turbines et vehementiores spiritus tempestatum, servata est navicula vestra ne mergeretur in profundum, et in gladio vestro adversantium propulsastis incursus? Qui enim estis, aut quanti, vel quales, ut ante faciem tantorum et talium subsistere possetis, nisi manus Ejus esset vobiscum? nisi quia Deus erat in vobis, forte vivos deglutissent vos. A Domino factum est istud, Qui quantum vult et quamdiu vult flagellari permittit filios Suos, Qui de pœnis innocentium ridet, et aurum Suum in igne conflare facit, donec examinetur et probetur nihil terrenitatis habens, et purgetur septuplum. Non frigescat, quæso, caritas vestra, nec tepescat devotio, quæ magnam habet remunerationem. Pulsate perseveranter ad ostium Amici vestri, Qui etsi non dabit vobis eo quod amicus vester sit, propter improbitatem tamen vestram surget et dabit, facietque vindictam electorum Suorum clamantium ad Se die ac nocte. Nonne Ipse est qui discipulos Suos prima et secunda et tertia vigilia, hoc est fere tota nocte, in mari vento flante contrario vexari permisit, et quarta vigilia, videlicet, in fine noctis veniens dixit, et stetit spiritus procellæ? Attendite qualem Se gessit erga illam devotissimam mulierem Chananaeam, cui magis profuit humilitas, instantia, et constantia propria, quam discipulorum supplex petitio.

excommunicatos denunciare, nisi congrue satisfecerint, ut quod propter publicum peccatum in eorum absentia factum est, hoc in eorum præsentia denunciatur. Et sane de duobus tenentur satisfacere, scilicet, de excommunicatione facta a domino papa, cui subjacent, secundum tenorem sui No. ccxiii. mandati, usque ad condignam satisfactionem, et præsumptione invasionis; et hoc si resipuerint ante denunciationem; si autem post, crescit pœna propter denunciationem. Satisfacere autem volentes ante denunciationem, ut excommunicati sunt absolvendi, privatim tamen, non in facie ecclesiæ, nec cum solemnitate magna, quia solemnitas non processit in excommunicatione, nec subsecuta est in denunciatione. Executores autem facere debent absolutionem pœnitentibus ante denunciationem, coram iis quos advocare voluerint. Sed de iis malefactoribus dico, qui tantum consenserunt, aut rerum vestrarum occupatarum custodiam habuerunt. Qui autem violentas manus in clericos vestros vel conversos injecerunt, vel inferentes violentiam septa vestra infregerunt, credo ipso facto in canonem latæ sententiæ inciderunt, et ideo sine speciali mandato summi pontificis non poterunt absolvi; sed agentes pœnitentiam non sunt denunciandi, si congrue satisfacere voluerint; hoc est, si satisfactionem congruam dederint de corrigendis excessibus suis, ubi et quomodo dominus papa dictaverit. Excommunicati ergo remanent propter qualitatem delicti de juris rigore; sed non sunt denunciandi pro correctionis satisfactione; possunt tamen forte restitui ad communionem hominum, non sacramentorum ecclesiasticorum, si pœnituerint et satis dederint, donec de voluntate domini papæ certi fuerint iudices delegati. Quod autem dixi de absolutione consentientium tantum, et res vestras occupatas custodientium, magis de benignitate quam de rigore faciendum est. Rigor enim juris exigit, quod omnes sint excommunicati, et per dominum papam absolvendi.

CCLV. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI HUGO CLERICUS LUCENENSIS.

Hugh of Lucca sends his good wishes to the convent.

Venerabilibus fratribus, dominis et amicis carissimis, superiori et universo conventui Sancti Christi Cantuariæ, Hugo eorum fidelis clericus et amicus verus, ab Eo salvari et a persecutionibus Pharaonicis liberari, Qui populum Suum, inimicis submersis, a peste nefanda et servitute Ægyptiaca liberavit. dolus circumvenit licet exquisitus, nec impetus infringit, licet effrænatus. Cæterum, fratres mei et domini, optime nostis, strenui militis moris esse, tunc primum totas validi pectoris in hostem exserere vires et exercere, cum hunc hostis impetit viribus totis: nec integrum credit fore famæ suæ vel gloriæ, quasi sub quadam discretionis ineptæ tamen cautela, hostem declinare, vel ignominiosæ præsidio fugæ vitæ consulere. Nemo itaque nostrum et in juris et dignitatis ecclesiæ nostræ tuitione ictus declinet ensium qui non imminet, et quos minatur nemo, nec de fuga cogitet, cum nondum decertaverimus ad sanguinem. Declinat quippe qui, cum possit in hostem se erigere, dissimulat: fugit vero qui hostis voto cedit et voluntati, vel penitus consentit. Reducite, si placet, ad præsens tempora præterita, revocetur in medium qui in medio nostrum proprii cruoris prodigus, ne in vos invalesceret malitia in vos malignantium, cervicem suam supponere veritus non est ictibus gladiatorum. Cohæreant opto membra capiti: sequantur ducem milites, oves pastorem, confessores martyrem, etsi non passione, saltem tribulatione, et quidem si causa facit martyres, immo quia non nisi causa martyres facit, dummodo Christus in causa sit, audeo et vos martyres profiteri. Intuemini perspicacius, et considerate causam in vobis agi Christi et ecclesiæ, dum ea repetitis, quibus spoliati sunt in membris Suis et filiis Christus in ecclesia. Constanter confidite in Christum, Cujus donativum nemo accipit qui legitime non certaverit. Obsecro vos, fratres, viriliter agite, state fortes in ecclesiæ defensione, ne frustra videar hoc jam tertio pro vobis parvitatem meam tot periculis exposuisse ac mortibus, quas nemo novit non expertus. Utinam vobis aliquid scriberem, unde animus vester aut lætior aut saltem minus tristis efficeretur; sed quia undique emergit angustia, vix aliqua reperitur consolandi materia; tamen, ne pagina mea penitus videatur inutilis et jejuna, moneo si placet attentius, quatenus, spe boni illius quo tenditis, quicquid in via contingat hilari vultu suscipiatis, quia sicut nec malus in cœlo, sic nec justus aliquid habet in mundo. Igitur scitis quia sancti patres vestri resistendo principibus, non cedendo, non dispensando pacem iniquitatis, sanguine suo nomen meruerunt in terris, et in cœlis gloriam. Alternæ enim sunt rerum vicissitudines, et sicut de successibus prosperis lapsus est facilis, sic et in contrarium; nec prudentiam vestram latere credo nihil esse tam firmum cui non sit periculum e vicino. Hæc idcirco vobis scribo, ut lubricos fortunæ casus melius sustineatis, nec diffidatis, sed talis sit vestri constantia, ut sponsa Christi in futurum Honorii possit gaudere victoria. Cæterum scitote quia quotidie memoria vestra ibi agitur, ubi Patri Filius immolatur. Item vobiscum sum et vobiscum maneo, licet corpora disjungat locorum intercapedo. Valete in Domino.

Nunc vero cum ei in virtute obedientiæ a domino papa sit præceptum, ut constructam ecclesiam et canonicos ibi factos destruat et ad nihilum reducat, et locum profanum habeat et excommunicatum, viros qui ibi cantaverunt post prohibitionem ab officio et beneficio suspendat, et ad ejus præsentiam eos suspensos transmittat, his omnibus spretis, nihilominus¹ in prædicto profano et maledicto opere procedere et monachos per se et suos desinit insævire; dicens cum domini papæ litteras recepit, "Ego faciam quod debeo facere, et si Deus voluerit et rex voluerit, perficietur quod inceptum est." Et ut hoc melius posset effectui mancipare, canonicos a domino papa suspensos, et excommunicatam ecclesiam, et illa quæ ad ea pertinent, fecit et ordinavit quod a regis ministerialibus in potestatem et manus regias omnia sunt assumpta, prohibentibus et contradicentibus ex parte regis, ne aliquis ausu temerario præsumeret aliquid pronunciare vel facere contra canonicos vel prædictum locum. Dedit enim dominus papa ad exequendum quod jusserat executores. Nunc aperitur et manifestatur quod publica fama clamat, et clamavit sæpius, videlicet quod archiepiscopus nec appellationibus defert, nec curiam timet vel reveretur, et ipsius dedignatur observare mandata. Auditum est enim quandoque ab ipsius ore, sicut The archbishop speaks contemptuously of the Apostles. ¹ Cor. vi. 2. "Quid est hoc, quod duodecim vassali inscii et inlitterati judicant totum mundum?" Hoc sæpius cum privatis suis jam dixit, ut dicitur. Propera, domine, viriliter resistere tantis malis, et murum vos opponere pro domo Israel, quia, ut ab omnibus fere in Anglia prædicatur, quod nisi monachi, sicut justum est, prævaluerint in causa ista, Romana curia nec timebitur nec appretiabitur amodo in Anglicanis partibus, nec appellationibus deferetur, et fides Christiana, quod absit, deducetur ad nihilum. De capellæ vero novæ constructione, unde inter vos contentio est, ait, beatum Anselmum quondam Cantuariensem archiepiscopum propositum habuisse capellam construendi in eodem loco; cujus propositum beatus et gloriosus martyr Thomas adimplere cupiens, capellam incepit construere, sed præventus martyrio non potuit opus consummare. Verum licet, causa suo Marte currente, adeo confidat de jure suo, ut nullum credat sibi imminere juris sui dispendium, paratus tamen est in arbitros, videlicet in personam nostram, quam erga universitatem vestram credit habere non modicam affectionem, et in duos episcopos de Normannia, et duos de Anglia, vel in duas ecclesiasticas personas quæ non sint de corpore vestro, et duas laicas, scilicet Randulfum dominum de Glanvilla, et dominum Rogerum fratrem vestrum, vel duas alias hujusmodi legitimas personas quas eligere volueritis, nobis accitis, compromittere, ratum habiturus quicquid nos super querelis vestris bona fide fuerimus arbitrati. Ordinabit etiam capellam, quod in nulla tantam habebitis subjectionem, nec aliqua adeo constituetur vobis obnoxia sicut illa, et omnimodam præstabit cautionem, et securitatem Cantuariensi ecclesiæ et vobis tantam providebit, quod succedentibus temporibus de aliquo dispendio non oportebit vos formidare.

CCLXVII. REGINALDUS BATHONIENSIS EPISCOPUS CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI.

The bishop of Bath is always ready to help the convent.

Pro varietate rerum, causarum et temporum, mutantur et variantur status negotiorum. Id nimirum, per Dei gratiam, statum vestrum reddidit in melius commutatum. Super quo cum consilium nostrum decreveritis expetendum, quia in omnibus, quantum cum Deo et ratione possumus, vobis volumus assistere, præsentibus litteris vobis commodum duximus significare, ut ad dominam reginam aliquos de vestris quantocius poteritis studeatis destinare; quatenus, ea mediante, cæteris quoque amicis vestris quos ob hoc domino comiti Ricardo, cum locus et opportunitas fuerit, individuos adhærere feceritis, inter dominum et patrem vestrum et vos vel pax ad honorem Dei et ecclesiæ Suæ procedat, vel lis debitum finem accipiat. Illi communi archidiacono¹ nostro, sicut rogastis, jam pridem scripsimus et adhuc scribimus. Paratissimi quidem sumus et fuimus et semper erimus, ubicunque ratio vestro astiterit desiderio, pro viribus nostris una cum cæteris amicis vestris beneplacitum vestrum gratanter efficere, et in bonis efficaciter adimplere. Et si omnes scandalizati fuerint, ego, Deo gratiam ministrante, nunquam scandalizabor. Bene valete, et mei in orationibus vestris, vestri gratia, non sitis immemores.

CCLXVIII. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI QUIDAM AMICUS.

Cantuariensis ecclesiæ dolor et fratrum nostrorum gemitus mea penitus conturbant viscera, nec spero inde convalescere, dum mater mea cum filiis in eo quo detinetur languore contabuerit, et si morbo illius occurrere mihi daretur oportunitas, nec flammæ nec flumina, cum Dei adjutorio, debitam quam ei teneor exhibere obsequii mihi eruerent prosecutionem. Verum ubi morbo venienti non occurritur, ibi invalescet infirmitas; ubi autem ipsa excreverit, ibi curritur in desperationem, et solius Dei relinquitur arbitrio, qui antea sub Ipsius gratia per hominis industriam poterat relevari. Rogus² qui accenditur in Cantuariensi ecclesia jam excrevit in immensum, quicquid attigerit consumit, nec aquis maris extinguitur, quoniam amaræ sunt. Opus est igitur rore cœli ut ardor ille possit saltem mitigari. Non est hic ponere carnem brachium suum, vel confidere in filiis hominum in quibus non est salus. Solius Dei est succurrere, ubi humanum defuerit consilium. Vivit Deus meus, et anima mea, quia si præsentia mea his temporibus utilius posset consulere matri meæ, de absentia mea non haberet nullatenus querelari, maxime cum magis expediat ei quam circa eam gero devotionem servari illæsam, quam si cum ipsa læsa læderetur et ille, cujus læsio ad præsens nullum sibi poterit conferre solatium. Nec crimen transfugæ vel desertæ mihi militiæ, nisi insimulatæ, timeo opponere posse, dum vitalis spiritus in meo duraverit corpore. Et si respexerunt quidam

ad merita præteritæ vitæ, de futuris per Dei gratiam non haberent vel modicum dubitare. Meminerint plane agonis mei, doloris et angustiae, in quibus periculis, et ut insipientius dicam, in quibus falsis fratribus desudaverim; quoties cum ad littus appulerim, repulsus sum retro ab ipsis qui in ipso littore parabant insidias, id proculdubio attendentes, si gubernaculum navis a manibus meis eriperetur, se posse pro voto vela extendere, et utinam non in exterminium innocentum, quos nisi sunt pro viribus naufragio committere, et hoc quæstus causa. Cum autem tunc temporibus universitatem non petivissent, me unum et solum pro universis ventis exposuerunt et mari. Si vero inter has ipsas procellas natantem me viderint, et periclitantem navem, vel manus extendere, ipsis obtruncatis manibus, cum iis qui naufragantur in ea si poterunt, in profundum demergent. Id pro certo speculantur, quibus cura est fratribus procurare ruinas, si quomodo possent, quos Scyllam viderunt evasisse in Charybdim detrudere. Sub hac enim tempestate prævalida eousque in suum fervent exitium, ut malint se perire cum periclitantibus, ne periclitantes permittantur ad portum redire salutis. In hoc igitur cœli turbine, non est hominis sed Dei mari et fluctibus imperare, et si dormierit Dominus, excitet eum clamor periclitantium, quibus clamantibus et ego conclamabo, "Salva nos, Domine, quia perimus." Voto enim et voce, non viribus, hic dimicandum, ubi litem dirimit solius Dei misericordia, non humana industria; ibi recurrendum est ad conscientiam, ubi non est gloriandum de justitia. Id enim timendum, ne hanc amaritudinem expresserit a deliciis pristina quorundam immisericors et voluptuosa conversatio: in patrem exulem manifesta ingratitude, ejus sanguinis pretium distractum irreverenter et consumptum abusive. Hæc præsens sæpius monui et dolui. Hæc absens continue moneo et doleo, ne qui patrem exulem adica-verunt, dum tribularetur, ab ipsius paternitatis sinu exulent et ipsi tribulati; vel qui ipsius sanguinis pretium alienaverunt a Dei sanctuario, alienentur et ipsi ab Ejus sanctificatione. Quid enim aliud prætendit ista perturbatio, nisi quod aperte datur intelligi, ut qui patri denegarunt in angustiis consolationem, angustiati a patre recipiant desolationem, et qui patris substantiam dissipaverunt injuriose, a patris vultu dissipati arescant ærumnose? Et quia ego ipse, licet alterius excessus immunis, in altero tamen nimis aliquando excedens, cum talibus partem posui non modicam, idcirco proinde tremens adhuc meum expecto judicium. Et quia dum præsens fui, a paternis obsequiis me nimis alienavi, inde est quod doleo, et dolendum esse dolens defleo, me ab ipsius patris longius alienari consortio.

Gal. vi. 10. Caritatem accensam nequit extinguere locorum distantia, nec aquæ interfluentes separare. Incepti vestri rigor et justitiæ æquitas commendatur ab omnibus, maxime autem a domesticis fidei, qui honorem vestrum sitiunt et ecclesiæ libertatem; hi sunt filii vestri et confratres, qui se opposuerunt pro domo Domini, defensores pro lege Israel; hi oppugnantur nequiter sed resistunt viriliter, et nisi eis surripiatur justitia, spes de lite est, et excrescit victoria. State ergo et pugnate nobiscum in prælio Domini signiferi, quia causa Christi est in defensione, nec vos deterreat magnatum supercilium, quia minor est fortitudo Moab quam ejus arrogantia. Ecce palam facta est sepulta iniquitas, et prædicatur super tectum quod prius latuerat absconditum. Cujus consilio huc usque et viribus usus sit noster adversarius, jam liquet lippis etiam et tonso-

Relinquit oves suas ad regiæ voluntatis arbitrium, et quasi per se non satis et supra modum conculcaret ecclesiam Dei, cornua peccatorum acuit in ejus subversionem. Sed ne terreamini in ventilabro excussionis, quia non permittit Deus fideles Suos supra posse tentationis sustinere, verum ut digni inveniamur pati pro Eo Qui incomparabiliter pro nobis passus est. A memoria vestra elabi non festinet gloriosi martyris nostri Thomæ et capitis inaudita persecutio, rerum suarum privatio, et qui ei titulo affinitatis esse suspicabantur, singulorum proscriptio. Sed jam pro labore requiem, pro confusione æternitatem, pro sanguinis effusione victoriam et felicitatem. Una est vox omnium, una deprecatio singulorum, ut Deus ecclesiam Cantuariensem, quam tanto et victorioso decoravit capite, dignetur et nobis membris suis in hac subvenire tribulatione. Verumtamen agnoscit dilectio vestra, quia si sanguis a nobis exquiratur, ecce pro causæ hujus tuitione et ecclesiæ Cantuariensis libertate, nos ipsos, quia nil aliud superest, gratanter impendimus, quia malumus mori in bello quam videre dies malos et ignominie, ordinis scilicet nostri subversionem, et sanctorum patrum nostrorum exhæreditationem. Ad universitatis vestrae notitiam desideramus pervenisse, quod cum in ecclesia Cantuariensi, a tempore beati Gregorii per beatum Augustinum Anglorum apostolum ordo monasticus institutus, et ibidem indesinenter fuerit observatus, prædicta ecclesia variis castigata est afflictionibus et flagellis, tum hostilitatis obsessione et incendio, tum pontificum suorum proscriptione et martyrio. Nunc autem in diebus istis novissimis, in quibus nec loco in quo Ipse Dominus passus est et sepultus, visus est pepercisse, acriori eam tentatione fatigari permisit. Satis enim universitati vestræ innotuit, qualiter dominus Cantuariensis archiepiscopus, postquam ad sedem apostolicam pro injuriis ab eo nobis illatis appellavimus, et priorem nostrum cum quibusdam fratribus nostris ad prosequendam appellationem de communi consilio transmisimus, rebus nos et redditibus spoliavit universis, et qualiter, quod hucusque inauditum, armatorum manibus murum curiæ nostræ perforavit, et ostiis officinarum nostrarum usque ad ipsum claustrum ostium violenter effractis, et victualibus nostris asportatis, nos intra ecclesiam et claustrum obsedit. Qualiter etiam monachis, qui ei processionem offerre venerant, equos abstulit, et domum pedes remisit, et servientes nostros contra nos jurare coegit,¹ et clericos in cœmeterio captos in carceres projecit et vincula, et clausis cœmeterii januis, ne quis ad sanctorum corpora vel ad nos ingredi posset, victualia quæ nobis a fidelibus mittebantur ablata retinuit. Nuper autem coram regni magnatibus suppriorum nostrum denunciavit excommunicatum, imponens ei quod Cantuariensem ecclesiam auctoritate sua suspenderit. Quod utique universitati vestræ ita non esse attestatur omnes et singuli. Non enim per eum sed de communi consilio factum est, quod post tanti enormitatem sacrilegii, in contemptum sedis apostolicæ, celebrare non præsumpsimus. Omnes enim et singuli, quotquot sumus, a primo usque ad novissimum, ab exordio hujus causæ, sicut et antea, in unum consensimus et consentimus, solo illo perditionis et proditoris [filio]² excepto, scilicet Rogero Norreis, qui exivit a nobis quia non erat ex nobis; de cujus vita et moribus ad præsens melius est tacere quam loqui. Quapropter universitatem vestram rogamus et obsecramus in Domino, ne ei, quia infidelis est et infideli deterior, fidem habeatis in aliquo, scientes eum perfidum et fugitivum conventus et ecclesiæ Cantuariensis proditorem, et a beato martyre Thoma, et ab omnibus prædecessoribus ejus et successoribus usque ad istum, excommunicatum. In omnes enim qui statum ecclesiæ perturbarent, aut secreta capituli malitiose detegerent, prædictus martyr et sancti prædecessores sui et successores sententiam dederunt anathematis. Devotionis tuæ grata dilectione diu didicimus, et multis exvestra fervebat devotio. Nec decepti estis, quia quanta caritate vos diligamus, nec stilo nec verbo exprimi potest. Sane super incolumitate vestra et fratrum nostrorum certiorari cupientes, vestræ caritatis nuncium recepimus, gavisī de incolumitate vestra et fratrum nostrorum, simul et de constantia. De tribu-latione autem vestra in tantum atterimur, quod vellemus ad mortem impendi pro pace vestra. De statu autem nostro noscat vestra dilectio, quod manus Domini supra æstimationem nos afflixit. Cum enim causa nostra optatum haberet processum, et de omni petitione nostra obtinenda certi essemus, cum etiam dominus Ostiensis exsecutor causæ nostræ nobis esset assignatus, subito arripuit eum gravis infirmitas, quæ nec dimisit eum per quatuor dies usque in præsentem diem.

Postmodum quidem, quod gementes et dolentes loquimur, nos
et fratres nostri infirmati sumus in tantum, quod dominus Radulfus, cum Haymone et Eadmundo et Symone et Humfrido, viam universæ carnis ingressus est. Nos quidem, scilicet ego et frater Willelmus, tanta infirmitate constringimur cum domino Ostiensi, quod vix de vita nostra speratur. Hæc vobis scribimus dolentes quod angustias vestras augemus, nec tamen de misericordia Dei diffidendum est; Qui quanto durius percutit, tanto novit perfectius sanare, et post multas tribulationes plenissimam tranquillitatem novit indulgere. De consilio vobis respondemus, quatenus sitis constantes, quia nunc constantia

De excommunicatis autem illis quos dicitis neminem velle vitare, vos autem non posse, id nobis consilii est, quatenus eos quantum potestis evitetis; ubi autem non potestis, patienter sustineatis. CCLXXIV. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI FRATRES CANTUARIENSES.¹

Varios viarum eventus quos incidimus Cistercium proficiscentes, mala quoque quæ pertulimus, nec nobis transnumerare promptum esset, nec vobis forte audire vacuum. Ea vero quæ negotium contingunt, quod pro Christo suscepistis, et ecclesiæ defensione in qua Deo militatis, et nos enarrare convenit, et vos nosse necessarium arbitramur. Itaque abbates omnes ordinis Cisterciensis, quos obiter convenimus, qualitatem enim negotii jam fere nullus ignorat, compati credimus et condolere, in qua confunduntur, afflictioni vestræ; spondentque omnes et singuli ea quæ ad pacem vestram sunt diligenter efficere, publice protestantes novæ foundationem ecclesiæ sibi omnimodis displicere. Vident nimirum, si steterit, ordinem et honestatem ecclesiæ vestræ ex ipsius affinitate dispendium certum et detrimentum incurrere. Dominus quoque Atrebatensis, qui dominum archiepiscopum nuper instantius, ut asserit, super hac re convenit in Normannia, in nullo ab aliis dissentire videtur, sed tanto altius dolore morderi, quanta dolorum immanitatem propius² intuitus, malorum causam aliis subtilius intuetur. Cæterum, ut ex verbis ejus colligimus, in patre nostro animum paternum erga filios nondum invenit. Putant aliqui, quod absit, eum in morte fratrum nostrorum consolatum, in proposito persistendi confidentiam accepisse majorem, quasi miraculose fecerit pro eo Dominus, cum potius tot casum filiorum ac talium, cui causam dedisse videtur, deflere credendus sit. In quorum morte, tanquam hostia pro universitate vestra soluta, Domino complacato, speramus quod cessabit quassatio; et reputabitur vobis labor hic ad justitiam, a generatione in generationem, et usque in sempiternum. Corpora autem eorum in pace sepulta sunt, et vivet nomen eorum in sæcula, Ps. cvi. 30, 31. felicemque negotii vestri consummationem, quam viventes non ^{14.} potuerunt, mortui a Patre misericordiarum obtinebunt, immolati pro omnibus vobis. Absit enim ut quia ceciderunt, eos aliquis causam injustam credat confovisse. Dixit namque ethnicus non minus verus quam impius, "Cereat successibus opto, Ovid. Epist. II. 85. " Quisquis ab eventu facta notanda putat." Propheta quoque a se prope illectus et abstractus, cum malos in mundo florere, se autem quasi jam sine causa cor suum justificasse sentiret, "Si dicebam," inquit "narrabo sic, ecce nationem filiorum Ps. lxxiii. 15.

Sed dum carorum fata deploramus anxii, factum fere excidit quod narrare habuimus. Ut ergo digressi regrediamur ad propositum; quod in capitulo Cisterciensi actum est super negotio vestro accipite. Capitulum trecentorum, ut dicebatur, patrum ingressi, veniam petita, verbum breve fecimus, in quo et summam rei gestæ, et scandalum per omnes jam terras diffusum non omisimus, petentes ut laboranti ecclesiæ remedium ferre curarent, memoresque fierent quo sanctorum pretio empta fuerit, et redempta sæpius, quatenus in statu suo conservari posset. Ad quod dominus abbas Cisterciensis, respondens, "Scimus," ait "quia Cantuariensis ecclesia nobilis semper exstitit; sed "miramur si tantæ religionis vir aliquid in ea secus agit "quam deberet, nisi quia ut homo falli potest." Domino itaque Atrebatensi miserias vestras protestante, et ad pedes omnium pro vobis provoluto, adjecit abbas, "Libenter sive "per nuncios, sive per litteras, quoad poterimus ad pacem "ecclesiæ ipsius elaborabimus, dolentes quod conventus talis "taliter anxiatur." Certi ergo quia efficient viri tanti quod pollicentur, state constanter, in quo et statis, nihil mutati pro morte fratrum vestrorum, qui vos ipsos pro ecclesia vestra superimpendere parati estis. Dominum priorem salvavit Dominus propter Semet ipsum in medio millium morientium, quos pestilentia Romana invasit. Dominus quoque Ostiensis de morte communi, ut vos redimat, liberatus est, et ecce veniet desideratus tot temporibus, et replebitur gloria domus Domini in æternum. Quod ad supplicationem nostram capitulum fecit generale, quantum in scriptis est, docebit transcriptum litterarum quas destinant. Nescimus si quid amplius acceperunt in mandatis abbates qui ad dominum archiepiscopum mittendi sunt; credimus autem quia modicus aut nullus erit hujus laboris effectus. Valete, et etiamsi vos occiderit, sperate in Dominum.

CCLXXV. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI FRATRES R. ET J.

Meminimus mandasse vobis quod, auditis rumoribus de morte fratrum nostrorum, deliberatum habuimus inter nos, alterum nostrum, me videlicet Johannem, ad dominum priorem destinare desolatum, alterum vero, me videlicet fratrem R., ad nundinas properantem, quæ jam instabat solutionem debitorum intendere. Verum hæc cogitantes comprehenderunt litteræ vestræ, quæ nos fratres adventantes præstolari jusserunt,

Apud Cluniacenses ergo eos aliquamdiu expectavimus, ubi, quando veniret dominus Ostiensis, qui venturus est, minus certificati sumus, quamvis quod venire in proximo debeat, per monachos Cluniacenses, qui Roma recenter redierant exanimes, viris validissimis ipsius ecclesiæ ibi morte detentis, certiores effecti. Fratribus igitur quos emisistis moram majorem quam putabamus facientibus, ad nundinas Provini¹ revertentes, circa Catellionem quos obvios habere putabamus amisimus. Nos vero sexaginta marcas, quas misistis ad redimendam fidem nostram, Remis remisimus, ibi reservandas usque ad domini prioris adventum, de quo Provini per Romipedam quendam certificati sumus. Dixit enim quod in ingressu Veronæ eum viderit revertentem, et fratres duos cum illo, qualitatem personarum describens. Ipso etiam die asseruit se in mensa domini Ostiensis in eadem civitate comedisse. Fratres autem illos superstites credimus dominum Radulfum quondam eleemosynarium esse et magistrum Willelmum. Monachi enim Cluniacenses, de quibus supradiximus, nobis dixerunt quod illos tantum superstites reliquissent. Erat vero Anglicus quidam natus de Radingis, qui hoc nobis enarravit. Alii quoque multi jam rumoribus istis consonant, ut de cætero quod dicitur minus esse possit ambiguum. Unde ego frater J. statim adventantibus perrexissem obviam, nisi loculi leviores expensas omnino negassent. Quocirca una cum socio nostro domino R., Remis regressus, viaticum accipiens iter arripui. Spero autem prosequentibus orationibus in brevi quo tendo pervenire. Cæterum dominum Ostiensem idcirco in veniendo diutius detineri credo, quia Lombardiam totam commotam et conturbatam invenit, et paci in transitu suo reformandæ, sicut filium pacis decuit, operam dedit forte, et a summo pontifice mandatum accepit, certe de officio legationis debuit, ut quasi pulchri sint pedes annunciantis pacem. Itaque hoc modicum sicut hactenus expectate longanimes, omnem sollicitudinem vestram projicientes in Deum, quoniam Ipsi cura est de vobis. Licet enim una cum Unigenito Ejus videamini in cruce derelicti, pugna tamen vestra desiderato aut certe meliori fine claudetur. Qui tenet teneat donec de medio fiat. Doceat vos Dominus vias Suas.

Tempore illo et die quo se apud Gadintunum malitia tota exseruit et excrevit, interfuisse me recolo, quando videlicet dominus Cantuariensis coram clero et populo de conventus Cantuariensis improbitate conquestus est. Ibi præ omnibus, excepto Cestrensi,² sævire cœpit in vos Elyensis.³ Sed neque Rofensis⁴ ibi os suum oppilavit. De Randulfo de Glanvilla hoc solum ad præsens dicere sufficiat, quod neque personam tuam diligit, neque conventus constantiam approbat, quam nuper in auribus meis nomine improbitatis obfuscavit. De decano Elboracensi⁵ nulli dubium est, quin damnabilis illius capellæ canonicus exstiterit. Decanus autem Lincolnensis,⁶ cum omnibus placere studeat, præsumi debet quod operam daturus sit diligentem, ut publicæ potestatis desiderio satisfaciat. Qui igitur sani capitis consulere vobis audeat, ut ad pacem inter vos et archiepiscopum reformandam, cum litteris capituli de ratihabitione viros mittatis quos isti ex vobis elegerint? Æstimo tamen eorum nomina de partibus transmarinis allata fuisse. Licet autem de nullius fratrum fide sit dubitandum, dubium tamen esse non potest, quin alius alio flexibilior sit, sive constantior. Ut ergo absque præiudicio melioris sententiæ, animi mei consilium proferam, si qui mittendi essent ad tam arduum negotium, universitatis vestræ debet esse electio. Verum quia nec id tutum esse video, maxime cum in hac causa status ecclesiæ vestræ perpetuo pendeat, et quasi de ecclesiæ anima agatur, cum etiam obsessi sitis ex præcepto archiepiscopi, nec tutum sit vobis egredi, cum etiam desint vobis et equi et expensæ et cætera ad iter necessaria, utpote qui stipe vivitis aliena, nec domini regis denarios velitis accipere, cum etiam fratres vestri in curia Romana causam ipsam prosequantur, necnon et regula beati Benedicti id habeat, ut quoties grande aliquid negotium ecclesiæ agitur, coram omnibus agatur, quia Deus quod melius est sæpe revelat juniore:—consulo ut duos de fratribus nostris discretis eligatis, de quorum fide non dubitetis, non tamen magni nominis, et eos ad dominum regem mittatis, devotas ei

His autem exemplis ego quidem, sicut omnes nostri, in tribulationibus vestris particeps, quas quidem quasi proprias mihi reputo, jamdudum vos ad tolerantiam parum instructos non timeo, cum mente vos viriliter stetisse considero, sed ne forte tædium¹ subrepat admoneo. CCLXXXIII. CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS CIVIBUS LONDONIENSIBUS.

The convent remind the citizens of London that they are deprived of the benefactions of their ancestors, and reduced to beggary.

They entreat help for the sake of S. Thomas their fellow-citizen.

Ad universitatis vestræ notitiam satis credimus pervenisse, in quanta mendicitate et miseria sumus constituti, et qualiter non solum redditibus quos antecessores vestri dederunt ecclesiæ Christi, sed etiam rebus et possessionibus omnibus quæ in mundo habuimus, nudati et spoliati sumus, ita quod ab octavis Epiphaniæ usque hodie, nec unius diei victum de omni substantia nostra habentes, pauperum et mendicantium et etiam Judæorum viximus eleemosynis. Eapropter universitatem vestram rogamus attentius, quatenus intuitu Dei et gloriosi martyris Thomæ, qui de stirpe nobilitatis vestræ gloriosam duxit originem, nos in carcere positos eleemosynarum largitione visitare velit, reducentes ad memoriam quot et quantas persecutiones et angustias pro ecclesia Cantuariensi martyr pretiosus sustinuit. In cujus sinu ne victualium deficiamus inopia, subvenire nobis non dedignetur liberalitatis vestræ clementia.

CCLXXXIV. OMNIBUS CANTUARIENSIS ECCLESIE FILIIS ET AMICIS.

The convent remind their friends of their unhappy state.

Miserabilis matris vestræ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ statum miserabilem, sicut universitatem vestram non ignorare, ita etiam vos credimus filiali ex affectu super ipsius desolatione lamentabili non posse non dolere. Cum enim post tot et tantas quas a retroactis temporibus sustinuit calamitates et miseras, universa enavigasse pericula et jam portum tranquillitatis crederetur adepta, irruit super eam repentina inundatio, et excita subito tempestate sævissima, non solum ventis et undis sed et omni fortunæ exposita, cum non sit præter Deum qui redimat vel salvam faciat, inter fluctus et scopulos jactata, eo magis æstimatur morti proxima, quo ab humano videtur auxilio destituta. Hinc est quod nos, licet indigni, qui cum matre nostra navigante navigavimus, et jam cum naufragante naufragamur, pro conservandis et dignitatibus et privilegiis ejus et statu a quo nunquam antea destituta est; ab octavis

Epiphaniæ rebus et redditibus spoliati universis, in luctu et lacrymis viximus, et adhuc utrumque fidelium vivimus elemosynis. Nolentes enim manus degeneres jugulo matris nostræ injicere, domino nostro archiepiscopo nec potuimus consentire, ut juxta eam in subversionem ejus aliam fundaret ecclesiam, et de bonis ipsius ditatam illam erigeret¹ alterius in ruinam. Unde ab ipso patre nostro supra modum et numerum contumeliis et injuriis affecti, et idem divitiis et possessionibus spoliati universis, quia durum esset et detestabile matrem nostram in extremis laborantem deserere, malumus in ipsa et pro ipsa victualium inopia qua quotidie cruciamur deficere, quam pro deliciis temporalibus legem Dei et libertatem ipsius prostituere. Eapropter universitati vestræ omnes et singuli supplicamus attentius, quatenus considerantes quam speciosum sit humanæ naturæ ornamentum misericordia, fugientibus ad vos in mendicitate et miseria sinum pietatis vestræ aperire dignemini, et de facultatum vestrarum abundantia paupertatis nostræ relevare inopiam, scientes pro certo, quoniam in proximo una cum matre vestra oportebit inter nos fratres vestros fame et inedia deficere, nisi maturius eisdem studueritis subvenire. Præsentium igitur latorem fratrem nostrum dilectioni vestræ commendantes, rogamus, quatenus eidem fidem indubitata[m] habeatis, et iis quæ ex parte nostra vobis proposuerit, aurem et animum inclinare velitis. Quicumque autem matri suæ aliquid in necessitate ista pietatis impenderit solatium, constituimus eum participem fieri omnium beneficiorum quæ in ea fient in perpetuum. Valete.

Licet caritatem constet non posse aliquatenus tædio affici, timemus tamen ex importunitate fieri onerosi. Unde super crebris petitionibus nostris veniam postulantes, et vestrum ex nostro metientes affectum, rogamus et petimus, quatenus dominum nostrum regem, qui, sicut accepimus, in partes vestras causa transfretandi venturus est, pro nobis adire dignemini, eumque super negotio nostro securius et sollicitius convenire, in veritate ei suggerentes quod ad eum venire volumus, sed fratres nostri qui ad hoc destinati fuerant, cum essent in procinctu itineris, obseratis cœmeterii januis semel et iterum retenti sunt, et exire prohibiti. Sed et hoc eidem domino nostro, divinæ miserationis et nostræ mendicitatis intuitu, insinuare dignemini, quod de cætero, nisi citius nostra nobis restitui faciat, oportebit nos publice panem nostrum mendicare; et ut hoc constanter possetis asserere, noveritis pro certo illud in proximo necessario fieri oportere. Valete semper in Domino, et incessanter divinam gratiam pro nobis fratribus vestris implorate.

Quoniam, sicut audivimus et certi sumus, dominus noster archiepiscopus antequam transfretaret, Willelmo filio Nigelli præcepit, ut per vos incarcerati liberarentur, rogamus vos sicut amicum nostrum dilectissimum, et eum de quo non minus quam de nobis confidimus, quatenus operam adhibere velitis, ut prædicti incarcerati per vos vel litteras vestras quamcitius a carcere eruantur. Hoc enim, sicut credimus, plurimum cedet honori et laudi, et nobis qui circumquaque affligimur, et quodammodo cum ipsis incarceramur, refrigerio et consolationi. Valete, et intuitu gloriosi martyris Thomæ et generositatis innatæ, petitionem nostram effectui mancipare dignemini.

Paternitati vestrae dolentes significamus, quod dominus et pater noster prior mortuus est,¹ sed et fratres nostri omnes præter fratrem Willelmum mortui sunt, quem invenimus infirmum et debilem, et omnes ministros similiter infirmos. Dominus vero Ostiensis, ad quem solum sperabamus habere refugium, quinto die post adventum nostrum ultimum clausit diem. Nos autem propter tam sinistros eventus supra modum contristati sumus, nec est unde adhuc aliquid consolationis accipiamus. Monemus caritatem vestram quantum possumus, ut ea qua cœpistis constantia stetis in causa Dei, et alios ad standum firmiter hortemini, et si dominus archiepiscopus forte voluerit vobis priorem præficere, omnino resistatis, donec recipiatis super hoc mandatum domini papæ, quod speramus vos in brevi accepturos. Scripsissemus quidem vobis aliter, si omnimodam fidem haberemus portitori. Valete semper in Domino.

The brethren sent to Rome inform the subprior of the death of the prior and the bishop of Ostia.

They beg them not to accept a new prior from the archbishop.

Quibus dominus prior in morte ipsorum gladio compassionis acriori confossus, tandem martyr accessit, ne videlicet ultra desiderator bonus differretur a regno, sed magis, sicut particeps fuit laboris et pugnae, ita consors fieret retributionis et gloriæ. Solebat quippe dicere in valetudine sua, fratribus jam præmissis ad requiem, cum ei² sospitas a medicis mendacibus promitteretur, sicut accepimus; "Non placet Deo ut convalescam; eam potius post fratres meos." Nonne in his verbis finem laboris vobis videtur affectasse, ac zelo sancto, quasi gloriæ sociorum invidens, ne derelingeretur timuisse? Ps. xix. 5.

Noveritis dominum Radulfum legatum in crastino conceptionis beatæ Mariæ iter arripuisse, sed sicut gigas currens viam bene complet dietis, nisi cum negotia occurrentia transitum ejus impediunt ad modicum: cito enim expediuntur. Itaque in plenitudine potestatis accedit, ita ut in litteris legationis ipsius generalibus expressum audierimus, quod quicquid egerit, ita ratum et firmum haberi debeat, ac si de ore domini papæ processisset. In negotio quoque nostro omnem habet coercionem, suspendendi videlicet et excommunicandi, sicut in forma ei præscripta continetur. Quæ si quid habet contra voluntatem vestram, hoc appositum non dubitetis contra votum nostrum. Sciatis autem dominum legatum eam omnino primum juxta desiderium nostrum composuisse; sed inimicus homo Octovianus, cum in audientia domini papæ et omnium cardinalium legeretur, quædam addidit quæ non petebamus, quædam vero quæ obtinuimus subtraxit. Cæterum nihil in ea est quod displicere debeat, cum regulam æquitatis non excedat. Placuit ergo, ut eadem forma litterarum dirigeretur quæ prius, cum adjectione quorundam. Quod vero de monachis adjectum legitis, idcirco appositum credimus, ut pudori domini archiepiscopi vel in aliquo parceretur. Omnia enim impleri necesse est, sicut diffinita sunt. Itaque fratrem Helyam consilio domini cardinalis in curia dolentes dimisimus, ne quis falsa suggestionem possit aliud impetrare. Speramus autem, immo confidimus, quod dominus legatus omnia efficaciter exequetur. Duo enim litterarum paria quæ accepimus, sic partiti sumus, unum per dominum Ihonam par præmisimus, quatenus domino archiepiscopo, si in Anglia est, per vos sub aliquorum testimonio porrigantur. Si vero citra mare adhuc detinetur, per fratrem H. et R., si in cismarinis agit, vel ipsum Jo. deferantur. Credimus autem eum in Angliam rediisse ex quo verbum de pace inter reges audivimus. Alterum par sibi dominus cardinalis habet, ut, si neglexerimus, ipse ostendat. Expediret autem propter terminum diffusioem, ut quæcunctis in manus domini archiepiscopi devenirent. Quæ tamen inspicienda paucis, scribenda nulli, ante porrectionem exhibeantur, ne adversariis nimis tempestive innotescant, neque enim credimus ad eos pervenisse. Verum nec præpropere domino archiepiscopo dentur, ut videlicet possit ante tempus executionis ad curiam mittere; sed legato non longe agente, quindecim diebus vel tribus septimanis ante adventum ejus ut multum non minus sibi posset prævidere.  Itaque dicentibus nobis quod fratrem quendam in curia reli-facimus sine majori consilio. Sed efficite modis omnibus, quibus potestis, ut non videamini de domino cardinali confi-

 Ego frater J. ei adhibeo, ut voluntatem ejus inquiram et con-

CCXCII. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI FRATER JOHANNES.

Brother John briefly recounts the sorrowful history of his journey.

He borrowed a mark at Rheims, and proceeded to Rome, hearing uncertain rumours of the death of the brethren.

Quod in aliis aliquando me culpasse memini, hoc in me ipso vituperandum invenio, quod videlicet fratres qui in curia militant eis qui domi sedent non summam gestorum tantum, sed singula seriatim non enarrant. Ego autem si quando congero scribendo aliqua, digero tamen nulla, tangens magis quam ordinans narrationem. Verum si dolores nostros, qui quotidie succedentibus calamitatibus innovantur, attendatis, eo facilius dabitur veniam, quia malorum ingruentium meminisse, nedum dicere, minus sufficio. De quorum tamen numero pauca pono, ne me merito incuriæ possitis arguere. Domino Ostiensi moram faciente majorem, de mandato vestro Romam regressus sum, coram Deo loquor, unam tantum habens marcam argenti ad viaticum, quam a domino A., canonico Remensi, mutuo accepi. Cui ne paupertas læta adesset, de morte fratrum rumor certus insonuit, quamvis qui et quot decessissent adhuc esset incertum. Consolabar autem dolores meos sic agens mecum, "aut non est ut aiunt, aut minus aliquid res "habet quam loquantur." Sæpe enim multiloquus rei magnitudinem rumor excedit, et veris aliquid semper affingit multitudo narrantium. Pro certo ita est. Et procedens inde obvium habui qui diceret, fratres omnes mortuos esse usque ad unum. Singulorum autem notitiam se certissimam habere comprobavit, exprimens quis, quando obisset, et quis esset supra. Dolens itaque ac desolatus, de vita domini prioris, quem superesse asseruit, consolationem accepi. Necdum enim Dominus causam Suam damnasse videbatur, cum principali pepercisset. Progresso paululum occurrit puer domini Lugdunensis, dicens se domini prioris exequiis interfuisse, diem designans et locum. Adjecit etiam requisitus, dominum Ostiensem a pestilentia communi ereptum, promptum quidem iter arripere, sed adhuc debilem. Transgressus Senam et jam Romæ proximus, mortem domini prioris cum hospite qui eum bene noverat deflevi; et inter loquendum, ut materia major esset lacrymarum, "Vere," inquit, "causæ vestræ et ecclesiæ mors ipsius detrimenti multum attulit, sed obitus domini Ostiensis recens acriori universos pungit et perurget aculeo." Ad quod stupidus, "Is ergo," inquam, "mortuus est?" Et ille, "Non morietur," inquit, "in æternum, et die crastina familiam ejus non hinc longe ostendes, Cluniacensem ecclesiam unde exierunt repetentem." Et factum est ita. Cæterum et in urbe magistrum Willelmum, quem superstitem credideram, aridum inveni et exanimem, et cum mortuis magis deputandum, utpote cui nihil nisi solum diceres deesse sepulcrum. Die autem proximo R. coquum traximus ad sepulturam. Post quem Blundellus cito infirmatus exspiravit. Ego itaque, cum fratribus quos reperi, operam dabam quatenus eorum qui decesserant locum supplerem, non tam sperans industria mea, quæ nulla est, aliquid quam complere labores eorum. Legato tandem quem petivimus nobis deputato, summarium domini prioris quasi mutuo contulimus; statim Hugonem puerum, cum literis factum nostrum plenius continentibus, præmittentes, una cum domino cardinali sequuturi a tergo. Ex quo enim negotium injunctum est, quamvis et eo majus de subventionem videlicet terræ Jerosolimitanæ suscepisset, omnem in utroque habens coercionem, ita festinavit ad ereptionem vestram, ac si extunc sanguis vester esset de manibus ejus requirendus, adeo ut hoc ante alia absolvere decrevisset. Arripuit itaque iter sine mora, et nos cum eo. Cumque præmissum puerum, ut vobis cardinalis adventum nunciaret, crederemus jam dimidium itineris transegisse, invenimus eum apud Senam lecto lethali decumbentem. Johannem, quem solum habuimus puerum, dominus legatus in expensis nostris ad regem direxit. Cui nos cum his, quas sæpeditus

Hugo detulerat, litteras ad vos iterum commisimus Remis perferendas, scribentes A. canonico Remensi, quatenus eas absque dilatione per quemcunque bajulum ad vos transmitteret. Eramus autem quatuor simul. Quintum enim, videlicet dominum Helyam, de consilio domini cardinalis in curia reliquimus, adversariorum insidias elidere, et quod impetravimus nobis illæsum conservare. Dominum ergo Jo. Cf. No. ccxc. litteris ad dominum archiepiscopum perferendis deputavimus, injungentes ei, ut eas nullatenus porrigeret, quousque legatum prope agentem accepisset: fieret autem porrectio solemniter et non sine testibus. Dominum Symonem magistro Willelmo procuratorem dedimus ad instantiam suam. Ego domino cardinali de ipsius adhæsi voluntate, qui statim unum de suis equitem mihi tanquam ministrum assignavit et socium. Cujus equo apud Parmam deficiente, intelligens affectum domini cardinalis circa eum, quod sanguineus ejus crederetur, alium ei equum una marca argenti comparavi, qui in prima dieta impos sui et inutilis factus est; cui ipso die emi alium. Cum itaque dominus legatus et omnes qui cum eo erant, in hoc et aliis multis non sine expensis magnis, ita nobis devinxissem, ut eum in negotio nostro meliorari vel mutari non posse non dubitarem, Papiæ subito infirmatus, Mortariæ autem mortuus est. Vidimus autem exanimem, dominus Symon, magister Willelmus et ego mœrentes, miseri et exanimés. Sed quid multa? Spretis periculis itinerum, periculis fluminum, periculis montium, periculis latronum et cæteris, viam ad urbem remensus sum, omnibus perditis quæ impendimus, præter sumarium domini prioris quem recepi, ipsumque in Alpibus ulterioribus, in monte videlicet Bardunensi amisi. Unde Senam veniens, Hugonem puerum, quem infirmum dimiseram, defunctum inveni. Romam vero cum pervenissem, nuncii domini regis, magister Simon Appulus et socii ejus quatuor agebant in curia, petentes dominum Octavianum ex parte domini regis legatum in Angliam. Hi in primis se nobis adversari dissimulabant, ut aliquid facilius in occulto impetrarent. Deinde petitiones domino papæ porrigere, et ei, sicut audivimus, munera non modica offerre, quatenus eos exaudiret. Erat autem prima eorum petitio de jam dicto legato. Secunda, ut opus auctoritate apostolica inceptum, perfici posset. Tertia, quatenus oblationes Sancti Thomæ domino archiepiscopo confirmaret, et rerum ecclesiæ liberam administrationem, quam ei dominus papa Urbanus indulserat. In quibus cum proficere non potuissent, responsales domini archiepiscopi se ausi sunt protestari. Sed quia nec mandatum habuerunt, nec satisfacere poterant judicatum solvi, non sunt auditi. Versabatur in hoc maxime studium eorum, ut formam negotii nostri, in qua dominus legatus mittitur et adventat, possent inspicere, volentes rem ad communem redigere commissionem, ut magis cognitor fieret cardinalis quam executor. Cæterum dolis eorum cognitis, dominus papa et cardinales omnes se opposuerunt, et quoad negotium nostrum eos remiserunt sine effectu. Injunxit autem illis dominus papa, in virtute obedientiæ, quatenus regi dicerent, quod pro ecclesia Cantuariensi credat eum hoc tempore ita molestari. His recedentibus remansit R. Rothomagensis. Cui quasi insufficienti magister Ricardus clericus regis de Norwich, præpinguis facie et voce rauca, se adjecit, hostis malignissimus, ne vel ad horam fortiores nobis deessent adversarii. Ex hac narrationis serie, in qua pauca de multis compaginavimus, perpendere facile est intelligenti, quantus nos tribulationum ignis exurat, eo utique acrior, quo etiam ad vos violentius effunditur et involvit innocentes. Nulla enim nos æque affligit desolatio, quam morosa nimis consolationis vestræ dilatio. Videte ergo, quia curia Romana jam prope ad nihilum redacta est in rebus et personis omnibus usque ad unum, scilicet Gratianum, nec erit ecclesiæ Dei temporibus ejus qui nunc præsidet respirare, nisi dextera Ejus Qui solus summus est Pontifex mirifice circa eam operetur, et in virtute Sua conterat adversarios ejus. Non possumus omnia scribere, quia hoc rerum numerus et natura non patitur. Unum vobis adhuc, sicut sæpe, significamus, quatenus quocunque modo potestis conditionem vestram meliorare satagatis, ita tamen quod neque in constructionem novæ illius fabricæ consentiatis, neque in posterum privilegia vestra vel cartas concedatis evacuari. Nos vero quicquid egeritis, per Dei gratiam advocatum adducemus disertissimum, et de contingentibus causam, quantum in nobis est, nullum penitus omittentem. Valete.

FRATRES TRANSMARINI. January.

Salutem et a Deo salutari veram consolationem. Cum multa mala nos premant, gravius urimur in malis et angustiis vestris, Deus scit, et minus nostra sentimus, quoties vestra pensamus. Attamen nos adeo circumdant miseriæ multæ, ut videantur, ut minus sapientes dicimus, misericordiæ Domini mille. Videtis enim quia nihil omnino proficimus, sed quoties omnia credimus consummata, emergunt reinchoanda, ita ut damnationis sententiam in nos dicatur Dominus tulisse, et superbiam nostram, quæ nondum cessat, putetur velle destruere. tantum nos in hoc casu consolatur, quod hunc qui decessit cardinalem, arbitrati sunt multi magis contra nos destinatum, maxime cum dominus rex eum et dominus archiepiscopus petissent. Unde eis magis mortuus putatur quam nobis. Verum, si non fefellit nos etiam moriens, nemo in negotio nostro magis affectus fuit: nemo unquam erit. Itaque ad curiam revertimur ne cedere videamur, et quia plures adhuc sunt in curia de quibus confidimus. Vos interim, si se verbum pacis obtulerit, caute agite, quasi de curia nullatenus dubitantes, aut de justitia consequenda. Forte enim occasione litterarum quas suscepit, quæ de consilio omnium fratrum emanaverunt, quas per dominum Jhonam destinavimus, pacem quæret archiepiscopus. Hoc tamen cavete, ne aliquando in constructionem novæ ecclesiæ consentiatis, sed geratis vos tanquam patientes injuriam, non approbantes. Quia si reclamaveritis, omnino stare non poterit. Idcirco autem maxime redimus, ut pacem meliorem, si venerit, facere valeatis. Certi tamen sumus quod legatus nobis non negabitur. Qui, qualiscunque fuerit, statum vestrum pro magna parte reformabit, et in forma præscripta destinabitur, sed forma sæpe melior in manu deteriori multum denigratur. Doceat vos Dominus vias Suas, et dirigat pedes vestros in viam pacis. Si quid in hac parte actum fuerit, vobis quantocius significetur, et mittentur expensæ obviam per aliquem fidelem nuncium. Cæterum de prudentia vestra, domine supprior, vehementius admiramur, et dolemus magis, quem audivimus mortem domini prioris et fratrum lugere inconsolabiliter, de quorum gloria magis debuit exultare. Rachel enim plorans filios suos et nolens consolari, quia non sunt in rebus transitoriis, consolata tamen credit quia sunt, in vero videlicet esse et æterno. Quod si de eorum exitu tali non gaudetis, injuriam facitis domino papæ, qui eos martyres vocat, nisi forte et vos et illos malletis mori confessores. Consolamini itaque, consolamini, immo vos omnis intuens animum sumat et audaciam, et de ducis virtute miles animetur ad pugnam, ne ariete qui ad pugnam procedere debet retro converso, grex quoque totus sequatur inglorium. Et quid est quod timere debeatis, cui etiam si vinci contigerit, gloriosum erit dimicasse? Non estis major quam ut injuriam pati possitis: quam utique melius est pati quam facere; non formidetis calicem Domini bibere, si ad majestatis consortium cupitis pervenire. Scimus quia timor causæ, quasi pereuntis, vos intime movet, quam nullatenus melius potestis aut efficacius, quam hilari malorum sustinentia, et etiam sanguinis si oportuerit effusione, allegare. De misericordia Dei desperandum non est adhuc viventi; confortamini igitur, et confortate pusillanimes, in Deo ponentes spem vestram, scientes hoc vestræ magis expedire saluti, quod Ejus beneplacitum est voluntati. Beneplacitum vero Domino super timentes Eum, et in eos qui sperant super misericordia Ejus. Valete. Qui ira commotus dixit, "Certe non feres; ego feram," et thalamum intravit, et tria capitula apposuit. Egressus a thalamo, duo paria litterarum fecit, mihi tradens unum, et aliud retinuit in eadem forma.² Ego vero nullo modo vobis misissem litteras, nisi ut essetis præinstructi. Cui ego, "non sunt aliqui in mundo qui ita doleant de destructione illius ecclesiæ sicut nos, quia nos omnia amisimus, vos autem in bono statu illam invenistis, et tantæ religionis et tantæ discretionis estis, quod in tali statu illam vel in meliori ponetis." Qui vocavit clericos suos ut caperent me in sermone. Accepta benedictione ab eo recessi. Cui, archiepiscopo scilicet, postea in aula domini regis obviavi, et licentiam recedendi ab eo petivi. Cui ipse cum maxima ira respondit, "Non per me venisti, nec per me recedes." Quare laudant amici ecclesiæ nostræ, ut nullo modo intrem in Angliam. CCCL. GAUFRIDO SUPPRIORI FRATER JOHANNES.

April.

Visis sanctitatis vestræ apicibus, ex infidelis discessu non sum tantum contristatus, quantum de fratrum nostrorum fidelium sospitate lætificatus. Benedictus Deus Qui non amovit orationes nostras et misericordiam Suam a nobis. Bonus est Dominus Qui non deserit sperantes in Se. Quis unquam fiduciam habens in Domino derelictus est ab Eo? Siquidem omnes bilingues et mendaces oportet a vobis recedere, neque aliqui vobiscum fideliter stare poterunt, nisi illi quibus datum fuerit desuper, quod jam de quibusdam experimento didicimus. Recesserunt enim a vobis viri iniqui et mendaces, falsi fratres, nec mirum, quia nunquam vobiscum fide et veritate steterunt. Idcirco turpe, et sicut decet infideles, a vobis discesserunt. Sed si profani discedunt, nihil ad nos. Habent enim adhuc boni in domo Dei socios fideles, et mali similiter complices suos habent, quod enim audiavi jam video adimpleri; didici siquidem a clericis archiepiscopi quando apud Cenomanniam fui, eos non latere omnia secreta capituli Cantuariensis, sed quæcunque sunt dicta vel facta plenius scire, omniumque nomina qui partem illorum foveant bene retinuisse. Sed ne terremini pro talibus. Dominus enim nobiscum est fortis et potens, non timebimus quicquam quicquid nobis faciant homines. Bonorum enim virorum est stabilire cor, et spem firmam in Domino Deo ponere, sicuti vos plenius fecistis. Quapropter obsecro vos, state fideliter; agite viriliter et confortamini, quia misericordia Dei prope est, et in proximo vestra liberatio. Valete:

Universis Christi fidelibus ad quos præsentēs litteræ per-venerint, Gaufridus supprior ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariæ, et ejusdem loci conventus humilis et humiliatus nimium, æternam in Domino salutem. Inter adversa innumera quibus diebus nostris Cantuariensis opprimitur ecclesia, hoc gravius ipsius accedit miseriis, quod infirmitatem quam in membris patitur putridis, sine scandalo et ut oporteret, præcavere non potest. Hinc est quod universitati vestræ notum fieri dignum duximus, quendam non monachum, sed apostatam vilissimum, Osbertum de Bristo nomine, clam a nobis aufugisse, et in scandalum fratrum ecclesiæ quondam suæ, fugam arripuisse, et sub spe prælationis ad dominum nostrum et patrem archiepiscopum confugisse, professione sua et stabilitate quam in ecclesia Cantuariensi fecerat mentita; quod absque maledictione omnium archiepiscoporum qui Cantuariensi ecclesiæ a diebus Christianitatis præfuerunt, sed et maxime gloriosi martyris Thomæ, et proprii oris excommunicatione, non fecit. Si igitur hujusmodi hominem ad vos devenire contigerit, nec verbis ipsius fidem habeatis, nec ut monachum ipsum recipiatis. Prima enim Passionis Dominicæ die post coenam a nobis decessit, sortem Judæ potius eligens, quam cum undecim Christum sequi. Valete.

Si capti fuerint, non curetis. Utinam enim, sicut in alterius adventu vobis scripsimus, et istum legatum in aliquo contra se provocassent. Ideo vero dicimus revocandos, quia si res in partibus cismarinis actitanda est, aliis opus est quam quos destinastis. Verumtamen et circa hoc vobis tempore suo plura mandabimus. Vos autem quod magis expedire videritis, hoc in omnibus facietis. Valete. Johannes Dei gratia, tituli Sancti Marci presbyter cardinalis, apostolicæ sedis legatus, capitulo Cantuariensi. Universitatem vestram latere non credimus, qualiter sacrosancta Romana ecclesia, tanquam pia mater, unica et speciali affectione vos diligit, et pressuras vestras pariter et angustias misericorditer relevare intendens, nos ad partes istas de suo latere pro salute vestra atque solatio destinavit. Nos autem ob reverentiam pretiosissimi martyris Thomæ, et pro dilectione quam ad vos habemus, sperantes obsequium Deo posse reddere placabile, tantum laborem satis bono animo recepimus, et multis non dubitavimus periculis nos exponere, ut veram pacem et dignam vobis consolationem, ducente Domino, portaremus. Sane quia credimus multas vobis tentationes et varias imminere, provida sollicitudine vos duximus commonere, ut sitis filii patientes, et vos murum pro domo Israel opponere non dubitetis, et nulla tentatio nisi humana vos apprehendat. Faciet enim Deus cum tentatione proventum, ut possitis sustinere. Mandamus etiam vobis ut, omni abjecta hæsitazione, plenariam de Romana ecclesia fiduciam habentes, quicquid facitis aut facturi estis, Romanæ ecclesiæ patrociniū nullatenus mandetis oblivioni. Ipsa enim vos proteget semper et defendet, et jus vestrum in nullo periclitari permittet. Valete.

Unde quæ ille mandata reddidit, per harum bajulum vobis destinamus, mutata tamen prout rerum eventus imperavit. Noveritis quod in itinere quo venimus, cardinales, archiepiscopi, episcopi et viri magni domino legato preces porrexerunt affectuosas, ut justitiam vestram vobis conservaret, et ecclesiam vestram indemnem; et spopondit. Legimus etiam ei litteras domini regis, quibus de vobis aliquos cum litteris de rato ad præsentiam suam vocavit, et injurias multiplices vobis illatas exposuimus, adeo ut circa vos bene affectus videatur. Convenit autem nos jam multoties, et vos per nos jussit conveniri, ut viam pacis, si qua inveniri posset, eum edoceremus. Cui sæpe respondimus, quod capella illa dejecta et rerum restitutione facta, credimus nos consilio ejus libenter acquiescere, salvis privilegiis et cartis ecclesiæ. Vos igitur providete vobis in litteris omnibus quæ archiepiscopo vel executoribus datis directæ sunt, de termino quo archiepiscopo porrectæ sunt, et personis quæ porrexerunt, de loco et testibus porrectionis, et aliis nihilominus causæ necessariis, nec multum timeatis Rogeri et Osberti versutias, qui castra Domini deserentes, et transfugæ facti, partem non meliorem sed molliorem elegerunt, nec formidetis Robertum Rotomagensem quasi in curia relictum. Cautum est nobis in ea parte, quantum potuimus, legis peritum de cujus fide confidimus ibi pro nobis statuentes. Johannes quoque monachus nobis dixit non esse See No. ccl. curiam sine monacho nostro, quamdiu ipsum haberet. Robertus quoque Rotomagensis ab urbe tardius egressus est, sed expectantes nos quidnam ageret, cito præcessit. CCCVI. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI FRATRES H. ET J.

Salutem, pacem et Spiritus Sancti consolationem. De legato nostro certam spem et fiduciam habeatis. Dixit enim secretius et quasi in confessione referendo, qualiter multi nos insensatos reputarent qui talem elegimus, qui multiplici ratione ad regis voluntatem possit inclinari. "Certe," inquit, "nec pro rege, neque pro regina, neque pro parentibus meis aut amicis, omittam quin exequar quicquid mihi fuerit ab ecclesia ista injunctum." Et subjunxit, "Nolo ut hoc verbum alicui innotescat." Vos ergo, sicut mihi commissum est, ita accipite ut apud vos sepultum maneat. Mavult enim vos quasi conqueri de eo, quam confidere vel jactanter habere: unde non ausi sumus omnia universitati scribere, ne quis forte malignari cupiens sermonem patefaceret adversariis, et legatum offenderet. Consiliarium habet magistrum Burñ., quem nos in curia habuimus advocatum. Assessorem quoque ipsius speramus, magistrum Angelum notarium, qui domini Urbani litteras et dictavit et scripsit. Quorum uterque nobis devotus est, et per Dei gratiam fiet devotior. Mandate itaque nobis per primum nuncium, utrum magis velitis dicto B. annum beneficium assignari, aut munus aliquod majus simul et semel conferri. Alterum enim credimus expedire. Remittimus, immo quasi præmittimus ad vos J. et S. fratres. Quam cito scierimus ubi causa expedienda erit, quod fieri necesse est vobis significabimus. De consilio tamen legati omnia faciemus, qui nos tum per se, tum per prænominatum B. de agendis nostris instruit. Penuriam puerorum magnam patimur, omnes enim successive lectum ægritudinis inciderunt, usque ad unum. Quidam Romæ relinquuntur, nescio si convalescant. Valete; confortamini et magni animi estote, quia "nunc animis opus est, nunc pectore firmo." Nec moveat vos prioratus ambitio, cui satis fuit subprioratus ad pœnam. Omnia per legatum ordinabuntur; multa haberem vobis scribere, sed quæ amentio mandari nolunt. Valete.

Brothers John and Elias have received from the cardinal private assurances of favour.

His counsel-lor and assessor are also devoted to us: the former should have a reward.

We send back brothers Jonas and Simon.

Venerabilibus dominis et fratribus suis, conventui Cantuariensi, fratres H. et J., salutem. Cenomannis constituti, litteras domini papæ domino archiepiscopo, legato præsentem, porreximus in die solemnitatis Sancti Dunstani. Qui deposito pileo assurgens eas reverenter accepit, aspectum nostrum non aliter ferens quam clavum in oculo. Ad legatum vero conversus solus cum solo diu loquebatur. Interim sedentibus nobis in domo ubi hæc fiebant, videres clericorum alium illudere, alium in se æstquare, omnes humilitatem nostram contemnere.

Mihi allateratus, cujus os maledictione et amaritudine plenum Ps. x. 7.

tum propter domino archiepiscopo indultum in litteris domini papæ, tum etiam ut de nobis certitudinem aliquam haberent fratres. Ipse vero modicum adhuc nos expectare jussit, quia archiepiscopum vocaverat statim venturum. Suorum autem neminem hac vice ad vos transmittere consensit, credens in persona sua venire. Interim ingressus est archiepiscopus, cum quo sermone prius habito secretius, nos vocavit dominus legatus, et archiepiscopus clericos suos omnes, et præ aliis angelos suos apostatas monachos. Et incipiens a tempore ingressus sui, enarrabat domino cardinali, quomodo claves trium obedientiarum in primo capitulo ad pedes ejus positæ fuerint, quomodo quærenti quid hoc esset, dominus prior responderit, "Istæ obedientiæ a vobis teneri debent. Si vultis obedientiariis istis claves resignare, potestis; si aliis, et hoc liberum est vobis." Adjecit etiam quomodo ordinaverat obedientias illas; qualiter thesaurarii ei responderint, et post multa, quod cum vellet eas monachis committere, quidam noluerunt ab eo recognoscere, quidam non ausi sunt, sicut ipsi dixerunt, propter conventum: unde et possessiones ad ipsas obedientias pertinentes in manu sua cepit jure suo usus, non injuriam faciens. Nec omisit qualiter in Normannia personas in eis ordinavit coram domino rege et baronibus suis, et quomodo cellerarius ejus in contemptum ipsius inthronizatus est, et in capitulo tractatus et carcere, et multa in hunc modum veris non vera subtiliter admiscens, et magis veritatem rei supprimens. Ad quæ omnia diximus non venisse nos ad litigandum, nec velle tunc, quamvis possemus bene et vere respondere. Quia tamen frater, qui posuit sedem suam ab Aquilone, injurias sibi illatas frequenter replicavit, asserens me ipsum secundo loco post vos inter alios judicasse, respondi nihil in contemptum domini archiepiscopi illi factum fuisse, sed eum recte et regulariter pro offensa sua tractatum, quod tamen verbum secretum capituli denudaverat, nec alias proponendum. Tunc dominus cardinalis ad archiepiscopum conversus ait, "Domine archiepiscope, rogo et moneo, ut pacem facias cum fratribus tuis; quia si non feceris, necesse habeo juxta formam mihi præscriptam procedere." Cui archiepiscopus, "Præsto sum," ait, "eis omnes possessiones et res suas hic in continenti reddere si voluerint, ita tamen ut mihi faciant quod fecerunt prædecessoribus meis, et mihi usque ad tempus motæ litis." Quo in verbo aliquamdiu hærentes diximus, nos nihil facturos conventu inconsulto, nisi vellet simpliciter et sine modo reddere, aut hoc saltem modo ut ei faceremus quod deberemus facere. Voluntas itaque domini legati fuit, ut aliqui de vobis ad eum venirent, si velletis pace vel judicio litem terminare. Ad quod bene assensum dedit

He thinks that he need not send to Canterbury, as he will go thither soon. The archbishop came in with his fallen angels, and told his version of the story.

How he had ordered and taken account of the obediences; and we had deposed his cellarer and imprisoned him.

We replied that we would not dispute with him. Roger Norreys attacked me as one of those who had sat in judgment on him: I answered that I had done lawfully.

The cardinal begged the archbishop to be at peace with us; which he said he would do, if we yield him the customary obedience. We refused to act without consulting the convent.

The legate preposing that you should send some of the monks to settle with the archbishop, the latter tried to dictate who should be sent, and especially excluded the subprior.

After this meeting I showed the legate our indulgences, and he has written to you.

Unde quamvis pacem diligitis et desideratis, magis eligitis moras temporum licet nimis molestissimas pati, maxime quia si pax inter reges, Domino laboribus ejus aspirante, reformata fuerit, illuc mittere non erit necesse; si procella steterit, nimis erit difficile; rogantes ut ad vos acceleret. CCCXI. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI FRATRES DE TRANSMARINIS.

A.D. 1189.
July 1-6.

Consilium habentes a viris magnis qui nos, ut credimus, in veritate diligunt, et uti volentes quæ se obtulit occasione, ad dominum regem, cum anxiaretur, per medios enses properavimus, sperantes una cum aliis multis, quod afflictionis maternæ filius misereretur afflictus, maxime cum magnates terrarum ei crebro suggererent, quod pro vexatione Cantuariensis ecclesiæ mala irruentia pateretur. Ad quem venientes, salutavimus ex parte vestra, dicentes, "Salutat vos conventus Cantuariensis ecclesiæ " ut dominum." Quibus ille dixit, "Fui aliquando dominus " eorum, et adhuc sum et ero ;" et submurmurans adjunxit ita ut vix audiretur, "et malas gratias vobis, mali proditores." Cumque supplicationem nostram et vestram seriatim audisset, "Modo," inquit, "recedite, et loquar cum fidelibus meis." Et advocans Willelmum de Sanctæ Mariæ ecclesia, aliquam- diu eum convenit. Reversis autem nobis et rogantibus quatenus beneplacitum suum nobis diceret, respondit ; "Jussi litteras " vestras fieri." Sperantes itaque spiritum bonum Domini irruisse in eum, ad cancellariam nos contulimus, ubi litteras domini regis accepimus quas vobis destinamus. In quibus perspicuum est idem animi homini inesse quod prius, quia non facile est posse mutare Æthiopes, nec populum Domini dimittere Pharaonem. Consilio ergo habito, visum est nobis cardinalem et legatum adire, quatenus si dominus archi- episcopus ablata omnia, sicut coram domino legato dixerat, vellet restituere, recipere non moraremur, facturi ei quicquid

Quibus ipse litteras domini regis ostendit, prohibentis ne proficisceretur in Angliam, eo ac domino archiepiscopo circa remanentibus, neque negotium vestrum sine ipsius exsequeretur præsentia. Videntes igitur quod contra regem non præsumeret, replicata necessitate quam patimini, diximus nos res nostras, si redderet dominus archiepiscopus, non refutare, salvo jure nostro in aliis. Misit ergo duos de clericis suis, dicens illis, "Ite ad archiepiscopum, et dicite ei," qui similiter Rothomagi erat, "Fratres Cantuarienses venerunt ad nos, conquerentes quod cum tempus quadraginta dierum elapsum sit a porrectione litterarum, nullum de mandato domini papæ adhuc senserint emolumentum." Dicite præterea, quod restitutionem rerum suarum, quam coram me nuper obtulit, non renuunt, sed requirunt, salvo sibi jure suo in omnibus querelis aliis, loco suo et tempore reservatis. Diligenter autem rogate illum, ut sic habeat in hac parte, ne debeam contra eum durius agere, quia licet ei quantum fas est deferre volumus, Deum et dominum papam magis reveremur." Fecerunt autem nuncii, sicut eis jussum fuerat. Cæterum autem cum die sequenti ad dominum legatum reversi responsum domini archiepiscopi quæsissemus, dixit dominum archiepiscopum velle quidem res vestras restituere, sed dicere, eis restituendas esse qui domum administrant, aut saltem per eos conventui in commune, videlicet, per cellerarium, camerarium et sacristam, et ideo eos vocandos esse. Quod quidem verbum non negantis fuit, sed negotium differentis. Veriorem enim causam subjunxit ille legatus dicens; "Dicit præterea archiepiscopus dominum regem velle tractatui interesse, unde nec vult, nec audet, sine rege quicquam facere." Ad hoc nos, "Ecce, domine, videtis quod quæ obtulit nobis dominus archiepiscopus vobis audientibus, modo negat, et decretum ecclesiæ ad voluntatem regis intendit moderari, differens usque ad ejus adventum, quod de mandato apostolico jam deberet consummasse. De cætero rogamus vos et obsecramus in Domino Jesu, ut quod vestrum est faciatis. Si potestis ad ecclesiam illam transfretare, jus suum ei conservate. Sin autem, quod in partibus istis potestis, hoc facite." Itaque, carissimi fratres et domini, adhuc dilata est dimissio nostra, nec creditur sine manu regis res ullatenus explicanda. CCCXII. HENRICUS REX CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI.¹

July.

Salutem, et Deo miserante in reditu suo in Angliam pacem. Super angustiis et molestiis quibus hucusque oppressa est ecclesia Cantuariensis, supra modum gravamur et movemur. Verum, sicut rei veritas se habet, bene nostis et pro certo debetis habere, hoc neque mē volente, neque approbante, neque affirmante, factum fuisse, sed ad honorem Dei et ecclesiæ vestræ, si per me stetisset, jam diu pacificata fuisset dissensio, quæ tam diu, inimico suadente, inter dominum archiepiscopum et vos est protracta. Nunc autem, sicut audistis, descendit ad partes vestras Johannes tituli Sancti Marci presbyter cardinalis, apostolicæ sedis legatus, ad pacificandum tantæ dissensionis turbinem. Cui quanta poterimus diligentia, ad honorem Dei et domini archiepiscopi et vestrum, assistemus. Sed quoniam in absentia nostra et domini archiepiscopi, in tam arduo negotio debito ordine procedere non posset, vobis mandamus et consulimus, quatenus causæ vestræ meritum sollicite vobiscum revolvatis, usque in adventum nostrum. Et interim in unum convenientes, animos vestros, salvo in omnibus jure et honore ecclesiæ vestræ, ad ea quæ pacis sunt inclinetis, ut in adventu nostro viam ad tanti negotii decisionem faciliorem inveniamus. Misimus Dovoriam priorem Sancti Gregorii obviam domino archiepiscopo, ut ei processionem ex parte nostra offerret, et diceret quod nos de jure ante alios ei deberemus occurrere, si res aliter se haberent. Qui in crastino apud Wingham veniens, misit ad nos prædictum priorem, magistrum Samsonem, et R. vicearchidiaconum, et R. de Sancto Martino, mandans, ut mitteremus ad eum sacristam, camerarium, S. thesaurarium, cantorem, et Alanum, et si quis eorum impotens esset veniendi, alios loco illorum mitteremus. De consilio vero universitatis, ut materiam querelandi tolleremus, misimus S. thesaurarium, Alanum et R. de Cripta. Qui cum eum ex parte supprioris et conventus salutassent, et obtulissent processionem, respondit quod salutem conventus susciperet, sed non supprioris, quia eum se dicebat excommunicasse, et adhuc excommunicatum denunciabat. Et habito consilio cum suis de processione respondit, quod libenter eam reciperet si subpriorem amoveremus, et Johannem de Bremble; cui responsum est quod hoc nullatenus faceremus, etiam de ultimo omnium amovendo. Petierunt præterea, ut mandatum domini papæ et cardinalis faceret. Qui respondit, "Sic feci." Præcepit autem domino Alano ut ordinem custodiret, nec obedientiam aliquam subpriori exhiberet, nec pro subpriori haberet. Qui respondit quod nuncius erat, nec ad hoc missus. Archiepiscopus autem, protensis in cælum manibus, oravit tertio eundem sermonem repetens, "Vindicet me Deus de subpriori." Cui cum responsum esset, quod si subprior esset ubi erit infra centum annos, non desisteremus, sed forsitan fortius ageremus, respondit, "Sciatis quod judicium de eo factum est, et pœna pro foribus est, nisi venerit ad satisfactionem." Minatus est etiam quod Cantuariam veniret, et priorem et subpriorem et alios obedientiarios nobis præficeret. Et his auditis reversi sunt. Erat autem feria quinta. Currentibus vero et crebrescentibus hinc minis de captione et de incarceratione nostra, inde consiliis de humilia-

 mus, sabbato veniens Cantuariam per portam cœmeterii, licet Osbertus de Bristho per aliam viam vellet eum ducere in curiam suam, spreto in itinere consilio ejus, pulsantibus contra eum signis, ecclesiam intravit, procedens in directum per medium conventum usque ad altare, et data benedictione post evangelium missæ, quæ eo veniente de Spiritu Sancto erat inchoata, ad tumbam extra chorum descendit, sicque per martirium et claustrum in cameram suam reversus est. Et quia quosdam de senioribus in ingressu suo ei obviam misimus ad salutandum et respondendum, si proponeret aliquid contra nos, rogavit prius per se, et postea per capellanum suum, W. Wigorniensem, ut cum eo manducarent: qui responderunt, quod, rebus se habentibus ut nunc, non possent ordinate hoc facere, neque cum pace animi sui: sed pace facta libenter id facerent. In crastino misit ad nos abbatem Sancti Augustini, et priorem Sancti Gregorii, sex milites, sex sacerdotes, et cives, et alios multos, offerens nobis possessiones nostras, ut eas reciperemus, salvo jure suo et nostro, et mandato domini papæ. Cumque plures de fratribus nostris ad hoc recipiendum misissemus, dominum R., cui custodiam ordinis, sicut dicebat, commiserat, nomine universitatis ad hoc recipiendum cum aliis adesse præcepit. De restitutione vero ablatorum respondit, quod consilium principis et cleri Angliæ sequeretur, quia thesaurum ecclesiæ, quod in custodia ejus erat, distraximus. Venit dominus A. et alii cum eo, qui, sicut diximus, salvo jure nostro et suo et mandato domini papæ, seisinam possessionum suarum, per librum quendam receperunt. De subpriore vero dixit quod antea dixerat, et adjecit quod eum caperet ubicumque inveniret, quia se dicebat inde auctoritatem habere. Nominavit vero nobis cellerarium in camera sua in ipsa hora dominum Felicem. Quod cum videremus, comperientes nos esse delusos, remisimus ad eum, appellationem nostram renovantes, ponentes nos et nostra sub protectione domini papæ et cardinalis. Cætera præsentium lator vobis poterit plenius enarrare. Unus autem vestrum aut duo ad dominum cardinalem cum litteris conventus cum omni festinatione accedite, supplicantes ei, ut saltem sero vobis subveniat. Secundo excipit capellam; ecclesias, exenia, et possessiones obtulit, cum ea libertate quam habuimus quando eas in manu sua accepit, ita tamen quod cellerarium

CCCXV. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI FRATER J.

After
 August 13.

Brother John writes that he has urged the legate to inform the duke of Normandy of his intention to proceed on his mission.

The duke politely refused to allow it; alleging the burdens of the people, and the risk of papal interference if the legate should be at the coronation.

fo. 79 v^o.

He also advised him to go to Grammont for a time, and send a messenger to England.

Post discessum fratrum nostrorum J. et A., domum domini legati fere assiduus frequentavi, tanto circa opus injunctum sollicitior, quanto aliis discedentibus operam istam solus suscepseram. Tractabatur autem tunc temporis inter magnates de ingressu legati in Angliam; ipso instanti agente erga ducem Normanniæ,¹ ut legationis susceptæ implere posset officium, et causam Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, pro qua specialiter missus est, fine debito terminare. Qua de causa frequentius accessi, ne notitiam meam quod gerebatur aufugeret. Instantiæ itaque ipsius dux ita respondit: "Lætus ac libens vos viderem in partibus illis, sed terra ipsa multum gravata est, et peregrinatione mea amplius gravabitur; unde ut per vos magis gravetur mihi et meis minus videtur consiliosum. Præterea coronationi meæ et negotiis regni, utpote novus princeps, habeo intendere, unde segnius forte quam deberem susceptioni vestræ vel honori vacarem. Ad hoc enim consulunt procures me, ne coronationi meæ legatus intersit, ne possit Romana ecclesia aliquid in ipsa in posterum vindicare." Et dominus legatus, "Terram vestram per ingressum nostrum gravari non vultis, nec nos eam gravare proposuimus, sed tantum circa Cantuariensem ecclesiam mandatum domini papæ executioni mandare, et reverti. Coronationi vero vestræ, nisi multum rogatus, interesse non consentirem." Cui dux, "Ut audio, hac tantum causa in regnum desideratis ingressum, ut inter archiepiscopum et monachos suos pacem reformetis. Nos autem, per Dei gratiam, bene litem istam sedabimus sine vobis. Unde non erit vobis illuc migrare necessarium. Attamen quoniam Grandimontanam ecclesiam opus habetis, sicut asseritis, visitare, interim illuc divertite. Nos autem cum baronibus terræ illius de adventu vestro plenius tractabimus, significaturi vobis in proximo voluntatem nostram. Cæterum volo ut ad hoc aliquem de vestris mittatis in Angliam, per quem quod visum fuerit una cum nunciis “ nostris vobis remandemus.” Hæc verba non per se dux, sed per Rotomagensem, Cestrensem et proprium cancellarium locutus est, internuncios. Quibus dominus legatus ad instantiam nostram formam in qua venit ostendit, constanter asserens, et per eos duci demandans, se capitula ibi contenta omnimodum velle impleri, videlicet, ut opus destruatur, ut ablata omnia restituantur, ut clerici suspensi, immo excommunicati, teneantur, et excommunicati ab archiepiscopo absoluti habeantur. Ad hoc illi, “ Et si consenserint monachi “ absolvi, nonne liberum erit eis?” Et legatus, “ Liberum “ quidem, sed illicitum et omnino superfluum, nec tali absolute quicquam ageretur.” Satis itaque visus est hac parte pro nobis dicere, ita ut tinnirent aures audientium. Utinam et in hoc permaneret. Sæpius vero sic locutus est, et sæpe aliter. Attamen jam verbum istud publicavit, et in audientia magnatum dictum, sine confusione non revocabit. Mittit ergo clericum suum Taddeum in Angliam ad ducem, ejus circa ipsum inquirere dispositionem. Cum quo de consilio ipsius ego frater J. Withsand veni, exhibens eum in tribus equitaturis a Normannia usque huc. Hoc autem idcirco facere consensi, ut statum vestrum prope positus plenius agnoscerem, videns nec mihi nec vobis multum expedire, si cum legato in Pictaviam recederem, et ut clericus ipse propriis oculis inclusionem et afflictionem vestram, quam dominus archiepiscopus negat, possit intueri. Per quem dominus legatus litteras mittit in Angliam ad archiepiscopum, quibus utetur si ingressus ei in regnum denegetur et contempserit archiepiscopus. Transcriptum earum vobis mitto, quod vix furatus sum; paucissimis et probatæ fidei ostendendum adhuc, de quibus nulla sit dubitatio. Expedit causæ, expedit et personæ meæ, qui ei fidem promisi. Patentes super hoc negotio petivimus fieri prælatis Angliæ, clero et populo, sed nondum potuimus impetrare; speramus autem; jam enim consilium nostrum requirit in agendis suis et secreta committit. Mitte ei pellicium grisium clausum, bonum et amplum, et, si inventa fuerit Londoniis penna de pellicibus martrinis, ei similiter, si potestis, destinate. The sub-prior assured him that he wished for peace: he promised to send a chaplain to England.

August. CCCXXII. GAUFRIDO SUPPRIORI ET SOCIIS TRANSMARINIS QUIDAM FRATER.

The convent inform the subprior and his companions that they have sent to London for the coat and robe. The new cellarer is very oppressive.

They have obtained the intercession of earl William;

and sent Symon and Jonas to meet the duke.

The archbishop is creeping to court, in no great favour, and with doubtful intentions.

Accelerante præsentium latore ad mare, saltem aliqua de statu nostro vobis significare dignum duxi; habebitis autem nuncium nostrum proprium infra diem tertium vel quartum. Misimus enim Willelmum pelliparium Londonias, propter pellicium grisium et pennam de lindeseie, quia eam quam ipse habuit statim vendidit, quia ex longa detentione perierat, prout ipse asserebat. Cætera vero quæ postulastis facimus præparari, cum festinatione vobis mittenda. Factus est nobis cellerarius cujus digitus jam nunc grossior est dorso patrum suorum, vir major mente quam corpore, cujus opera utinam consona sint nomini et non contraria rationi. Venit ad nos comes Willelmus, et habito cum eo solo secretius consilio, petivimus ut apud ducem pro nobis partes suas interponeret. Qui spondit quod totum posse suum faceret. Dictum est etiam ei præcise, quod pax nullatenus fieri posset, nisi prius caput nostrum subpriorem haberemus, qui minis et terroribus perturbatus, erat ad cardinalem profectus, et nisi capella demoliretur, et ablata restituerentur. Consuluit etiam nobis ut prius per nos ei supplicaremus, antequam litteras regis Franciæ ostenderemus. Unde misimus S. thesaurarium et Jonam obviam duci, qui coronari debet, sicut comes nobis dixit, Dominica ante Nativitatem Sanctæ Mariæ. Ex ore etiam comitis accepimus, quod dux pacem Cantuariensis ecclesiæ desiderat, et ad eam faciendam anhelat. Archiepiscopus vero gressu formicino, immo testudineo, Wintoniam vel Londonias tendit, gratiam ducis et reginæ non habens nisi pro necessitate temporis, sicut dicitur. Non enim vidit eam postquam venit in Angliam. Accepi a quodam viro magno, quod archiepiscopus ad hoc laborat, et modis omnibus laborabit, ut ad pedes ejus veniam postuletis, promittens coram omnibus misericorditer vobiscum facturum: sed, sicut prædictus vir mihi secretius dixit, indignationem vellet remittere, sed pœnam

Quod vobis scribimus eatenus secreta esse volumus et celata, ut nisi locus et tempus inciderit, in publicum non exeant. Si vero ita res exegerit, senioribus possunt ostendi.  Si tractatum fuerit de demolitione capellæ, destructioni omnimodum erit insistendum, ut pereat in loco ipso memoria ejus. Si de translatione usque Lamehe, vel alias, nobis et qui nobiscum sunt fratribus videtur sustinendum, quamvis nullatenus consentiendum, ita tamen ut ecclesiæ et exenia ei collata ad nos revertantur. Aliæ quoque ecclesiæ quas in suo fundo positas conventus sibi dicit competere, petendæ videntur, nec facile concedendum ut collegio illi conferantur, nisi forte conventus pro bono pacis huic quæstioni renunciare consenserit, ita ut plenaria fiat aliorum restitutio et pacifica sit possessio. CCCXXIV. CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS GAUFRIDO PRIORI ET SOCIIS EJUS.

The convent sent eight monks to the coronation (Sept. 3) to withstand the archbishop if he should petition on behalf of the new church.

The king was crowned, adding to his coronation oath a promise to defend the church.

The archbishop sends an ivory horn, the king's gift, to S. Thomas; and the barons of the Cinque Ports a pall for the high altar.

Ad ea quæ haberemus vobis scribere, si mora libera nobis esset, non posset epistolaris brevitatis sufficere; sed quæ non possumus ad præsens, processu temporis faciemus. Noveritis igitur quod ad coronationem regis octo de fratribus nostris misimus cum vestimentis, et cartis quas dominus archiepiscopus sibi exhiberi petierat, et ut resisterent in faciem archiepiscopo, si ad pedes regis, eo coronato, pro conservanda et confirmandâ capella se prosterneret, quod indubitanter facturum eum nobis fuerat significatum. Scripsimus vero super hoc Bathoniensi et Dunelmensi, et aliis amicis ecclesiæ, qui omnes nobis in hoc faventes parati erant stare cum fratribus nostris, et cum eis contra prosternentem, si se ita prosterneret, prosternere. Consecratus est rex, præmisso juramento de protegenda ecclesia et pace ejus servanda, et de conservando unicuique jure suo, ut etiam rex ipse de suo adjecit, dicens quod sanctam ecclesiam propensius et melius quam antecessores sui fecerunt, protegeret et promoveret: quod verbum omnes acceptaverunt. Siluit vero archiepiscopus, forsitan præmunitus quid facturi eramus, si de capella mentio fieret. Dedit autem dominus rex domino archiepiscopo, qui cum eo ipso die comedit, cornu eburneum miræ magnitudinis, quod comes Willelmus ei præsentaverat, quod et archiepiscopus per sacristam beato Thomæ misit, pallium etiam quoddam quod barones Dovoriam et Cinque Portuum, quod de consuetudine antiqua in coronatione regis habuerunt, ab ipsis baronibus super altare Christi oblatum est in memoriam æternam. Rex etiam ante coronationem suam, apud Brunhelle S. thesaurario et Jonæ benigne respondit in hæc verba, "Numquid interrogatis aliquid quod de jure non debeatis habere?" Qui cum respondissent "Non;" subjunxit, "Volo ut habeatis in omnibus quicquid habere debetis, et archiepiscopus habeat quod debet habere." Celebratis electionibus post coronationem apud Gadintun, confirmavit rex nobis cartas patris sui, novas et veteres, de verbo ad verbum; cartas si quas habemus cum archiepiscopo de libertatibus, sak et sokhne, et de geld, et Denegeld, et de placitis essartorum, et de vino. De aliis vero consilium fuit amicorum ut sustineremus donec ipse veniret ad nos. Manerium de Clive, quod retinuerat archiepiscopus propter servientes nostros, nobis reddidit, post multas minationes et verba inde prolata. Habemus etiam redditus Londonienses. Accepimus a Taddeo, clerico cardinalis, quod dominus ejus licentiam habet veniendi devotionis causa, et terminandi si quid residui fuerit quæstionis inter nos in adventu ejus. Timemus autem ne veniat homo ille, et more suo minis et terroribus præficiat nobis quem ipse voluerit. Suspiciantur vero de S. camerario, sive de R. cloacario. Unde oporteret ut contra hoc nobis per cardinalem quam citius subveniretis. Adhuc enim iis qui nobis favent multa minatur. Retulit nobis vir quidam magnus, quod etiam jam publice prædicatur, quod cardinalis in Normannia consilium dedit archiepiscopo, ut domino papæ obediat in demolitione capellæ, et ea demolita, ecclesiam incipiat. Sed et, sicut sui asserunt secretius, de sententia in vos lata confirmationem domini papæ privatam habet, sed eam non proferet, nisi aliter vos [non] possit evincere. Nuper enim cum de loco consecrationis episcoporum coram fratribus nostris verbum fieret, quærentibus quibusdam de suis, ubi fieri haberet, Willelmus Malæ Fidei respondit, "Ubi deberent sacrari nisi Cantuariæ?" Cui archiepiscopus, "Nescio quando Cantuariæ celebrabo;" et advertens præsentiam nostrorum, verbum studuit mutatoriis palliare; post pauca enim, immemor eorum quæ dixerat, dixit se Cantuariam oportere maturius venire, et ecclesiæ suæ priorem præficere. Si cardinalis venerit, de advocatione vobiscum adducendo cogitate; si vero sine eo veneritis, videte quomodo caute ambuletis, timemus enim "mutantem Prothea vultus." Curiam de hominibus nostris nondum plene possumus habere. Convenimus inde archiepiscopum, qui vocato Adam de Cherringes, quæsivit ab eo, qualiter esse solebat. Qui respondit, milites antiquiores illo esse in provincia qui idem satis nossent. Cui sacrista ait, "Fi! Quid dicis? nonne vidisti et interfuisti apud Holingeburn, ubi coram me duo rustici propter furtum duellum commiserunt, et victum feci ego suspendere, sicut justitia conventus? et tu ipse in curia nostra sæpenumero placitasti." Dilatum tamen est negotium. Capellam de Marisco nobis per sacristam et alios concesserat. Cum vero alii venirent, petentes ex parte conventus, ut archidiacono scriberet de presbytero recipiendo in ea, dixit quod inde bene provideret quis ibi cantaret. Cui

CCCXXV. JOHANNI ANAGNINO LEGATO RICARDUS REX ANGLIÆ.

Paternitati vestræ quantas valemus gratiarum referimus actiones, super sollicitudine diligenti quam de colligendis decimis, tam a clericis quam a laicis, in Pictaviensi et Lemovicensi episcopatibus habuistis. Verum quoniam eadem collectio subventioni terræ Jerosolimitanæ potest plurimum expedire, et episcopi ac barones terrarum illarum sub umbra auctoritatis sedis apostolicæ volunt, sicut accepimus, se teneri; rogamus caritatem vestram tam affectuose quam possumus, quod ad prædictam collectionem efficaciori et magis studiosa sollicitudine intendatis, et fraudem eorum qua se volunt eidem collectioni subtrahere, constanti sollertia refellere studeatis, quidque super hoc possitis agere, per latorem præsentium, clericum nostrum, nobis curetis sub ea festinatione qua poteritis nunciare. Et quoniam devotionis nostræ initia vobis volumus exhibere, rogamus vos attentius ut nepotem vestrum cum eodem G. ad nos mittere festinetis, a nobis, volente Deo, sicut honori vestro et nostro conveniet honorandum. Nos vero interim ad componendum inter archiepiscopum et monachos Cantuarienses diligenter operam impendimus; et si opera nostra effectum fuerit consecuta, tunc pro devotionis intuitu quam ad gloriosum martyrem, beatum scilicet Thomam, geritis, poteritis in Angliam transfretare. Si vero per nos eadem non poterit sedari seditio, vobis tunc etiam pro eadem compositione tractanda patebit ingressus. Super quo, dum collectioni intenderitis decimarum, per proprium nuncium vel per latorem præsentium, si ad nos cum festinatione redierint, mandatum nostrum curabimus intimare: propter hoc enim per nuncium vestrum, vel per latorem præsentium, cum eum ad vos direxerimus, adventum vestrum præscire volumus, ut vos honorificentia quæ tantum virum deceat possimus suscipere, et per terram nostram plenius honorare. After October 6.

Latere vos nolumus dominum archiepiscopum nostrum post coronationem regis manum suam super nos gravius quam solebat, aggravasse. Duos enim de monachis nostris, scilicet dominum Badewinum et magistrum O. de Tumba, et homines eorum, scilicet Hernoldum Ferre et alios duos, cum equis suis apud Tenham retinuit, quos ei obviam illuc destinavimus, denunciantes ei quod nullum priorem in absentia vestra et sine consilio vestro et fratrum nostrorum qui vobiscum sunt, deberet facere, nec nos possemus recipere; quos statim jussit arctius custodiri. Hamonem clericum, fratrem Ysaac Cantuariensis, cepit, et in carcerem suum quem fecit apud Otteford mitti jussit, quem magister Samson altero nepotum suorum voluit redimere, nec potuit. Burgenses etiam Cantuarienses nec vadimonio nec plegio a carcere potuerunt eum liberare. Sexta enim feria ante festum Sancti Dionysii, cum inciperemus majorem missam, veniens archiepiscopus in capitulum nostrum cum innumerable manu tam clericorum tam militum quam plebium, conventum ad se venire præcepit. Nos ergo venire nolentes, tum quia missam incepimus, tum quia R. Norreis, sicut accepimus, nobis priorem præficere voluit, per quosdam fratres nostros appellationem nostram innovavimus. Quibus recedentibus, cito post R. Norreis priorem nominavit, et in sedem prioris deosculans eum posuit, nobis omnibus et singulis absentibus. Quo facto recessit, et curiam nostram saisiré fecit. Nos vero servientes archiepiscopi absque omni violentia expellentes, portas firmavimus, et claves apud nos tenemus. Portam vero cœmeterii nobis abstulit, et nos per circuitum muri armata manu die ac nocte ita vallavit, quod nec ad legatum nec ad regem aliquem monachum aliquo modo mittere possumus. Robertum medicum et Willelmum Azelinum, qui proditores nostri diutius exstiterunt, archiepiscopus mandavit in virtute obedientiæ. Sed cum peterent ut fratres et servientes captos faceret absolvere, respondit quod de captis vel de excommunicatis archiepiscopi nullatenus se intromitteret. Magis tamen in omnibus visus est partem archiepiscopi fovere et defendere. Quia vero consilium omnium amicorum fuit, ut regis animum donis et promissionibus alliceremus, misimus R. de Orpintun, et R. de Eastreia, et H. cognatum vestrum ad dominum regem, ut eum nobis facerent sive sic, sive sic. Ad hoc vero maxime nititur archiepiscopus, ut altaria omnia subvertat, et ut compromittamus in arbitros, ut sit sicut abbas noster, et regis et reginæ adventum ad nos obtentu excommunicationis suspendit. Quia igitur nullum habemus refugium, nec cardinalis qui nunquam fuisset, in nullo nobis subvenit, consilium factum est, quod si aliter non possumus evadere, ponamus nos in consilio regis et regni, salva demolitione capellæ et Rogerii depositione, et salvis privilegiis et cartis et statu ecclesiæ antiquo. Timemus enim novi hominis voluntatem præcipitem, et hostis impietatem. Scripsimus abbati de Hyda, et de Glestingberi, qui fuit prior Bermundeseiæ, quorum sigilla in testimonium habemus de restitutionis modo per eos facto, qui nobis dixerunt se fuisse reginæ nuncios et non papæ, nec posse domino archiepiscopo vim facere nec coarctare. Timor regis et desperatio cardinalis multos enervavit, et nisi maturius fuerit subventum, fiet strages magna. R. Norreis per maneria nostra fidelitatem sibi facit ab hominibus jurari, et dona accipit, et epulatur quotidie splendide, et duo apostatæ R. et A. cum eo, destruentes omnia, vendentes bladum cum impetu et sine mora, et boscum prosternentes sine misericordia. Curiam nostram adhuc retinemus, ita quod monachum cum Willelmo de Capis ad portam habemus. Si quid remedii potestis nobis procurare, nunc maxime opus est. Alioquin manus dabimus in brevi, minis, terroribus et inedia territi. Multi autem de nostris videntes quæ fiunt, discessum parant, nolentes sustinere mala quæ ventura prædicantur. Sed potens est Dominus, Qui non patietur nos tentari supra id quod poterimus sustinere. Valete. Sperate in Domino Jesu. Mandamus etiam vobis ex parte conventus, quatenus advocatum vobis cum festinatione faciatis habere, quia nisi Deus subveniat, sumus ad totum perdere. Misit etiam dominus archiepiscopus J. de Palerne ad curiam Romanam cum festinatione ad confirmandum, sicut dicitur, Rogerum, et propter alia. Consilium est multorum, quod si non potestis per cardinalem negotium consummare, appellate pro statu ecclesiæ, saltem eo quem

Vere multi et magni dolores vestri, fratres carissimi, quos nec vos præ multitudine narrare potestis, nec nos præ magni-

 Statim enim cum J. puerum cum litteris institutionem prioris

 consilium aliud vobis dare non possumus, nisi ut litteras

 non estis majores quam qui vim pati possitis. Quod autem

compromissio admittenda erit, nisi salvis privilegiis et cartis et jure nostro per omnia. In ecclesiæ autem novæ constructionem nunquam consentiendum, neque in eorum creationem, qui contra ecclesiæ consuetudinem et scripta authentica ecclesiæ sunt promoti. Valete, et quod patimini jam diu experti, nolite vos deteriores exhibere quam prius, sed præliamini viriliter bella Domini. Si possetis majorem accipere dilationem, quousque inde responsum legati ad vos veniret, multum esset, quia infra terminum nobis positum non videmus vobis nisi a Deo auxilium. Misimus ad regem fratres nostros, R. sacristam, S. thesaurarium, J. de Bochinge, Aaron, Gervasium, R. de Eastreia, Jacobum, R. de Orpintun, Hereveum, R. de Tumba, Nigellum, R. Norreis, Helyam magnum, magistrum Willelmum. Qui cum venissent Londonias Dominica proxima post festum Omnium Sanctorum, expectaverunt regis adventum usque ad feriam quartam. Et sedentibus eis, ipso die, mane in capella infirmorum Westmonasterii, supervenit archiepiscopus, et habito cum suis consilio, statim misit Willelmum de Sancta Fide, mandans magistro Willelmo, ut exiret sicut excommunicatus, ne contaminaret ecclesiam, et si nollet, ipse eum faceret expelli. Præcepit autem fratribus per ipsum Willelmum, in virtute obedientiæ, ne ei communicarent. Et surgens magister Willelmus respondit, "Dominus papa potestatem domini archiepiscopi suspendit, ita quod in me nec in aliquem nostrum sententiam potest promulgare, et ecce, indulgentia domini papæ, et litteræ cardinalis;" et cum diutius ibi expectassent, ne viderentur exire propter sententiam, tandem intraverunt in thalamum regis exteriorum; archiepiscopus vero in interiorum cum episcopis intravit. Habitoque cum eis diutius consilio, vocati sunt fratres ante regem et episcopos et magnates terræ. Qui cum in primis postulassent restitutionem ablatorum et possessionum, respondit archiepiscopus, "Et ego postulo restitutionem thesauri, scilicet quod est domini regis, et fuit in mea custodia, et custodiam sigilli, unde spoliatus sum, et ecce scriptum, quid et quantum, et quantum ipsi abstulerunt de thesauro," quod tamen lectum non fuit ibi. Qui cum fratres instanter peterent restitui et iudicium curiæ regis expeterent, utrum deberent restitui ante litis ingressum, respondit rex, "Non est dies placitationis, sed converbum hoc coram omnibus fuisset significatum, dixit archiepisdixerunt, "Salvis omnibus." Voluit enim archiepiscopus quod omnia quæ perquisita erant, a tempore motæ litis tam ab ipso quam a nobis, cassarentur. Sicque die illa vespere superveniente concio soluta est. Quibus mane redeuntibus postulatae et porrectæ sunt litteræ de ratihabitione, quarum summa hæc erat, quod nos gratum et ratum haberemus quod ipsi facerent super tractanda pace inter archiepiscopum et nos, salvis privilegiis et cartis et statu ecclesiæ. Nominavit autem rex personas istas in quas compromitteremus, Rothomagensensem, Dunhelmensem, Wintoniensem, Londoniensem, Saresberiensem, Helyensem, Norwicensem, de Sancto David. Bathoniensis et Cystrensis extra synagogam facti sunt, quia alter alteram partem fovebat. Nominavit etiam abbates de Westmonasterio, de Sancto Albano, de Radinges, de Sancto Eadmundo, de Waltham; priorem de Merethon. Voluit etiam nominare de Riveals et de Boxleia abbates quos nostri amoverunt. Cumque interrogati essent fratres, si sequi vellent quod isti discer-nerent, respondit magister Willelmus, "Inspiciantur cartæ nostræ et archiepiscopi, et privilegia ipsius et nostra, et quod eis inspectis inde judicaverint, fiat." Et acclamaverunt omnes eum bene dixisse. Cumque interrogare vellent per singula capita utrum huic verbo consentirent, respondit Nigellus sic, "Repetatur verbum, ut intelligamus quid dixerit."

 Et dixerunt omnes "Nequaquam," quia iterum non posset eadem verba habere. Sciebant enim quod in repetitione verbi cautius incederetur. Et incipientes a sacrista interrogaverunt de consensu verbi. Qui respondit, "Mihi visum est quod bene dixerit." Thesaurarius vero et Aaron interrogati, dixerunt quod inde cum sociis suis deliberarent, et habito cum fratribus consilio, reversi sunt dicentes, quod privilegia et cartas ecclesiæ nec pro morte nec pro vita in alicujus ponerent arbitrium. Unde et inducias consulendi conventum postulaverunt, quibus non impetratis a curia recesserunt.
 Rex autem in recessu eorum dixit, quod non ita recederent, quod nec pes unus remaneret. Ipsi tamen non sine magno timore ad nos reversi sunt. Sed antequam reverterentur, litteras hujusmodi nobis miserunt, scilicet quod archiepiscopus licentiam a rege acceperat capiendi excommunicatos suos.
 Quibus lectis, statim ipsa nocte per muros emisimus Ysaac

Cumque ostenderentur litteræ cardinalis, acclamaverunt omnes dicentes, "Quis est legatus ille? et unde legatus? et quid " nomen ejus?" Et rex, "Quis est ille legatus? estne legatus " Angliæ?" Cum vellemus operam impendere diligentem ad reformationem pacis inter venerabilem patrem nostrum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum et vos, prædictus archiepiscopus se arbitrio et dispositioni duodecim magnorum et honestorum et prudentium virorum, qui communi consilio sunt electi, libenter exposuit, eorumque ordinationi sive iudicio causam suam cum sua integritate commisit. Cum autem monachi qui illuc venerant, se id ipsum facturos in crastino promisissent, a conventionem sua semel et iterum resilierunt, et sic frustratis diligentia et labore nostro quem exhibuimus ad reformationem concordiae, contumaciter recesserunt. Mittimus igitur ad vos latores præsentium, rogantes adhuc ut, si in consilio habueritis vos arbitrio eorundem bonorum virorum committere, significetis nobis per litteras vestras extra pendentes, in quibus nihil ponatur quod pacem impedire debeat, aut differre. Itaque quasi in carcere tenemur, nescientes quid de nobis futurum sit. Multi enim nobis comminantur, dicentes quod etiam ante pedes domini legati capiemur. Notum sit vobis, nos ratum habere escambium quod venerabilis pater noster Baldwinus, Cantuariensis archiepiscopus, fecit, de consensu Gilberti Roffensis episcopi, cum priore et monachis Roffensibus, de quadam terra apud Lamhee, pro quadam terra et quadam Bercharia de Grien,¹ sicut authentica scripta ex utraque parte super hoc facta testantur. Concedimus et volumus, ut memoratus archiepiscopus ædificet ibi ecclesiam in honore beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ, et canonicos ibidem instituat, et de ecclesiis ad donationem suam pertinentibus præbendas et communam instituat. Nos autem pro incolumitate status regni nostri, et pro salute animæ nostræ, et Henrici regis patris nostri, et Alianoræ reginæ matris nostræ, omnes libertates et jura et dispositionem quam ipse archiepiscopus fecerit de prædicta ecclesia, et de præbendis et de communa, sicut carta sua confirmaverit, acceptam habemus et ratam, eamque sigilli nostri testimonio confirmamus, et locum ipsum et canonicos et homines et possessiones eorum sub nostra protectione, sicut res dominicas nostras, suscepimus. Quia ergo ad nostram spectat sollicitudinem, ut pastor idoneus in ecclesia Wigorniensis nuper præsule destituta ordinetur, vestram circumspectionem monemus, vestræque mandamus dilectioni, ut in canonica constructione facienda, et in præscripta ecclesia ordinanda, vices nostras, cum venerabili fratre nostro R. Scio sollicitudinem vestram affectare, ut super statu domini Cantuariensis, et statu exercitus nostri, veris et certioribus indiciis instruat. Dominus Cantuariensis Dominica proxima post Exaltationem Sanctæ Crucis cum universo comitatu suo apud Tyrum sanus applicuit et incolumis. Ubi cum aliquamdiu reges, qui nondum venerant, expectasset, ad exercitum nostrum Achonem migravit. Exercitus noster turpi exercitio deditus, quod lugens et gemebundus dico, otio potius et libidini quam virtuti indulget. Non est Dominus in castris; non est qui faciat bonum. Principes sibi mutuo invident; et Ps. xiv. 2. de paritate contendunt. Minores indigent, nec inveniunt sublevantem. In castris non est castitas, sobrietas, fides, dilectio, caritas, quod, Deo teste, minime crederem, nisi vidissem.

Turci nos obsident, quotidie provocant, instanter impugnant. Milites nostri infra tentoria sua delitescunt, et qui sibi festinam promittebant victoriam, ignavi et torpidi, et quasi convicti, contumelias sibi ab hostibus infra impune patiuntur. Robur Saladini diebus augescit singulis; exercitus noster quotidie minuitur et deficit. Festo Sancti Jacobi plus quam quatuor millia peditum electorum a Turcis cæsa fuerunt. Præterea multi principes morte sua diem clausurunt extremum. Regina Jerosolimæ, comes Stephanus frater archiepiscopi Remensis, comes Barensis, nepos ejusdem, comes de Ferreres, frater comitis de Clara, Bernardus junior de Sanwaleri, Randulfus de Glanvilla, et innumerabiles alii. Cum lator præsentium a nobis recederet, Dominica scilicet post festum Sancti Lucae Evangelistæ, nondum reges venerant, nec civitas Achonensis capta fuit. Valete iterum.

Tandem viri illustris Willelmi venerabilis Montis Regalis archiepiscopi discretionem, fidem, providentiam, quam re pluries didicimus, attendentes, recolentes quod licet nobis ipsum fama vehementius commendasset, audito tamen et expectato longe commendabiliorem fides, providentia, reddidissent, tantæ ecclesiæ tanti viri regimen, sed et toti regno nostro cognovimus profuturum. CCCL. CLEMENTI PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Sanctissimo patri et domino Clementi, Dei gratia, summo pontifici, Osbertus prior, et conventus Cantuariensis, salutem et devotum semper debitæ subjectionis famulatum. Quanta pro fide et reverentia sedis apostolicæ passi fuerimus, et quid tandem remedii miseria nostra per eam sit consecuta, tanto utique notissimum esse credimus, quanto ecclesia cujus servi sumus inter multas dignior, famosa et celebris, non dubitatur. Quia igitur ad statum pristinum nondum resurgere potuimus, prostrati, et quamplures parvitatem nostram impugnant, præsentium latores fratres nostros ad gratiam vestram destinamus, rogantes, et pedibus vestris provoluti humiliter supplicantes, quatenus iis quæ ad audientiam vestram perferunt, aurem clementer et animum inclinare velitis, et quam omnibus debetis justitiam, nobis exhibere non differatis. Excommunicatos domini papae, servientes quondam nostros et traditores, a curia nostra expulimus. Deinde post paucos dies evolutos, manus nostras ad fortia applicantes, Felicem cellerarium abusive institutum, ab officio suo suspendimus et administratione; fratrem vero Herveum extraordinarie amotum loco suo et gradui subrogantes. Quibus auditis, inducias expetivimus, ut super tanto negotio, nobis incognito et hactenus inusitato mandato, nobiscum deliberaremus. saltem indignationem eorum ad tempus declinabimus. Sed vos, quia angustiae nos premunt undique, negotia injuncta

habenas. Caeterum licet frequentius ab amicis ecclesiae præ-muniti fuerimus, latera nobis adhærere pessima, sed tunc maxime præsentialiter in concione illa Cantuariensi nobis suggestum est, quoniam secreta capituli nostri per plateas Angliae ventilata sunt, et quia quidam nostrum non fratres sed traditores erant, proh dolor! Quibus verbis verissimis et experimentis angustiatī et confusi, latera perversa et de præceden-tibus suspecta a nobis amputavimus, quae magis sitiebant inanem mundi gloriam, quam Jesu Christi honorem et ecclesiae honestatem. Sequestratis autem a capituli communione R. physico, Felice jam non cellerario, et Zacharia a via veritatis adverso, ait Osbertus tunc prior, sed, prout nostis, intrusus,

“ pimus, ut loco cui praesides cedas et administrationi.” At ille videns et intelligens se vel invitum oportere cedere, surrexit, et venia petita, confessus est se peccasse in Deum et in suum conventum, obsecrans sibi non imputari quod ad vocationem archiepiscopi contra voluntatem eorum recesserat. Sed ex verbis quae ei undique inculcabantur, satis intellexit nos de caetero eum nullatenus recipere, vel nobis praeesse velle sustinere, vel secretis capituli interesse. Amoto itaque illo et jam deposito, unanimi assensu et acclamatione loco ejus substitutus est prior, Gaufridus supprior. Sed illo quoad licuit contradicente, et totis viribus renitente, capitur, trahitur, et inter manus accurrentium sublevatus, prior est effectus et vocatus. Si forte desideratis quod verbum super his sanctae Cantuariensis ecclesiae emundationibus fiat in populo Dei, dolor de nobis praecedens eis parit gaudium in Domino et exultationem, et pro meritis suis damnatis, et extra communionem aliorum ejectis, ruborem et confusionem. Servientes quondam nostri, sed et domini, qui spolia nostra dilapidaverunt, in brevi, cogente necessitate, cogentur mendicare; monachi, sed falsi, sunt arctiori sed claustrali custodiae mancipati, sed in brevi in aliis coenobiis excessus et falsos distrusus expiaturi. Ipse Osbertus in domo infirmantium arctiori deputatur tutelae, jam enim secundo et tertio prioratum resignavit, primo in manus seniorum nostrorum, postea ipsi domino Gaufrido priori nostro.
Haec ideo vobis significamus, quia si quis pacem nostram turbare voluerit, et domino papae suggerere eum minis intentatis expulsum, veraciter pro nobis allegare poteritis, quia sponte de sede sua recessit et capitulo, absque coactione aliqua vel manuum injectione. Valete; et Spiritus Sanctus instruat vos voluntatem Suam facere.

May 20.CCCLV. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI PETRUS BLESSENSIS.¹

Carissimo domino et amico Gaufrido, priori ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis, suus Petrus Blesensis, Bathoniensis archidiaconus, salutem, et se promptissimum ad verum obsequium et honorem. Rex Henricus, qui semper voluit Baldewinum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum graves et inexorabiles discordias et continuas habere sollicitudines, ut sic semper eum haberet humiliatum et obnoxium sibi, compulit et coegit me pro ipso contra vos, immo Deum, et contra me, octo mensibus, in expensis meis et in continuo vitæ periculo, in Romana curia laborare. Perdidi autem operam et impensas; meisque peccatis exigentibus, permisit me Dominus occasione illius archiepiscopi damnose deludi, Qui pro peccatis populi permittit regnare hypocritam. Benedictus autem Deus, quia fructum non retuli de labore illicito. Hoc autem faciat et addat mihi Dominus, ut quod commisi redimam, et contumelias quas alieno instinctu dominis meis irrogavi, exhibitione honoris et obsequii recompensem. Promitto autem et testificor ante Deum, et in Eo Qui spes et vita mea est, quod vobis aut ecclesiæ vestræ aut honori vestro adversarium non videbit me homo et vivet. Intellego flagellum Domini. Nam sicut octo mensibus contra vos steti, ita Dominus octo mensibus me supplicio gravissimæ infirmitatis afflixit. Mihi ergo indulgete, et orate pro filio vestro poenitenti, promittenti satisfactionem, seque ad defensionem dignitatum ac libertatum vestrarum, ad omne obsequium impendendum, humiliter et ex totis animi visceribus offerenti. Bene valeatis, et bene valeant domini nostri universi et singuli.

Reginaldus, Dei gratia, Bathoniensis episcopus, et de Radinges et de Waltham abbates, viris venerabilibus priori de Faveresham et magistro Ferramino, salutem in Domino. De mandato summi pontificis ad Sanctum Paulum convenientes, auctoritate ejusdem capellam de Hakentune, unde controversia fuit inter bonæ memoriæ Baldewinum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum et monachos Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, judicavimus funditus destruendam; nihilominus locum in quo ipsa ecclesia sita est maledictum et profanum censuimus, sicut in litteris domini papæ, quas prædicti monachi vobis poterunt ostendere, continetur. RADINGES ET DE WALTHAM ABBATIBUS.

The bishop of Bath informs the abbots of Waltham and Reading, that he cannot be present at Windsor on August 11, to try the cause of the monks against H. de Northampton and R. de S. Martin.

Venerabilibus viris et amicis in Christo carissimis, Hugoni de Radinges, et [W.] de Waltham, divina permissione abbatibus, Reginaldus, divina miseratione Bathoniensis episcopus, salutem in Vero Salutari. Variis præpediti negotiis, cognitioni causæ vobis et nobis a domino Cœlestino papa delegatæ, quæ vertitur inter monachos sanctæ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ et clericos Baldewini bonæ memoriæ Cantuariensis archiepiscopi, magistrum H. de Norhamtune,¹ et magistrum R. de Sancto Martino et cæteros, in crastino beati Laurentii apud Windlesham, interesse non possumus. Unde vobis significamus, quod ratione absentiae nostræ, secundum quod juris ratio dictaverit, ea die in causa nihilominus procedatis. Gratum enim et ratum habebimus, quicquid super memorata causa facere decreveritis, reservata pariter vobis et nobis diffinitiva sententia. Valete.

The chancellor forbids the prior and convent to molest H. de Northampton and R. de S. Martin in the possession of their churches.

Willelmus, Dei gratia, Eliensis episcopus et domini regis cancellarius, priori et conventui Sanctæ Trinitatis Cantuariensis, salutem. Audivimus quod in causam trahitis magistrum H. de Norhamtune et magistrum R. de Sancto Martino et clericos alios, super ecclesiis et beneficiis suis ecclesiasticis, quæ habent de donatione Baldewini bonæ memoriæ Cantuariensis archiepiscopi. Hinc est quod vobis mandamus, consulentes et prohibentes, ne præfatos clericos super prædictis molestetis vel gravetis, donec archiepiscopatus Cantuariensi provideatur. Non enim possumus, nec debemus, sustinere quod archiepiscopatus Cantuariensis in alium statum incidat quam fuit die qua deveniret in manus domini regis, quamdiu fuerit in custodia ejus et nostra. Willelmus, Dei gratia, Eliensis episcopus, et domini regis cancellarius, R. eadem gratia Bathoniensi episcopo, et de Radinges et de Waltham abbatibus, salutem. Mandamus vobis, quod sicut diligitis baronias quas de domino rege tenetis, quod non teneatis placitum inter conventum Cantuariensem et magistrum H. de Norhamtune et magistrum Radulfum de Sancto Martino, super ecclesiis de Muneketune et de Estreia, quas vocant et habent de donatione bonæ memoriæ B. Cantuariensis archiepiscopi. Non enim possumus vel debemus sustinere, quod aliquid circa statum archiepiscopatus mutetur, quamdiu est in custodia domini regis. Hoc autem idem vobis præcipimus de aliis personis omnibus, qui aliquid tenent de archiepiscopatu Cantuariensi, qui coram vobis in causam trahuntur. Cancellarius eisdem. Mandamus vobis, quod non procedatis in causam quæ coram vobis vertitur inter monachos Cantuarienses et Willelmum de Sanctæ Mariæ ecclesia,¹ super ecclesia ejus de Einesford, et capella ejus de Freningham. Satis enim novistis quod idem Willelmus iter arripuit eundi Jerusalem, et quando tunc illud arripuit, ecclesiam illam cum capella prædicta bene et in pace possedit. Hinc est quod prohibemus districte, ne contra assisam crucesignatis indultam, inde vexetur aut gravetur, maxime etiam cum præfatam ecclesiam cum capella habeat de donatione bonæ memoriæ B. The chancellor forbids the above to molest William of S. Mere l'Eglise in possession of the church of Eynesford and chapel of Farningham.

CANTUARIENSIS.¹

Reverendo patri et domino Willelmo, Dei gratia, Eliensi episcopo et domini regis cancellario, Gaufridus prior et conventus ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis, salutem et se semper devotissimos. Poterat gloriosi martyris Thomæ sanguis, in ecclesia Cantuariensi effusus, immunitatem, et si aliunde non haberet, perpetuam contulisse, et gloria ejus qua omnis terra repleta est terruisse sacrilegos, sed, ut patet, quod fidelibus est ad castigationem et virtutem, hoc impii et nequam malignitatis assumunt in exemplum. Ecce enim Eboracensis archiepiscopus innocens, ut creditur, ab ecclesia nostra Dovorensi, ab ipso altari, manu militum armata violenter extractus, crucem bajulans, per lutum et lacus et per abrupta locorum in castellum Dovorense in carcerem protrahitur, ejulante Deo et populo, et sacrilegis ipsis qui eum adducunt lacrymantibus. Clamat, petit et repetit ecclesia, ut ei restituatur ablatus, sed non recipit. Cessat a divinis, nec mirum, violata Dovorensis ecclesia: et conclusa sunt ora canentium Dominum. Miratur mundus in facto tam enormi, Cantuariensem ecclesiam segnius agere et matrem tam importabilem filiæ dissimulare mœrorem. Genibus itaque vestris obvoluta, Cantuariensis ecclesia vos rogat ut dominum, adjurat ut filium, quatenus ei in tam arcto et arduo negotio non denegetis consilium salutare, quo et ecclesiæ honor suus conservetur illæsus, et vestra circa eam devotio laudabilis approbetur.

Doleo quidem et dolenti condoleo, patior et compatiēti compatiōr, sed et in ipsius passionibus et ignominiis totus homo meus interior gladio compassionis est transfossus. Audivi enim quod Willelmum Eliensem episcopum et domini regis cancellarium in archiepiscopum Cantuariensem eligere disposuistis. CCCLXXV. RICARDUS REX ANGLIÆ JUSTITIARIO ANGLIÆ.

A.D. 1191.
August 6.

Ricardus rex Angliæ, etc., justituario suo Angliæ, salutem. Scias nos multis laborasse infirmitatibus postquam iter peregrinationis nostræ arripuimus, sed Dei miseratione ad plenum convaluimus. Satis enim notum est tibi, quantum honoris nobis contulit divina miseratio apud Messanam. Deinde cum iter peregrinationis nostræ prosequeremur, in Cyprum divertimus, ubi naufragii nostri subterfugium sperabamus; sed tyrannus, qui sibi nomen imperiale usurpaverat, nec Deum nec homines reveritus, armata et forti manu nobis portum prohibiturus occurrit, et quam plurimos hominum nostrorum qui naufragium passi fuerant, afflictos afflixit, spoliavit naufragos et in carcerem fame perituros inclusit. Hinc ergo in tantæ vindictam injuriæ nec indigne accensi, divino adjuti suffragio, cum hoste jam dicto congressum accepimus, festinam adepti victoriam, et ipsum victum ac vinctum tenemus, et filiam suam unicam, totamque insulam Cypri cum universis munitionibus nobis subjugavimus. Deinde hilares ac læti portum Aconæ intravimus, qui non multo temporis tractu elapso, post adventum regis Franciæ et nostrum civitatem Aconæ cum Sancta Cruce, cum MDCC. captivis recuperavimus. Sed rex Franciæ infra xv. dies a nobis recessit versus patriam suam. Nos vero magis Dei amorem et honorem diligimus quam temere nostram vel etiam multarum regionum acquisitionem: sed quam citius terram Suriae in pristinum statum revocaverimus, tunc in terram nostram revertemur. Itaque pro certo scias quod ad proximam Quadragesimam mare intrabimus. Mandamus etiam tibi quod fideliter intendas in negotiis nostris promovendis. Teste me ipso apud Aconam, vi. die Augusti.

Phylippus, Dei gratia, rex Francorum, carissimis amicis suis priori et conventui Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, salutem et intimæ dilectionis plenitudinem. Certum est, et scimus quod sedes vestra archiepiscopalis vacat, et ad vos electio ejusdem ecclesiæ pertinere dinoscitur. Scire autem vos volumus, quod Reginaldus venerabilis Bathoniensis episcopus, vir sapiens et discretus, genitori nostro piæ recordationis regi quondam Lodowico carus admodum extitit et acceptus, propter nimiam et veram dilectionem quam erga ipsum et regnum nostrum habuit. Propter nimiam autem dilectionem quæ inter genitorem nostrum et ipsum Reginaldum fuit, et propter commendationem personæ ejusdem a Savari archidiacono et amico et fideli nostro diligentius factam, promotionem et exaltationem ipsius toto cordis affectu exoptamus. Et quoniam ex relatione ipsius Savari comperimus, quod ecclesiæ vestræ favorem et gratiam obtineat abundanter, super amoris exhibitione quam erga prædictum episcopum et archidiaconum obtentu gratiæ et bonitatis ipsorum habetis, grates vobis uberrimas referre decrevimus, preces vobis affectuosas pro ipsis porrigentes, quatenus obtentu precumstrarum et gratiæ et intuitu et fidelitatis et devotionis, quam idem Savari erga vos et ecclesiam vestram habere dinoscitur, affectum bonæ voluntatis quem præsertim et specialiter non immerito erga prædictum episcopum habetis, evidentius in opere demonstratis, ut vobis et ecclesiæ vestræ devotiores deinceps et magis obnoxii teneamur; quia pro grato et accepto nobis munere reputabimus, si in ejusdem episcopi promotione per vos, quam affectuose desideramus, preces nostras noverimus exauditas, et factum vestrum in hac parte, si pro voto nostro processerit, quantum de jure poterimus studiose juvare curabimus, ut per Dei gratiam et vestram feliciter sortietur complementum. CCCLXXXIII. CŒLESTINO PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Sanctissimo patri et domino Cœlestino, Dei gratia, summo pontifici, G. dictus prior ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis, et totus ejusdem loci conventus, salutem et devotum semper debitæ subjectionis famulatum. Quia magno jam tempore contra sanctorum patrum constitutiones pastore destituta fuerit Cantuariensis ecclesia, tanto utique ad notitiam vestram plenius pervenisse credimus, et altius insedissee memoriæ, quanto ipsam, inter occidentales omnes dignissimam, famosam fecerunt et sanctorum merita qui in ea requiescunt, et ad eam a finibus terræ confluentium laudabilis devotio populorum. Hoc itaque ex casu et causa, quot dispendia passa fuerit in temporalibus et spiritualibus non solum Cantuariensis, sed et tota Anglicana ecclesia, regni turbatio fere continua et rerum evidentia apertius edoceret, quam narratio nostra, si hujusmodi prosequeremur, nimis tædiosa. Ad electionem itaque faciendam quandoque a sedibus nostris evocati auctoritate regia, quandoque in fratrum congregatione tractantes, tandem invocata Spiritus Sancti gratia, omnium et singulorum votis miraculose concurrentibus, elegimus, applaudente clero et populo, virum venerabilem dominum Reginaldum Bathoniensem episcopum, virum religiosum, ut creditur, virum a Deo approbatum et electum, virum litteratum, discretum, et providum, et ecclesiæ Romanæ devotissimum. Supplicamus igitur, sanctitatis vestræ pedibus provoluti omnes et singuli, quatenus ad honorem Dei et ecclesiæ et regni statum conservandum, electionem ejus confirmare et ei pallium destinare velitis, considerantes quia mora in hac parte rerum dispendium et periculum trahit animarum, et desiderantibus animis omnem velocitatem tardam esse nemo qui dubitet. Valeat sanctitas vestra, pater sancte, in tempora longiora.

Ubi die statuta positi et de eligendo conventi, multis hinc inde consiliis et sermonibus habitis, tandem circa vespervas ab invicem discessimus, et electionem eo die vix initiare potuimus. Consequenter autem per litteras domini regis comminatorias jussi sumus in adventu Rothomagensis inveniri concordēs, quarum litterarum transcriptum vobis mittimus. Venientes itaque ante diem statutum cum episcopis Cantuariam, nos multipliciter convenerunt. Videntes ergo quod non fuit nobis evasio, inquisivimus attentius per fratres nostros internuncios a Rothomagensi domini regis voluntatem. Qui, quamvis personam archiepiscopi de Monte Regali palam præsenteret, secretius tamen dominum Bathoniensem, non directe quidem proposuit, sed oblique domino regi non displicere significavit. Invocata igitur Spiritus Sancti gratia, concordēs facti omnes et singuli, et dominum Bathoniensem in capitulo nostro cum debita solemnitate elegimus. Noverit animi vestri sinceritas, communem dominum nostrum electum in vigilia Natalis Domini circa gallicinium, et in aurora post missarum celebrationem et Corporis et Sanguinis Domini perceptionem, prout Altissimo placuit, tanta infirmitate fuisse depressum, quod de ipsius vita et sanitate, quod non sine crebris suspiriis dicere valeo, omnes circumstantes plurimum desperati sumus; ubi in Veritate, Quæ Deus est, multoties dixit ore proprio, ne conceptæ dilectionis inter vos immemor videretur existere, "Mittite, "mittite propter priorem Cantuariensem," et litteras quas vobis transmittit per latorem præsentium proprio ore composuit. Necesse est ergo ut, ea qua poteritis festinatione, ad dominum meum veniatis cum habitu monachili, quem ob favorem sinceræ dilectionis ad vos habitæ, a vobis, Divina permittente clementia, suscipere præelegit.  ejus afflictio. Unde a vobis sicut filio devotissimo, immo sicut a patre suo et domino, competens et necesse esset vestræ consolationis ope relevari. Licet enim eam omnes tanquam matrem suam teneantur diligere, et ejus tuitioni et protectioni

 Cum igitur prioris institutio vel depositio, sive aliarum obe-

Placeat igitur vestræ discretioni, vestrum nobis super hoc per præsentium latorem significare consilium. Supplicamus etiam vobis attentius, quatenus ad dominum comitem pro nobis velitis accedere, et utrum de conscientia et voluntate ejus vel non, mandatum hujusmodi emanaverit, diligenter inquirere. Et quoniam gratiam ejus habetis plenioram, apud eum placeat vobis elaborare, ut per ipsum comitem, qui superior, immo caput est justitiariorum, cum mandato eorum præsentī nullo modo possimus aut debeamus obedire, in rerum et possessionum nostrarum spoliatione nobis parcatur, quia non sine gravi scandalo poterit fieri. Summi pontificis moderamini noscitur plurimum convenire, ut sicut a successoribus suis quæ rationabiliter statuit desiderat observari, ita prædecessorum suorum bene constituta, et ratione prævia deliberationis providæ judicio stabilita, debeat inviolabiliter custodire. Cum itaque felicitis memoriæ Urbanus et Clemens prædecessores nostri ædificationem novæ capellæ et institutionem canonicorum in præjudicium conventus Cantuariensis ecclesiæ factam, quæ gravem videbatur² parere materiam scandalorum, de consilio fratrum suorum cardinalium irritaverint, et expressius inhibuerint, ne de cætero illam capellam observarent, nec in ea divina officia celebrarent: nos volentes quod ab ipsis in hac parte noscitur stabilitum perpetua firmitate gaudere, ratum id et firmum habemus, et sine refragatione cujusquam præcipimus observari. Et quia quicquid ex eo sequitur, vel ob id quod prohibitionis perpetuæ causam haberet, interdicente canone a summis pontificibus constituto, factum est, cassum et inutile canonicæ judicant sanctiones, et idem jura etiam civilia protestantur; discretionis vestræ per apostolica scripta præcipiendo mandamus, quatenus clericos de Lamhee a juramento de observatione novæ capellæ, Baldewino quondam Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, præstito, auctoritate sedis apostolicæ denunciatis publice absolutos ex parte nostra; cessante appellatione, eis districtius injungentes, ne de cætero novam capellam vel ecclesiam de Lamhee debeant observare, nec per se nec per suos in ea ulterius ministrare; eos ecclesiastica censura, dilatione et appellatione cessante, coercentes, qui mandato nostro duxerint contraire; nullis litteris obstantibus a sede apostolica impetratis. Ricardus, Dei gratia, rex Angliæ, etc.; reverendæ dominæ suæ et matri carissimæ Alienoræ, eadem gratia reginæ Angliæ, salutem, et omnem quam devotus filius potest matri desiderare felicitatem. In primis Deo et postmodum vestræ serenitati, mater dulcissima, gratias quascunque possumus exsolvimus, licet ad tam dignas gratiarum actiones sufficere non possumus, pro fidelitate quam nobis servatis, et fidei cura et diligentia quam terrarum nostrarum paci ac defensionis tam devote et efficaciter impenditis. Satis quidem cognovimus et ex parte scimus, quod per Dei miserationem et vestrum consilium et auxilium, terrarum nostrarum defensionis est et erit in maxima parte provisum. Maxima namque causa vestra est prudentia et discretio, quare usque in adventum nostrum terra nostra in statu debeat permanere pacifico. Nunc autem, mater carissima, vestrae transmittimus benignitati carissimum nostrum, virum venerabilem Hubertum Saresberiensem episcopum. Qui, sicut mundus novit universus, in ultramarinis partibus toti Christianitati et nobis tam grata impendit obsequia, quod nullatenus possunt enarrari. Qui etiam in curia Romana pro nostra liberatione tot labores sustinuit et expensas, et tam laboriosum iter et periculosum ad nos usque in Alimanniam arripuit. Fidelitatem tunc ejus et constantis animi dilectionem qua nos amplectitur plenius cognovimus, sed nunc quidem plenissime per fidelem operam et ferventem diligentiam quam liberationi nostrae tam affectuose et efficaciter impendit, penes imperatorem et procures imperii. Et quoniam certi sumus quod in illius promotione nostra maturior erit liberatio, et fortior terrarum nostrarum defensio, ipsum in ecclesiam Cantuariensem volumus promovere. Voluntas enim nostra est de ipso, et de alio contraire. Mater carissima, cum omni qua possumus devotionis instantia vobis supplicamus, quatenus sicut nos diligitis, ipsius promotionem in Cantuariensem ecclesiam sub omni celeritate festinare curetis. Hoc enim solum est negotium, post negotium liberationis nostrae, quod vobis magis committimus festinandum. Teste me ipso apud Spiram, xxx. die Martii. Cælestinus episcopus, servus servorum Dei, Huberto Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, apostolicæ sedis legato, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Sinceritas devotionis et fidei quam Anglicana semper ecclesia circa sacrosanctam Romanam ecclesiam conservavit, in tua, sicut bene confidimus, prudentia et virtute reffloruit, et placiti fervoris accepit acceptabile incrementum. Talis enim ad Romanam ecclesiam tuæ fraternitatis emanavit opinio, quæ et tuæ honestatis odore nos recreet, et constantiæ quam habes vigore confirmet, ita ut confidentiam quam de tua probitate concepimus in nostro jam apertius opere condeclaremus. Divinæ sapientiæ inscrutabilis altitudo, quæ sacrosanctam Romanam ecclesiam in hujus mundi latitudine stabilivit, ita regimen et gubernationem ipsius immutabili provisione disposuit, ut ad eam salubriter gubernandam plures assumerentur in partem sollicitudinis, quamvis pro unitatis ecclesiasticæ firmamento unus acciperet plenitudinem potestatis. Voluit enim ut, secundum quod eam alloquitur in propheta, pro patribus ejus filii nascerentur, qui super omnem terram principes constituti, virtutum meritis et verbo doctrinæ, rudes ad fidem, provectos ad justitiam, erudirent. Nunc autem proposuimus eos vel sero visitare, quos habemus hactenus reservatos, de quibus in tantum sustinuimus, quia de illorum conversatione uberius confisi sumus, et de infirmitate parcius timebamus. In festo itaque Nativitatis Sanctæ Mariæ ecclesiam nostram, cui licet immeriti præsidemus, exigentia officii nostri et tenore mandati apostolici, visitabimus, ad vos et ad ecclesiam vestram in eodem affectu, et ad idem, die Dominica sequenti et proxima descensuri. Unde vobis summopere congruit, et credimus expedire, si qua penes vos manum correctionis expectant, adventum nostrum remedio familiari et domestico prævenire, quia status vestri prosperitas nobis causam pariet exultandi. Quod si forte latitant aliqua, quæ robustiorem manum vel medelam violentiorem desiderent, nos ea cum nobis innotuerint, in paterna compassione et humilitatis affectu, consilio vestræ universitatis requisito, studebimus effectuose et misericorditer emendare, ut dum morem gerimus apostolicæ voluntati, non illam in superbia et in abusione, sed in omni mansuetudine, quæ requiratur et deceat, exequamur.  CANTUARIENSIS.

The convent remind Alan of Tewkesbury of the mutual obligations of true friends, and express their confidence in him in their dangers.

Domino Alano abbati de Theokesberi, Gaufridus prior et conventus, salutem. Ad amicum verum et perfectum nulla est ad impetrandum efficacior postulatio quam ingruentis necessitatis insinuatio. Quicquid enim amicorum alteri adversitatis ingruerit, reliquus sibi reputat geminatum. Amicitia enim alternatim reciprocatur affectum totum, suum judicans quicquid alteri sibi fuerit illatum. Cum igitur mentis vestræ constantiam et dilectionis sinceritatem, tam in adversis quam in prosperis, erga nos fuerimus experti, nulla penes nos residet ambiguitas, quin ad omnia gratanter sitis parati, quæ a nobis juste et honeste poterunt vobis agenda persuaderi. Noverit igitur discretio vestra, matri ecclesiæ nostræ Cantuariensi, ex ædificatione capellæ de Lamhee, maximum imminere dispendium, cujus indemnitati providere et debetis ex dilectione, et tenemini ex voto et amore religionis. Qua de causa vobis supplicando rogamus attentius quatenus, etc., ut supra.

Cœlestino summo pontifici, Gaufridus prior Cantuariæ, debitam semper in omni humilitate subjectionem. Meminisse satis credimus paternitatis vestræ discretionem, quanta pro honore et libertate ecclesiæ nostræ et Romanæ etiam conservanda perpassi fuerimus discrimina, amissionem fratrum, et rerum temporalium usque ad inanitionem jacturam. Quid tandem remedii per gratiam vestram consecuti fuerimus, mundus fere novit universus, qualiter capella de Lamhee totius scandali materia a vobis et antecessoribus vestris fuerit inhibita et damnata. Quoniam vero hactenus a domino et patre nostro archiepiscopo sperabatur in meliores usus convertenda, ob reverentiam et mandatum sedis apostolicæ sub hac spe sustinuimus dissimulantes: sed ex institutione et ordinatione personarum ejusdem loci aliud jam intelligentes, quod solum post Deum habemus refugium, tanquam unicum protectorem et defensorem nostrum ad vos recurrimus; in contritione spiritus humiliter deprecantes, ut nuncios domini archiepiscopi pro confirmatione loci jam dicti ad vos venientes, in dispendium ecclesiæ nostræ nullatenus audiat, sed peti-

CCCCXIX. GRATIANO CARDINALI CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Domino Gratiano cardinali, prior Cantuariensis et conventus, salutem. Satis recolimus et mente retinemus, quam sincera fide et devotione ecclesiam nostram semper dilexeritis, quam fideliter glorioso martyri Thomæ in persecutione sua affueritis cooperator et adjutor; qui vos præ cæteris sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ cardinalibus creditur dilexisse, et in signum dilectionis eximie vos gratiæ filium nominavit. Eadem quoque affectione nobis membris ipsius in camino tribulationis multo tempore positis, astitistis, ita pie et constanter causam nostram foventes et agentes, ut quod sumus et speramus et vivimus vobis præ omnibus post Deum debeamus. Quia vero causa nostra in curia Romana ventilata, in protectione domini et patris nostri archiepiscopi finem videbatur sortita, et portum pacis et quietis attigisse sperabamus, hactenus siluimus, sperantes et exspectantes ad ipsius promissiones rem in meliorem statum convertendam. Nunc vero quorundam consilio in opere a curia Romana toties inhibito, et tandem damnato, persistere dicitur, in potestate multiplicata multipliciter confidens; cui licet nunquam daturi simus assensum, reclamare tamen palam pertimescimus, non tam ipsius potentia quam nostra indigentia et expensarum defectu retardati. Rogamus igitur sanctitatem vestram flexis genibus et obsecramus in Domino Jesu, quatenus quam præ oculis vestris hactenus invenit ecclesia nostra gratiam, sibi integra permaneat et perseverans, et quod in ea misericorditer incepistis, misericordius complere velitis. Hæc autem sub festinatione et secretius vobis scripsimus, quia nuncios domini archiepiscopi ad curiam in brevi venire cognovimus, ut provisione vestra et auxilio, negotia illorum differantur, donec nuncii conventus certiores advenerint. Ea enim de causa sub communi sigillo ad præsens non scribimus, quia id postmodum cum pace domini nostri, si fieri potest, id facere proposuimus, et sinistrae partis timemus insidias. Vobis autem, tanquam unico salutis nostræ refugio, hæc in aure et confessionis secreto duximus committenda, cum domino Johanne de Salerno,¹ et

Arch-bishop Hubert is trying to finish the church of Lambeth.

He entreats him to prevent the archbishop from being heard before the messengers of the convent reach Rome.

Domino Gerardo cardinali diacono tituli Sancti Adriani, Gaufridus prior Cantuariensis, etc. A sanctitatis vestræ nondum elapsum credimus esse memoria, quæ et quanta dispendia passa sit ecclesia nostra, immo vestra, Cantuariensis, per controversiam inter Baldewinum quondam archiepiscopum et nos, de capella et canonia illa de Lamhee, in præjudicium ecclesiæ nostræ statuta, versatam. CCCCXXI. GAUFRIDO PRIORI ET CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI, FRATRES ROMAM MISSI.

A.D. 1198.
January.

Reverendis dominis suis et patribus, Gaufrido priori et conventui Cantuariensi, S. et N.¹ ejusdem loci monachi professi, salutem, et se pro ecclesia in exilium et mortem ire paratos. Res importuna est et erubescentiæ ignara necessitas, nec facile est in tempore tribulationis anxietatem animi intra fines debitos cohibere. Solet enim venialis esse præsumptio, quam inevitabilis periculi excusat occasio. Nec informis debet reputari actio, quam comes justitiæ et æquitatis pia comitatur intentio. Cum igitur viri sitis religiosi, zelum habentes ad honorem Dei et liberationem ecclesiæ, non vos perturbare debet noster recessus, nec talis audacia reputari excessus. Credimus enim magis expedire vobis et ecclesiæ, ut secretius recederemus, ut personalis sit persecutio, quam post publicam prohibitionem in universitatem refunderetur adversariorum indignatio. Si enim pro itineris nostri arreptione acriorem conceperint indignationem, vos immunes eritis a culpa, nos autem nihilominus negotium cum adiutorio Dei prosequemur, pro minimo reputantes corporis detrimentum, et laboris immensitatem, dummodo imminens periculum possit evadere mater nostra Cantuariensis ecclesia. Noverit igitur sanctitas vestra nos contra constructionem capellæ de Lamhæe et canonicorum institutionem et ordinationem, sedem apostolicam appellasse, statum ecclesiæ nostræ, personas et possessiones universas, sub ejus ponentes protectione, ne aliquid in ejus gravamen attentetur. Cæterum pedibus sanctitatis vestræ provoluti, supplicamus attentius, quatenus insufficientiam nostram jugis et instans orationum vestrarum suppleat devotio. Valeat sanctitas vestra in Domino, et vigeat semper erga pauperes fratres vestros et proscriptos caritatis devotio.

Significant sanctitati vestræ prior et conventus ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis, quod cum illa inter omnes occidentales præfulgeret ecclesias, atque in sanguine gloriosi martyris Thomæ nuper fuisset exaltata, suadente diabolo, a Baldewino quondam archiepiscopo suo, a quo debebat ab aliorum injuriis defendi, atrociter cœpit vexari. In primis enim suæ promotionis initiis, surripiendo exenia quæ monachi semper quiete et inconcusse possederunt sibi usurpavit; hac scilicet de causa, ut dominium usurparet sibi terrarum et possessionum nostrarum, et sic eo defuncto, maneria nostra simul cum archiepiscopatu in manum domini regis devolverentur, quod esset contra dignitatem et antiqua jura, et omnia privilegia ecclesiæ nostræ a Romana ecclesia et a regibus Angliæ sibi indulta. Deinde quasdam ecclesias a suo prædecessore ad refectionem pauperum eleemosynariæ collatas, et a prædecessoribus vestris bonæ memoriæ Alexandro et Lucio confirmatas, appellationi ad sedem apostolicam interpositæ non deferens, violenter et citra juris ordinem abstulit, quas dominus archiepiscopus, qui modo nobis præest, clericis suis contulit, et contra cartas et privilegia Romanæ ecclesiæ appræbendavit. Demum, peccatis nostris exigentibus, invaluit acrius versutia inchoatæ malignitatis. Quod enim dictu miserabile, et in subversionem Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, tacita veritate, ut posset capellam in honore beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ construere, a sede apostolica [impetravit. Quod autem in subversionem Cantuariensis ecclesiæ constructa sit, hæc videntur posse induci, operis illicita constructio, et juris antiquioris ecclesiæ diminutio, nimia scandali et seditionis occasio. Videntes igitur prior et conventus Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, quod hæc et alia in destructionem tam nobilis et famosæ moliretur ecclesiæ, divino Spiritu repleti, et maxime beati Thomæ martyris vigilantia excitati, postposito timore, antequam opus prædictum inchoaretur, opus interdixerunt, ad sedem apostolicam appellantes. Sæpius appellationem renovaverunt. Prior ergo, cum quibusdam de fratribus, ad curiam Romanam iter arripiens, felicitis memoriæ Urbano prædecessori vestro et dominis cardinalibus negotium diligenter et efficacissime exposuit. Summus itaque pontifex, periculum quod Cantuariensi ecclesiæ imminebat perpendens, et desolationi tam venerabilis ecclesiæ condolens, de consilio dominorum cardinalium jussit archiepiscopum a constructione novæ capellæ et institutione canonicorum desistere et penitus cessare. Ipse autem pertinacius propositum exequens, post inhibitionem domini papæ processit in opere in tantum, ut de lignea capella faceret lapideam. Interdictum est ei a domino papa iterato ne nos indebite vexaret. Ipse vero nihilominus per principem regni, tyrannidem in nos exercuit majorem; reditus enim nostros, villas, et omnes possessiones invasit; dignitates sæpedictæ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ per novam illam fabricam de facili ablaturus, ut cui jam possessiones ipsas ex parte contulerat, oblationes videlicet et exenia in ædificationem, ecclesias vero in præbendas, et perpetuam possessionem. Animadvertat igitur sanctitas vestra quale fuerit principium, quis progressus, quæ utilitas structuræ illius. Nec dum lapis unus in ædificio positus erat, et jam Cantuariensis ecclesia in possessionibus et dignitatibus irrecuperabile damnum passa est. Quid ergo erit cum fuerit consummata? Vetus quidem proverbium est, quod inter dispares mores non potest esse certa amicitia vel firma concordia. Cum igitur illinc alterius professionis et sectæ viri intrusi fuerint, erit priori ecclesiæ et legitimæ illa fictitia et adulterina, lancea in latere et clavus in oculo; et stabit altare contra altare, quod divina lex penitus detestatur. Volentibus itaque singulis sua jura defendere et aliena mutilare, erit infinita materia jurgiorum, eruntque sectæ, dissensiones, et contentiones, et hujusmodi, quæ omnia operabuntur ad perditionem animarum. Avertat hoc Deus et sollicitudo vestra, sollicitudo omnium ecclesiarum, quia hujus operis fundatio ab initio scandalorum fuit materia, et perpetuæ discordiæ causa inter patrem et filios. Quomodo ergo possunt filii consentire operi, quod incentivum est discordiæ et materia invidiæ inter pastorem et gregem, inter patrem et filios? Ubi enim inter caput et membra non est dilectio vel gratia, quæ vel qualis erit utrarumque conscientia? Item propter hanc causam mortuus est Honorius prior noster, et quamplures de fratribus nostris in curia ista, et multi obiter: propter hanc causam spoliati sumus omnibus maneriis, redditibus, et omnibus possessionibus nostris annis duobus et dimidio, et damna pertulimus incomparabilia. Et ideo, donec damna nobis illata resarciantur, quomodo consentire possumus canonice per quam et propter quam tot dispendia passi sumus? Causa ista in curia Romana ventilata est: opus de consilio dominorum cardinalium ab Urbano et Clemente prædecessoribus vestris damnatum; clerici a juramento Baldewino præstito absoluti; locus profanatus; institutio canonicorum tam apud Lamhee quam apud Hakentune damnata, et ne procederet sæpius ab Urbano et Clemente prædecessoribus vestris inhibita; et hæc omnia in registro vestro continentur. Et nihilominus, quod dolentes dicimus, venerabilis pater noster Hubertus Cantuariensis archiepiscopus in opere prædicto, Provideat igitur sanctitas vestra, intuitu Dei et gloriosi martyris Thomæ, Cantuariensi ecclesiæ, caveat et Romanæ, ne ejus auctoritas alicujus occasione minuat. In tantum enim jam opus processit, quod ibi ordinatur decanus, præpositus et plusquam quadraginta canonici, de bonis Cantuariensis ecclesiæ fundati, genere nobiles, divitiis affluentes, cognati regum et pontificum. Quidam ipsi regi adhærent, quidam fisci negotia administrantes, familiares episcopis et eisdem confederati. Adversus tantos et tales, quid poterit ecclesia Cantuariensis? Certe timendum est non solum Cantuariensi ecclesiæ, sed, quod Deus avertat, ne hujus rei occasione sedis apostolicæ auctoritati in partibus Anglicanis derogetur. Cum enim fundaretur canonica illa, vox erat omnium, sententia singulorum, ut ibi essent episcopi quasi cardinales, archiepiscopus sederet quasi papa, et ibi omnis appellatio subsisteret et querela. Hoc quidem rex Henricus machinabatur; approbant quam plures episcopi; hac de causa, ut dictum est, ut possent de sub jugo sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ colla excutere.

Verum quia, ut dicitur, impunitas delicti parit audaciam delinquendi, occidentalis ecclesia sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ sustentia abutens, insolenter sed non insolite, voluntatem suam qualemcunque, tacita quandoque rei existentia, auctoritate sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ gavisa est ad effectum perducere. conceperint, nullo justitiæ vigore, quominus optatum sortiatur effectum, timeant posse præpediri: quod tanto securius audemus asserere, quanto id frequentius experimento didicimus non fallere. Et quia quicquid usquam locorum justitiæ derogatur, in injuriam sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ, ubi summa viget justitia, noscitur redundare, ad injuriæ nostræ, immo et vestræ, correctionem vos non veretur invitare. Noverit igitur sanctitas vestra, dominum nostrum et patrem Hubertum archiepiscopum in ædificationem capellæ et canonice de Lamhee, quondam apud Hakentune inchoatæ, sed et hic et ibi a curia Romana damnatæ, tam ardentem insistere, ut in ea, appellatione nostra ad Romanam curiam facta non impediante, personas, dignitates, et officia clericorum ordinaverit. Quod, quia totum in præjudicium Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, et contemptum sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ actum est, dissimulare non possumus. Quapropter vestræ supplicamus sanctitati, rogantes attentius, quatenus antiquæ dilectionis sinceritatem et justitiæ integritatem erga nos ad præsens velit exercere, in tantum ut, si qua facta fuerit apud vos petitio de prædicta canonica confirmanda, quia in nostræ ecclesiæ sed et totius justitiæ dispendium statuta est, impedire ne confirmetur studeatis, donec per fratres ad vos in brevi, Deo donante, dirigendos, in hujus existentia plenius innotescat.

Savarico Bathoniensi episcopo, conventus Cantuariensis, salutem. Adversitas, animorum examinatrix, ad eos in angustia suadet recurrendum, quibus virtus famam comparavit, et operum exhibitio in amicitie fœdere copulavit. Quorum utrumque quia in vobis cæteris planius novimus abundare, confidentius vos ad necessitatis nostræ levamen præsumimus sollicitare. Meminisse siquidem debet vestra prudentia quam sincero affectu piæ memoriæ R.¹ avunculum vestrum amplexi fuerimus, quod difficillima, ac si essent facilia, ejus nos aggredi fecerit dilectio; quod etiam inter ipsum et nos mutue dilectionis sinceritatem nunquam nubes aliqua fictionis obtenebraverit. Gaufridus prior et conventus Cantuariensis, Ricardo Londoniensi episcopo, salutem. De sinceritate et affectu dilectionis vestræ erga matrem vestram Cantuariensem ecclesiam tanto amplius præsumimus, quanto vos ipsius columnam præcipuam, et inter alias pretiosiores esse novimus, et in necessitatibus suis sæpius experti sumus. Quia igitur mater nostra in arcto est, et circumquaque vallata angustiis, in tribulatione quæ circumdedit eam, dignum duxit ad filium recurrere, de quo non dubitat, si in oculis ejus gratiam invenerit, solatia diu desiderata reportare. Sane de capella de Lamhee, sicut credimus, dominus archiepiscopus consilium vestrum statuit requirendum, si debeat, scilicet, opus illud procedere, an juxta mandatum apostolicum funditus corruere, quia periculo et subversione matris nostræ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ noscitur imminere. Unde, quia in manibus vestris est et mors et vita matris vestræ, rogamus et per Ipsum obtestamur Cui omnes in extremo examine reddituri sumus villicationis nostræ rationem, quatenus et Dei timore præhabito, et temporum futurorum multiplici, quod imminet, ponderato periculo, consilia matri vestræ adversantia consilio vestro dissolvatis, materiamque doloris et desolationis ejus tollatis de medio, ne sanguinem ejus requirat Dominus de manu vestra, sed magis propter deliberationem ejus memoria vestra perseveret in benedictione perpetua. CCCCXXVII. CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS CUIDAM AMICO.

November.

Conventus Cantuariensis, cuidam amico, salutem, et sine vicissitudine temporum immutabile caritatis fœdus perpetuum. Sicut ex medicorum absentia frequenter periclitantur infirmi, ita ex amicorum subtracto consilio deficiunt desolati. Quod utique non incongrue de nobis ipsi dixerimus, quibus etsi multi sunt verbotenus amici, pauci admodum sunt in veritate negotii, qui vel vices nostras doleant, vel in tempore tribulationis subveniant. Verumtamen quia juxta verba sapientis, qui ait, "Unus sit tibi consiliarius e mille," vos estis quem amicum unicum, et in adversitate singulare et cæteris salubrius invenimus refugium, exsurgente quæ non cessavit, licet diu duraverit, tempestatis procella, ad portum serenitatis vestræ quo sæpius applicuimus, duximus recurrendum. Sane domino archiepiscopo nuper apud nos constituto, et verbo de Lamhee quæ utinam nunquam fuisset, nobiscum habito, tandem precibus et lacrymis ex dolore defluentibus eousque deductus est, quod se dixit magnatum et maxime religiosorum [consilium] velle requirere, aut de securitatibus præstandis aut de demolitione operis. Quia igitur nulla securitas posset sufficere futuris temporibus, absque operis demolitione, et illa sola sufficeret si præstante Domino et amicorum consilio proveniret, rogamus et obtestamur in Domino, quatenus languenti et laboranti subveniatis ecclesiæ Cantuariensi, ut machina quæ ad diruendam eam erecta est, priusquam eam destruat, Ipso Spiritu consilii habitantis in vobis destruat, eique velit, aliis vacillantibus, manum consolationis extendere, quæ quantum de vobis audeat præsumere verbis non audet explanare.

Innocentius apostolicæ sedis electus episcopus, dilectis filiis universis, abbatibus, prioribus, et aliis religiosis per Angliam et Scotiam constitutis, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Ineffabilis sapientia Deitatis sic omnia, quæ alto consilio simul ab æterno prævidit, per labentium temporum vires mirabili quadam dispositione dispensat, ut nec error in ordine nec in opere sit defectus, cum, divina scriptura testante, cuncta fecerit in numero, pondere, ac mensura. Licet ergo nihil in terra sine certa causa et propria ratione dispensat, imperfectum tamen conditionis humanæ non solum in causis operum deficit perscrutandis, verum etiam in ipsis causarum operibus vix sufficit admirari. Quod utique considerans apostolus exclamabat, “O altitudo divitiarum sapientiæ et scientiæ Dei, quam incomprehensibilia sunt judicia Ejus, et investigabiles viæ Ejus.” Quamvis enim universæ viæ Domini misericordia et veritas, et omnia opera Ejus judicia sint, testante propheta, usque adeo tamen successus hominum, humiliationem, et exaltationem eorum dextera Domini, licet justa, occulta tamen ratione, procurat, ut causa nobis non modici stuporis existat, quod in regimine potestatis juniores quandoque senioribus antepont: ut juxta prophetam, filii nascantur pro patribus, qui super omnem terram principes constituti Domini nominis recordentur, sicut de nobis ipsis a Domino factum est, et est mirabile in oculis nostris. Innocentio summo pontifici conventus Cantuariensis. Consuetudinis est ad medicum ægros, ad patrem filios, ad ecclesiam Romanam properare oppressos. Sane cum pro justitia et obedientia Romanæ ecclesiæ semper exhibita, damna et desolationes innumeras Cantuariensis sustinuisset ecclesia, placuit tandem sedi apostolicæ procellam ejus in auram convertere, et de consilio fratrum fracturas ejus consolidando, causam et calamitates terminare. Urbanus et postea Clemens de communi fratrum consilio decreverunt, capellam illam quam Baldewinus, quondam archiepiscopus Cantuariensis, in damnum et depressionem ecclesiæ Cantuariensis erexerat, debere dirui, et canonicorum institutionem in eo factam in irritum penitus revocari. Capella siquidem, quæ Cantuariæ fundata fuerat, funditus eversa est de mandato apostolico, sed canonici in fraudem mandati, post prohibitionem etiam summi pontificis, apud Lamhee sunt congregati. Quod cum sanctæ recordationis papæ Cœlestino innotuisset, prædecessorum suorum Urbani et Clementis adhærens vestigiis, missis statim litteris Cicestremsi episcopo et de Rading et de Waltham abbatibus, ad instar priorum opus mandavit dirui, et canonicorum institutionem inibi factam in irritum revocari; adjiciens etiam ut eos a juramento de observatione illius Baldewino archiepiscopo quondam præstito denunciarent absolutos. CCCCXXXIII. GAUFRIDO PRIORI CANTUARIENSI S. ET N.
 MONACHI EJUSDEM LOCI.

Brothers S. and N. are happy to in- form the convent that their letter to the pope was delivered on the 17th of April, at the very mo- ment he was engaged in the discus- sion of their case with the cardi- nals.

Gaufrido priori Cantuariensi, S. et N. monachi et ejusdem loci professi, maturæ spem consolationis in Domino et lætitiæ uberioris. Naufragium enatantibus vice solatii est procellas amicis intimare auribus, ut saltem compatiantur in aliquo et congratulentur fluctibus elapso. Verumtamen cum non ignoret vestræ prudentia discretionis, quod non sine magnis et tribulationibus variis, periculis multis, sollicitudini- bus multimodis, sumptibus onerosis, iter quod sana conscientia, licet minus circumspecta, pro matre nostra arripuimus, et tam arduum negotium consummari non potuit; supersedendum duximus ea ad præsens vobis intimare, desiderantes potius vos fieri participes communis tranquillitatis, et congratulationis, vel alicujus molestiæ vel perturbationis. Die enim proxima Veneris ante festum beati Aelphegi martyris, illuxit nobis, immo et vobis, Sol justitiæ et aspiratæ serenitatis, amovens angustias nostri cordis et lacrymas ab oculis nostris. Nam illa die et eadem hora, cum dominus papa una cum cardinali- bus tractaret diligenter, prudenter, ut vir miræ subtilitatis, ingenii perspicui, et litteraturæ plenissimæ, de negotio ecclesiæ nostræ, advenerunt nuncii vestri cum litteris quas domino No. cccxx i.

Quod etiam a multis ibidem præsentibus acceptum est pro miraculo, quod oblatae fuerunt tempore tam opportuno. Postea vero modicum subsecuta est a domino papa ratihabitio sententiæ prædecessorum suorum, juxta tenorem litterarum ipsorum, super demolitione canonice et operis de Lamhee, et indubitabilis de assensu omnium cardinalium promissa et plene concessa est a summo pontifice super omnibus confirmatio. Traditis itaque et præceptis a domino papa petitionibus nostris notariis, lætati sumus, exultavimus in Domino, gratias agentes Deo et meritis sanctorum et orationibus vestris et Dei aliorum fidelium, pro his quæ voluit Deus fieri servis Suis. Confortamini igitur in Domino et in potentia virtutis Ejus, et, si placet, non moveamini erga nos quod non misimus vobis transcriptum notarum quæ nondum erant ad plenum formatæ, nec, ut moris est, in præsentia domini papæ recitata. Nam satis novimus quod animo desideranti citra sufficientiam sit etiam ipsa celeritas, ut cui mora videtur omnis festinatio. Cogebat enim causa contenta in litteris vobis et sacro conventui a nobis directis, ut instantius ad vos festinus reverteretur nuncius. Speramus enim et fideliter promittimus quod miseratione Divina, sicut per dominum papam et per cardinalem accepimus, in brevi reportabitur ad vos pro majori parte quod diu et fatigabili expectatione vestrum sollicite sitivit desiderium, et quo abundantius quam speratis vester exultabit in Domino spiritus. Innocentius episcopus, servus servorum Dei, de Lewes et de Favresham prioribus, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Quia ii qui maiorem locum in ecclesia Dei obtinent, ecclesiae Romanae a qua sunt in partem sollicitudinis evocati, magis deferre tenentur, in eos qui appellationi ad apostolicam sedem factae non deferunt, tanto amplius non possumus non moveri, quanto ampliori praeminent dignitate. Sane ad audientiam nostram pervenit, quod, cum dilecti filii nostri S. et N., monachi Cantuariensis ecclesiae, iter arripuissent ad sedem apostolicam veniendi, et mare transissent, litteras suas Cantuariam direxerunt, in quibus personas suas sub ecclesiae Romanae protectione ponentes, ne quid contra capitulum Cantuariensis ecclesiae vel in eos fieret, ad nostram audientiam appellarunt. Licet autem eorum litterae in capitulo Cantuariensis ecclesiae coram venerabili fratre nostro Cantuariensi archiepiscopo perlectae fuissent, idem tamen archiepiscopus, occasione sumpta ex eo, quod dilectus filius noster prior Cantuariensis eos se inconsulto iter arripuisse dicebat, in ipsos excommunicationis sententiam promulgavit. Ne igitur tantus Romanae ecclesiae contemptus remaneat impunitus, cum non solum post appellationem ad nos necessario interpositam, sed post iter arreptum ad sedem apostolicam veniendi, in eos excommunicationis sententiam promulgavit, discretionem vestram per apostolica scripta mandamus atque districte praecipimus, quatenus si verum est quod asseritur, dictum archiepiscopum, usque ad satisfactionem idoneam, a potestate excommunicationis in capitulum proferendae, vel in aliquos de capitulo, nostra freti auctoritate, sine appellationis obstaculo suspendatis, eo non obstante, quod quia prior eos sine licentia sua recessisse proposuit, se ipsos excommunicasse praetendit, cum prior hoc praetimore in ipsius praesentia dixisse dicatur. illa quam bonæ memoriæ Baldewinus quondam Cantuariensis archiepiscopus in ejusdem ecclesiæ præjudicium, immo scandalum et ruinam, primo apud Hakentune, postea apud Lamhee erexit, habeat consummationem. Intuitu igitur Dei et gloriosi martyris Thomæ reverentia, cujus memoria in præfata viget ecclesia, clementiæ vestræ gratia Cantuariensis ecclesiæ desolationi subveniat et ruinæ. Qua enim pace, qua libertate poterit de cætero gaudere, cum fictitiam illam et adulterinam viderit contra se erectam et spoliis suis ditatam? Et quis erit status ecclesiæ Anglicanæ cum matrem suam Cantuariensem ecclesiam tabescere viderit in angustia et mœrore? Timendum ne in se ipsam divisa ecclesia desoletur; et certe, turbata ecclesia, regni negotiis pax et honesta quies esse non poterit. Avertat hoc Deus et regia magnificentia vestra. In ea igitur qua vobis fide et amore [tenemur], consulimus, et devote supplicamus, quatenus præfatam Cantuariensem ecclesiam in eo statu et libertate qua usque ad hæc tempora sub protectione Dei et vestra duravit, pacifice conservetis, nec aliquid fieri permittatis quod insolentia novitatis scandalum ecclesiæ Dei generet, et apostolicæ sedis auctoritati deroget: pro certo habentes prædictam canoniam de Lamhee, de consensu et deliberatione omnium cardinalium, a domino papa et a prædecessoribus suis damnatam. Nec aliquo modo possumus pati opus illud procedere quod in tam nobilis ecclesiæ construitur subversionem. Nulla igitur ratione, si placet, dominum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum ab aliquo impediri permittatis, quominus mandatum apostolicum super demolitione prædicti operis de Lamhee sibi directum possit implere; sed potius eum ad hoc, si placet, inducatis, ut moram in faciendo non patiat, sed honori suo maturius provideat et ecclesiæ suæ tranquillitati. Sanctissimo et in Christo carissimo domino et patri, Innocentio, Dei gratia summo pontifici, Ricardus eadem gratia rex Angliæ, dux Normanniæ et Aquitanniæ, et comes Andegaviæ, salutem, et cum omni dilectione devotionem et reverentiam. Sicut excellentiam vestram pro venerabili patre nostro Huberto Cantuariensi archiepiscopo rogavi sæpius et obsecravi, adhuc etiam quanta possum devotione vestræ sanctitati duxi supplicandum, quatenus in negotio capellæ de Lamhee, quam non ipse sed bonæ memoriæ prædecessor suus Baldewinus, vir utique tantæ religionis et discretionis non incognitæ, in honore beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ construxit, cum prædicto archiepiscopo mitius et benignius agere dignemini. Quod non tam pro ipso archiepiscopo fieri postulo, quam pro honore Dei et sanctæ ecclesiæ, ad quorum laudem et gloriam, sub nomine prædictorum martyrum, eadem capella construenda esse dinoscitur: sed et pro nostro jure omniumque terræ nostræ episcoporum, procerum, conservando, quibus ex antiqua et rationabili consuetudine regni licet, in suo, cum assensu diocesani episcopi, ecclesiam cum capella construere. Placeat itaque vestræ sanctitati, cum omnibus justitiam debeatis, honori Dei et beatorum martyrum Suorum deferre, et in hoc negotio jus quod mihi et meis, filiis vestris devotissimis, sicut prædixi, competit, integrum et illæsum conservare. Hoc autem advertat discretio vestra, quod ecclesiæ Cantuariensi dispendium non oportet timeri in hoc negotio. In conspectu enim sanctitatis vestræ constanter affirmo, quod si prædictus archiepiscopus aliquid in dispendium ecclesiæ suæ, quod absit, et quod ipsum præ cæteris omnibus vitare cognovi, disponderet, ego ei omnimodis in hoc resisterem; nec illius sacrosanctæ ecclesiæ præjudicium sustinerem, quæ in regno meo totius Christianitatis mater est et magistra, a cujus etiam sanctitate, tam ego, quam prædecessores mei, cum sacra unctione regia insignitus sum corona. CCCCXLVII. RICARDUS REX ANGLIÆ J. WITERBIENSI ET THUSCALENSI EPISCOPO ET CARDINALI.

The king is astonished to hear that the monks of Canterbury have obtained a papal mandate against the church of Lambeth, to which the king, the bishops, and the monks themselves had given their assent.

Venerabili viro et in Christo amico carissimo J., Dei gratia Viterbiensi et Tuscalensi episcopo, Ricardus eadem gratia rex Angliæ, dux Normanniæ et Aquitanniæ, et comes Andegaviæ, salutem, et cum sincera dilectione devotam reverentiam. Miramur plurimum, movemur et turbamur, super eo quod monachi Cantuarienses, tacita veritate et per falsam suggestionem, ad demoliendam ecclesiam de Lamhee litteras a sede Romana impetrare potuerunt. Hoc enim, nisi vocatis iis quorum intererat, nulla ratione, sicut melius nostis, ad postulationem unius partis debuit obtineri. Ex antiqua enim et diu obtenta consuetudine in regno Angliæ, licet regibus, episcopis, comitibus, baronibus in solo proprio, cum assensu diocesani episcopi, nullius reclamazione obstante, ecclesiam conventualem construere et dotare. Hæc autem ecclesia de Lamhee de assensu Henrici¹ patris nostri et nostro, subsequente episcoporum et magnatum regni nostri voluntate, orta tunc contentione² inter Baldewinum archiepiscopum Cantuariensem et monachos suos, super eadem ecclesia prius apud Hakentune constructa; de voluntate ipsorum monachorum, immo ad eorum petitionem, nobis etiam apud Baldewinum archiepiscopum pro ipsis intervenientibus, usque Lamhee translata est, et ibidem in fundo archiepiscopi, cum assensu diocesani episcopi constituta, auctoritate Romanorum pontificum, et munimentis nostris et suffraganeorum Cantuariensis ecclesiæ et magnatum regni No. cccxxxv. renovata et firmata. Credimus enim quod, si hæc et alia quæ fortius urgent, domino papæ et vobis innotuissent, papa de subvertenda ecclesia illa ita præpropere non scripsisset. Et quia Romanæ ecclesiæ devoti sumus, et mandatis vestris in quantum possumus obtemperamus, paternitati vestræ supplicamus attentius, rogantes quatenus instetis apud dominum papam, ut executionem litterarum a dictis monachis obtentarum suspendat, donec plenius rei veritatem ex assertione nostra et certissimis indiciis quamplurimis agnoscat. Prudentiam autem vestram scire volumus, nos sustinere non posse hujusmodi mandatum Romanæ sedis in regno nostro executioni demandari, quod in præjudicium et libertatis nostræ et regni nostri emanaverit. Teste me ipso apud Rupem Andelin, quinta decima die Julii.³

CCCCXLVIII. CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI FRATRES A CURIA ROMANA.A.D. 1198.
May.

Licet diversas tribulationum angustias propter varios et instabiles rerum eventus hucusque passi simus, tamen juxta animi nostri desiderium causa laboris nostri consecuta est effectum. Unde rogamus attentius, ne inertis timore tepidi, sed potius patroni nostri gloriosissimi martyris Thomæ vigilantia excitati, [negotium] matris ecclesiæ strenue exsequamini, et litteras domini papæ de consilio et deliberatione omnium cardinalium manantes, et tanto labore perquisitas, debito robore et auctoritate deponendo non privetis, sed potius eas domino archiepiscopo et suffraganeis, per tres vel quatuor de majoribus et discretioribus ecclesiæ nostræ, omni timore potestatis terrenæ postposito, quamcitius porrigatis, et responsum ipsius, et quomodo præceptum domini papæ impleverit, nobis maturius significate. Plurimum enim desiderat hoc curia Romana audire. Nos quidem cum præsentis negotio venissemus, sed negotia alia nondum peracta expectavimus, quibus peractis a curia recedemus, nisi vobis magis viderimus expedire subsistentes. De recessu tamen nostro a curia nihil solliciti sitis, quia cardinales fere omnes habetis propitios, qui nobis promiserunt quod pro ecclesia Cantuariensi firmiter contra omnes stabunt. Valete.

The brethren at Rome entreat the convent not to be afraid to use the papal mandate, but to forward it immediately.

They must report to the court the receipt of the mandate.

The whole Roman court is on their side.

CCCCXLIX. RICARDUS REX OMNIBUS SUFFRAGANEIS CANTUARIENSIS ECCLESIE.

June 14.

Ricardus rex Angliæ, dux Normanniæ et Aquitanniæ, et comes Andegaviæ, omnibus suffraganeis Cantuariensis ecclesiæ. Ad vestram notitiam volumus devenire, monachos Cantuarienses per suggestionem falsi, tacita etiam veritate, litteras a domino papa, Cantuariensi archiepiscopo directas, citra consensum nostrum dolose impetrasse, ut dominus archiepiscopus infra triginta dies post susceptionem litterarum, ecclesiam de Lamhee, tanquam a papa Clemente dudum condemnatam, propriis sumptibus, ædificia etiam canonicorum circumposita, demoliatur: vobis etiam litteras esse directas in quibus continetur, ut si forte dictus archiepiscopus hujusmodi mandato non paruerit, dominus papa ab obedientia ei debita vos absolvit. Si nec etiam hac pœna territus ejus mandato obtemperaverit, non conventum, non vocatum, ab officio episcopali suspendit. Quia igitur non credimus has litteras de conscientia domini papæ emanasse, si veritatem rei gestæ plenius agnovisset, nec etiam hujusmodi litteris obtemperandum esse, cum contra jus elicitæ videantur; cum etiam mandatum istud in præjudicium dignitatis nostræ et libertatis regni nostri elicited sit, eo scilicet quod regibus, episcopis, comitibus, baronibus, ex antiqua et diu obtenta regni Angliæ consuetudine, liceat passim in solo proprio ecclesiam conventualem construere; vobis mandamus et firmiter præcipimus quatenus, sicut vos et honorem nostrum et libertatem regni nostri diligitis, et possessiones vestras et libertates et dignitates ecclesiarum vestrarum illæsas conservari curatis, si quod hujusmodi mandatum domini papæ de subtrahenda domino archiepiscopo obedientia directum sit, ei ad præsens non obtemperetis. In rescriptis enim quæ contra jus elicita sunt, sicut vestra novit discretio, exspectanda est secunda jussio. Novell. 134, cap. vi.

Ex hoc autem vobis constare potest, quod hoc mandatum per falsi suggestionem obtentum est; quod si qua forte a papa Clemente, cujus facto nititur dominus papa in his litteris, de subvertenda ecclesia de Lamhee, sententia lata fuerit, executioni non fuit demandata, immo beneficio litterarum illarum monachi penitus renunciantes, in nos et archiepiscopum Rothomagensis, et Hugonem episcopum Dunhelmensem, et quamplures alios episcopos et barones nostros, orta contentione inter ipsos et Baldewinum archiepiscopum Cantuariensem super ecclesia de Hakentune, compromiserunt. Nos autem unanimiter arbitrati fuimus, prædictum Baldewinum archiepiscopum Cantuariensem de jure et absque dispendio et injuria Cantuariensis ecclesiæ apud Hakentune ecclesiam posse construere. Ad petitionem tamen monachorum, de eorum voluntate et assensu, usque Lamhee fuit translata, munimentis nostris necnon et episcoporum testimonio qui compositioni prædictæ intererant, roborata est, et auctoritate summorum pontificum Urbani et Lucii et Cœlestini confirmata et solidata. Quia igitur contra factum nostrum venire nec volumus, nec valemus, quia jura regni nostri intemerata observare tenemur, eversionem prædictæ ecclesiæ nullatenus sustinentes, vobis qui ad tuitionem juris nostri et conservationem dignitatis nostræ astricti estis, iterato præcipimus, quatenus servato quod prælibatum est, rei veritatem, quæ jam vobis innotuit, domino papæ per litteras vestras patentes significetis, portitore litterarum vestrarum per nos transitum faciente; pro statu etiam juris nostri et dignitatis nostræ, et pro statu ecclesiæ Lamhensis, quam sub protectione et custodia nostra cum omnibus pertinentiis suis suscepimus, solemner nobiscum appelletis. Ad maiorem causæ evidentiam et fidei habendæ firmitatem, rei gestæ continentiam sub sigillo nostro patentem vobis transmittimus. Noverit itaque fraternitas vestra, quod pridie Kalendas Junii venerunt nuncii domini Huberti archiepiscopi ad ipsum apud Lamhee de curia Romana, depositisque sarcinulis et inspectis, omnia subito siluerunt, et noctem totam duxit dominus archiepiscopus insomnem. Mane facto, præsentem episcopo Rofensi, et de Sancto Ædmondo, de Radinges, de Waltham, de Certeseia¹ abbatibus, habito prius cum clericis suis tædioso colloquio, appellavit, adunatis et audientibus quicunque in loco cogi poterant, viris cujuscunque ordinis, pro persona sua, pro potestate et officio, pro ecclesia et statu ecclesiæ de Lamhee, ne quid falsa cujuscunque suggestione contra eum perquiratur, aut valeat perquisitum: et dupliciter pro ea appellatum est, ita videlicet, quod, si non posset ecclesia clericorum esse, fieret ecclesia redemptionis captivorum Jerusalem. Episcopus similiter Rofensis pro persona sua et officio appellavit; magister Simon de Sutwelle pro canonia et canonicis loci: et turbata sunt apud eos omnia. Et quia domino archiepiscopo pro parte innotuerat mandatum domini papæ, ne illud ei porrigeremus, nisus est multum præpedire nos. Unde et de Certeseia et de Waltham abbates, litteras domini archiepiscopi in hac forma portantes, ad nos transmisit.

Audistis enim quod suggerunt domino papæ, quia nos, sede metropolitana contempta, in capellis et ecclesiis non consecratis chrisma conficere, episcopos consecrare, et abbates benedicere præsumebamus, et quod dominum Eliensem episcopum, Cantuariam ut ibidem consecraretur venientem, in præjudicium matricis ecclesiæ, eo quod vos in facto Lamhensis ecclesiæ nobis noluistis præbere assensum, nobiscum Lamhee duxi-

Huic itaque labori per sex dies continuos totis viribus per se et per alios insistens, nihil profecit. Unde et in ejus recessu, omnibus possessionibus nostris spoliati sumus, per-versique nostræ intentionis interpretes nobis imputaverunt ad pertinaciam et superbiam, quicquid fecimus ob causæ nostræ integritatem et domini papæ reverentiam. Humano siquidem auxilio in Anglia destituti, Deo et sanctæ Romanæ curiæ sumus pauperes derelicti. Quisquis enim faciem hilarem nobis prætereundum præsumit, publicus hostis censetur. Allegans itaque dominus archiepiscopus contra præceptum domini papæ domini regis nostri prohibitionem, in nullo domini papæ mandatum exsecutus est, in recessu hujus latoris præsentium, (qui post terminum a domino papa domino archiepiscopo præfixum et elapsum, a nobis recessit), nec etiam in spiritualibus, nec in iis quæ ad ipsum proprie pertinent, qui quanto minus habuit difficultatis in agendo, tanto majus contumaciæ habuit in omisso. Suscepit itaque dominus archiepiscopus mandatum domini papæ, vij^o. idus Junii, sed in nullo illud exsecutus est infra triginta dies. Tricesima enim die postquam illud suscepit, videlicet ultimo octavarum apostolorum Petri et Pauli, canonici de Lamhee solemniter et publice per totum diem horas canonicas celebraverunt, nec nos in aliquo de iis quæ continebantur in rescripto domini papæ fuimus restituti, aut sub spe restituendi.

Benedictus Dominus Deus Israel, Qui diffusa caritate per Spiritum Sanctum in corde vestro, nobis in mœrore positus Rom. v. 5. caritatis solatia transmisit. Nam, sicut litterarum vestrarum pro nobis tenor enunciat, ipsi muti apices sollicitudinem vestræ caritatis pro Christi ecclesiis eloquuntur; in tantum ut de vobis et fratribus vestris, rerum ipsarum veritate probante, scriptum esse videatur, “Domini sunt cardinales terræ, et 1 Sam. ii. 8. “posuit super eos orbem.” Vere apostolorum filii vos, qui cum glorioso Paulo cum gloria potestis effari, “Quis infir- 2 Cor. xi. 29. “matur et ego non infirmor? Insinuamus etenim dignationi vestræ, reverendum Hubertum archiepiscopum, dominum et patrem nostrum, usque in præsens apostolico supersedissee mandato, nec adhuc aliquid, termino elapso, esse prosecutum: asserentibus eis quorum consiliis utitur, quasi super incerto, secundam debere eum expectare jussionem, cum in duorum summorum pontificum audientia causa sit per triennium ferme ventilata, et utraque parte præsentē discussa, et cum, tergiversatione et erroris incerto sublato, tantæ sedis diffinitio, tantæque deliberationis examine, cuncta deciderit, ambigua in lucem evocaverit, pro humilitate nostra, jure mediante, sententiam dederit. Venerabilis etiam Johannes Anagninus, cardinalis et apostolicæ sedis legatus, ad hoc ipsum Cantuariam destinatus, dolos et machinas adversæ partis, vim et metum regium authentico suo luculenter ostendit, et secundum leges et canones nobis non No. cccxxxvi. debere nocere præscribit. Cujus etiam sententiam beatæ memoriæ Cœlestinus apostolica auctoritate confirmat. Suscepto No. ccclvi. autem de novo apostolico mandato, dominus archiepiscopus quantis potuit egit studiis, quantum voluit nisus est argumentis, ut sententiam domini papæ verteret in arbitrium, auctoritatem in voluntatem, certum in incertum, ut quia terror ipsius judicem non urget superiorem, arbitros terreret inferiores, quo magis proprii judicii commoditas, quam ecclesiæ suæ honor et indemnitas posset expediri. Nos vero, quia id nolumus admittere, nec in profundum pelagus de portu longius abscedere, possessionibus nostris spoliati sumus, minis et terroribus regiis angustiat. Pietati itaque vestræ humili mente supplicamus, quatenus gratiam vestram, quam initio gustavimus, non solum usque in hujus causæ finem, sed in perpetuum cum effectu [experiamur], ut quod bono principio cœpistis, optimo fine concludatis. Quia filiarum injuria matri redundat in contumeliam, merito sancta Romana ecclesia spiritualis et devotæ filiæ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ desolationem nititur amovere. Justitiæ enim zelus, qui animi vestri motus regit et moderatur, sic subjectis imperat et prælatis obtemperat, ut in una persona perfectum filium obedientiæ et plenæ maturitatis pastorem exhibeat. Dominus namque papa, sententia pro Cantuariensi ecclesia contra illam totius mali materiam lata, capellam videlicet de Lamhee, vestro consensu et consilio procurata et roborata, plenius sane intelligentibus edisserit, quanta sit vobis in consilio discretio, et in eorum quæ recte fiunt prosecutione obedientia. Cantuariensis itaque ecclesia præ cæteris vestræ sanctitati gratiarum actiones persolvit, se vobis totam debere liberationi, quod tam diligenter, tam affectuose dominum regem No. ccccxlili. Angliæ ad ejus pacem et quietem inducere studuistis. Verum quia perpauci sunt, qui se murum pro domo Israel velint Ezek. xiii. 5. opponere, omnes fere episcopi et abbates Angliæ ad petitionem patris nostri in nos insurgentes, pro capella et canonicis de Lamhee domino papæ, contra nos et ecclesiam Cantuariensem, scribere non metuunt, magis terrenæ potestati deferentes, quam divinæ displicere formidantes; ita etiam ut quidam episcopi contra mandatum domini papæ, ne effectum consequeretur, cum domino archiepiscopo appellaverint. Sane quæ et quanta gravamina passi fuerimus, fratres nostri et scriptum No. ccccl. rei gestæ penes nos, quia domini papæ mandato renunciare noluimus, poterunt plenius vobis explicare. Soli igitur Deo et sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ inopes et desolati derelicti, ad unicum vestræ protectionis subsidium confugimus, rogantes et obtestantes per beatum martyrem Thomam, qui pro libertate ecclesiæ Cantuariensis in eadem occubuit, quatenus nostræ paci et ecclesiæ nostræ indemnitati providere studeatis, ne ab hujus causæ prosecutione citra finem debitum subsistatis. Machinantur enim adversæ partis fautores omnibus modis ab hujus causæ nos executione præpedire; quare nos nostri defectus suppletionem Deo et sancto Thomæ martyri et sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ committimus. Quoniam de justitia et juris constantia sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ unitatis ecclesiasticæ dependet integritas, merito de ejus pendere debet iudicio subjectarum ecclesiarum status et conditio, ut unius sponsi sponsa et singularis unius capitis obtemperat moderamini; ne partialium ecclesiarum quælibet suo commissa regimini, a capite recedens, schismata pariat et hæreses, et in se ipsa ecclesia, quod absit, divisa desoletur. Sane ad hanc pestem tollendam in Anglia vestra diu invigilavit diligentia, sed nondum debitum consecuta videtur effectum. Novit enim vestra discretio quale mandatum dominus papa in Angliam ad dominum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum patrem nostrum direxerat de demolienda capella de Lamhee, in Cantuariensis ecclesiæ erecta subversione. Sed prævalente voluntate proprii iudicii rationis examini, exigitur gladius materialis ad reprimendum gladium Petri, ad superflua rescandum erectum, et ab iis ut dicitur provocatus, qui erectum deberent reprimere. Unde noverit vestra paternitas, elapso termino, nihil actum esse de præcepto summi pontificis. Quare vestram suppliciter exoramus paternitatem, quatenus, [sicut] bono principio de mali materia tollenda incepistis, ad finem debitum perducatis. Valeat cara paternitas vestra.

CCCCLX. GRATIANO CARDINALI CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Gloria in excelsis Deo, et in terra pax hominibus bonæ voluntatis, quia spirante ubi vult Spiritu Veritatis, verum esse de vobis causarum merita et tempora longa probarunt, quod Cantica canunt Canticorum, "Unguentum effusum nomen Tuum, ideo adolescentulæ," id est, gentium ecclesiæ, "dilexerunt Te." Quæ est enim ecclesia, quantave terrarum longitudine a vobis disparata, vel obscuritate loci celata, quam vestri nominis odor non resperserit, in tantum ut cum apostolo dicere possitis "Christi bonus odor sumus Deo in omni loco?" Novum esse Jacob, hoc est vitiorum supplantatorem, Gratianum gratia mater effecit, ut de vobis pater Isaac, id est risus noster, Christus, exultet et dicat "Ecce odor filii mei, sicut odor agri pleni, cui benedixit Dominus." Quo virtutis et veritatis odore Cantuariensis ecclesia sæpe respersa, contra morbos ingruentes præ cæteris terrarum ecclesiis est experta virtutem. Quoniam igitur præteritarum rerum exhibitio futurarum est certitudo, et gratia præhibita fiduciam in causis instantibus, et spem præparat in futuris, sanctitati vestræ, cui tam sincera caritas præsidet, et pro nobis sollicitudo gratuita, quanta possumus devotione supplicamus, quatenus ob honorem Dei et ecclesiæ quam nostri Thomæ sanguis

CCCCLXI. INNOCENTIO SUMMO PONTIFICI SUFFRAGANEI CANTUARIENSIS ECCLESIAE.¹

The suffragans of the church of Canterbury rejoiced in the accession of Innocent.

Reverendo patri et domino Innocentio, summo pontifici, suffraganei Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, salutem. Gratias agimus gratiæ Largitori, Qui Suam fundans ecclesiam super Petram, in Petro, et per eum in successoribus ejus, fratres suos confirmandos esse prædixit. Unde et cum beatæ recordationis Cœlestini tertii obitu essemus perterriti, superveniens nuncius electionis vestræ nubilum nostræ tristitiæ desiderabiliter serenavit. Non reliquit nos orphanos Qui pro patribus filios, Qui loco sanctorum suscitavit vicarios.² Congratulamur gratiæ Dei, Qui vos a primitivis adolescentiæ motibus, ita erudit et informavit ad tantæ mysterium dignitatis, ut ecclesiæ incolumitas tota post Deum de vestræ potestatis auctoritate pendeat, et quæ in aliquibus membris infirmata est, sub indulto nobis cœlitus [Innocentio, ad justitiam et innocentiam convalescat. Noveritis igitur quod susceptis vestræ paternitatis litteris ad venerabilem patrem nostrum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum, et nos directis, quarum vobis transcripta transmittimus, ad mandatum prædicti patris et metropolitani nostri, Cantuariam infra triginta dies susceptionis illius cum omni devotione convenimus, carissimo fratri nostro Coventrensi episcopo manum consecrationis, una cum eodem archiepiscopo imposituri, et super iis quæ a vestra sanctitate in mandatis accepta fuerant cum³ deliberatione et consilio tractaturi. Nos autem ibidem pro his et ad hæc præsentialiter constituti, prædictum patrem et archiepiscopum nostrum devotum invenimus, ut in iis quæ injuncta fuerant, licet gravia viderentur, vestræ dispositionis imperio, juxta mandati formam et nostræ universitatis consilium, obediret. - trum, scilicet quibus rei gestæ series plenius quam ipsi archiepiscopo innotuerat, constanter asserentibus, multis etiam viris magnis et prudentibus et fide dignis ad ipsum assertive protestantibus, pariter advertimus religionem vestram ex suppressione veritatis multipliciter circumventam. Primo, quod cum capella de qua agitur, de speciali indulgentia piæ recordationis Urbani papæ, in honore beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ a bonæ memoriæ Baldewino archiepiscopo constructa fuerit, sicut eam beatus martyr Thomas et plerique ipsius prædecessores in honorem protomartyris Stephani præconceperrant construendam, nec in litteris Urbani papæ quæ de eadem capella demolienda dicantur emanasse, nec in præscriptis vestræ sanctitatis apicibus, quæ ipsius Urbani litteris maxime videntur inniti, de prædicta indulgentia mentio facta fuit. Unde nec ipsius indulgentiæ vigor per has vel illas videbatur infirmari. Secundo, quod inclytæ recordationis Gregorius papa indulsit, ut per litteras domini Urbani prædecessoris sui a tribus mensibus ante obitum suum contra Baldewinum archiepiscopum et clericos suos directas, nisi de novo mandato, minime procederetur. Unde cum litteræ ejusdem Urbani per indulgentiam ejusdem Gregorii suspensæ fuerint, et nulla Clementis papæ vel alterius post illum inhibitio super [hoc] innotuerit, nihil in apostolicæ prohibitionis contemptum circa prædictam capellam videtur attentatum. Tertio, quod cum monachis Cantuariensibus in causa dicta procedendi facultas non suppeteret, eo quod Urbani litteras Gregorii indulgentia suspendisset, interventu domini Ricardi illustris regis Angliæ et venerabilis viri Walterii Rothomagensis archiepiscopi, nec non Dunhelmensis, Wintoniensis, Saresberiensis, Roffensis, Conventrensis episcoporum, et cancellarii Angliæ tunc Eliensis electi, iisdem monachis instantes in capitulo, domino et illustri regi Scotiæ et abbate Cisterciensi multisque aliis et magnis præsentibus recitata, super hæc ita convenit, ut capella quæ prope muros Cantuariæ fabricata fuit, in locum remotiorem, quemcunque delegisset archiepiscopus, sine subsecutura reclamatione libere transferretur. Sed et idem monachi omnibus aliis querelis spontanea voluntate renunciaverunt, seque dispositioni archiepiscopi sui per omnia subjecerunt, et, sicut a quibusdam fratrum nostrorum audivimus, archiepiscopus et monachi sui se ad invicem in pacis osculo receperunt. Quarto, quod cum bonæ memoriæ Cœlestino papæ processus totius negotii innotuisset, præfato archiepiscopo nostro de prædicta capella et præbendis ejus ad indemnitate Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, libere disponendi facultatem indulsit, et sic statum capellæ confirmavit. Unde postmodum memoratis archiepiscopo et monachis super eadem dispositione tractatum habentibus, unanimi assensu complacuit, per nuncios

I. Archbishop Baldwin had licence to build from pope Urban, which has not been mentioned, and therefore not annulled by the later acts.
II. The decree of pope Gregory annulling the last letters of Urban was never repealed.
III. The monks are disqualified from proceeding, having themselves agreed to a compromise.
IV. Pope Celestine gave the archbishop full power of dealing with the new church.

utriusque partis ad sedem apostolicam destinandos, sedis ipsius consilium super hæc expetere et expectare; archiepiscopo id consilio domini papæ committente, ut in ejus esset dispositione, sub quibus cautionibus, manente capella, Cantuariensis ecclesiæ provideretur indemnitati. Nunciorum autem prædictorum iter duo de monachis Cantuariensibus prævenientes, præter conscientiam vel archiepiscopi vel prioris et conventus, sicut idem conventus in capitulo super hoc requisitus viva voce protestatus est, a clauastro clanculo recedentes, ob hoc ab archiepiscopo non immerito, secundum regularem disciplinam, sententia sunt excommunicationis innodati. Qui tacita veritate, vel egressus eorum vel sententiæ quam juste super hoc exceperant, idem eorum quæ supra meminimus litteras prædictas ad ipsum archiepiscopum et nos impetraverunt. His rationibus cum universitati nostræ videretur esse juri consentaneum, vestræque paternitati placiturum, litterarum executioni supersederi, donec super rei veritate vestra instrueretur religio; dictus archiepiscopus, ne quid mansuetudinis vel humilitatis omitteret, ex abundanti tam per se quam per nos instantanter obtulit, ut derelictis¹ quos monachi Cantuarienses vellent episcopis, vel cujuscunque ordinis viris religiosis, de omnibus quæ præcesserant et de hujus mandati executione acceleranda vel differenda eorum pareret arbitrio. Monachis autem hæc voluntarie magis quam juste recusantibus, præmissis moti rationibus ipsum archiepiscopum ad hoc induximus, ut ipso interim subsistente, de solita sedis apostolicæ clementia confidentes, totum negotium ad vestram excellentiam referremus, supplicantes attentius, ut ita super hoc vestra disponat prudentia, ne inter regnum et sacerdotium in Anglia jam orta dissessio invalescat. Turbati sunt enim vehementer ex hoc mandato rex et regni magnates, eo quod jure canonico videatur licitum, et hactenus consuetudine Anglicana obtentum, ut tam archiepiscopi, quam episcopi, quam etiam laici, auctoritate diocesani episcopi, possint ecclesiam conventualem in suo construere [fundo]. Vos igitur, pater in Christo carissime, quod super hoc expedire videritis, veritate cognita disponatis, securi profecto quia quod statueritis dominus archiepiscopus et nos debito et devoto exequemur affectu. Inde est quod tanto nobis desuper tutore dato justitiae, causam justam sub ejus moderamine tueri non formidamus, quod totis insurgentibus in nos spectatis gravibusque personis, casibus improvisis humiles modicique pulsemur.

- Noverit ergo vestra clementia, quod ecclesia Cantuariensis, licet multis undique calumniis agitetur, inde tamen urgetur acrius, ut filiorum suorum insperatis attentatur excubiis. Suffraganei namque sui, quos ipsa episcopalis dignitatis evexit in apicem, suis eam insequuntur epistolis, et quos jure sacrae professionis suos sperabat advocatos, praecipuos jam sentit impugnatores. Causam enim quam zelus et contentio quorundam olim suscitavit, diuque protractam atque discussam, apostolicae diffinitionis censura finierat, ipsi et dudum confoverunt, et nunc etiam contra vestrae mandatum clementiae, multipliciter renovare nituntur. Suscepto namque de novo apostolatus vestri decreto, ad novitatis se vertunt argumenta, satis indignum putantes se a monachis superari, quasi pudendum sit justitiae cedere, aut apostolico parere mandato, aut voluntatis arbitrium rationi sociare. Multiplices adversum nos movent objectiones, quibus mandatum quod pro nobis emanavit, evacuare nituntur apostolicum. Primo nobis objiciunt indulgentiam pie recordationis Urbani papae, qua concessum fuerat archiepiscopo capellam erigere;—ad quod respondemus, quod per surreptionem obtenta fuit, tacita veritate de loci tunc vicinitate; quam vicinitatem nunc alterius loci celebritas, Londoniae urbis latus contiguum, et sinus regius, ubi totius est regni concursus, periculo graviore compensat. Summus quoque pontifex de capella concessit;—at dominus archiepiscopus, sicut ipse in capitulo Cantuariensi publica voce testatus est, ecclesiam nobilissimam fundare statuit, ubi jam plures canonicos instituit, spectabiles magnasque personas, unde ecclesia de Lamhee contra matricem ecclesiam elationis supercilium in quibusdam usurpandis assumpsit. Quod si necdum plantata praesumit, quid facturam speramus, si in consummationis robur evaserit? Secundo loco contendunt, quod venerabilis papa Gregorius indulset, ut per litteras domini Urbani praedecessoris sui, nisi de novo mandato minime procederetur. Ad quod dicimus, quod novo mandato processum est, quia sanctae memoriae Clementis litterae, ejusdem Gregorii successoris, super demolitione praedicti operis, per venerabilem Jo-Tempore namque litis instantis exierunt, idcirco clanculo, quia comprehendi timuerunt, vel cum sua universitate concludi. Neque enim inanis hæc cautio fuit, aut vana formido, quia dictum archiepiscopum Hubertum crediderunt ejus posse mores imitari cujus sequebatur in causam, Baldewini videlicet prædecessoris sui, qui ne quis ex monachis Cantuariensibus publici juris auxilii invocandi gratia, Romanum posset adire pontificem, circumfusa multitudine ecclesiæ nostræ septa dudum concluserat. Causa etiam egressus eorum probatur honestissima, quia pro libertate et indemnitate ecclesiæ suæ ipsos constat egressos. Quorum intentionem tam nobilem cum mater eorum Cantuariensis ecclesia, redeuntibus eorum litteris, No. ccccxxi. cognovisset, de communi consilio totius capituli prædictis fratribus nostris plenissimum robur auctoritatis suæ transtulit, et pro causa jam dicta nuncios suos esse constituit. Legum enim et canonum æquitate collectum est, ut id quod ab initio infirmum est, ratihabitione valeat confirmari. In sententia vero anathematis, quam testantur episcopi Hubertum dominum et patrem nostrum in prædictos tulisse fratres; salva reverentia sua, multum contra canones fecisse videtur. Ipsi enim fratres pro universitate Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, cujus ipsi sunt portio, contra eundem archiepiscopum [querelam] habuerunt, et ob hoc sedis apostolicæ petiere iudicium, quod canon videtur approbare. Prædicti etiam fratres, litteris e vestigio remissis, apostolicam sedem appellaverunt, quæ cum in capitulo nostro No. ccccxxi. coram domino archiepiscopo recitatæ fuissent, ipse nihilominus sententiam anathematis, quam post factam appellationem in jam dictos tulit monachos, firmandam esse censuit, quod contra leges et canones esse, nulli videtur ambiguum. Nam post appellationem interpositam nihil innovandum est. Septimo nobis objicere nituntur, quod auctoritatem apostolicæ sedis in incertam voluntatem vertere nolimus arbitrorum, cum pro nobis in Anglia nemo auderet arbitrari, sicut nec in præsentiarum aliquis pro nobis testimonium audet perhibere veritati. Octavo loco metum seditionis et scandali nituntur incutere; ad quod breviter respondemus, neminem hujus occasione man-

Sententia autem super hoc negotio de corde regis expressa, sicut a viris fide dignis accepimus, hæc est; "Quorum orationibus Deus ipse except the bishops themselves. Sublimitati ergo vestræ quanta possumus humilitate cum devotione supplicamus, quatenus ecclesiam Cantuariensem, specialem sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ filiam, quam solam divino respectu et gratis confovistis, juxta sententiam a vobis egressam, ad suam reformatis libertatem; et opus capellæ quod contra canones constat erectum, et gravem parit materiam seditionis et scandali, apostolatus vestri censura subvertat, universo negotio vobis ad terminandum et finiendum reservato. Vehementer enim formidamus adversam multitudinem pauci, astutiam simplices, humilesque potentiam. Innocentio vero soli justitiam nostram securi committimus. Valeat ad gloriam Dei et honorem universitatis ecclesiæ sanctitas vestra, et justitiam moresque vestros, qui conciti currunt ad bravium, perseverantia conservata coronet.

Sane sollicitudo exigitur ad tutelam a membris ecclesiæ minor, a capite principalis. Eapropter, sicut oportuit, diligenter et diu deliberavimus in rem nostram, formam elicientes ad ultimum, in qua posset abundanter ecclesiæ cui nos Domino disponente præficimur, a futuri temporis incommodo provideri, quam vobis per abbates primo, per fratrem J. de Dovra capellanum nostrum designavimus consequenter. Revera quicquid securitatis ad perpetuam ecclesiæ vestræ indemnitate sufficiat, ibi in abundantia continetur, multo etiam amplius quam quidam exquisitioris consilii censeant oportere. Audacter dicimus, super eadem forma nihil aliud timemus, nihil dubium æstimamus, nisi quod dominus papa in confirmatione illius capituli quod de juramento archiepiscopi interseritur, se difficilem exhibebit. Non enim creditur quod velit in tanta humilitate personam tanti nominis obligari. Si vero censuerit ad confirmandum, et a nobis, in exemplum eorum qui succedunt, jurari voluerit, ad nostros successores fortius innodandos, faciles ad executionem hujus operis descendemus. CCCCLXVI. ABBATI ET CAPITULO SANCTI REMIGII.

Caritas est virtus quæ plurimum prodest iis qui modicum possunt. In oppressis enim et afflictis maxime comparet virtus caritatis. Nec nominis dignitas Christiani alia ratione sui gaudet honore vocabuli, nisi adhærendo Deo et compatiendo proximo. Inde est quod sanctitati vestræ tribulationem nostram, licet toti fere orbi Latino notissimam, communicamus litteris. Bonæ memoriæ Baldewinus, noster quondam archiepiscopus, opus contentiosum, videlicet ecclesiam quandam de bonis ecclesiæ nostræ statuit erigere. Quæ quoniam Cantuariensis ecclesiæ insidiabatur honori, derogatura erat dignitati, manifestum minabatur exitium, nostrum non potuit in hac parte tenere consensum. Illo vero nihilominus proprium exsequente propositum, sedem apostolicam coacti sumus appellare. Ubi partium assertionibus causa discussa, pro nobis tandem sententia diffinitiva processit, directoque in Angliam legato, ut sententiam latam suo sociaret effectui, vis et metus regius speratum finem executionis elusit. Procedente tempore, cum venerabilis Hubertus, dominus et archiepiscopus noster, pontificatum suscepisset, prædecessoris sui vestigiis per omnia duxit insistendum, nisi quod ille severius, iste agere videtur argutius, immo prior altero, posterior cornu ferit utroque. Unde caritatem vestram, quam omnibus nostis gratis impendere, obsecramus impensius, quatenus et nobis, qui vobiscum una lege foederamur, eodem tenemur proposito, eisdem nitimur regulæ disciplinis, in præsentī assistatis articulo, Deum-que pro nobis, Cui cura est de omnibus sanctis, pulsetis orationibus, latoribusque præsentium per vos liberum habere transitum faciatis, gratiæque conductum. Non enim nobis tantum, sed universo nostri habitus ordini, qui ab initio lactentis ecclesiæ in regno coaluit Anglorum, dispendium imminet et ruina. Insurgunt etiam in nos, proh dolor! disparitatis habitus monachi, et juris æquitate despecta, in personæ rapiuntur acceptionem. Baldewinus etiam archiepiscopus Candidi habitus monachorum tenebat propositum, cujus personalem despectum in sui ordinis vertunt contumeliam.

Illusores enim recte dixerimus, qui jam tribus illis viris apostolicis, Urbano videlicet, Clemente in eandem mandati formam diffinitionisque modum concurrentibus, tertio quoque celebrandæ memoriæ Cœlestino, licet diversa litterarum forma, eundem tamen finem vimque servante sententiæ, nunc tandem more suo illudere nituntur et Innocentio, secundam expectantes jussionem, cum examinato discussoque negotio, et diffinitiva sententia totius altercationis tollendum conflictum, jam quatuor exceperint jussiones. Virtutum omnium magistra caritas, suggerente matre gratia, in supremum bonorum verticem Gratianum evexit; unde rerum infra se jacentium facies melius posset intueri, et lucem a tenebris, verum a fallaciis, æquum ab iniquo, lucis filius, veritatis discipulus, æquitatis assertor, disertissimo rationis acumine posset sequestrare; licet hoc pro meritis vestris modicum esse probetur, cum mores vestri ecclesiarum omnium auribus insonent, “Nostra conversatio in cœlis est.” Unde personarum acceptione deducta, et totius avaritiæ sorde proscripta, terrore despecto, eliminato favoris dulci veneno, tristibus simul contemptis rebus et lætis, rectissimo Christi tramite regius miles incedis, juris videlicet per omnia rectissimus exsecutor. Nec verbis vobis assurgimus, qui non vocibus quæritis properari sed moribus, quem nec laus inflectit nec tangit contumelia, qui perfectionis in culmine consistitis, cum Paulo sedula cogitatione versatis: “Mihi autem pro “minimo est ut a vobis judicer, aut ab humano die,” et infra “Qui autem judicat me Dominus est.” Sed difficile fere, immo [im]possibile, novimus caritatis ignem intra cordis arcanum diu contineri, quin boni operis flammæ exserat, ut sermo Veritatis impleatur, “Ignem veni mittere in terram, et “quid volo nisi ut accendatur.” Cujus ignis vires quem in beatitudine vestra Spiritus Sanctus accendit, ad mundi boream nobis mitigandum, rabiemque ventorum qui in ecclesiam nostram violenti consurgunt, quam dudum nostro patrocinando Thomæ, nominis vestri gloriæ dedicastis, non quidem tempore, sed nunc potissimum experimur. Litterarum enim impetratio tam cita, quas nuper de vestri bonitate consilii nobis dominus papa transmisit, manifeste denunciat, quia nobis etiam dormitantibus curæ vestræ pro nobis in Christo pervigilant. Cæterum caritatis affectus, tanti censura consilii, tanti moderatio Romani decreti, suo penitus frustrata est effectum, quia fomenta leniora induratus moribus irridet, et ferro curanda sunt vulnera, quibus prodesse non potest medicina. Ad primum enim tactum medicaminis æger vel ægri magis induruerunt, et inde nata levis occasio, ablatis diu non redditis, nostris scilicet ecclesiis et exeniis, quasi per regem detracta sunt et nova. Hinc omnis occasio, quod juris et justitiæ viam tenentes regiam, et apostolico volentes irrefragabiliter adhærere mandato, consentire nolumus arbitrorum ambiguae voluntati, nisi forte aliquis reperiatur arbiter qui, contempto gladio quem cervici suæ severus judex et minax intonuit, pro ejus adversario arbitretur inermi. Ricardo, illustri regi Anglorum, Gaufridus prior et conventus, salutem in Eo Qui dat salutem regibus. Gratias vobis multiplices referimus pro devotione quam erga Cantuariensem ecclesiam et servos vestros in ea Deo servientes geritis, vitam vestram et incolumitatem sibi servari multum desiderantes, vestræ quoque voluntati, quantum cum Deo possunt, obedire paratos. Susceptis, domine, reverendæ majestatis vestræ litteris, in quibus laudastis et consulistis ut in quinque episcopos et quinque abbates compromitteremus de capella de Lamhee, et aliis quæ vertuntur inter venerabilem patrem nostrum Hubertum archiepiscopum et nos, diu super hoc deliberavimus et multum tractavimus, et licet non ambigamus vos ita pro bono pacis nobis scripsisse, nullatenus tamen, quod salva pace vestra dixerimus, id facere audemus vel possumus; quia omnes fere episcopi Angliæ et abbates ita ad curiam Romanam pro domino archiepiscopo scripserunt, quod si possent ea probare quæ contra nos et ecclesiam Cantuariensem scribunt, et causa nostra penitus cassaretur et ecclesia Cantuariensis destrueretur; et constat nobis quod non minus darent ei per arbitrium, quam conantur adquirere per placitum. Cæterum, domine carissime, quomodo auderemus vel possemus causam istam a curia Romana revocare, et in arbitrium episcoporum vel abbatum ponere, desicut sententia lata est de hac causa a quatuor apostolicis, cum non liceat alicui in terra vestra sine consensu et voluntate vestra trahere aliquod placitum a curia vestra ad minorem curiam? Unde quia in his videmus evidens periculum, si sic fiant, ecclesiæ nostræ imminere, majestatis vestræ pedibus omnes et singuli provoluti cum lacrymis et gemitu supplicamus, quatenus, intuitu Dei et sanctorum ecclesiæ Cantuariensis, eisdem periculis præcaveatis, efficientes si placet erga dominum archiepiscopum, ut ei sufficiat quod tot sanctis archiepiscopis prædecessoribus ejus suffecisse dinoscitur, a tempore quo ad Christianitatem regnum Angliæ fuit conversum. Et singulis inbreviatis, reponatur in tuto et salvo loco, sub custodia trium clavium, quarum una sit nostra et alia vestra, et tertia conventus; et quod nolumus quod thesaurus illius ecclesiæ dissipetur propter superbiam et dissensionem ipsorum monachorum, et quod ad exemplum eorum ita fiat per omnes episcopatus Angliæ, in quorum sedibus monachi sunt; et quod sustinere non possumus, sicut nec debemus, quod thesauri ecclesiarum, et eleemosynæ ab antecessoribus nostris illi et aliis prædictis ecclesiis collatæ, per præsumptionem monachorum dilapidentur, et in usus illicitos convertantur. Innocentio summo pontifici, Conventus Cantuariensis humilis et afflictus, salutem. Litteras sanctitatis vestrae, pater reve- rende, sicut alias vobis significavimus, super demolitione capellae de Lamhee, et statu ecclesiae nostrae reformando, dominus et pater noster archiepiscopus suscepit, sed adhuc, alieno, sicut credimus, magis quam proprio ductus instinctu, nequaquam apostolicum adimplevit [mandatum]. Unde cum caeco illo clamante, transeunte Jesu, quem multi increpabant ut taceret, et muliere quam apostoli rogabant ut dimitteret, quia clamabat post eos, clamare et nos compellimur pro Cantuariensi ecclesia ad vos, quem Dominus constituit speculatorem domus Israel, Qui propter miseras inopum et gemitum pauperum nunc exsurgat, ut imperet ventis et mari, ne navicula nostra tot tempestatibus et tanto tempore exposita tandem patiatur naufragium, cum jam crederetur pervenisse ad portum. Decem et eo amplius jam anni elapsi sunt, ex quo causa Cantuariensis ecclesiae in curia Romana ventilata est; quae quatenus processerit, vel quid praedecessores vestri de consilio fratrum super ea non semel, immo saepius, decreverint, multis, et maxime in regno Anglorum, satis innotuit. Cujus regni principes et praelati fere universi, ad instantiam domini et patris nostri Cantuariensis archiepiscopi, nuper contra nos scripserunt, in proscriptione ecclesiae morem potius gerentes temporibus, quam languentis et lugentis ecclesiae lacrymas consolantes. Nuper etiam publico edicto prohibitum est, ne quis nobis in mutuo auri vel argenti seu etiam victualium subveniret. A foro nostro in alienum evocati sumus responsuri super quaestionibus quae laicam non contingunt potestatem. Novis et indebitis exactionibus quotidie vexamur, minis afficimur, opprobriis saturamur, damnis affligimur, desolationibus aggravamur. Ad haec libertates et immunitates, quas sanguine proprio pretiosus martyr Thomas comparavit, et ecclesiae suae, sui cerebri ex liquore scripto in pavimento privilegio magno et memorabili, contulit et confirmavit, ut in irritum revocentur, desudatur, et a talibus qui talia non deberent praesumere. Sed et nuper venerunt ad nos quidam a justitiariis domini regis, sicut dicebant, destinati, volentes ut id modicum facultatum ecclesiae quod Alemannicae redemptioni remansit, eis exponeremus describendum et clavibus potestatis publicae supponendum: et idem ad exemplum nostrum per omnes sedes Angliae, in quibus a beato Gregorio monachi instituti sunt, se dicebant esse facturos, quod hactenus in partibus nostris inauditum est. CCCCLXXXV. HUBERTUS ARCHIEPISCOPUS CONVENTUI
CANTUARIENSI.

The archbishop, in spite of the conduct of
the convent,
rejoices to

potius hostes quam filii merueritis appellari, tamen non duximus vobis malum pro malo reddere, sed affectu paterno malum bono recompensare. Ideoque licet vos offenderitis gravius, et honoris nostri quantum potuistis, studuistis dispendium procurare, tamen libertates ecclesiæ vestræ pro posse nostro non patiemur minui, nec vel minimum ex vobis minus rationabiliter lædi vel offendi. Et hoc quidem jam satis manifeste probavimus, quod cum de afflictione vestra, ut plerisque videtur, lætari, et gravamina vestra potius procurare quam amovere deberemus, possessiones vestras quibus jussu regio destituti fuistis, vix quidem et difficile vobis restitui obtinuimus. Quapropter, si vobis placeret, attendere deberetis, quod caput ecclesiæ vestræ sumus, et rector vester principalis, sub quo esse, et cujus consilium ita sequi, debetis in omnibus, sicut in necessitatibus vestris desideratis protectionem apud nos et patrocinium invenire. Unde et vos, sicut prius, adhuc quoque duximus admonere et consulere, quatenus ad cor revertentes attendatis quid expediat, et quæ vobis et ecclesiæ vestræ, necnon universali ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, occasione hujus controversiæ mala possint in posterum provenire. Quæ mala, si evenerint, merito in caput vestrum, qui causa et origo estis eorum, redundabunt. Quæ quidem controversia si nostris non fuerit temporibus consopita, timendum est ne diebus alterius, qui fortasse cum detrimento ecclesiæ vestræ vestra non timebit gravamina procurare, ecclesia vestra suarum incurrat jacturam libertatum. Si igitur, vel sero, erga nos, ut filios erga patrem decet, humilitatem volueritis amplecti, et nostræ, qui vos affectu paterno diligimus, volueritis in humilitate et devotione debita condescendere voluntati, tantum erga vos exhibebimus humanitatis et gratiæ, necnon et paternæ pietatis affectum, quod quicumque, quantum vos excesseritis agnoscentes, hoc audierint, de gratia et benignitate necnon mansuetudine quam apud nos invenietis, mirabuntur. Valete.

ecclesiæ advertens creditum Innocentio, ad innocentiae et ecclesiasticæ subversionem libertatis, fraudem movet subtilius, viribus insistit violentius, in tantum, ut jam videatur ecclesia Cantuariensis primitias illius tribulationis prægustare, quam ille filius perditionis in vespera mundi Christi fidelibus præ- 2 Thess. ii. 3. nunciatur inferre. Quidam enim Cantuariensis ecclesiæ filii, etiam in sinu ipsius diu et dulciter educati, tam favore personæ, quam potestatis terrenæ ducti, eo usque in ipsam non sine veritatis et justitiæ præjudicio insurgunt, ut sigillis eorum adversariis prædictæ ecclesiæ commissis, de omnibus quæ ipsi ab adversariis suis imponuntur, sigillorum suorum appositione, contra ipsam testimonium perhibeant, cum etiam nec scripta quibus testimonium perhibent conspexerint, vel saltem quod in eis contineatur audierint. Studet itaque illa contumaciæ conspiratio, nos ad consensum illius operis inducere, quod in contemptum sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ, et subversionem Cantuariensis, erectum dinoscitur. Quicquid enim post appellationem ei interpositam ad sedem apostolicam, et ejus publicam prohibitionem, in eo factum est, contumaciam redolet et contemptum; ut vel sic sibi similes nos efficeret, et a tramite deviantes justitiæ, vobis inobedientes exhiberet, et sic vestra nos expugnaret indignatio, quos hactenus gratia confovit et vestræ paternitatis protectio. Nos autem potius elegimus quælibet excogitata sustinere gravamina, quam sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ reverentiam vel in modico offendere, vel dignitatis et libertatis Cantuariensis ecclesiæ diminutioni consentire. Unde, licet vobis onerosum sit audire, de multis aliqua nobis illata gravamina nos compellit necessitas clementiæ vestræ insinuare. Vosque nihilominus ea decet audire, cum non sit alia nostræ causa tribulationis, nisi quod ecclesiæ nostræ dispendium vestræ ausi sumus exponere pietati, nec a vestræ mandato dignationis nos possunt avertere. Quod ex hoc verum esse convincitur, quod quamdiu licet ignave ecclesiæ nostræ dissimulavimus injurias, summa pacis et tranquillitatis quiete fruebamur. Postquam autem universali ecclesiæ concessa aggressi sumus uti libertate, summo videlicet nostras injurias propalare, summæ sumus adversitati addicti. Ob hanc itaque causam regiæ majestatis offensam incurrimus, ad cujus nutum regni in nos conspiravit universitas, ut licet nobis aliqui corde compatiantur, verbis et vultu, ipsis etiam operibus, licet inviti, nobis adversantur. Publice prohibitum est ne quis nobis in mutuo præsumat subvenire. In hoc enim quod sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ reverentiam conservavimus illæsam, regiam majestatem dicimur offendisse. Ornamenta ecclesiæ nostræ, cum vasis sacris usibus dedicatis, domini regis et archiepiscopi nostri præcepto, ipsius regis bailivorum custodiæ præcipiuntur deputari. Libertates et dignitates ecclesiæ nostræ, quas gloriosus martyr Thomas pro ipsa et in ipsa sanguine suo comparavit, in servitutem indebitam et inconsuetam, in odium nostri commutantur; et, quod nos magis movet ad indignationem, quam adversum nos licet injuste nostri conceperint adversarii, omnia regni Angliæ monasteria in quibus sedes sunt episcopales et monachi, eandem jubentur subire servitutem et exactionem. Regiis ministris injungitur, ut quicquid poterunt gravaminis et molestiæ nobis non omittant irrogare: unde fit ut quidam de nostris in carcerem ob minimam causam retrudantur, alii rebus suis spolientur, alii injuste et præter regni consuetudinem in forum civile trahantur, aliisque malis tam nostri quam nos ipsi studiosius exquisitis vexentur, ac si videatur omnium gratiam promereri quisquis nobis in aliquo poterit injuriari. Amoto namque venerabili domino et patre nostro archiepiscopo ab administratione regiæ potestatis, tales ipsius loco, eo procurante, quod inviti dicimus, sunt substituti, qui illo acrius in nos et in nostros insurgunt, in tantum ut coram ipsis de libertatibus et dignitatibus ecclesiæ nostræ litis subire cogamur discrimen, falso in multis accusati, quæ regiæ videntur derogare majestati, ut sic malis undique coarctati cogermur a causæ nostræ prosecutione, quam in præsentia vestra constituimus, omnino deficere. Eapropter, pater sanctissime, innocentes a culpa de Innocentii confidentes constantia, ad vos unicum post Deum refugium confugimus, supplicantes, et per Eum Cui adhærent innocentes et recti obtestantes, ut in hac causa, et sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ reverentiam et ecclesiæ Cantuariensis conservetis indemnitate, ne multiplex fraudis astutia et eloquentiæ confidentia simplici veritati præjudicet, et tantæ contumaciæ et præsumptionis impunitas incentivum amplius parturiat delinquendi.

Gaufridus prior, fratribus in curia Romana. Extremæ desolationis est calamitas speratæ remedio consolationis in tribulatione privari. Unde licet nostræ depressiones et angustiae præ multitudine non possint a nobis numerari, hæc velut summa et singularis cordibus nostris altius hæret et torquet acrius, quod post susceptum domini papæ mandatum, nihil de statu vestro vel constantia curiæ certum accepimus. Unde timor pessimus augur in dubiis veris nos efficit sæpius deteriora vereri. Sane, quia non est nobis salus nisi Petri gladius pro nobis exertus virtute constantiæ cum rigore vires suas exerceat, quas et quales persecutionis procellas pro sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ reverentia et Cantuariensis libertate tuenda quotidie et continue sustineamus, pro parte vobis insinuare decernimus, ut his domino papæ innotescentibus, vel sic utriusque partis, nostræ videlicet et adversariorum nostrorum, advertat intentionem. De Lamhee vix in lite fit mentio, sed de monachorum ejectione publice se revelat adversariorum nostrorum intentio; nec solum Cantuariensi, verum omnibus cathedralibus ecclesiis Angliæ in quibus ordo viget monasticus, hanc intendunt injuriam irrogare; proh pudor! jam se jactitantes Gregorianæ correctores institutionis. Fiscus jubetur dispositioni thesauros ecclesiæ nostræ et omnium sedium episcopalium monasteriorum ad reponendum committi, id tam domino archiepiscopo quam rege præcipiente, ut sic exhausti in causæ prosecutione deficiamus, sic a dispositione rerum ecclesiæ repulsi, postmodum ab ipsa nos ecclesia facilius expellant. Publice inhibetur ne quis nobis in mutuo subveniat. Compelluntur Judæi ea quæ eis debemus, etiam inviti, violenter a nobis extorquere. Cassatis omnibus ecclesiæ nostræ libertatibus, quas sanctorum prædecessorum suorum meritis et laboribus comparatas, beatus martyr Thomas sanguine suo confirmavit, cogitur ipsa ecclesia irreverenti subjacere servituti. Si qui prætenderint aut advocaverint Cantuariensis ecclesiæ sibi libertates, minis, opprobriis, damnis, carceribus, servitutibus, suppliciis, aliisque excogitatis injuriis et exactionibus puniuntur. Post rerum omniumstrarum exteriorum spoliationem, interiora minantur aggredi, et in ipsas ecclesiæ personas degrassari. Citamur in exteris et nostris regionibus domino regi de regiæ majestatis læsione respondere; et ut exire non valentibus, ne forte manus in eos injiciantur, objiciatur regii mandati contemptus, et excogitata malignandi occasio licentiam in nos sæviendi videatur adjudicasse, et sub fraude palliata totius malitiæ expediatur effectus. Ad hujus siquidem executionem propositi, magni et famosi viri, tam juris periti quam ad rem quoquomodo efficiendam affecti, ad curiam Romanam sunt destinati, ita quod si dominus archiepiscopus per eos id quod petit nequiverit impetrare, in propria persona, prout asserunt, curiam adibit. Jactitant enim audientiam a domino sibi papa concedi, super his quæ in curia tempore quatuor apostolicorum sunt ventilata, et sententiæ diffinitione decisa. Unde consulimus, quod si timueritis curiæ inconstantiam sive adversariorum nostrorum astutiam nostræ innocentiae præjudicium parturire, aliquem peritum advocatum accersite, vel saltem usque ad audientiam nostram causam suspendite; nosque de nostra confidentes justitia, in mortem pro ea ire

Nihil rationi tam consonum aut naturæ conforme, quam suos agnoscere. Affectus etiam iste transivit in effectum, dum et nuncios nostros, Cantuariensis ecclesiæ contemplatione, digno cum honore suscepistis, et causam nostram magnifice et utiliter, capituli vestri sigillum appendendo, promovistis; laborem nostrum de compassionem communicastis, et vos vestraque nobis exponentes, ad constantiam roborastis. Intumescente igitur, sanctissime pater, persecutionis nostræ unda et fervore, et semper in deterius vergente et declinante, vestræ miserationis gratiam indefessis clamorum gemitibus suscitare compellimur, "Præceptor, perimus." In nostræ enim desolationis exitium livor consilia statuens, et in perniciem manus funestas exserens, quasi cum iniquis deputatos tota die mœrore afficiunt; assiduis damnis, minis et opprobriis, quasi vulnus vulnere imprimentes et iniquitatem iniquitati copulantes, lacerant et affligunt; ut etiam præsentis miseriæ nostræ cognitio sit nobis maxima doloris exaggeratio, et piis omnibus luctuosa recordatio. Non enim jam tractatur de pacis reformatione et prioris ecclesiæ Cantuariensis libertatis redintegratione, sed de monastici ordinis ab ea extrusione, et perpetua memoriæ et nominis nostri abolitione. Ecclesiam Suam Deus futuræ pacis interminabili reservans quieti, pacem internam relinquit vianti; quam sicut mundus non potest auferre, ita nec præstare, Ipso Domino dicente, S. John. xiv. 27. "Non sicut mundus dat, Ego do vobis." Per prophetam autem reprobans pacem quæ sine integræ conscientiæ sereno habetur, ait, Jer. vi. 14. "quia divitiæ et voluptates custodiunt pacem" "filiae populi Mei cum ignominia ejus, qui dicunt pax! pax!" "et non est pax." Attamen licet crebris temporalium inquietionum agitetur procellis, Redemptoris sui sanguine glorificata, super omnia mundi libera redditur et magnificatur. Pro ea igitur multipliciter vexati et injuriati, exundante tribulationis nostræ æstu et fervore, et magis ac magis dolorum amaricante et accrescente cumulo, amodo secretiori silentio penes nos, præ nimia asperitatis vehementia, non potuimus delitescere. Ad commune ergo jubar querimoniam nostram elicientes, publicarum aurium benignitati et gratiæ ecclesiæ nostræ miseras expromimus et deploramus. Derelicta enim et non habens consolatorem qui pro ea ascendat in die prælii, quasi vidua, sub tributo, et sicut civitas in manus hostiles deputatur; a cunctis autem fidelibus eo uberius miseranda, quia juxta illud propheticum, facti sunt hostes ejus in capite, et qui eam contra quarumlibet roborare deberent insultationem, super eam moliuntur et magnificent supplantationem. Propugnator etenim ejus, qui omnes machinas scandali et offensionis suæ deberet exterminare, in ejus ruinam cujusdam canonice sæcularis fabricam tueri nititur et ædificare. Nos autem, quia illius operi et promotioni assentire non possumus sine gravi conscientiæ scrupulo et fidei qua ecclesiæ nostræ tenemur lubrico, Romanam curiam sub appellationis munimine, jam diu juris remedia interpellantes, prosequimur, omnibus terrenis rebus spoliati, alienorum beneficiorum suffragia mendicantes. Orbi terrarum jam dudum innotuit, quod et cœlos non credimus ignorare, quia tempore piæ memoriæ Baldewini Cantuariensis archiepiscopi, cum ex constructione novæ clericorum ecclesiæ quam primus incepit, videremus Cantuariensi ecclesiæ, cui deservimus, grave imminere dispendium, ad sedem appellavimus apostolicam. Ubi priore nostro et fratribus constitutis, parte adversa coram posita, cum sanctæ recordationis papæ Urbano tunc presidenti documentis luce clarioribus de causæ nostræ veritate constaret, fratrum suorum deliberatione de-crevit et consilio, in opere illo nullatenus procedendum, sed potius diruendum omnino; et hanc sedis apostolicæ sententiam, hoc iudicium conscriptum, litteris apud nos notissimis com-mendari præcepit apicibus apostolicis. De cuius successore, papa Gregorio, non est quod enarremus, cuius promotio et mors auribus nostris prope simul insonuit, nisi quod præfato archiepiscopo semper favisse dinoscitur quoad potuit, magis, ut dicunt, amore personæ quam causæ. Cæterum, huic succedens bonæ memoriæ papa Clemens super prædicto opere
 idem prorsus de fratrum consilio et eodem modo iudicavit, non discrepans vel in verbo. Piæ quoque recordationis papa Cœlestinus sententiam ipsam ratam habuit, et a præ-decessorum suorum decreto non deviavit. Quo in senectute bona ad patres suos apposito, placuit dispositioni Divinæ maiestatem vestram ecclesiæ Suæ patrem et pastorem præordinari atque præponi. Opere igitur sæpe memorato ad tot Romanæ ecclesiæ statuta perdurante, immo vires et augmenta sumente in dies, in præsentiam vestram res perducta est.
 Novit magnificentia vestra quid egerit. Testatur pagina con-stitutionis vestræ vulgatissima, et viritim in hoc occidente

 oporteat, clarius quam ut discussione indigeat, maturius quam ut retractari patiatur. Nunc ergo, pater sancte, pastor reve-

CCCCXCV. INNOCENTIO SUMMO PONTIFICI CONVENTUS
 CANTUARIENSIS.

The convent remind the pope that they stand to him in the same filial relation as the archbishop. Nunquam sic æquitas iudicii suum potest explicare fulgorem, vel sine injuria utriusque partis et querela procedere, quam cum apud eum iudicem causa agitur, qui utrique pari dilectionis jure foederatur. Tunc judex stat inflexibilis, cum speciali favore neutram in partem pronior inclinatur. Quod quidem in causa nostra, Cantuariensis scilicet ecclesiæ, probatur evenisse, dum in vestræ paternitatis affectuosa clementia domini archiepiscopi nostri causa, nostraque pariter, agitur. Quamvis enim nobis pater existat, vobis tamen filiali jure nobiscum simul absque dubitatione tenetur. Cum igitur de paterni cordis affectu et dilectionis intemerata radice a vobis egressa sit sententia, quæ contrariam partem oppressit, sed alterius justitiam, videlicet nostram, affirmavit; quid est quod eam dominus archiepiscopus exequi detrectat, et hujusmodi mandato parere injuriam putat, quasi verecundum sit aut majoris exequi jussionem, aut cedere rationi, aut justitiæ subdi? Immo vero inter maximos numerare posset honores, si pacem ecclesiæ quam alter abstulit ipse reformaret. Et mirum quomodo tutor ecclesiæ vel curator dici recte possit vel credi, qui eam, non dico sponte, sed nec vestri præceptione coactus, contra adulteræ tuetur vel curat insultus. Ipse namque pericula potenter expressit, quæ Lamheensis ecclesia Cantuariensi poterit generare, si a suis initiis in statum ac perniciosum robur evaserit. Nec tamen ab ejus constructione desistit, et dum alienam quærit honorari, suam non timet abjici. Quod si etiam capella de Lamhee ad honorem et decus ecclesiæ Cantuariensis accederet, cum cedat in detrimentum, a suo

Unde vestram, etsi non ex discretionis abundantia, tamen ex dilectionis plenitudine, duximus exhortari fraternitatem, quatenus id virtutis in vobis perseverantiæ fructificet, quod tam gloriose zelus domus Domini et justitiæ parturivit. Et ne nostra prædicatio de morum contrarietate debeat repudiari, noveritis nos postquam a vobis recessimus, quotidie et continue inter pericula diversa, non sine gravi rerum dispendio et laboris immensitate, processisse, semper habentes præ oculis, quia non sunt condignæ passionēs hujus temporis ad futuram Rom. viii. 18. gloriam, quæ Deo propitiante revelabitur in vobis; tandemque post labores multos et graves expensas fratri nostro dilecto Salomoni apud Lucam obviasse, parato negotium quod per ipsum [et] fratrem nostrum R. in curia Romana fuerat expeditum, excluso cujuslibet discriminis metu, exequi et expedire. Nos autem perpendentes et pensantes utriusque casum aleæ, multum timuimus, ne persona vel occasio persecutionis odium parturiret universitati. Unde et fratrem Salomonem retinentes, quia domino archiepiscopo odiosus et labore multo fatigatus, dilectum fratrem nostrum W. præcentorem cum negotio nostro remisimus. Unde super omnia supplicamus, quatenus constanter agatis, nihil de nobis dubitantes, immo pro certo scientes, quod etsi gladium nostræ cervici videremus exsertum, nulli causæ nostræ consentiemus detrimento. Nos autem apud Pysam, nuncium et consilium fratrum nostrorum B. et B. et T., qui in curia Romana tunc erant, expectantes, juxta quod Dominus nobis melius inspiraverit, sive per eos, sive alio modo, non cessabimus exequi quod incepimus; semper pro mercede reputantes, quod pro justitia certamus, licet constantia et justitia summi pontificis, prout accepimus, totius sit nobis levamen et solamen tribulationis. Nihil enim ab eo credimus nobis aut aliis denegari, quod dictante justitia probare potest deberi. Non sit ergo vobis pigrum, aut tædiosum, id orationibus et suspiriis cum devotione incessanter exequi, quod vobis Dei gratia tam gloriose propinavit, ne vel elatio in vobis inchoatam gratiam corrumpat, aut ejus effectum a vobis inertiae tepor avertat.

concessa jam indulgentia mentionem, ei dicebant per rescripta sequentia nullatenus derogatum; quæ præterea proponebant et per falsi suggestionem et veritate tacita impetrata, et ad ipsius archiepiscopi notitiam minime devenisse. Unde si eis non paruerat, de jure non poterat reprehendi. Rescriptum quoque sanctæ recordationis Gregorii papæ prædecessoris nostri pro se pariter producebant, qui cum litteras indulserit generales, ut rescripta quæ a tribus mensibus ante obitum prædicti Urbani prædecessoris sui fuerant impetrata eandem firmitatem haberent, non obstante obitu mandatoris, quam obtinere debuissent si tunc viveret, negotia quæ ipsum archiepiscopum et ejus clericos contingebant sub præmissa noluit generalitate concludi: per quod nimirum rescriptum prædecessoris sui dicebant litteris derogatum, quas adversus archiepiscopum direxerat ad instantiam monachorum. Quibus siquidem litteris, et etiam felicis memoriæ Clementis successoris sui, qui ejus in hac parte fuerat imitator, per factam tunc temporis amicabilem compositionem, de partium voluntate, inter archiepiscopum et monachos memoratos, per carissimum in Christo filium nostrum Ricardum Anglorum regem illustrem, et venerabilem fratrem nostrum Walterium Rothomagensem archiepiscopum, et quosdam episcopos et abbates, dicebant penitus derogatum. Cum enim tempore præfati Baldewini Cantuariensis archiepiscopi, præmissi rex et archiepiscopi, episcopi, abbates, Cantuariam accessissent, inter eos fuit, tam de constructione capellæ, quam de institutione prioris et quibusdam aliis quæstionibus, a partibus compromissum. Ipsi autem, deliberatione diligenti præmissa, pariter judicaverunt, quod ipse archiepiscopus rationabiliter ædificaverat ecclesiam memoratam. Ipse tamen pro bono pacis concessit, ad prædicti regis instantiam et etiam aliorum, quod canonorum collegium ad locum alium transferret quem eligeret competentem. Per hanc ergo compositionem dicti nuncii tui renunciassse dicebant monachos rescriptis præcedentibus a sede apostolica impetratis. Cum exinde dictus archiepiscopus, loco priore dimisso, ubi ædificare non potuerat sine scandalo monachorum, ad locum de Lamhee, per quinquaginta milliaria distante a civitate Cantuariensi, suum propositum transtulerit, ubi et ecclesiam, sicut prius fecerat, ædificare cœpit ad honorem martyrum prædictorum, ut sic propter nimiam locorum distantiam nulla remaneret monachis materia conquerendi. Cui postea tu succedens, quod ab ipso minus factum fuerat, perficere voluisti, et quod ipsum tibi liceret ex rescripto litterarum bonæ memoriæ Cœlestini papæ prædecessoris nostri ostendere nitebantur, qui anno pontificatus sui septimo et extremo, ad omnem inter ecclesias Cantuariensem et de Lamhee discordiam sopiendam, et ne canonici de Lamhee facultatem

- haberent contra cathedralem ecclesiam insurgendi, disponendi de ipsa ecclesia de Lamhee interius et exterius, non obstantibus litteris ad venerabilem filium nostrum Cicestrensem episcopum et dilectos filios nostros de Waltham et Radinges abbates obtentis, concessit tibi liberam facultatem. Per has igitur litteras præcedentia scripta sua, quæ his videbantur adversa, dicebant penitus revocata. Intentionem ergo suam probare dicti nuncii tui satagebant, per laudabile propositum Theobaldi et gloriosi Thomæ martyris pontificum præmissorum, et per Urbani et Gregorii et Cœlestini Romanorum pontificum indulgentias et rescripta, et per præmissam compositionem factam de partium voluntate. Verum præmissis rationibus ex parte monachorum fuit ex ordine taliter obviatum, quod de occultis hominum voluntatibus, quas Sibi tantum Dominus reservavit, Qui renes et corda scrutatur, a nobis judicari non poterat, nec debebat, nec ipsi valebant ad talia respondere, quæ proponere in iudicio nihil aliud erat quam de secretis cordium divinare. Sane per indulgentiam Urbani papæ prædecessoris nostri, de qua præmisimus, juri suo in nullo dicebant penitus derogatum, quia canonica beneficiorum assignatio per eam Cantuariensi archiepiscopo servabatur, quæ juxta constitutionem canonicam sine tractatu et assensu monachorum procedere non valebat; qui nedum quod ipsius facto in hac parte consenserint, verum etiam contradixerunt expresse, sicut sequentia docuerunt, et adhuc in eodem proposito perseverant. Eis ergo contradicentibus superioris iudicium erat expectandum. Idem etiam ratione nitebantur ostendere, quod juxta sanctiones legitimas, si quando alicui conceditur beneficium principale, puta libera factio testamenti, nihil aliud videtur indulgeri, quam ut modo testetur legitimo et etiam consueto. Ille quoque qui, ut in loco publico posset ædificare, a principe simpliciter impetravit, ædificare cum alterius incommodo non valebit, nisi et hoc ipsum a principe postulatum fuerit et concessum. Per sequentes etiam ipsius Urbani litteras executorias, quibus opus ipsum maledictum haberi voluit et profanum, asserebant præscriptæ indulgentiæ derogatum. Quæ sive coram eodem Urbano fuerit ostensa, proponebant eam penitus abrogatam, cum ea non obstante demolitio ipsius ecclesiæ fuerit demandata; sive fuerit prætermissa, sibi debuit imputari, cum jure civili etiam caveatur, quod sub prætextu instrumentorum postea repertorum lites non debeant restaurari. Id ipsum per litteras piæ recordationis Clementis papæ prædecessoris nostri probare volebant, in cujus præsentia nunciis partium constitutis, cum dictus Baldewinus prædecessor tuus opus maledictum et profanum voluisset contumaciter et pertinaciter consummare, ad exemplum Urbani prædecessoris sui, prædicto archiepiscopo de de qua præmisimus, tanquam regio metu violenter extortam, partem suam in nullo gravari posse dicebant. Cum enim dictus Clemens papa prædecessor noster, pro sedanda discordia inter archiepiscopum et monachos Cantuarienses exorta, bonæ memoriæ Johannem Anagninum tunc temporis tituli Sancti Marci presbyterum cardinalem, apostolicæ sedis legatum, postea vero episcopum Prænestinum, in Angliam destinasset, postquam illuc transfretavit, factum fuit, dicto Baldewino Cantuariensi archiepiscopo procurante, quod apud portum Dovorū contra voluntatem suam per dies plurimos teneretur; quod in gravem ecclesiæ Romanæ injuriam redundavit; nec ante fuit permissus Cantuariam proficisci, quam per dominum regem Angliæ, qui eodem tempore cum episcopis suis Cantuariam venerat, in pace quam fecerunt cum archiepiscopo, monachi vim passi fuerunt et compulsi sunt omnia sustinere. Quod ideo cum prope positus audisset, et postea præsens apud Cantuariam cognovisset, scripto mandare curavit, sicut in suis litteris patentibus continetur, quas coram nobis fecimus recitari, ut No. cccxxvi.

et rei veritas omnibus innotesceret, et quod factum fuerat non generaret præjudicium justitiæ monachorum, et si archiepiscopus ipse vel aliquis de successoribus suis scripturam super forma pacis quandoque proferret, sciretur ab omnibus eam fratribus jam dictæ ecclesiæ nec consentientibus nec scientibus fuisse confectam, nec sibi exhibitam postulanti qui ad causam ipsam fuerat a summo pontifice destinatus; unde vel rem gestam confirmare debuerat, si justitiæ concordaret, vel si aliter facta fuerat, infirmare. Sic ergo cognoscens intercessisse illi facto violentiam manifestam, auctoritate qua funge-batur apostolica statuit, quod neque concordia sic facta valere deberet, neque compromissio violenter extorta, neque scriptum aliquod sic conceptum, et quod ipsis monachis in posterum præjudicium non afferret, cum omnia eo præsentē ac contradicente fuerint adimpleta. Post hæc, cum bonæ memoriæ

destinati, continebantur expressa, viribus carere decrevit, et quaecunque contra jus monachorum, vel tenorem privilegiorum sedis apostolicæ, idem archiepiscopus impetraverat. Insuper statuens, ut nullus hominum quæ male gesserat ad consequentiam traheret, nec ea, quæ a sede apostolica obtinuerat tacita veritate, juri monachorum vel privilegiis, ullo unquam tempore in aliquo præjudicium generaret; quemadmodum nobis et fratribus nostris ex ipsarum constitit continentia litterarum. Ex ipsa quoque majore loci distantia sibi asserebant monachi majus præjudicium generatum, qui cum in eorum defectum, sicut a tuis nunciis dicebatur, sæculares clerici fuerint evocati, vix possent per eos vicinos Cantuariensis ecclesiæ negotia monachis absentibus procurari, quæ ipsis procul positis, et quasi eorum captata absentia, sine monachorum conscientia, tractarentur, et eis penitus inconsultis; unde Cantuariensis ecclesia dispendium incurreret et jacturam. Sic ergo per hoc eis nihil accessit, eadem contradictionis causa manente.

No. ccccxiii. Ultimum quoque rescriptum dicti Cœlestini papæ prædecessoris nostri carere viribus asserebant, utpote per suppressionem veritatis subreptum; quoniam in eo nulla fiebat mentio mandatorum quæ ab Urbano et Clemente præcesserant, nec etiam confirmationis illius quam ipsemet super cassatione compositionis prædictæ concessit; et præsertim cum rescriptum illud indulsisse dicatur, eo tempore quo eum infirmitas admodum prægravabat. Ad fundandam sane intentionem suam, prædictorum Urbani, Clementis et Cœlestini Romanorum pontificum rescripta, necnon et nostrum post illa, idem monachi producebant; quibus urgentissime mandabatur, ut quicquid de prædicta capella fuerit attentatum, haberetur in irritum et inane. Venerabilibus quoque fratribus nostris Cantuariensis ecclesiæ suffraganeis, de consilio fratrum nostrorum, in virtute obedientiæ districte præcipimus, quatenus nisi tu infra præmissum tempus mandatum nostrum duxeris ad effectum, ipsi tibi nullam impendant obedientiam vel reverentiam; quia justum est ut ei non obediatur a subditis, qui suo contempserit obedire prælato. Quod si forte nec sic te poterimus ad bonum obedientiæ revocare, propter quod nullum malum committitur, bonum autem debet sæpius intermitteri, majorem tibi animadversionem noveris imminere, cum ferro sint abscidenda vulnera, quæ fomentum non sentiunt medicinam. Sane super præmissis, in quibus salva conscientia non potuimus alio modo procedere, fraternitatem tuam rogamus nullatenus contristari, quia teste Deo non ex indignatione aliqua processerunt, sed quia cum simus, licet insufficientes, in sede justitiæ constituti, unde jura sua tenemur servare singulis illibata, fraternitati tuæ, quam sincerius amplexamur, cum te inter fratres et coepiscopos nostros honorabile membrum et in domo Domini columnam immobilem habeamus, non potuimus sine gravi Creatoris offensa deferre; nec nobis potes in hac parte aliquid imputare, cum secundum traditionem canonicam, quando non nisi peccando alicui consuli potest, tunc æstimare debet homo quid faciat non habere.

In ipsis etiam legibus sæcularibus invenitur ut quæ facta lædunt pietatem, æstimationem, verecundiam nostram, et generaliter quæ bonis moribus adversantur, nec posse nos facere sit credendum. Super eo quoque non sufficimus admirari, quod cum dicta ecclesia jam dudum quasi lapis offensionis fuerit et petra scandali, pro qua nos et prædecessores nostri adversus te tuosque prædecessores ita graviter sumus moti, et viri religiosi pariter et prudentes monachi Cantuarienses, qui omnia dimiserunt pro Christo, tot laboribus et doloribus, tot mortibus et periculis, personas et res non dubitaverunt frequenter exponere, quod proculdubio tam illi quam isti, ut dictum est, non fecissent nisi cognoscerent præmissa respicere in grave Cantuariensis ecclesiæ detrimentum;—ut de aliis omittamus, tu, saltem pro vitando tam gravi scandalo proximorum, ab his etiam prohibitis non cessasti, cum sacra scripturæ testimonio debueris didicisse, quod licet opera illa quæ sine mortali peccato dimitti non possunt, non sint pro vitando scandalo dimittenda, nec ea debeant pro scandalo vitando committi, quæ sine mortali peccato committi non possunt; ab iis tamen quæ committi possunt sine mortali peccato pariter et dimitti, sit pro scandalo tollendo cessandum, et eis etiam pro vitando scandalo insistendum. Unde apostolus in epistola dicit, si scandalizaretur frater, carnem non comederet in æternum. Et Dominus in Evangelio contra eos qui scandali præstant materiam, “Væ autem homini illi per quem scandalum venit: melius est illi ut suspendatur mola asinaria in collo ejus, et dejiciatur in profundum maris.” Et licet majorum scandalum sit vitandum, præcipue tamen vitandum est scandalum pusillorum, juxta testimonium Veritatis. “Qui scandalizaverit,” inquit, “unum de pusillis istis minimis qui in Me credunt,” etc. Finis ergo iis quæ præmissa sunt a te taliter imponatur, quod præteritæ contradictionis rebellio per virtutem sequentis obedientiæ valeat nec immerito expiari. CANTUARIENSI.

bishop
received the pope's mandate
on Jan. 2:
and reminds
the monks
that he was always willing to obey a second
mandate,

Mandatum domini papæ suscepimus in crastino Circumcisionis Dominicæ, ut infra triginta dies a mandati ejusdem susceptione, quicquid ædificatum est in capella de Lamhee faceremus penitus demoliri. Filii carissimi, si meminerit vestra discretio, cum ad nos alias super eodem negotio mandatum apostolicum pervenisset, semper hæc nostra fuit petitio, hoc desiderium, hæc voluntas, ut quia non solum a nobis sed a plerisque credebatur, quibus processus rei magis innotuerat, religionem domini papæ fuisse multimodis circumventam, ipsi totius negotii series sub multorum testimonio referretur, et si, veritate accepta et cognita, censeret in ejusdem mandati proposito persistendum, nos iterata ipsius jussione muniti, sicut deceret, jussionem apostolicam humiliter ac devote in memorato negotio compleremus. Hoc siquidem nobis erat inter vota præcipuum. Hoc semper egimus apud vos, ut veritatis et negotii relationem vestra dilectio æquanimiter sustineret. Cui desiderio nostro licet vestri favoris assensus non accederet, licet ad consilii vel hortatus vel supplicationis instantiam obtineri non posset, nos, quia nostra interfuit, rem gestam nihilominus multorum et magnorum assertione in fidei testimonium conscribi fecimus et referri. Nunc autem dominus papa, relatione facta, ratus sibi super veritatis notitia satisfactum, secundam super memorata capella jussionem concepit, quam nos et in ea qua decuit veneratione suscepimus, et per Dei gratiam, infra terminum in litteris præfinitum, in humilitate debita et devota studebimus adimplere. Sed cum nobis expediat vestrisque utilitatibus non resistat, ut cum domini regis benevolentia vel permissione saltem aut licentia, quod jussum est effectui mancipetur, id agimus ut valemus, ad id totis viribus et desideriis anhelamus, quod si nobis non contigerit indulgeri, non segnius ideo quod nostrum est exequemur, satagentes in omnibus obedientiæ fines amplecti, ne quid sinistre in nos quisquam ex certa causa retor-queat vel suggerat nobis merito imputandum. Huic negotio de capella prædicta in eisdem litteris consequenter adjicitur, quatenus universa quæ in vestrum gravamen attentata sunt, videlicet in ecclesiarum vel exeniorum et aliorum etiam invasione, quæ ante appellationem habuistis, vobis resignare minime differamus. At, sicut vos ignorare non credimus, hujus articuli executio ut procedat, necesse est, quæ petitis in nostra præsentia specificari certius et designari planius, nosque super invasione et appellatione, per quos hæc facta, quando illa interposita fuerit, per vos sufficienter instructi et perfectius edocti. Unde volumus et vobis districte mandamus, quatenus quos et quot de universitate vestra videritis expedire ad usque cum omni festinatione mittatis, tanta nimirum ut per eos instructi prout oportuerit de præmissis, infra terminum memoratum quod super hoc in mandatis accepimus, devotissime compleamus. Et tenetur etiam in earundem serie litterarum, ut clericos qui post inhibitiones apostolicas in prædicta capella ministraverunt, pro suspensis habeamus, donec inde satisfecerint com-petenter; nosque ob reverentiam domini papæ dilectis filiis abbati de Faveresham, et de Lehdís et Sancti Gregorii prioribus, et magistro Feramino, W. de Kalna, E. vicearchdiacono Cantuariensi, in vi obedientiæ firmiter et districte præcipimus, quatenus ad ipsam capellam festinanter et pariter accedant, adjunctis sibi viris prudentibus et discretis, solemniter ibi ex parte nostra, prædictos omnes et in forma prædicta suspensos

Gratias agimus paternitati vestræ multiplices, quod nos nuper et nunc salutationis elogio et bona litterarum vestrarum continentia dignati estis. Verum erat in illis quas per A. et G. fratres destinastis, quod omnes nos et singulos offenderit, et quod senes cum junioribus non immerito moleste ferunt, quod, videlicet, non filiorum sed hostium nomine nos verius censendos judicaveritis. Quia si benigniorem res haberet gesta interpretem, vel certe dicenda scriptorem, signum dedimus amoris et gratiæ, cum dudum orphani, diductis aliis omnibus, vos, nec piget, in patrem præelegimus et pastorem, non sine offensa gravi et interminatione multorum. Cæterum et quod nunc geritur, si res recte pensetur, non ex odio sed ex amore processit. Absit enim ut aliquem omnino hominum, nedum patrem et dominum, oderit professio nostra, nisi odio forte perfecto, quod bonis et sanctis non inhiberi credimus sed mandari. Sane, et nos coram Deo loquimur, in facto nostro non personam vestram persequimur sed amamus. Tanquam si sponsæ zelantis animum pertrahere conetur quis ad consensum ut aliam superducatur, vel saltem habeat subintroductam; numquid illa sponsum odisse judicabitur, si non dederit quod postulatur? immo certe, si non dederit persistenti, si non clamaverit ex animo, minus amasse comprobabitur? Quanto vero fortius repugnaverit, tanto liquidum erit adamasse vehementius. Hoc itaque, domine carissime, pater amantissime, hoc agere conamur cum Dei adjutorio, Ipsum testem advocamus Quem et adiutorem: hoc contendimus vestri et ecclesiæ vestræ servi, ut sit una unius, unica unici, et possit paupertas nostra pace debita et consueta gaudere, et ecclesia cui, Deo auctore, sub patrocinio vestro deservimus, status et dignitatis suæ non valeat detrimentum incurrere. Qui autem pro ea pugnant, a vobis, ad quem in capite respicit ejus defensio, non sunt, si placet, hostes habendi vel nuncupandi, sed filii vel servi. Non ubique omnia compaginari possunt: utinam tamen innotuisset vobis qualiter, antequam vel rei rumor insonuisset, divino præinstructi sumus oraculo; martyre namque nostro glorioso alicui fratrum tertio apparente et ænigmatice ostendente omnia. Et ecce in litterarum, de quibus supra diximus, serie, protestamini non modo Cantuariensi, sed toti Anglicanæ ecclesiæ, ex hoc posse periculum imminere. DVII. INNOCENTIO PAPÆ CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Gratias tibi, Deus, Qui spiritum Danielis denuo suscitasti in ecclesia, judicare non modo populum Tuum in justitia, sed et pauperes Tuos in iudicio. Ecce, Domine, causa pauperum ingreditur ad eum, et nomen eorum honorabile, nomen illorum coram illo. Et vere misericordiæ Domini multæ, eo quod non sumus consumpti. Sane nisi cordi vestro inspirasset Dominus, pater sanctissime Innocenti, per quem inter nocentes tuta est innocentia; nisi pectori vestro sacratissimo immisisset, ut ex adverso ascenderetis, comprehendens arma et scutum, et exurgens in adiutorium nobis, cum exurgerent homines in nos, non dicimus forte, sed certe ad nihilum deduxissent nos. Unde gratias paternitati vestræ de cordium medullis exsolvimus, quæ nec mente digeri possunt, nec corde deprimi. Sed quid est, sanctissime pater? quid est quod a peccatoribus justus, a remissis fervidus, a tepore nostro igneus in caritate, ut pervidemus, orationum suffragia petere voluistis? Numquid, ut dici solet, "Juvabimus solem facibus?" Immo potius regulariter et rite respondebimus, "Ora pro nobis, pater." Attamen ne non videamur omni cum humilitate imperata suscipere, quid acturi simus pro vobis, si licet, pro animabus patris et matris vestræ et omnium propinquorum vestrorum omni anno in perpetuum, carta super hoc patienti magnificentiæ vestræ directa, declarat dies, transitus vestri anniversario; quo die gratia et misericordia quam fecistis cum servis vestris in capitulo nostro recensenda erit. Verum ut sciatis quatenus in negotio nostro, sed vestro, processum sit, sanctitati vestræ significare duximus, quod dominus et pater noster venerabilis, cum in transmarinis agens litteras vestras accepisset, missis nunciis ad capellam de Lamhe, ipsam suis expensis funditus demoliri fecit. Domus tamen clericorum circa capellam et propter eam ædificatæ, adhuc in integritate sua consistunt. Cæterum de ecclesiis et exeniis nihil nobis actum est, nec ut credimus fiet, nisi forte quos dedistis exsecutores mandatum vestrum exsequantur. Asserunt autem quamplures nihil nobis provenire posse sine discussione, nisi ecclesiæ designentur ex nomine. Vos melius scitis quid nobis expediat ad jus nostrum consequendum. Indigentiam nostram, si placet, plenitudo vestra supplere dignetur, sciens quia in vobis post Deum substantia et virtus nostra consistit. De his ergo quæ acta sunt, in manu vestra gratias semper uberiores referentes, ea quæ restant facienda beneplacito vestro relinquimus, fine quo visum fuerit concludenda. Valete.

Conservans ecclesiam Suam Deus in unitate fidei intemeratæ, corda patrum suorum convertens in filios, avitorum prudentiam derivavit ad posteros. - S. Matt. v. 3. Beati pauperes spiritu, qui mentis humilitate mundi superiora transcendunt, et ad regnum sibi promissum properantes, quo magis iis intendunt quæ facere debent, minus sentiunt mala quæ sufferunt; quia patientia pauperum non peribit in finem; quia non commendat malorum tolerantia, sed pia mentis in adversis cum alacritate constantia. Bonorum siquidem congeries operum sine cemento humilitatis spiritum non reprimit elationis, nec sine patientiæ longanimitate litis et iræ motus repellit et insultus. "Nam virtus vidua est quam non patientia firmat." Quod quamvis vestra melius discretio noverit, nos tamen de plenitudine dilectionis, licet ex abundanti, fraternitatem vestram ad hæc duximus commonendam, quia "non nocet admissio subdere calcar equo." Vobis igitur quanta possumus supplicamus devotione, quatenus Deum semper habentes præ oculis, tam honesti certaminis fortiter et gaudenter expectetis triumphum, ne modicæ tribulationis angustia animos illos effœminet, quos tam longa, tam acerba malorum tolerantia corroboravit. The prior consoles the convent with an account of the excellence of the pope.

He and his companions have arrived at Rome, and found the brethren safe and sound.

Cum sub virtutum certamine sola perseverantia bravium comprehendat, pro justitia certantibus summopere est attendendum, quam sit laudabile bono principio felicem jungere finem, et permaxime providendum, ne gloriosæ litis initia tepor aut terror tribulationis decoloret. Quod nos attendentes, parati sumus pro Christo et ecclesiæ nostræ liberatione omnia sustinere. Satis enim nobis constat de causæ justitia, nec eam posse suo præmio privari timemus, aut debito fine fraudari. Revirescit enim in ecclesia Romana virga correctionis, jubar videlicet universalis ecclesiæ, Innocentius, quem nec inclinat avaritia ad cujusquam injuriam, nec impedit segnities a correctione, quem virtutis amor in tantum possedit, ut nihil quod bonum deceat pastorem prætermittat. Gaudete igitur in Domino, et consolamini sub malleo tribulationis, expectantes gratiam supernæ visitationis: hoc pro parte consolationis accipientes, quod, licet cum gravibus expensis et immenso labore, prospere tamen Romam pervenimus, invenientes ibi fratres nostros sanos et incolumes, et per omnia prospere agentes; fratremque nostrum T. paratum negotium exsequi, quem ad vos dirigentes supplicamus attentius, quatenus viriliter agatis; nihil omnino de Dei bonitate diffidentes, sed in adversis meliora sperantes, assiduis orationibus et vigiliis, quod nos opere, vos exsequi devotione non cessetis, pro domino papa et nobis attentius exorantes. DXX. INNOCENTIUS PAPA RICARDO REGI ANGLORUM.¹

Cum inter alios mundi principes personam tuam, sicut carissimi filii, disposuerimus prærogativa dilectionis et gratiæ honorare, et tam tuis quam tuorum utilitatibus paterna provisione diligenter intendere, miramur plurimum et dolemus, quod hoc propositum nostrum, ex quo nimirum quantum magnitudini tuæ valeat honoris et utilitatis afferri, serenitatem regiam non credimus ignorare, pravis quorundam suggestionibus niteris impedire. Cum enim negotium Cantuariensis [ecclesiæ] dudum, Deum solum habentes præ oculis, studuerimus secundum Divinum beneplacitum terminare; in quo si personam vellemus accipere, vel munera forsitan acceptare, partem Cantuariensis archiepiscopi proculdubio prætulissemus partibus monachorum; credebamus quod factum nostrum celsitudo regia deberet gratiarum prosequi actione, quæ nos hactenus de justitia facienda sæpius exoravit, nec sustineret aliqua ratione quod quisquam deberet in hac parte apostolicis jussionibus obviare: quin potius si aliter fecissemus, præter offensam Divinam et conscientiæ læsionem, plurimum vereremur ne diceremur oppressores pauperum et justitiæ contemptores. Verum secus contigit quam vellemus vel etiam credere deberemus. Nuper enim accedentes ad præsentiam nostram dilecti filii prior et socii sui monachi Cantuarienses, lacrymabili nobis et deflenda conquestione monstrarunt, quod cum regia potestas et sublimitas mandavisset, de thesauro

In quorum adventu renovatus est dolor noster; quia sustinuimus cum propheta pacem et non venit, quæsivimus bona et ecce turbatio. Cum enim veterem, sed nondum inveteratam, et perlatam questionem sæpius ad sedem apostolicam, crederemus penitus extinxisse, cujus occasione religiosi viri et Deum timentes, Honorius quondam prior et nonnulli Cantuariensium monachorum, pro libertate ipsius ecclesiæ animas posuerunt, et hi qui nuper ad nos venerunt, prædecessorum vestigiis inhærentes, malunt mori pro eadem quam videre mala gentis suæ et sanctorum ecclesiæ; quasi morbus pullulat recidivus, et facta sunt novissima ejus pejora prioribus; quod tristes referimus et dolentes. Porro, quoniam auctoritatem sedis apostolicæ, cui, licet immeriti, præsidemus, vigorem debitum volumus obtinere, nec sustinere possumus nec debemus ut in sugillationem ejus aliquid debeat attentari; magnificentiam regiam de puro corde rogamus, monemus et hortamur, et in remissionem peccatorum injungimus, quatenus, revocatis omnibus quæ contra eosdem monachos attentata noscuntur, in pristinum statum reducas; quos pro reverentia sedis apostolicæ apud sublimitatem tuam haberi volumus plurimum commendatos, mandatum nostrum in causa quæ inter ipsos et præfatum archiepiscopum vertebatur emissum, non sustineas ab aliquo præteriri. Quod tanto fortius brachio potentiæ tuæ credimus effectui mancipandum, quanto amplius in tuis negotiis et tuorum a nobis desideras etiam in majoribus exaudiri. Neque super hoc circumspectionem tuam volumus dubitare, quin si præmissa studeas liberaliter adimplere, majorem ex hoc gratiam et favorem apud sedem apostolicam valeas promereri. Alioquin quantumcunque personam tuam in Domino diligimus, et honori tuo velimus, quantum cum Deo possumus et honore nostro, deferre, contemptum nostrum, immo Dei, Cujus locum, licet indigni, tenemus in terris, non poterimus ulterius æquanimiter sustinere; sed in eos quicumque fuerint, et terras eorum, qui nostræ dispositioni præsumpserint obviare, eam animadversionem sine differentia personarum curabimus exercere, quod per exhibitionem operum ostendemus nos velle regia via prudenter incedere, nec cujusquam gratia vel favore declinare ad dexteram vel ad sinistram, cum omnem inobedientiam sedis apostolicæ prompti simus ulcisci. Between Jan. 27 and March 13.

The convent cannot express their gratitude to the pope.

The most important part of the mandate is executed, but the churches and the xenia are not restored, nor the collegiate buildings demolished.

The clerks are threatening revenge, and the archbishop is said to be hostile. The late letter of the pope has not been presented to the king, as the estates have been restored, and the enrolment of the treasure has not been followed up.

Si linguis hominum loqueremur et angelorum, caritatem et devotionem quam ad sanctitatem vestram habemus, non eloqueremur. Unde et anima omnium nostrum, una in Christo, concupiscit et deficit in gratiarum actionem, quod concepit parere, et quod nititur non prævalemus per verba proferre. Sicut et vocis velocitas calamum prævenit tardiolem, ita profecto prævertitur a velociore cogitatu, nec eum, etsi conetur, assequitur. Hinc est quod gratiam et misericordiam quam fecisti cum servis vestris, non ea quam dictat animus, sed quam lingua potest edicere, gratiarum actione prosequimur, orantes ut retribuat pro nobis Dominus, et omnis benedictio Domini super caput vestrum copiosa descendat, unicum post Deum refugium et virtus, vita et substantia spei nostræ. Nunc ergo, domine, quia gratia nobis magna collata fiduciam præstat majora sperandi, et pars negotii melior ad finem deducta est in manu vestra; quod restat, de ecclesiis videlicet et exeniis, marisco etiam nostro per dominum et patrem nostrum nobis ablato, ad quem nullus unquam archiepiscoporum manum extendit, effectui, si placet, mandare curetis. De domibus quoque clericorum circa ecclesiam dirutam consistentibus, quæ alias jussæ sunt demoliri, vos videritis quid expediat, qui in specula positi, Deo disponente, ad universalem ecclesiam oculum geritis superiorem, videntes ea quæ nondum sunt tanquam ea quæ sunt. Minantur etenim clerici se ultum iri de nobis; surgere ecclesiam in loco celerius, frænum maxillis nostris, cui non possint resistere et contradicere omnes adversarii ejus. Pater etiam noster, sicut nobis referunt fratres ab eo revertentes, jam palam et quasi super tecta prædicat, quod ab eo avertat Deus, confusionem nostram se quæsiturum. Eapropter litteras quas pro pauperum oppressione dignatio paterna nuper destinavit, ita distulimus, ne exasperaretur principis animus, maxime quia de thesauro ecclesiæ consignando nihil egerat, et rerum nostrarum spoliatio celeri restitutione præventa est. Hæc omnia, pater sancte, idcirco vobis significare duximus, ut prudentia vestra in diebus vestris, cujus vitam et incolumitatem nobis et ecclesiæ suæ Deus in tempora longiora conservet, justitiam nostram

Sanctitati vestræ, sicut dignum et justum est nos semper et ubique gratias agere pro universis beneficiis paupertati nostræ collatis, ita quantas possumus sine fine referimus in fide non ficta, ex devotione intima et affectione sincera. Cum enim navicula nostra fluctibus jactata et fere operta, cui debeat quod in tot procellis non est eversa et submersa, nisi gratiæ vestræ, quæ profugos miserata exceperit, maris elationibus mirabilis se objecit, et navigium misericors continet anchora spei nostræ quæ non confundit? Cæterum, ut de his taceamus, quorum tamen immemores nunquam erimus, statum nostrum qui erat cum harum bajulus exiret a nobis, paternitati vestræ significamus. Nuper enim, et hoc jam tertio, rebus omnibus, rege quidem jubente, sed aliis procurantibus, spoliati, destitutionem nostram vobis demandare curavimus. Nunc autem, ut sciatis, quia in morte principis nostri restituti sumus, hoc quoque vobis præsentium significatione mandamus, rogantes attentius et supplicantes obnixè, quatenus pro amore Dei et honore sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ, cui, Deo auctore, præsidetis, huic morbo, si placet, aliquod velitis remedium providere. Quid enim turpius, quam ad motus singulos pauperum bona rapere, ecclesiam tam famosam et celebrem ludibrio exponere et Crucifixi patrimonium confiscare? Verum hoc, sicut et alia quæ de justitia nostra et de judicio vestro restant facienda, videlicet de domibus clericorum in omni adhuc integritate manentibus, de ecclesiis et exeniis et marisco restituendis, clementiæ vestræ ac curæ committimus, non dubitantes quin in finem diligatis quos tam paterna et pura diligentia confovistis, immo et solius Dei intuitu, amore materno amplexati estis. Super omnia vero unam petimus et hanc requirimus, ut nunquam auctoritatem præstetis vel assensum, ut canoniam quam dominus et pater noster adhuc, sicut ipse palam asserit, ædificare intendit, ubicunque locorum quocunque modo consurgat. Magis autem operam det, ut illa quam regendam suscepit, ex magna parte diruta et resecta, rimosa et ruinis proxima, reparetur, et ibi expensas faciat unde accipit quod expendat. Justitiæ vestræ constantiam et perpetuam æquitatem universus orbis magna laude prosequitur, nos autem eam sæpius experti cum magna gratiarum complectimur devotione. A vestro enim judicio nullus redit juris solatio vacuus, nisi qui a justitia causæ fuerit alienus. Nulli enim displicet vestra censura, nisi quem premit causa. Et quod summæ gloriæ est, sicut cunctis sedis dignitate præcellitis, sic executione juris eminentis universis; quod in prosecutione causæ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ dudum nuperque orbi Latino satis innotuit, cum secundum legem sanctam non attendistis ad vultum potentis, sed pro Christi pauperibus, quibus merita causæ justæ non deerant, sententiam emisistis. Inter venerabilem fratrem nostrum archiepiscopum et præ-decessores ejus ex una parte, ac dilectos filios priores et monachos Cantuarienses ex altera, super quibusdam capellis

quas ipsi archiepiscopi erigere laborarunt in præjudicium partis alterius, sicut monachi proponebant, jam dudum grandis et gravis quæstio pullulavit, pro qua prædecessores nostros et nos ipsos sæpius oportuit apostolicas litteras destinare. Verum cum in ipso negotio auctoritate litterarum nostrarum usque adeo processum sit, ut capella de Lamhee diruta sit penitus et consumpta, præfatus archiepiscopus prædecessorum suorum volens laudabile propositum adimplere, capellam ad honorem gloriosorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ, in qua canonicos præbendarios institueret, de novo fundare volebat, de nostra licentia speciali; quod sibi per nuncios et procuratores suos de communi jure competere asserebat, contradictione partis alterius non obstante; cujus indemnitati per sufficientem et idoneam cautionem poterat provideri: sed neque per demolitionem capellæ præfatæ de Lamhee suum dicebat desiderium retardandum, cujus opus ea potissimum ratione fuerat condemnatum,¹ quod post nunciationem novi operis, inhibitionem prædecessorum nostrorum, et appellationem ad sedem apostolicam interpositam, fuerat attentatum. Cæterum pro monachis fuit propositum ex adverso, quod cum mandatum nostrum ad ipsum archiepiscopum et vos directum, circa exeniorum, ecclesiarum et aliorum restitutionem adhuc non fuerit adimpletum, nec sopitum scandalum ex ea causa subortum, nec constaret adhuc de præjudicio in posterum auferendo, eadem contradictionis causa durante, non erat præfati archiepiscopi petitio admittenda. Cum autem hæc et similia fuissent utrimque in nostro auditorio allegata, nos volentes utrique partium pastoralis sollicitudine providere, de communi fratrum nostrorum consilio causam eandem sub ea forma vobis duximus committendam, ut ante omnia inter ipsos amicabiliter componere laboretis. Quod si forte desuper datum non fuerit, vos facta prius restitutione plenaria monachis memoratis, eorum quæ ob hanc causam fuere subtracta, inquiratis super his quæ præmisimus, remoto appellationis obstaculo, plenius veritatem; et si de partium voluntate processerit, ad diffinitivam sententiam procedatis, facientes quod decreveritis, per censuram ecclesiasticam, a partibus irrevocabiliter observari. DXXVIII. INNOCENTIUS PAPA LINCOLNIENSI ET ELIENSI EPISCOPIS, A.D. 1199.
ET ABBATI SANCTI EADMUNDI. Sept. 11.

S. Matt. xiii. 28. Quantas tribulationes et angustias Cantuariensis ecclesia sustinuerit hactenus, occasione discordiæ quam inimicus homo inter venerabilem fratrem nostrum archiepiscopum et dilectos filios monachos Cantuarienses, a multis retro temporibus seminavit, discretionem vestram non credimus ignorare. Cumque per auxilium gratiæ Divinæ nostræque sollicitudinis, inimitiarum materia pro parte maxima de medio sit sublata, tam ei quam ipsis summopere est cavendum, ne per controversias recidivas nova quæraturn occasio litigandi, ut labor noster jam præteritus tanquam inutilis appareat in futuro. Sane con-questi sunt nobis prædicti monachi quod, postquam eorum nuncii cum commissoriis litteris super diversis articulis quibus se querebantur a prædicto archiepiscopo contra justitiam prægravari, a nostra præsentia recesserunt, ipse eos lite pendente novis damnis et injuriis affecit, post appellationes factas ad apostolicam sedem et prohibitiones ex parte nostra interpositas; mariscum de Apeldre, oblationes majoris altaris, curiam suam et alia multa eis auferens, quæ nullus prædecessorum suorum hactenus in eorum præjudicium attentavit, et quibusdam monachis, magis idoneis ad negotia ecclesiæ pertractanda, inhibuisse dicitur egressum pariter et regressum. Volentes igitur, sicut tenemur ex debito sollicitudinis pastoralis, sua jura omnibus conservare, ipsi archiepiscopo præcipiendo mandavimus, ut quæ præmissa sunt, si verum est quod asseritur, per se ipsum studeat emendare; conventum Cantuariensem, dignitates, libertates et possessiones ipsius, in eo statu dimittens, in quo fuisse tempore appellationis interpositæ perhibentur, quod super his de ipso non remaneat præfatis monachis justa materia conquerendi. Quocirca discretioni vestræ per apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus jam dicto archiepiscopo in executione mandati nostri cessante, per censuram ecclesiasticam, appellatione remota, faciatis restitui monachis universa, quæ lite pendente constiterit esse subtracta. Quod si omnes his exsequendis, etc. Datum Laterani, iii. idus Septembris, pontificatus nostri anno secundo.

The pope is fearful that all his pains may be useless.

Since the issuing of the last commission (May 19), the archbishop has seized the marsh of Appledore, and the oblations of high altar, and has closed the court of justice.

The pope charges the bishops and abbot to compel the archbishop to redress.

DXXIX. INNOCENTIUS PAPA HUBERTO CANTUARIENSI ARCHIEPISCOPO.

The pope informs the archbishop that the monks have complained that in the solemn processions at Canterbury, he is attended by crowds of secular clerks and others, to the disquiet of the convent and injury of religion.

Cum bona sint coram Deo et hominibus, secundum apostolum, providenda, episcopis, qui successores apostolorum existunt, et lux mundi, et sal terræ Veritatis testimonio perhibentur, est summopere attendendum ut via regia incedentes, nec declinantes ad dexteram vel sinistram, neque conscientiam propter famam, neque famam pro conscientia derelinquant, sed sic inter ea irreprehensibiliter gradientur, quod nec impii apud Deum Qui videt in corde, nec crudeles apud homines qui vident in facie, judicentur. Sane conquerentibus dilectis filiis monachis Cantuariensibus, nostris est auribus intimatum, quod te præsentem in processionibus quæ in ecclesia ipsa solemniter celebrantur, quandoque præcedunt, quandoque sequuntur clerici sæculares inter te ipsosque monachos, quasi separantes caput a membris; eorundem insuper stalla in choro contra consuetudinem coarctantes. Ex hoc autem dignitati Cantuariensis ecclesiæ plurimum detrahitur et honori, et scandalum, sicut dicitur, generatur in cordibus infirmorum, ac quies Deo famulantium perturbatur, et devotio deperit popularis, dum in eodem collegio diversæ professionis et habitus cernuntur homines sociari, quorum alii vestiuntur vilibus, alii pretiosis, quidam velatis incedunt capitibus, alii denudatis. Cum igitur incongruum sit, ut in uno et eodem officio professio dispar existat, fraternitati tuæ per apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus circa ea quæ præmisimus corrigenda, sollicitudinem adhibeas pastorem; et ut scandalum tollatur de medio, propter quod multa sunt sæpius omittenda, sicut jam alia vice discretionem tuam recolimus intimasse; atque in Cantuariensi ecclesia regimini tuo commissa, quæ celebrem locum obtinet inter ecclesias Anglicanas, nihil reprehensione dignum occurrat, unde ad alias religionis et honestatis exemplum convenit derivari. Tunc enim melius, sicut tua fraternitas non ignorat, subditos tuos corrigere poteris, et ad frugem perducere meliorem, cum in capite nihil inventum fuerit quod merito debeat reprehendi. monachis, ædificare capellam, et in ea clericos præbendarios instituere. Monachi e contra objecerunt exceptionem spoliationis, dicentes quod ante litis ingressum omnium ablatorum eis erat de jure communi restitutio facienda. Verum ex parte archiepiscopi dicebatur, omnia illa capitula quæ loquuntur de restitutione spoliatorum in causis duntaxat criminalibus locum habere, cum hinc duplex sit odium, accusantis scilicet et spoliantis, et inde duplex favor, accusati scilicet et spoliati, quod ad civiles quæstiones non pertinet. Pars vero monachorum allegationem istam arguebat, dicens quia, cum quæstio criminis proponatur, licet sit mota posterius et quæstio spoliationis præjudicet criminali, merito quæstio spoliationis debet cæteris anteponi. Procedebat et aliter archiepiscopus ex illis verbis rescripti, scilicet restitutione prius facta monachis eorum quæ ob hanc causam fuere subtracta, asserens aliorum ablatorum prætextu non debere principale negotium retardari, ex quo voluntatis vestræ manifesta sumi poterat conjectura. Per illa siquidem verba modus videtur adjectus, et quasi taxationis vicem obtinent. Si enim voluntatis vestræ fuisset omnia prius ablata restitui, non erat difficile, aut clausulam illam omittere, aut expressim mandare de omnibus. Allegabat præterea de consensu monachorum, quia si eo tempore quo litteræ dabantur, communiter contradicere noluerunt, nulla eis superest ulterius contradicendi licentia. Si vero tunc reclamaverunt, neque clementiæ vestræ verbum illud placuit immutare, videtur quia ex certa sententia de aliis volueritis prohibere. Ideoque dicebat dictus archiepiscopus non licere nobis mandati vestri fines excedere, cum debeant diligenter a quolibet mandatorio custodiri. His allegationibus monachi respondent, dicentes per illa verba nihil esse in communi detractum. Nam etsi competat judici delegato præfixam sibi formam servare, nihilominus tamen debet omnes rationabiles exceptiones admittere, nisi in litteris commissionis contrarium exprimatur, quod hic factum non est; nec debet rescriptum principis ad cujusquam injuriam retorqueri, nisi hoc princeps expresserit. Ideo autem verba illa dicebant fuisse apposita, vel quia credebatis occasione capellæ monachos spoliatos, vel ut fieret de his mentio, in quibus gravius deliquerat spoliator. Ideoque præsertim subaudiendum est. Dicebant etiam non posse eis imputari consensum, ex eo quod non contradixerunt: non enim contradicere debuerunt, cum verba illa nullum eis præjudicium generarent, immo et si nocerent, non tamen poterant vestram celsitudinem prohibere, ne formam poneretis in litteris secundum arbitrium vestræ voluntatis. Non enim consentire videtur qui vetare non potest, et velle non creditur, qui obsequitur imperio patris vel domini. Item. Si

 adversa forma pacis oblata ita specie pietatis erat oblecta, ut

Salva igitur omnium pace dixerimus, libertates quas Cantuariensis ecclesia sanctorum martyrum et confessorum meritis, et maxime gloriosa sanguinis beati Thomæ martyris effusione, obtinuit, et ad hæc tempora pacifice possedit, dominus archiepiscopus eam, quasi aliena detinentem, illis penitus spoliavit. Quæ si hæc retinendo deliquit, ipse martyr hujus auctor peccati necesse convincitur, qui libertates ecclesiæ suæ nolens dari in direptionem, sed pro eis legitime certans, pavimentum ecclesiæ suo sanguine rubricavit, ne sponsam suam quam accepit ingenuam, redigi permetteret in servitutem. Postquam igitur, reverende domine, juxta formam commissionis apostolicæ coram mediatoribus nostris convenimus, post quere-

Difficile est enim ibi invenire consilia pacis, ubi incendia pul-

Difficile spes periculis emitur, et indecenter pax libertatis dispendio comparatur. Speravimus siquidem pacem ut veniret, et sublatis veteris discordiæ zizaniis, caput corpori cohæreret in id ipsum; sed longa retro series, ut jam dicere compellamur, "Venerunt filii usque ad partum, sed vires non habet parturiens." ^{2 Kings xix. 3.} Non enim jam satis est tot tribulationum insultibus, tot modorum varietatibus in Cantuariensis ecclesiæ studuisse præjudicium et discrimen, sed novellis et subitaneis adinventionibus ejus excidium machinari. Postulamur enim a domino nostro archiepiscopo, post tot laborum tædia, tot malorum pericula, causam nostram et ecclesiæ misericordiæ suæ commendare. Nec datur nobis pax, nisi servitutis ignominia nævo maculetur, quam, emergente primo præsentis tumultu, facile obtinuissimus, "si bene libertas unquam pro pace daretur." Quod autem tota Anglia de religione Romanæ curiæ miratur, super commissione de jure reædificandæ capellæ, quam dictante æquitate sententia diffinitiva damnavit, eam ipse denuo in eodem loco de canonicis præbendariis reparare elaborat, et ecclesiæ statum triginta archiepiscoporum temporibus observatum et approbatum pervertere, traditis una ecclesiæ rebus interius et exterius suæ voluntati et moderationi. Quod quam miserabile esset, satis prudens arbiter dinoscit, cum ad hoc consequens sit, decedente quolibet archiepiscopo, nostra omnia ad regiæ potestatis redire ditionem; cui deinceps in libertate eligendi pontificis nequaquam nobis esset libertas refragandi. Quam rediviva igitur, quam violenta dolorum et laborum nostrorum resurgat materia, satis ex his vestra potest perpendere discretio, quæ profecto quanto subtilius et diligentius discutitur, tanto magis formidolosa et dolo infecta apparet. Sanctitatis igitur vestræ clementiam proni deprecamur, quatenus Cantuariensis ecclesiæ tam diuturnam miserantes tribulationem, ejus indemnitati et libertati conservandæ suffragii vestri desiderabile præmium impendere dignemini; ne prævaleant ei qui sagittant in occulto Ps. lxi. 4. immaculatam, et simplicitatem nostram, quæ infirma est viribus, invalida ingenio, dispar scientia, dissimilis potentia, consuetudine benignitate promovere velitis.

DXL. [CUIDAM CARDINALI CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.]

Recrudescunt in nobis vulnera tribulationis, quæ per vestram diligentiam sperabamus fuisse curata. Immo et nova nobis infligunt, quæ nunquam putavimus a quoquam hominum excogitari. Contemptis enim irreverenter sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ privilegiis, et ecclesiæ nostræ consuetudinibus, a sanctis patribus nostris institutis, et a quingentis annis ad hæc tempora regulariter observatis, conatur dominus archiepiscopus contra privilegia nostra novas institutiones, non ad ecclesiæ utilitatem, sed subversionem, statuere. Et, quod nos urget acrius, in contentionem juris ecclesiæ nostræ libertates evocantur, pro quibus gloriosus martyr Thomas occubuit. Qui videns ecclesiasticæ libertatis dignitatem infirmari, studuit eam in statum debitum revocare, et in ejus confirmationem caput proprium allegavit. Accedit adhuc ad dolorum nostrorum cumulum, quod capellam de Lamhee, totius dissensionis et scandali materiam, auctoritate sedis Romanæ toties condemnatam, priori loco nititur reædificare, et lites redivivas suscitare. Ne nos ergo per consensum mali puram, quam in hac causa, Deo teste, servamus conscientiam, offuscemus, manifesto ecclesiæ nostræ periculo consentire non possumus, sed de Dei misericordia et ecclesiæ Romanæ justitia præsumentes, potius elegimus calicem tribulationis pro justitia, quantum Dominus permiserit, degustare, quam cauteriata conscientia præsentis vitæ prosperitatem continuare. Paternitatis itaque vestræ pedibus advoluti, supplicamus quatenus exsurgatis in adiutorium pauperum et oppressorum, et Cantuariensem ecclesiam, ne in opprobrium tradatur et derisum, clementiori oculo respicite.

Innotescat igitur vestræ paternitati, dominum archiepiscopum nostrum ad hoc totis viribus elaborare, ut libertatibus quibus nos de novo spoliavit, Cantuariensis ecclesia perpetuo privetur. Unde et palam, quod tamen verecundi dicimus, asserit, regi fuisse fraudulenter subtracta, quæ toti regno constat ab ecclesia Cantuariensi de regum et magnatum terræ donatione per quingentos annos fuisse possessa. Sanctitatem igitur vestram humiliter deposcimus, quatenus filiæ vestræ Cantuariensi ecclesiæ jam imminem attendentes subversionem, quanto instantius in ejus insistitur excidium, tanto ei benignius, intuitu Dei et beati martyris Thomæ, consilii subsidium, auxilii præmium impendere dignemini. DXLII. MAGISTRO H. ADVOCATO SUO CONVENTUS CANTUARIENSIS.

Universalis ecclesiæ claritati licet prudentiæ vestræ sollicitudo et inviolabilis justitiæ cultus excellenter proficiant et prospiciant singulariter, tamen Cantuariensem ecclesiam uberiore mensura, fecundiore copia, quasi imber temporaneus, et Hosca vi. 3. quasi roris stillæ super gramina, irroraverunt. Quæ quamvis Deut. xxxii. violentioribus continuæ tribulationis quatiatur procellis, in Cant. i. 3. odore unguentorum vestrorum currens, ad clementiæ vestræ respectum sedulo dependet intuitu, spirat et suspirat affectu. Postquam igitur, reverende domine, a præsentia vestra prior noster recessit, convenientes juxta formam commissionis coram datis mediatoribus, propositis utrobique diversis querelis et gravaminibus, ad ultimum postulavit dominus archiepiscopus, ut accedentes ad pedes ejus, causam penitus misericordiæ suæ resignaremus. Nos autem hujus sermonis venena et decipulas perpendentes, persensimus non esse bonum. Non enim sine injuria adversarii consiliis adquiescitur, nec tute res committitur, ubi discrimen metuitur. Nam quod improbe in Romanæ ecclesiæ ludibrium præsumitur, post tantas Cantuariensis ecclesiæ tribulationes et ærumnas, etiam nunc dominus archiepiscopus ad illius capellæ toties damnatæ irrevocabili intentione elaborat reparationem, tradita una sibi, non obstan-tibus libertatibus vel privilegiis, interius et exterius ecclesiæ dispositione. Quia igitur discretionis vestræ examini amodo reservatur negotii nostri progressus, pietatis vestræ viscera, et cordium medullitus suspiriis, et corporum humiliatione, flagitamus, ne in Cantuariensis ecclesiæ præjudicium, licet tam pertinaciter et improbe in ejus insistant subversionem, non permittatis aliquid prævalere. Totius enim injustitiæ nulla capitalior est, quam eorum qui, cum maxime decipiunt, hoc agunt ut boni esse videantur. Venena enim non dantur, nisi melle circumlita, et illa pernicies acerbius grassatur, quæ sub boni prætextu astutius potest subreptare. Vestræ igitur nos funditus committentes miserationi, rogamus, ut intuitu Dei et beati martyris Thomæ, quem tutelæ vestræ statuistis advocatum, libertates nostras, quas ipse sanguine suo sanxit, non permittatis exinaniri. Quia nisi nobis reliqueritis benedictionem, derelinquetur Cantuariensis ecclesia sicut umbraculum in vinea, et sicut tugurium in cucumerario. Valete.

Gaudemus in Christo, et gratias agimus Domino gratiæ ipsius, quia inter multos quos in ecclesiam Cantuariensem contulit honores, hanc etiam præstitit eminentiam, ut ei vestram dignaretur præbere præsentiam. Nam personam vestram videre, religionis exemplum et certam veritatis formam est tenere. Cujus omnia verba quæ nobis dixit et scripsit, ita in nostro sensu superni amoris melle condita sapuerunt, ut non per linguam carnis, sed per Ipsum Spiritum cuncta viderentur esse prolata: calamo cum carmine ex abundantia cordis tinxerant, quod nobis tanto caritatis ardore refundebant. Hinc ergo cunctis poterit esse perspicuum, quantum pretiosum Christi martyrem Thomam diligitis, qui tanto venerationis officio ecclesiam in qua passus est et ejus filios amatis. Sane, ut ecclesiæ nostræ tanto patrono et fratri conjunctissimo familiariter aliquid et aperte loquamur, duo sunt ad quæ domini Cantuariensis archiepiscopi adversus nos et ecclesiam Cantuariensem principaliter tendit intentio, videlicet ut de rebus Cantuariensis ecclesiæ nobilissimam fundare possit ecclesiam, sexaginta vel septuaginta canonicorum præbendariorum, quam nomine capellam fallaci facit nuncupari. poscens a nobis, ut omnia statuta majorum archiepiscoporum, indulgentias sedis apostolicæ et privilegia, et cartas regum Angliæ, quibus in libertatibus et jure tanta ecclesia, tamque præclara, a suis initiis fundata est, voluntatis suæ dispositioni traderemus, ut pro libitu suo nova scita tanquam meliora procedant, antiqua quasi inutilia, convulsa depereant. Nec est contentus ordinatione monasticæ disciplinæ, quam in prædicta ecclesia beatissimi patres Gregorius et Augustinus ordinaverunt, qui etiam a Deo commendati sunt et honorati, sed alio intellectu et ordine regulam Sancti Benedicti æstimat exponendam, quasi viro apostolicæ eruditionis Gregorio possit esse doctior, aut merito sanctitatis Anglorum apostolo Augustino clarior. Et quidem de ædificanda ecclesia tam nobili de rebus alterius ecclesiæ, bene novit eruditio vestra quid jura præscribunt, quia non licet archiepiscopo vel episcopo, sine consensu cleri vel ecclesiæ suæ, de rebus ecclesiæ sibi commissæ aliquid magnum ordinare, innovare, alienare vel mutare. Nulla etiam ecclesia locupletari debet cum alterius jactura. Quanta etiam inde scandala provenerint, et nova multiplicentur in dies, orbis Latinus agnovit et Anglia congemuit. De eo vero quod statum Cantuariensis ecclesiæ contendit evertere, et omnia in novam formam et sibi placitam transformare, quam sit rationi contrarium, omnis qui audit, advertit. Rationis namque ordo deposcit, ut qui statuta sua a suis successoribus vult observari, ipse prædecessorum suorum statuta inviolabiliter faciat custodiri.

Sane cum sanctitati vestræ nuper scripserimus prout rei veritas tunc temporis se habuit, quod in partibus nostris, scilicet, defensionis copiam sufficientem invenire non potuimus, ideoque litteras revocatorias nobis indulgeri petivimus: dum igitur eas aliquamdiu expectavimus, venerunt ex insperato, causa visitandi martyrem nostrum, scholares quidam de partibus transmarinis: qui videntes angustias animæ nostræ, et martyris intuitu miseriarum nostrarum miserti, pro eo facti sunt oratores, quem supplices venerant adorare. Cumque diutius et diebus multis coram judicibus delegatis fuisset de negotio disputatum, tandem litteræ illæ revocatoriæ supervenerunt, quibus ideo usi non sumus, quia jam secundum tenorem priorum litterarum adeo fuerat processum, quod jam facta erat productio testium super spoliatioe nostra, et disputatio et conclusio, solaque instabat sententia de restitutione ecclesiarum et exeniorum nobis facienda vel deneganda. Quia ergo in litteris posterioribus continebatur clausula illa, scilicet, si nondum est secundum tenorem mandati nostri in causa processum, et quia sperabamus quod nobis esset restitutio facienda per priores litteras, cum sufficienter probata esset possessio et spoliatio; per secundas autem litteras, [si] fuissent exhibitæ, res nimiam dilationem capiebat, et quia non erat in posterioribus litteris de cogendis testibus, sine quorum coactione in aliis quæstionibus, de curia scilicet et marisco, sufficientem testium copiam non possemus habere, ideo periculosum visum est nobis et damnosum per litteras illas procedere. Unde consultius aestimavimus eas penes nos retinere, quam in damnum et detrimentum nostrum ostendere. Quicquid igitur sanctitati vestræ

Ita convenit inter dominum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum et conventum Cantuariensis ecclesiae, salva in omnibus sedis apostolicae reverentia: scilicet quod de quæstionibus inter eos motis, scilicet de capella erigenda vel non erigenda apud Lamhee, et de quatuor ecclesiis, videlicet de Muneketuna, de Aestria, de Mapeham, et de Aeinesfordia; et de exeniis quorundam maneriorum conventus, et de mariscis, et de quibusdam piscariis et moris, compromiserunt in tres iudices a domino papa delegatos, scilicet dominum Lincolnensem, dominum Eliensem, et dominum abbatem Sancti Eadmundi; aut si dominus Lincolnensis interesse non poterit, in decanum Lincolnensem, magistrum Rogerum; promittentes quod ipsi eorum arbitrio stabunt, plenam potestatem eis committentes, ut de prædictis quæstionibus secundum voluntatem suam inter eos amicabiliter componant; et quod ab ipsis arbitris provisum fuerit, firmiter observabunt. In hujus rei testimonium et robur firmitatis, utraque pars sigillum suum huic scripto fecit apponi. His testibus, domino episcopo Rofensi, et domino Wigornensi; abbatibus etiam de Abbendune, de la Hyde, de Waltham, et Aeinesham, de Certeseia, de Bello, de Boxeleia; H. Cantuariensi, G. Cameracensi, R. Norhamtunensi, W. Roffensi, et W. Glocestrensi archidiaconis, et multis aliis, in capitulo Cantuariensi præsentibus, ubi hæc coram priore et conventu agebantur.

The archbishop and the convent choose the bishop of Ely, the dean of Lincoln, and the abbot of S. Edmund's, as arbitrators on the questions mooted between them.

Eustachius Elyensis episcopus, et Samson abbas Sancti Eadmundi, Rogerus decanus Lincolnensis loco domini Hugonis Lincolnensis episcopi constitutus, electi arbitri a domino archiepiscopo Huberto et priore et conventu Cantuariensis ecclesiæ juxta formam compromissi, pro bono pacis et tranquillitatis Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, providimus et ordinavimus; ut si placet domino Cantuariensi ædificare ecclesiam apud Lamhee, hoc modo fiat: ædificet ubi voluerit in area illa, dummodo non super fundamenta operis illius, quod auctoritate domini papæ dirutum est. Instituantur in ecclesia illa canonici ordinis Præmonstratensis, ita quod non sint plures quam viginti, nec pauciores quam tredecim. Hanc ecclesiam poterit ditare dominus archiepiscopus usque ad quantitatem centum librarum annuarum, de ecclesiis ad ipsum pertinentibus, vel de aliis bonis quæ possidet nomine Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, exceptis ecclesiis de Muneketuna, de Aeistria, de Ainesford, de Mapeham, et ecclesiis quæ sunt in maneriis monachorum, et exceptis aliis rebus, quæ coram nobis in quæstionem deductæ sunt. Erit autem ecclesia ista mediocris, juxta præfatum numerum personarum, et prædictam dotem modificata, habito respectu ad morem et mediocritatem ædificandi ecclesiam, quibus utuntur canonici ejusdem ordinis. Sane ad tollendam omnem materiam suspicionis et scandali, pro bono pacis et tranquillitatis perpetuæ providimus, ut in ecclesia illa archiepiscopi ordines, aut concilia, aut consecrationes episcoporum aut benedictiones abbatum non celebrent, aut chrisma conficiant. Nec hoc in derogationem dignitatis archiepiscopalis aut juris ordinatum est, sed pro commodo tranquillæ pacis, præsertim cum secundum auctoritatem canonum in quibusdam cœnobiis missæ publicæ non sunt celebrandæ, ne turbetur

His fideliter peractis et efficaciter procuratis, procedat res sicut præordinatum est. De ecclesiis autem ita disposuimus, quod clerici qui eas tenent, habeant eas quoad vixerint, scilicet Symon Wellensis archidiaconus ecclesiam de Muneke-ton, sub annua pensione decem aureorum: magister Radulfus de Sancto Martino ecclesiam de Aestria, cum annua pensione sex aureorum: Virgilius ecclesiam de Mapeham, sub annua pensione unius aurei, eleemosynariæ Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, solventium: dominus archiepiscopus Johannes quondam Lugdunensis ecclesiam de Ainessford tenebit pacifice quoad vixerit. Post mortem vero Symonis, in ecclesia de Muneke-ton, percipiet sumptibus suis et laboribus præfata eleemosynaria, nomine beneficii, medietatem decimarum et aliorum pertinentium excepto altaragio. Reliqua vero medietas cum altaragio remanebit in donatione domini archiepiscopi et suorum successorum. In ecclesia de Aestria sic fiet post mortem Radulfi. Virgilio autem decedente, præfata eleemosynaria percipiet sumptibus suis et laboribus in ecclesia de Mapeham, nomine beneficii, tertiam partem decimarum et aliorum pertinentium, excepto altaragio, quod cum residuo remanebit in donatione domini archiepiscopi et suorum successorum. In ecclesia de Ainessford, post obitum jam dicti Lugdunensis archiepiscopi similiter fiet. Nomine vero altaragii intelligimus omnia mobilia ecclesiæ legata, et oblationes omnes, et decimationes præter decimas bladi, leguminis et fœni. Terras autem et terrarum redditus, et capellarum pensiones, ad altaragium dicimus non pertinere. Capellarum autem, cum vacaverint, super iis quæ eis vacantibus ad matricem ecclesiam pertinere noscuntur, talis fiat distributio, qualis et aliorum pertinentium dictarum ecclesiarum, cum capellæ sint de pertinentiis earundem ecclesiarum. Quod autem dicimus de medietate vel de tertia decimarum prædictarum ecclesiarum, intelligimus de illis tantum quæ in contentionem coram nobis deductæ sunt, aliis in antiquo suo statu manentibus. Omnia vero quæ percipient monachi in prædictis ecclesiis, in usus pauperum expendantur, ita quod non minuantur aut subtrahantur ob hoc quæ prius assignata fuerant eleemosynariæ. De exeniis quorundam maneriorum conventus ita disposuimus, ut dominus archiepiscopus Hubertus sit in possessione eorum quoad vixerit, salvo in omnibus jure monachorum post ejus obitum, si quod habent, in petitorio seu possessorio, super eisdem exeniis, nisi communi consensu aliter inter se interim statuerint. Tandem vero post multas utriusque partis rationes et allegationes, præfati archiepiscopus et monachi in nos tres, super prædictis omnibus quæ in contentione vènerant, compromittere decreverunt. Nos vero perpetuam pacem ac tranquillitatem Cantuariensis ecclesiæ æstuanti desiderantes affectu, Dei timore præ oculis habito, prout melius scivimus ac petuimus, sicut in tenore scripti nostri, quod vestræ paternitati transmittimus, continetur superius, super iis quæ præmisimus diligentius arbitrati; clementiæ vestræ devotissime supplicantes, quatenus, si placet, secundum quod vestræ circumspectionis prudentia viderit expedire, prædictum arbitrium, ad sedandam discordiam et pacem perpetuam observandam, dignemini confirmare. Cum cognitionem causæ quæ inter me et dilectos filios priorem et monachos ecclesiæ Sanctæ Trinitatis Cantuariensis, super capella de Lamhee reædificanda, vertebatur, venerabilibus fratribus Hugoni bonæ memoriæ Lincolniensi et Eustachio Eliensi episcopis, et Samsoni abbati Sancti Eadmundi, vestra sanctitas delegasset; nos potius quæ pacis sunt quam quæ belli affectantes, ante omnia juxta quod præceperatis sæpius de concordia tractavimus, nec profecimus, pacem quæsivimus et non invenimus. Judices quoque vestri, adjunctis sibi episcopis, abbatibus, prioribus, virisque religiosis et Deum timen-tibus, sæpius cum multa sollicitudine et diligentia juxta mandati vestri formam ad idem laborantes, se voti sui finem quem voluerunt non esse assecutos doluerunt. Forsitan autem hoc ea accidit ratione, quia utraque pars proposito suo eo fortius et vehementius inhæsit, quoniam causam justissimam fovere et Deo se obsequium in hoc præstare credebat. Ego autem dum propositum antecessoris mei, quod variis necessitatibus impeditum est compleri, exequi volens cum indemnitate Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, cui divina miseratione præsum, in honore scilicet beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ erigere studui; illi autem dum prædictæ ecclesiæ nostræ Cantuariensis jura servare, ejusque indemnitati prospicere laboraverunt, timentes, ut reor, ubi non erat timor: studiis quidem ducebamur dissimilibus et diversis, sed zelo non dissimili. Deinde cum diu funem trax-

orum nostrorum serenare, litibusque nostris finem imponere.

Ps. cxviii. 23. A Domino factum est istud, et fuit mirabile in oculis multorum. Ubi enim omnes de concordia tractantes defecerant, ubi fortius ad conflictum nos accinxeramus, ex insperato factus est repente de cælo sermo pacis, adveniente Spiritu Sancto, ut inter nos pacem mitteret, gladium tolleret. De communi itaque consensu in judices vestros, Deo disponente, [com]promisimus, quod tam super capella de Lamhee, quam super aliis articulis in litigium coram eis deductis, eorum staremus arbitrio, salva in omnibus apostolicæ sedis auctoritate et reverentia. Ipsi autem in hunc modum sunt arbitrati: "In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus Sancti, Amen, etc.," ut supra. scopis, et Samsoni abbati Sancti Æadmundi, vestra sanctitas delegasset; nos a claustris silentio simplices et juris ignari ad litem evocati, grave pondus belli imbecilles et inviti diu sustinimus. Verum quia pacem, quam a sæculi tumultu fugientes quæsivimus, super omnia affectavimus, juxta sanctitatis vestræ mandatum cum omni diligentia quæ pacis sunt semper quæsivimus, nec tamen profecimus, licet ad hoc quoque multi viri et magni, tam sæculares quam religiosi, nobis collaborarent; quam tamen non impedivit partium obstinata voluntas, sed zelus justitiæ, quam utraque partium se fovere credebat. Dominus enim noster archiepiscopus, diligenter exequi volens quod ad honorem beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ facere disposuerat, nec satis perpendens scandalum pusillorum quod inde imminebat, gratissimum in hoc se præstare Deo fortasse obsequium; nos autem, præter scandalum infirmorum quod imminebat in prædictæ ecclesiæ erectione, Cantuariensis ecclesiæ ruinam indubitanter prævidentes, præelegimus potius pro matris nostræ liberatione occumbere, quam illius subversioni consentire. Deinde post modestæ contentionis dissensiones, placuit Altissimo Cantuariensis ecclesiæ bellum plusquam civile, in sinceræ dilectionis affectum convertere, et amaram jurgiorum contentionem in dulce pacis studium commutare. A Domino siquidem factum istud, quod et ideo est Ps. cxviii. 23. mirabile, quod ante videbatur impossibile. Pium itaque propositum utriusque partis sic dignata est Divina clementia remunerare, ut si partium pius error a tramite rectitudinis educebat, tolleretur, et ad contrarios fines tendentes, ad eundem gaudentes faceret pervenire. Ut enim post longum et frequentem tractatum de concordia nulla spes pacis jam restabat, et se solito fortius partes ad conflictum accingerent, factus est repente sermo pacis, et contrariarum voluntatum mutatio, ab Eo in Cujus manu corda sunt regum et pontificum, ut in Prov. xxi. 1. spiritu lenitatis Dominus pacem inter nos mitteret, et gladium amoveret. De communi itaque consensu in judices vestros nos, Deo disponente, compromisimus, quod tam super capella de Lamhee, quam super aliis articulis in litigium coram eis deductis, eorum staremus arbitrio, salva in omnibus apostolicæ sedis auctoritate et reverentia. Ipsi autem in hunc modum sunt arbitrati: "In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus Sancti," etc.; ut supra. Vestræ igitur supplicamus sanctitati, quanta possumus devotione, ut, pro pace et tranquillitate Cantuariensis ecclesiæ in posterum servanda, præmissum arbitrium confirmare dignetur.

Cum Cantuariensis ecclesia inter omnes Angliæ præfulgeret ecclesias, atque in sanguine beati Thomæ nuper fuisset exaltata; suadente diabolo, ab archipræsule suo, a quo debebat ab aliorum injuriis defendi, atrociter cœpit vexari. In primis itaque promotionis suæ initiis, subrependo quasi, xenias monachis deputata sibi usurpavit: deinde ecclesias quasdam a suo prædecessore ad refectionem pauperum monasterio concessas, atque monachorum maneria violenter invasit. Demum versutia serpentis iniqui, quod est gravius, ad subversionem monasterii, sub tacita veritate, ut posset capellam beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ construere, ab apostolica sede impetravit; recedensque a loco prioris ædificii, propius matricem ecclesiam maximæ staturæ fundare cœpit, in qua ultra sexaginta canonicos instituit, de majoribus clericis Angliæ, suffraganeosque suos in ea præbendarios constituere satagit. Videntes ergo illud prior et Cantuarienses monachi, quod hæc et alia in destructionem tam nobilis et famosæ moliretur ecclesiæ, Divino Spiritu repleti, et maxime vigilantia beati martyris excitati, bishop Baldwin and the Hakington College; but the arguments are generally applicable to both cases.

antequam prædictum opus inchoaretur, opus interdixerunt, ad supremam appellaverunt sedem, et iterato eam innovaverunt; monasterium, res ipsius, prioratum et personas in protectione domini papæ ponentes, atque iter ad curiam veniendi arripuerunt. Archipræsul vero magis insolescens, quosdam suspendit, quosdam ab officiis suis deposuit, et maximas injurias intulit. Prior itaque ac monachi quidam in Curia existentes, post multos judiciorum strepitus, ab Urbano felicitis memoriæ litteras impetravit. Mortuo Urbano, crevit monachorum injuria, præsulisque insolentia: plenissime rebus suis spoliati sunt sub Gregorio. Mortuo vero Gregorio, iterato sub Clemente domus eorum destructæ. Laici in eorum cellariis inducti sunt, ita quod monachi non habent unde vivant, nisi a laicis recipiant, a quibus recipere nec volunt nec debent. Heu quantus dolor! quanta miseria! quam laudabilis ecclesia ad nihilum redigitur! Doleat Romana ecclesia, ad cujus æmulationem prædicta perpetrantur, totusque mundus clamet de tam nefando scelere.

Ad honorem igitur beati martyris, sto pro Cantuariensibus monachis, circa duo principaliter insistens: scilicet, jam dicti sacrilegi operis destructionem, et ablatorum omnium plenissimam restitutionem.

I. Quod igitur opus jam dictum debeat dirui, hæc videntur inducere; operis illicita constructio, juris antiquioris ecclesiæ diminutio, nimia scandali et seditionis occasio, præmissa nuntiatio, et subsecuta provocatio.

I. Quod igitur illicite factum debeat dirui, exemplum non indiget, verum tamen argumentum habetur, ut Cod. DE LEGIBUS ET CONSTITUTIONIBUS; Non dubium: et Cod. UT NEMO PRIVATUS TITULOS, l. ult.: et I. Decr. DIST. Vides: et DIST. lxxv. c. ii. et iii.; et CAUS. xvii. quæst. ii. c. i.

I. Decr. dist.

II. Decr.

Quod autem illicite constructum sit, in primis illa ratione probatur quod in novis oratoriis construendis debet esse utilitas evidens, sicut in cæteris rebus. Argumentum, ut Digest. DE CONSTITUTIONIBUS PRINCIPUM, l. In rebus: et in Decreto, DIST. xxiii. Communis filius, et DIST. xxx. c. Hæc scripsimus.

The new church
ought to be destroyed as

and useless.

At in isto oratorio nulla utilitas vertitur. Non enim est ibi utilitas Beatae Trinitatis, id est, Cantuariensis ecclesiæ; et hoc patet. Neque archiepiscopi, quia viciniorem habet ecclesiam suam; nec populorum, quia civibus sufficiunt civitatis ecclesiæ, quæ viciniore sunt. Exteris autem non est utilitas, immo inutilitas, quia remotior eis ædificatur ista ecclesia, quam prior esset. Patet ergo, quod nulla est ibi utilitas, nisi forte quis dicat ibi verti lucrum pecuniarum: ut I. Decr. DE CONSECRATIONE, DIST. i. c. Siquis basilicam.

sanctum corpus ejus, habet proprium et speciale opus; nec est adeo gloriosum in toto mundo: et per istud opus intendit archiepiscopus illud primum obfuscare. Supervacuum itaque opus quantum ad omnia prædicta. Est ergo destruendum: nam et altaria superflua destruuntur, ut I. Decreti, DE CONSECRATIONE, III. Decr. Dist. i. c. Ecclesiæ. Dist. i. c. 18.

No bishop
can alienate without the consent of his church.

Item, probo alia ratione, quod per tale oratorium alienatur prædium ecclesiasticum, in quo construitur. Non ergo potest fieri sine consensu et præsentia clericorum, qui in eadem ecclesia deserviunt, omnium vel majoris partis. R. ut i. Auth. Coll. ii. tit. i. l. Authenticorum, DE ALIENANDIS AUT PERMUTANDIS REBUS ECCL., II. Decr. c. xii. q. ii. c. Alienationes, Sine exceptione. c. 37 et 52.

This case is not one of the exceptions
to that rule.

Sed objicit adversa pars illud capitulum quod est in CAUSA II. Decr. c. xii. q. ii. Bonæ rei. Ad quod dicimus, illud partem nostram c. 74. omnino juvare, et adversariorum confundere. Loquitur enim in duobus casibus specialiter; i. e. cum vult construere oratorium religionis episcopus, id est, monasterium, vel cum pro suis sepulturis eam magnificare voluerit, et tunc alii quinquagesimam, alii centesimam dare poterit. Quod igitur in illis duobus casibus specialiter permittitur, in aliis prohibetur. R. ut Digest., DE CONDITIONIBUS ET DEMONSTRATIONIBUS, l. Dig. xxxv. i. 63. Cum ita, et Digest., DE APPELLATIONIBUS, l. Cum in una: et Dig. xlix. i. 17. Digest. DE CONTRAHENDA EMPTIONE, l. Cum servo: et I. Decr. Dig. xviii. i. 63. DIST. xxv. Qualis: et CAUS. xvi. q. i. c. Hinc est. Cum ergo I. Decr. Dist. xxv. c. 4. archipræsul neque consensu clericorum suorum, i. e. monachorum, qui vicem obtinent clericorum, neque domum ædificet II. Decr. c. xvi. q. i. c. 39. religiosam, neque suæ sepulturæ causa, patet quod omnino prohiberi debet.

The archbishop being a monk has no property
out of which

church.

Item alio modo probatur hoc idem. Quicumque vult ædificare ecclesiam in sua proprietate, non aliter potest, nisi dotem sufficientem et ad luminaria et ad ministros ecclesiæ conferat: ut I. Decr. CAUS. xvi. q. ult. c. Piæ: et DE CONSECRATIONE, II. Decr. c. xvi. q. vii. c. 26. DIST. i. Nemo ecclesiam. Cum ergo archipræsul præsens III. Decr. Dist. i. c. 9. nullam habeat proprietatem, cum sit monachus, non potest aliquod prædictorum facere, igitur nec ecclesiam ædificare. Sed etsi concedatur, quod possit in prædio ecclesiæ, non nisi centesimam dare potest, cum non ædificet monasterium, ut in superiori capitulo, Bonæ rei, dictum est. At per centesimam II. Decr. c. xii. q. ii. c. 74. quomodo posset tantæ ecclesiæ luminaria præstare, ac septuaginta vel pluribus canonicis, et tam maximis, necessaria subministrare. Vix medietas sufficeret, immo nec archiepiscopalis redditus totus. Patet ergo ex supradictis, hujus operis illicitam esse constructionem, igitur funditus destruendam.

The licence

apostolicus in eodem loco ædificare ubi prius. Item de capella concessit; hic autem domum quasi matricem constituit. Quæ enim capella erat septuaginta canonicorum vel plurium? Liqueat igitur aperte concessionem illam non opitulari; tum quia per mendacium, id est, tacita veritate de vicinitate et mutatione loci:—R. ut Cod. DE DIVERSIS RESCRIPTIS, l. ult., et Cod. SI CONTRA JUS VEL UTILITATEM PUBLICAM, l. ii. et l. Etsi legibus:—tum quia fines concessionis egressus est, quia tantum de capella concessit. R. ut Cod. DE PROCURATORIBUS, l. xiii. 10. Si procurator ad unam: et Digest. MANDATI, Diligenter: et Digest. DE EXERCITORIA, l. i. Igitur non est verisimile Romanum pontificem talem et tantam ecclesiam et tam matrici ecclesiæ propinquam velle ut ædificetur concedere.

II. Secundo loco, allegamus opus debere destrui, quia fit cum diminutione juris prioris ecclesiæ. Nempe diminuitur in oblationibus. Quod enim per populorum concursum matrici consuevit conferri ecclesiæ, huic operi occasione fraternitatis et remissionis peccatorum confertur. Item; jam dictæ ecclesiæ, quibus Cantuariensis est privata ecclesia, clericis hic institutis assignatæ sunt. Patet igitur tale opus cum diminutione prioris ecclesiæ ædificari: igitur dirui debet, quia non debet taliter fieri. R. ut in Decr. CAUS. xvi. q. i. c. Nullus. Nimirum alteri per alteram non debet iniqua conditio inferri. R. ut Digest. DE REGULIS JURIS, Non debet alteri. Item; ita licitum est cuiquam in suo facere vel ædificare, ne usus incommodetur alterius. R. ut Digest. DE REGULIS JURIS, l. Domum; et Digest. DE DAMNO INFECTO, Qui vias; et Digest. SI SERVITUS VINDICETUR, Sicut, § Distant. Quamvis enim in proprio sit cuiquam permissum ædificare, tamen sic, id est, incommodo alterius non permittitur. Quiddam enim simpliciter permittitur, quod ratione adjuncti prohibetur. R. ut Digest. DE POSTULANDO, l. et § ; et Digest. DE CONDICTIONE OB TURPEM CAUSAM, l. ii.; et in Decr. CAUS. xxiii. qu. i. c. Militare; et DIST. xli. c. iiii. et iii.; et CAUS. xii. qu. i. c. Habebat. Quinimmo etsi concedat imperator vel pontifex quid fieri, ut sine injuria alterius fiat concessisse videtur, nisi specialiter contrarium dixerit; ut Cod. DE EMANCIPATIONIBUS LIBERORUM, Nec avus; et Digest. AD TREBELLIANUM, Sed cum ab hærede; et Digest. NE QUID IN LOCO PUBLICO, l. ii. § Si quis a principe; et CAUS. xi. qu. i. c. Pervenit; et CAUS. xxv. q. ii. De Ecclesiasticis.

Si enim non potest hæc ecclesia surgere quin gravetur altera, melius est hanc non consurgere quam alteram gravari. R. ut. CAUS. xiiii. qu. v. Denique. Non vult enim Deus tale lucrum cum tali damno compensari, scilicet ubi malum fit ut bonum consequatur. Ubi enim una ecclesia spoliatur ut altera surgat. Nimirum sub prætextu liciti, non est committendum

The new church is a cause of scandal;

III. Tertio loco allegamus, pro nobis facit nimia scandali et seditionis occasio. Scandalizatur enim in hoc facto Cantuariensis ecclesia, quinimmo tota Anglia; et, quod est gravius, etiam Romana ecclesia. Quot enim scandala, injurias, compassionones, pro maledicto isto opere passus fuerit, patiaturque quotidie prior et Cantuarienses fratres, non ignorat sanctitas vestra. Item pro facto hoc etiam abbates quidam, qui mandatum apostolicum fuerant executi, scandalizati fuerunt enormiter; quantumque fere a duobus annis retro gemitibus et ululatibus fratrum Cantuariensium sit Romana repleta ecclesia, mundus totus cognovit. Cum ergo tot scandala seditionesque ortæ sint, orianturque quotidie pro sæpedicto opere, si custos, ut deberet, archiepiscopus esset religionis et honestatis, quamvis bonum esset quod faceret, ab eo tamen fuerat abstinendum. LANDO, l. Quos prohibet. Item cum tripliciter rescriptum dicatur, vel quia continetur mendacium in narratione juris vel facti sive fraude tacendi, ut xxv. qu. ii. Præscriptione, II. Dec. xxv. ii. 16 § 1. constat hoc mendacio esse subnixum, utpote fraude tacendi impetratum. Debuit enim dixisse cujus esset conditionis: unde merito cum ita non fecerit, rescriptum ab eo impetratum nullius erit momenti, ut xxv. qu. ii. Et si legibus. Sed 16 § 3. non impedit quod idoneus aestimabatur, errore namque comperto non solet aliquem ignorantia relevare; ut xxxiv., Cum per bellicam cladem; Si virgo nesciens. Sed nec etiam obstat quod procurator sit mortuus, quasi non possit ei excommunicatio objici. Constat enim quod excommunicatus sit hæreticus, ut iv. qu. i. c. ii. Sic ergo constat excommunicationem esse hæresim, atque pro hæresi potest quis post mortem notari, ut xxiv. qu. i. Sane profertur. Sic ergo et pro excommunicatione. Immo nulla est objectio, nec enim ad hoc objicitur ut ejus memoria damnetur, ut in EX DELICTIS DEFUNCTORUM. Porro. Codex iv. xvii. Sed in modum exceptionis civiliter excommunicatione objecta et probata ejus rescriptum cassetur, quod licite fit: alioquin nec testimonium post mortem posset objici falsum fuisse, vel corruptum quod falsum est, ut Cod. DE FALSIS, l. Querela; Code ix. xxii. xxxv. qu. ix., Quod quis commisit. Sed nec impedit quod 12. II. Dec. quasi delictum unius personæ non debet redundare in præ- xxxv. ix. 3. judicium totius ecclesiæ. Hic enim videtur esse delictum ab universitate quæ sibi talem præfecit procuratorem, quem ignorare nullo modo potuit, a proprio pastore excommunicatum. R. xii. q. ii. Qui et humanis; xxiii. qu. i. Paratus di. et dicitis. II. Dec. xii. Merito ergo quod ab universitate delinquitur in præjudicium ii. 24. universitatis retorquetur; ut xxv. qu. ii. Ita nos Scillacenorum. xxiii. i. 2. xxv. ii. 25.

Monachi autem post factam nunciationem et appellationem priorem suum procuratorem constituunt, qui curiam Romanam petit, ubi negotium contra responsales ipsius archiepiscopi a jam dicto priore est intentatum. Tandem impetrat rescriptum sub hac forma, ut quicquid post appellationem factum est irritetur; quo impetrato, moritur prior. Redeunt fratres. Objicit archiepiscopus priorem tempore appellationis fuisse excommunicatum, talemque curiam adisse rescriptumque impetrasse, ut ita rescriptum quassetur. Quare cum longo tempore apud curiam Romanam ventilato negotio non sit objecta hæc exceptio, amodo sit admittenda, et utrum ea admissa et probata cassum rescriptum debeat censi. Constat rescriptum obtentu hujus exceptionis cassum censi non debere: tum quia exceptio ex se nulla est, tum etsi aliqua dici potest, lapsu tamen temporis debito suo effectum est destituta. Et quidem ex se nulla est. Infamis enim novo jure a procuratione non repellitur; ut Inst. DE EXCEPTIONIBUS T. ult.; Inst. iv. xiii. 11.

A.D. 1197. DLVI. HÆC SUNT CAPITULA QUÆ OBTULIT HUBERTUS ARCHIEPISCOPUS CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI PRO CANONIA DE LAMHEE.
Nov. 16.

Terms of consent proposed by Hubert. Hæc² sunt quæ dominus archiepiscopus Hubertus Cantuariensis statuit ad honorem Dei et Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, et pacem perpetuam firmandam inter priorem et conventum Cantuariensem et canonicos de Lamhee. Scilicet, quod cuicumque dominus archiepiscopus dederit præbendam vel dignitatem in ecclesia de Lamhee, jurabit super majus altare Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, quod nec per se nec per alium vendicabit sibi vel ecclesiæ de Lamhee, jus in electione Cantuariensis archiepiscopi, nec alii¹ in hoc consentiet, aut auxilium, aut consilium præstabit, aut cum aliquo stabit in hac² causa in præjudicium Cantuariensis ecclesiæ.

A.D. 1197.
Nov. 16.
Every canon of Lambeth shall swear that he will claim no vote in the election of archbishop:

Jurabit etiam quod translationi sedis, vel beati martyris Thomæ, aut aliarum reliquiarum illius ecclesiæ, in præjudicium ejus non consentiet: immo si aliqua persona ecclesiastica vel sæcularis hæc transferre attentaret, ipse consilio et auxilio resisteret, et contra omnes cum monachis Cantuariensibus staret.

that he will not consent to the translation of the see, or of S. Thomas;

Illud quoque juramentum adjiciet,³ quod nunquam per se vel per alium procurabit, nec alicui procuranti consentiet, quod chrisma sanctum conficiatur ab archiepiscopo in ecclesia de Lamhee, vel quod justæ et antiquæ dignitates et libertates Cantuariensis ecclesiæ in aliquo minuantur.

that he will not contrive to have the chrism consecrated at Lambeth;

Erit præterea in juramento, quod hujus obligationis absolutionem nec per se nec per alium quæret, et si forte quæsita fuerit ab aliquo, non utetur ea, immo si aliquis ea vellet uti, ipse utenti se fideliter opponet.

Et sciendum quia nullus cui archiepiscopus dederit præbendam vel dignitatem in ecclesia de Lamhee, poterit installari, nisi in propria persona, nec aliquod beneficium percipiet de præbenda illa ante installationem suam. Et postquam installatus fuerit, sine omni dilatione iter arripiet Cantuariam ad omnia prædicta juranda super majus altare Cantuariensis ecclesiæ. Quod si facere contempserit, sine appellationis obstaculo præbenda illa privetur, et alteri ibidem⁴ conferatur.

No canon shall receive any money until he has been installed, and all shall take this oath before installation.

Et ut pax et dilectio firmior sit inter eos, provisum est quod prior Cantuariensis habeat præbendam unam in ecclesia de Lamhee, et primum stallum ex altera parte chori et capituli, et intersit consiliis et secretis capituli, et utatur habitu clericali quamdiu fuerit in Lamhensi ecclesia, sicut fit in aliis ecclesiis in quibus abbates sunt canonici.

The prior of Canterbury shall be first canon of Lambeth.

Hæc omnia summus pontifex et dominus archiepiscopus, sub anathematis sententia confirmabunt, et omnes illos qui hæc attentaverint violare, excommunicationis vinculo innodabunt. Ille etiam qui canonicis ecclesiæ de Lamhee præerit, consensu

A tempore Theobaldi archiepiscopi, qui primo mutuo postulavit quasdam ecclesias ad opus clericorum, ita ut personis decedentibus ad nos reverteretur earum donatio, duravit lis de ecclesiis inter archiepiscopum et conventum. Conventus enim usque ad tempus Theobaldi ecclesias de maneriis suis conferebat, sicut archiepiscopus suas. Beatus Thomas componere voluit de ecclesiis cum conventu, sed exilio suspensus et morte præventus non potuit. Ricardus archiepiscopus ab Alexandro papa consecratus, præceptum et postea litteras, quas habemus adhuc, ut componeret, accepit, qui tamen quasdam in usus pauperum contulit et confirmavit; quas longo tempore possedit ecclesia. A Baldewino archiepiscopo Alanus prior apud Tenham omnes repetiit, tempore quo canonicos cœpit instituere. Cum igitur lis nondum decisa sit inter nos et archiepiscopum de ecclesiis, quomodo potest vel ipse de iis canonicos fundare, vel nos hujusmodi foundationi consentire?

Causa in curia Romana ventilata est; opus de consilio fratrum temporibus Urbani, Clementis et Cœlestini damnatum; et clerici a juramento Baldewino præstito absoluti. Quod ergo de consilio et judicio curiæ pro ecclesia ista factum est in irritum revocare, et in contrarium assensum præbere, tutum non videtur, et sana conscientia faciendum. Locus profanatus, litteræ in irritum revocatæ, institutio canonicorum tam apud Lamhee, quam apud Hakintune damnata, et ne procederet sæpe inhibita. Qua ergo temeritate possumus nos consentire foundationi, quam curia Romana inhibuit et damnavit?

Propter hanc causam aversum est primo cor Baldewini archiepiscopi a nobis, propter hanc causam mortuus est Honorius prior, et fratres in curia Romana; propter hanc causam spoliati sumus omnibus possessionibus nostris multo tempore, et damna incomparabilia pertulimus, et consimilia aut graviora timemus.

Propter hanc causam jam incepit moveri dominus archiepiscopus adversum nos, cum nondum fabrica est incepta: quid fiet cum fuerit consummata? A.D. 1198.

Nulla fuit inter nos et archiepiscopos controversia nisi de ecclesiis usque modo. Quæ si propter hoc orta est, et eo tempore protracta, cum adhuc spes esset recuperandi, quomodo sopietur cum, fundato opere, spes omnis deperibit?

Hæc fundatio ab initio scandalorum fuit materia et perpetuæ discordiæ causa inter patrem et filios: quomodo ergo possunt filii consentire foundationi huic, quæ incentiva est discordiæ et materia invidiæ inter pastorem et gregem, inter filios et patrem? ubi inter caput et membra non est dilectio vel gratia, nedum dissensio et discordia, qualis erit utrorumque con-scientia? This has been a constant cause
of quarrels.

Tollatur quæstio ista de medio, et hæc tantum sola, et jam
non erit altera; maneat ista, et erunt infinitæ, et quotidie pullulabunt et emergent ea sola permanente. Satiùs ergo esset illam solam tollere, cum qua omnes pariter deperirent, quam illam solam fovere quæ sola facit omnes emergere. If it were settled, all would be peace.

Rex Henricus, cum pro satisfactione martyrii Sancti Thomæ tres abbatias de novo fundare deberet, a quodam magno viro et admodum religioso dictum est ei, quod magis Deum pla-caret, si canonicos sæculares amoveret, et regulares introduceret, quam si de novo eos fundaret, quia in altero esset geminum sacrificium, in altero singulare. Unde et apud Waltham factum est quod vident adhuc oculi nostri. The reason

Abbey.

Esto quod ecclesia de Lamhee subjecta sit ecclesiæ Cantuariensi, privilegiis et cartis regum et pontificum confirmata, quomodo non quæret exceptionem sicut ecclesiæ subscriptæ?
Tempore Lamfranci de subjectione Eboracensi in curia Romana ventilata est causa, utroque archiepiscopo præsentem, et postmodum in Angliam; obtinuitque Lamfrancus et primatum et subjectionem et professionem; factæque sunt inde in concilio generali cartæ et confirmationes, missæque per omnes matrices ecclesias Angliæ, in testimonium facti conservandæ.
Quæ etiam adhuc hodie exstant, et nihilominus dissoluta sunt fœdera quæ putabantur insolubilia. The church of Lambeth

done.

Quomodo non vendicabunt sibi jus in electione archiepiscopi, cum de substantia illius ecclesiæ fuerint fundati, et ejusdem ecclesiæ jurati, et ipsi et episcopi unum habebunt capitulum, et unam communionem? cum celebraverint nuper electionem
suam per se, cum dicerent, "Nostra est electio," cum nec adhuc essent confœderati, quanto magis cum fuerint radicati?

Si dicatur eis, "Hoc abjurastis," dicent, "Coacti fuimus juramentum facere, et immo, dominus papa absolvit nos."

Sherborn. Prior Cantuariensis habebit ibi stallum et præbendam, et intererit capitulo. Si iste archiepiscopus facit de priore monacho canonicum præbendarium installatum, incapitulatum, quare successor ejus non faciat de canonico præbendario priorem Cantuariensem, sicut et e converso? et ita paulatim poterunt clerici in ecclesiam Cantuariensem induci et monachi educi, vel ad minus damna innumerabilia pati. Teste abbate de Sireburne, qui pro mutatione sedis ad Saresberi ibi habuit præbendam. Tempore vero domini H. Saresberiensis episcopi, perquisitis a summo pontifice litteris, ut omnes qui haberent præbendas, facerent inibi residentiam, coactus est abbas, de ecclesiis ad victum monachorum pertinentibus, facere præbendam clerico qui faceret ibi residentiam pro eo.

The arch-

at Lambeth. Quis prohibebit archiepiscopum, cum ecclesia illa talis fuerit facta, chrisma conficere, episcopos consecrare? Pauci admodum sunt in Anglia episcopi, qui in matrice ecclesia Cantuariensi sint consecrati; sed et dominus archiepiscopus nullum adhuc episcopum in Cantuariensi consecravit ecclesia, cum plures et ibi et alibi consecraverit. Et quia multi sunt qui dicant "Cantuariensis ecclesia in angulo terræ sita est, in extremis finibus regni, nimis sumptuosum et laboriosum est frequenter ad eam accedere," melius videbitur alicui sedem transferre, quam ita tot et tantos vexare. Res ista futurum minatur periculum, scilicet, sedis translationem, quæ recte timeri potest; nam raro invenitur sedes archiepiscopalis in monasterio. Eapropter timendum est ne futuris sedes illuc transferatur, quia multi multoties ad hoc nisi sunt, et etiam temporibus beati martyris Thomæ. Vel si non transferatur, quod fiat ibi quasi secunda sedes, primæ parificanda, prout in præsentem videre est de domino Bathoniensi, qui jam ponit sedem suam Glastoniæ, impetrato a summo pontifice, ne ulterius abbas constituatur. Nonne de facili et eadem facilitate qua prohibitus est ibi abbas in perpetuum fieri, poterunt et monachi sicut et abbas in perpetuum deponi? Teste Conventrensi ecclesia. Apud Conventrum dudum fuit abbatia, sed nuper sedes Cestrensis et Lichefeldensis illuc est translata, et in translatione illa factæ sunt cartæ et confirmationes regum et pontificum inter monachos et episcopum, protestantes jura monachorum, et quod nullam haberet episcopus in rebus eorum vel in eis, ob mutationem sedis, jurisdictionem. Quod qualiter observatum sit exempla manifesta declarant.

A.D. 1198.

Item, cum contigerit sedem vacare, nonne volet rex pro libitu suo cui placuerit præbendas conferre vacantes? Si ergo eas de dono regio acceperint, pro monachis quid facerent? Ita paulatim a subjectione Cantuariensis ecclesiæ ecclesia illa resiliaret, et consummationes inter eas qualescunque factas, decedente isto archiepiscopo, enervaret; sicut fecit ecclesia Eboracensis; et Dubilinensis etiam adhuc temporibus Lamfranci subjecta erat ecclesiæ Cantuariensi.

The church will be in the king's hands when the see is vacant.

Jactura permaxima occasione hujus rei nobis imminet, nec tantum possessionum, sed et corporum, immo et animarum. Constat enim quod omnes animo contradicunt unanimiter, quidam autem senio fracti, quidam vero pusillanimes, et suæ imbecillitatis conscii, contra conscientiam præbebunt forte assensum; alii vero robustiores et corpore et spiritu non consentient contra conscientiam suam, immo recedent, malentes periclitari corpore: et sic destituetur ecclesia personis, et mater filiis. Gravi ergo periculo expositi sunt, et qui remanent læsa conscientia, et qui recedunt pro ecclesiæ causa. Qua vero conscientia potest quis vel hos vel illos velle cogere, vel etiam divini timoris oblitus sustinere, ut cogantur ad hæc ubi deperit conscientia? Si sana est cogentis conscientia et coactorum sauciata, nonne longe melius esset, ubi tot animarum imminet periculum, ut cogens a proposito suo desisteret, quam in ruinam tot animarum et corporum procederet, cum dicat scriptura, quod etiam a bono opere pro scandalo interdum cessandum sit, præsertim cum non unum solum vel duos, sed universos contingat negotium? Si igitur res procedat, quis dubitet subversionem ecclesiæ Cantuariensis imminere, cum Deus interior non habitat, propter impuritatem læsæ conscientiæ, et exterius res et possessiones dilapidentur ex personarum destitutione? Hæc igitur est via qua caritas in patrem et filios convertetur in odium, et dissensionis progressus suscipiet incrementum, et ita animæ quarum pretio nihil pretiosius est, ibunt in interitum, et erit irrecuperabile damnum.

Moral evils that will follow the erection of the new church.

Item, cum prior Cantuariensis ibi fuerit canonicus, et de primis et præcipuis, cum ventum fuerit ad electionem archiepiscopi, prior eliget; sed quomodo? Non dicetur elegisse ut prior Cantuariensis, sed ut canonicus de Lamhee. Quod si de ipsa ecclesia et in ipsa ecclesia eligatur archiepiscopus per priorem canonicum, nonne vindicare poterunt sibi electionem, utpote de canonico suo et per canonicum suum factam? Item, cum prior fuerit canonicus præbendarius, nonne decano et præposito subjectus erit, et obedientiam cogetur exhibere, ratione beneficii, aut renunciare beneficio?

It will be

Item, si controversia inter archiepiscopum et canonicum aliquem vel aliquos orta fuerit, sive excesserint contra eum, numquid satisficient ei nisi in foro suo, id est, in capitulo proprio, eritque archiepiscopus eorum iudicio cum collegiati fuerint obnoxius, quos antea potuit pro libitu suo sive deponere sive promovere? Sed et prius potuit uni plures ecclesias conferre, nunc ita arctatus erit quod non poterit nisi singulis, et hoc forsitan de consensu capituli, quia illud de facili impetrabunt, singulas conferre.

If the king

the monks

Item, si rex, orta discordia inter eum et archiepiscopum, vel vacante sede, depositis clericis, canonicos regulares, vel monachos aut aliquam religionem ibi instituerit, nonne clerici repotent a monachis Cantuariensibus necessaria, tanquam ipsi qui de altario Cantuariensi sunt iurati, et intitulati? Villas ergo monachorum oportebit eis assignare, vel eis ex toto cedere.

bishop

Item, cum ibi tot et tanti fuerint clerici episcopis confederati, litterarum scientia et nobilitate generis subnixi, nonne poterit de facili inter archiepiscopum et eos lis gravis et longa oboriri, et ipsi quærere emancipationem non solum a Cantuariensi ecclesia, sed etiam a Cantuariensi archiepiscopo in perpetuum, et ipsum ab eis et per eos graviter vexari? Teste Eboracensi Gaufrido, qui modo præsidet, a tenementis omnibus expulsus, cum sit etiam frater regis.

He will find

Item, frequens est inter regem et archiepiscopum Cantuariensem oriri discordias. Si forte orta fuerit, rex de facili in odium archiepiscopi, et ut quasi baculum conterat in quo confidit, clericos ejiciet, et religiosos quoslibet introducet, vel etiam clericorum culpis id exigentibus, et ita poterit Cantuariensis donationem ecclesiarum amittere, et laqueum sibi ipsi fabricare. Archiepiscopus qui successurus est forsitan de illa congregatione sumetur. Quis coget eum observare instituta et cartas prædecessoris sui, plusquam iste potest cogi ad observationem cartarum Ricardi et aliorum prædecessorum suorum? Nonne Ricardus archiepiscopus canonicus erat, electus, et in curia Romana a domino Alexandro consecratus, vir religiosus, primas Angliæ et apostolicæ sedis legatus, et catholicus decessit archiepiscopus, qui ecclesias quasdam in usus pauperum contulit, et cartis suis confirmavit? Alexander autem et Lucius papæ et alii cartas ejus confirmaverunt; quorum omnium cartas et confirmationes Baldewinus archiepiscopus, et iste post eum, pro nihilo, immo et manifeste, eis obviaverunt. Baldewinus archiepiscopus abstulit ecclesias et clericis contulit. Iste vero appræbendavit contra cartas et privilegia curiæ Romanæ. Quid ergo valent cartæ vel privilegia hodie? cum nemo alterius constitutiones, alterius cartas, nisi quoad libuerit observet; tot sunt privilegia in ecclesia Cantuariensi de ecclesia Eboracensi et Sancti Augustini, et cartæ quæ nihil valent. Nonne quotidie ea quæ præscriptione quingentorum annorum, et privilegiorum auctoritate, et longo usu roborata, firma et inconcussa manere debent, infirmantur, et in contrarium convertuntur? Nonne istud est verbum fere omnium principum et prælatorum, cum sermo de observandis cartis antecessorum suorum propositus fuerit "Antecessor meus in vita sua fecit voluntatem suam, et ego faciam meam?"

Item, dicitur regem velle et plurimum niti ad hoc, ut opus procedat. Nec mirum, liquet enim quod si opus processerit, de cætero Cantuariensem archiepiscopum non timebit. Cum enim dominus Cantuariensis huic ecclesiæ contulerit quicquid conferre potest, ubicunque locorum, quidquid ei remanserit ad conferendum rex cum iratus fuerit adversus eum confiscabit; ecclesiam suam faciet capellam suam propriam, et ut ad eum, de suo warranto, intendant nullique pareant nisi regi. Vir juris peritus, et in iis quæ in posterum contingere poterunt valde providus, et in negotiis arduis consilio primus, Willelmus Eliensis episcopus, conventus est aliquando et plurimum sollicitatus a quibusdam magnis viris et bene literatis, ut de terris quas, extirpatis silvis, convertebat in campos frugiferos et dabat monachis suis, similiterque de ecclesiis utrorumque, ecclesiam faceret præbendariorum in perpetuam regiminis sui memoriam. Quibus ipse statim respondit: "Sane, filii, hoc mecum cogitavi, et id etiam a quibuscunque accepi. Sed absit ut aliquid faciam in diebus meis quod sit materia discordiæ et causa scandali inter me et eos. Qui cum essent viri religiosi, acciverunt me super se, clericum sæcularem monachi, cum plures sedes ubi clerici sunt tunc temporis vacarent, sed nulla me vocavit; quorum ergo saluti et paci teneor prospicere, non eos turbare vel occasionem scandali inter nos multiplicare. Reminiscor enim Baldewini bonæ memoriæ Cantuariensis archiepiscopi, qualia suam et suorum, immo et totius regni pacem turbavere." Et adjecit: "Non est hodie certe aliquis qui possit providere, quantum mali, non solum Cantuariensi ecclesiæ, sed et omnibus totius regni, ex illo opere futuris temporibus possit accidere." Cui cum dicerent Baldewinum in eo minus sapienter egisse, quod tam prope ecclesiam suam et monachos operam incepisset, eum autem longe consultius posse facere, procul scilicet ab ecclesia Eliensi, videlicet apud Pilleham, quod est in Norwicensi episcopatu, vel apud Hathfelde, quod est in Londoniensi; respondit: "Certe si de substantia Eliensis ecclesiæ ecclesia hujusmodi fundata esset apud Carduil, aut in extremis finibus Cornubiæ, nunquam pax fieret donec altera alteram subverteret. Sed nolo ego quoad vixero hoc experiri, nec de consilio meo aliquis quem diligam experietur."

[Epp. Alani Theoksb. Ed. Giles, ep. xi.]

Johanni, Dei gratia, Lugdunensi archiepiscopo, Alanus, prior Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, salutem. Inter eos quos adhuc superstites filios enutrivit et exaltavit, Lugdunensem archiepiscopum præcipuum habet et reputat mater Britanniarum sancta Cantuariensis ecclesia. In suis quidem angustiis et perturbationibus, quibus continue affligi compellitur, hujus filii toties experta fidem, devotionem et efficacem industriam, de cætero habet certiorari talem et tantum filium immemorem esse non posse illius dulcedinis quam a maternis diutius suxit uberibus, inter quæ etiam a cunis coaluit. Absit igitur, absit a fide et devotione tanti alumni, qui se toties certis objecit periculis pro defensione matris suæ, ut vel suspicetur de eo quod velit partem ponere cum iis, qui ipsa a quibus egressi sunt materna perturbant viscera, præcipue ubi id permodica suadet occasio, quod etsi quoquo modo licuerit, minus tamen expedit, omnino autem non decet. Quamvis enim is apud quem summa rerum consistit, quasi licite, auctoritate qua præminet sub titulo adhuc ignoto, et a canonum forma aliquatenus alieno, possit non solum assignare, sed potius transferre beneficium Cantuariensis ecclesiæ ad episcopum alienæ provinciæ et minus egentem; id tamen viderit benigna filii discretio, utrum expediat in matris confusionem ecclesiam de Eynisford tanto tempore injuste ablatam, et demum non sine multo labore et angustia, mediante justitia, evictam, a debito sui statu perturbari. Quam utique ecclesiam mater vestra monachorum deliciis non applicuit, sed usibus pauperum pio deputavit affectu. In subversione itaque pauperum Christi, quos ipsa suscepit alendos, si contigerit matrem filii improbitate, quod Deus avertat, acerbius molestari, ex hujusmodi arboris radice qualis poterit fructus

Et certe pia mater vestra nondum eousque vestram dilectionem emancipatam habet, quod nec velit nec debeat eam, quam admodum caram habet et acceptam, vestri reverentiam, in paratiores materni pectoris sinus recipere: cum suum sit votum et desiderium diem illum videre, quo vestri præsentia perfruens et consilio, possit ab his quibus arctatur angustiis aliquatenus respirare. Sane opinionem vestram quid deceat non minus inspiciendum, cum id quod vir tantæ auctoritatis posteris in exemplum reliquerit, de jure debeat ad consimilia vires resumere. Utrum vero deceat Lugdunensem archiepiscopum, Cantuariensis ecclesiæ filium et alumnum, pro tantillo beneficio et tali titulo vel intentione acquirendo, seu matri suæ seu Christi pauperibus et infirmis hujusmodi molestiam inferre, id videat et provideat vestræ sanctitatis prudentia, cujus interest et suam apud Deum conscientiam, et apud homines famam conservare illæsam. Plane nec id ignoramus sed plenius recognoscimus, quia et vobis et vestris meritis exigentibus constituimur debitores. Et licet hæc quæ ad præsens inter nos agitur quæstio abierit in abyssum, non minus tamen tenemur his adesse quibus et vos tenemini, vel debito naturæ vel gratia obsequii. Idcirco ut in aliquo et affectui et operi vestro respondeamus, in proposito habemus alicui de vestris, sicut vobis placuerit, dare annuatim de thesauraria nostra centum solidos, donec eidem in æque valens vel amplius alias possimus providere. Johanni Lugdunensi archiepiscopo, A. prior Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, salutem. In quo quidem magis sollicitor si quo modo daretur opportunitas, ut juxta illum quem gero affectum possim benignitati vestræ vel in aliquo respondere. Si quo minus autem id videatur factum quoad ecclesiam de Einisford, ignoscat filio, si placet, paternitas vestra, si tamen in hac parte debeam de jure argui negligentia, qui unus et solus sum inter multos, quorum sicut voluntas varia est et diversa, ita et sententia, maxime ubi juri et rationi videtur inniti quod intendunt. Loquor intelligenti quid sit multorum moribus deservire. Quid prætendunt quominus fieri debeat quod per vos ab iis repetitur, conventus nostri litterarum tenore inspecto, facilius poterit perpendi. Si vero parvitas meæ consilium acceptaverit vestra prudentia, cum saniori dixerim conscientia, satius esse et honestius aut eo modo qui vobis significatur, aut alio probiori si inveniri poterit, cum conventu nostro pacifice convenire, quam populo scandalum generari et matrem vestram plus quam creditur contristari. Insuper si verbis domini regis Angliæ creditur, in vita sua non sustinebit quod Lugdunensis archiepiscopus ecclesiam de Einesford quoquo modo possideat. Provideat igitur, si placet, discretio vestra, qualiter res ipsa planius et melius ad debitum possit finem pertingere, et quantum in me erit, nulla exsecutionis erit retractatio. Valete.

Urbanus episcopus, servus servorum Dei, venerabili fratri Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, apostolicæ sedis legato, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Tanto fraternæ caritatis affectu personam et ecclesiam tibi commissam pro reverentia beati Thomæ martyris Christi diligimus, quod nihil quod alicui fratri nostro concedere debeamus tibi statuerimus denegandum; ideoque præsentium auctoritate fraternitati tuæ duximus indulgendum, ut quarta parte oblationum quæ ad reliquias beati martyris offeruntur, monachorum usibus concessa, quarta fabricis ecclesiæ deputata, quarta pauperibus erogata, aliam quartam liceat tibi in alia opera pro tuæ voluntatis arbitrio ordinare. Concedimus quoque tibi, ut antiqua ædificia in loco congruo apud Lamheia reædificandi, vel nova constituendi, sine alieni juris dispendio, sicut prædecessores tui a quadraginta retro annis habuisse noscuntur, liberam habeas facultatem. (R. de Diceto, 631.)

The pope gives archbishop Baldwin licence to build a church to SS. Thomas and Stephen; and regulates the disposal of the oblations.

Præsentium tibi auctoritate mandamus, quatenus ea quæ de jure ecclesiæ tuæ per prædecessorem tuum inveneris injuste subtracta legitime revoces, et in ipsius ecclesiæ utilitatem convertas. Nos enim quod in hac parte a te factum fuerit ratum habebimus, et faciemus, auctore Domino, inviolabiliter observari. Item tibi mandamus, ut liceat tibi ecclesiam in honore beatorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ, sicut gloriosus martyr disposuerat in honore beati Stephani construere, tam in honorem Sancti Thomæ quam Sancti Stephani, et de idoneis ordinare personis, quibus beneficia quæ ad sustentationem eorum constitueris, debeas canonice assignare. Item fraternitati tuæ mandamus, ut quarta parte oblationum quæ ad reliquias beati martyris Thomæ offeruntur, monachorum usibus concessa, quarta fabricis ecclesiæ deputata, quarta pauperibus erogata, aliam quartam liceat tibi in alia opera bona pro tuæ voluntatis arbitrio ordinare. DLXII. HENRICUS REX ANGLIÆ CONVENTUI CANTUARIENSI.

The king informs the convent, that having had an interview with the archbishop, he is sending the bishops of Ely and Rochester, Ranulf Glanvill and the deans of York and Lincoln, to persuade them to terms.

Henricus rex Angliæ, dux Normanniæ et Aquitanniæ, et comes Andegaviæ, toti conventui ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariæ, salutem. Noveritis me moleste tulisse et ferre discordiam et dissensionem inter vos et archiepiscopum Cantuariensem: et idcirco ipsum archiepiscopum inde diligenter conveni, et inveni eum pro parte valde mitiorem et benigniorem quam fuerit; et quia nolo diutius sustinere, nec sustinendum est, quin inter vos concordia reformetur, ad eandem reformandam quantam operam et diligentiam potero adhibiturus sum. Et ideo venturi sunt ad vos Eliensis et Roffensis episcopi, et Randulfus de Glanvilla, et Eboracensis et Lincolniensis decani, quibus, sicut mihi ipsi, certam fidem habeatis super iis quæ vobis ex parte mea dixerint. Moneo autem vos affectuose, et deprecor diligenter, ut ad pacis reformationem animum vestrum inclinetis, cum dominus archiepiscopus, quamvis ipsius conditio melior sit quam fuerit, possit, ut intelligo, facilius induci quam potuit ad adquiescendum consilio meo et fidelium meorum super ipsa concordia et pace reformanda.

Consulo autem ut amodo non improbe agatis, sed bonum, quod præsto est nisi per vos steterit, benigne recipiatis. Et quidam ex vobis de melioribus et discretioribus conventus vestri, quos prædicti viri ad me venturos elegerint, veniant ad me cum prædictis episcopis et Randulfo de Glanvilla, et aliis qui ad nos venturi sunt, et cum litteris capituli vestri de ratihabitione super hoc, quod apud me ipsis præsentibus factum fuerit de prædicta pacis reformatione. Si vero omnes prænominati non venerint ad vos, iis tamen qui de prædictis venerint, certam fidem habeatis, et consilio illorum acquiescatis. Noveritis etiam pro certo quod parti illi quæ improbitati adhærebit in hac causa adversarius ero, et mitiori parti efficax auxilium præstare curabo. A.D. 1191. DLXVI. WALTERIO ROTHOMAGENSI ARCHIEPISCOPO WILLELMUS
August 25. EPISCOPUS ELIENSIS.

[Gir. Cambr. Vita Galfridi. Arch. Ebor. Anglia Sacra, ii. 395, R. de Diceto. c. 660.]

The bishop of Ely has heard that the archbishop of Rouen is going to Canterbury to treat of the election of a new archbishop, and forbids him to do so until he has seen him.

Venerabili et dilecto in Christo patri et amico Waltero, Dei gratia, Rothomagensi archiepiscopo, Willelmus, eadem gratia Eliensis episcopus, et domini regis cancellarius, salutem et debitam cum omni devotione reverentiam. Convenimus vos apud Londoniam, qua occasione Cantuariam adire velletis, et id a vobis in responsis recepisse meminimus, quod quoniam monachos Cantuarienses audieratis vobis offensos, ut scilicet de causis offensionis, si qua esset, inquireretis, et de prioris depositione certitudinem haberetis. Verum datum est nobis intelligi vos alia consideratione Cantuariam festinare, videlicet, ut cum monachis illis de archiepiscopo eligendo tractetis. Et valde, nec mirum, admirati sumus, quod quasi captata absentia nostra velitis id facere; cum sine nobis fieri nec possit nec debeat, qui et toti regno vice regia præsidemus, et jure cancellariæ nostræ archiepiscopatum illum in manu nostra cum omnibus ecclesiæ pertinentiis habemus. Cum igitur super tam magno et arduo negotio, a quo summopere totius regni pendet dispositio, sine domini regis aut nostra nunc temporis præsentia tractari non debeat; discretionis et honori vestro consulimus et mandamus, ex parte domini regis districtius inhibentes, ne propter hanc aut propter aliam quamcunque causam Cantuariensem ecclesiam adeatis, donec vobiscum loqui possimus. Non enim cum patientia et rancoris dissimulatione hoc perferremus. Teste me ipso apud Releiam, xxv. die Augusti.

A.D. 1198.

(Epp. Innoc. III., Ed. Baluz., I. 351.)

Dilecti filii Jo. et Hubertus, nuncii dilectorum filiorum prioris et monachorum ecclesiæ Cantuariensis, nobis humiliter retulerunt, quod cum pro causa quæ inter dictos priorem et monachos et venerabilem fratrem nostrum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum super capella de Lamhee vertebatur, ab ipsis priore ac monachis mitterentur, sicut eis propositum fuit, idem archiepiscopus post iter arreptum in eos excommunicationis sententiam promulgavit. Cum autem plus sit ad sedem apostolicam facto provocare quam verbo, et ipsis propter prædictam causam ad Romanam ecclesiam venientibus intelligatur ad sedem apostolicam provocatum, discretioni vestræ per apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus, si verum est quod asseritur, dictos Jo. et Hu., appellatione postposita, denunciatis excommunicationis vinculo non teneri. Litteras quas nobis regia serenitas super negotio Cantuariensis ecclesiæ destinavit, benigne recepimus, et earum tenore diligenter inspecto, intelleximus celsitudinem regiam super eo quod scripserat, fuisse per falsi suggestionem in pluribus circumventam. Cum bonæ memoriæ B., quondam Cantuariensem archiepiscopum, in constructione capellæ juxta Cantuariam de [mandato] felicitis recordationis Lucii et Urbani prædecessorum nostrorum scripserit processisse; cum potius idem Urbanus, prædecessor noster, opus illud per sententiam præceperit demoliri, et locum ipsum maledictum haberi mandaverit et profanum, sicut ex litteris ejus serenitati regiæ poterit manifeste liquere. Præterea cum dictus archiepiscopus denuo voluisset quæstionem suscitare sepultam, bonæ memoriæ quondam Cantuariensi priore cum quibusdam monachorum et nunciis ipsius archiepiscopi propter hoc apud sedem apostolicam constitutis, felicitis recordationis Clemens papa prædecessor noster, opus illud de fratrum consilio funditus demoliri præcepit. Venerabilis vero frater noster Hubertus, Cantuariensis archiepiscopus, volens in opere damnato procedere, etsi locum mutaverit, a dicti tamen prædecessoris sui proposito non creditur recessisse; cum post multiplices inhibitiones sibi ex auctoritate apostolica factas, post appellationem sæpius interpositam ad apostolicam sedem, post contradictionem dilectorum filiorum Cantuariensium monachorum, de bonis Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, in non modicum ejus præjudicium et gravamen, sicut a multis et magnis accepimus, in capella de Lamhee amplas præbendas statuerit, et largas ei possessiones et redditus assignaverit, et ad structuram ipsius ecclesiæ et domorum ejus ea paraverit, quæ in utilitatem et decorem Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, sponsæ suæ, potius debuerat convertisse; quod cum ad bonæ memoriæ Cœlestini papæ, prædecessoris nostri, audientiam pervenisset, quod a dictis prædecessoribus nostris statutum fuerat, ratum habuit, et præcepit sine cujusque refragatione servari. Clericos etiam de Lamhee a juramento de observatione novæ capellæ, dicto B. Cantuariensi archiepiscopo præstito, denunciari mandavit penitus absolutos, et eis districte fecit injungi, ne ulterius novam capellam vel ecclesiam de Lamhee observarent, nec per se nec per suos ministrarent in ea divina; eos mandans ecclesiastica districtione percelli qui mandato apostolico contrairent. Sane si dictus archiepiscopus quid potius expediret attenderet, in ecclesia Cantuariensi, metropoli sua, quam beatus pontifex et martyr Thomas suo sanguine consecravit, libentius resideret, et in structura ipsius vel aliis ejus utilitatibus erogaret, quod in damnati operis constructione dispergit; a quo, etsi nihil aliud ejus compesceret voluntatem, vitatio tamen gravis scandali, quod inde provenire cognoscit, eum debuerat revocare, cum, sacra scriptura docente, debuerit didicisse quod licet opera illa, quæ sine mortali peccato omitti non possunt, non sint pro vitando scandalo dimittenda, nec ea debeant pro scandalo vitando committi, quæ sine mortali peccato committi non possunt, ab his tamen quæ committi non possunt sine mortali peccato pariter et dimitti, sit pro scandalo tollendo cessandum, et eis etiam pro vitando scandalo insistendum. Unde apostolus in epistola dicit, "Si scandalizaretur frater, carnem non comederem in æternum," et Dominus in Evangelio contra eos qui scandali præstant materiam, "Væ," inquit, "homini illi per quem scandalum venit. Melius est ei ut suspendatur mola asinaria ad collum ejus, et demergatur in profundum." Rogamus igitur serenitatem regiam, monemus et exhortamur in Domino, quatenus non cito moveatur a sensu suo, nec facile credat omni spiritui, aut usque adeo detractoribus benevolum præstet auditum, ut de nobis sinistri aliquid suspicetur, quod aliquem contra justitiam gravare velimus, aut jura regni tui, quæ honestati conveniunt, vacuare. Novimus enim, sicut in litterarum tuarum exordio expressisti, quid ad officium nostrum pertineat, et quare simus super gentes et regna, non nostris meritis, sed divino munere constituti. Novimus etiam quod nobis incumbit uniuscujusque jura tueri. Et ideo a juris tramite nec in hoc, nec in alio negotio volumus [ob] favorem cujuslibet declinare. Nolumus præterea prædecessorum nostrorum rationabilia revocando statuta, revocandi quæ rationabiliter facimus vel statuimus, successoribus nostris exempla præstare, qui prædecessorum nostrorum vestigiis in præsentī negotio et adhæsimus hactenus, et in posterum intendimus adhærere; ne super crebra mutatione præstemus aliis materiam murmurandi, quanquam in litteris tuis ad falsam suggestionem expresseris, quod in hoc negotio a vestigiis prædecessorum nostrorum videmur præpropere recessisse, non solum jura regni tui non lædere, immo etiam minores quoslibet in regno Angliæ constitutos in suis justitiis confovere, ac ideo sollicite præcavere intendimus, ne minores a majoribus opprimantur. Quod enim de consuetudine regni Anglorum procedere, regia serenitas per suas litteras intimavit, ut liceat tam episcopis, quam comitibus et baronibus, ecclesias in fundo suo fundare; laicis quidem principibus id licere nullatenus denegamus, dummodo diocesani episcopi eis suffragetur assensus, et per novam structuram veterum ecclesiarum justitia non lædatur. Sed ex hoc opere videtur Cantuariensis ecclesiæ dignitas ex parte non modica deperire, cum non referat quod ad remotiorem locum transfertur, eadem contradictionis causa durante. Utinam ei divina bonitas inspirasset, ut non de alieno, sed proprio construeret ecclesiam in qua regulares canonicos institueret, qui suum Domino jugiter impenderent famulatum. Cum autem te, sicut specialem ecclesiæ filium, et catholicum principem, sincero in Domino diligamus affectu, nec tuæ velimus postulationi, quantum cum Deo possumus, assensum apostolicum denegare, juxta petitionem regiam in negotio prædicto procedere differemus, donec dicti archiepiscopi nuncii nostro se conspectui repræsentent, nisi forsā ex malitia suam absentiam diutius procuraverint. Verum cum ad judicium ventum fuerit, nec declinabimus ad dextram nec sinistram, nec ob gratiam aut favorem cujuslibet

DLXXI. ASSIGNATIO RATIONUM QUÆ INDUXERUNT BALDEWYNUM ARCHIEPISCOPUM CANTUARIENSEM ECCLESIAM CONSTITUERE CLERICORUM ET DE QUIBUSDAM QUÆ CIRCA HÆC MIRACULOSE ACCIDERUNT.

[Epp. Pet. Bles. MS. Coll. Nov. Oxon. cxxvii. Ep. 152.]

Peter of Blois acquaints his friends with archbishop Baldwin's intention of building a college.

Sollicite quæritis, quæ ratio induxerit B., gloriosæ recordationis, Cantuariensem archiepiscopum, clericorum ecclesiam ad Lameheya constituere, in contumeliam Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, sicut quidam garriunt, quasi altare contra altare erigere aut potius Dagon contra arcam fœderis exaltare. Moneo¹ vos, quod archiepiscopus,² qui approbatissimæ religionis erat, et inter cæteras columnas Cisterciensis ordinis sanctitate, dignitate, sapientia præeminebat, ecclesiam sæcularium, quam quidam monachi prostibulum Veneris et synagogam Sathanæ vocant, satis sæculariter, quadam perturbatione animi, construebat, ut quicquid vox funesta succenseat; ecclesia tamen est sanctorum martyrum Stephani et Thomæ, martyrisque primi martyrisque primatis. Vos enim vidistis magni nominis umbram, quæ hanc ecclesiam martyrum, adhuc infantiae cunabulis vagientem, a fundamento subvertit. Sed infra brevissimum tempus in festo beatissimi Stephani mortuus, et in festo Sancti Thomæ sepultus est, ac si unus peremisset eum, et alius tumultu infodisset.

Præfecit eum Dominus ad dandam scientiam salutis plebi Ejus. Ipse vero spiritualibus exercitiis assuetus, provinciam indisciplinatam inveniens, correctionis sarculum generaliter exercere disposuit. Incepit itaque a sanctuario Domini, a capite regni, ut sicut ecclesia Cantuariensis fuerat quandoque primipilaria fidei, et est metropolis provinciæ, ita cæteris ecclesiis magistra fieret disciplinæ. Suos itaque filios cohibebat a firmis ruralibus quarum occasione quidam, pauci tamen, cum corporibus suis turpe foedus inierant, et sinistra opinione scholam claustralis innocentiae prægravabant. Verba igitur vitæ æternæ habens, has et aliorum vitiorum propagines, quas abusione longa nutrierat mater dissoluta impunitas, radicitus extirpabat, summum capitis genus asserens vagam excurrendi licentiam, et sub jugo Dominicæ servitutis plenam esse animæ libertatem. Cumque super creditum sibi gregem pastores continuaret excubias, oves in lupos mutatae sunt, et filii obedientiae conversi sunt in arcum pravum. Porro vir Dei non in sermone sed in virtute reputans regnum Dei, non solum verbis sed factis ita se jugiter omnibus mirabilem, amabilem, immutabilem exhibebat, ut redirent prævaricatores ad cor, et quidam timore, quidam amore, quidam amore sui, patris arbitrio consentirent. Remansit tamen apud aliquos circa medullas animæ plaga interior, quam dissimulatio palliabat ad tempus, donec occasio rebellionis erumperet; quod et rerum postea indicavit eventus. Elapso enim modici temporis interjectu, quidam eorum suscitaverunt aquas contradictionis, aquas Siloe, quæ silebant, verterunt in aquas Rasyne, et emittentes aquas facti sunt capita jurgiorum. Qui ergo suspirabant ad ollas Ægypti, redeuntes ad firmas, firmaverunt sibi sermonem nequam, ut ad sedem apostolicam appellarent, ut jugum sui pontificis et abbatis a sua cervice dejicerent, obedientiam denegarent, et cum eo de propriis contenderent.

Sciebam quod magister omnium gratiarum, verbi Divini præco, tuba evangelii, sal terræ, patriæ lumen, religiosorum gloria, deliciæ Dei, morum fama, schola virtutum, monachorum quietem et publicum regni commodum procurabat. Bonarum enim mentium institutor Spiritus Sanctus sic adaptaverat et aptaverat Sibi, ut Deo totus inhærens unus cum Eo spiritus esset, nec agens aut loquens quod caritas non condiret. Et ut campum hujus cursus pede inoffenso currat expeditior intellectus, ad plenioram evidentiam propositi quædam quæ opportuna mihi offert occasio, summatim interserendo decrevi adhuc viventium memoria scriptisque probata authenticis. Quando⁴ enim beatus Anselmus ab Angliæ rege Willelmo secundo proscriptus in Galliarum partibus exularet, soli clerici ejus cum eo in suis tentationibus permanserunt, nec a suffraganeis aut monachis suis ullum habuit in tam longa desolatione solatium. Morte igitur prædicti regis, eadem die, qua in Anglia peremptus est, viro Dei apud Lugdunum cœlitus revelata, sanctus ad propria rediit; et receptus in exultatione universæ terræ, in honore beati Stephani ecclesiam clericorum Cantuariensium juxta muros civitatis distinxit.⁵ Cumque ibi præbendas de parochialibus ecclesiis ad suam donationem pertinentibus ordinaret, vocatus est a Domino, raptusque in cœlum, quo mundus non erat dignus, et ejus desiderii non implevit affectum. Ne vero res ipsa debeat vel possit oblivione deleri, litteras suas super hoc eidem regi in hunc modum traderunt.

“Excellentissimo domino in Christo carissimo Lodowycō, Dei gratia, regi Francorum illustrissimo, Ricardus Dei gratia archiepiscopus Cantuariensis, totius Angliæ primas, et apostolicæ sedis legatus, Alanus prior conventusque ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariæ, æternam in Domino salutem. Placuit Omnipotentis Dei misericordiæ temporibus nostris per magnitudinis vestræ præsentiam ecclesiam Cantuariensem exaltari, in quo et nos, sicut tenemur, ita et desideramus paratiores inveniri uberiores proinde Deo gratiarum actiones referre. Licet autem juxta merita celsitudinis vestræ, prout cupimus, vobis non possimus respondere, id tamen modicum quod valemus ad præsens prosequi decrevimus. Sane de communi voluntate et assensu omnium nostrum vos et dominam reginam, hæredem vestrum et vestros, beneficiorum Cantuariensis ecclesiæ participes plenius esse concessimus. Obtentu etiam beati Thomæ martyris, quem tanto in terris prævenistis honore, insuper adjecimus quod singulis diebus debeat unus de fratribus nostris specialiter pro vobis et domina regina, hærede vestro et vestris, in vita vestra missam de Spiritu Sancto celebrare. Sacerdotes etiam cum cæteris fratribus inferioris ordinis in celebratione missarum, et maxime in perceptione Corporis et Sanguinis Domini tenentur, quantum ad hoc Deus inspiraverit, memoriam vestri vestrorumque facere. Ad hæc tres monachos ad præsens specialiter pro vobis faciemus, qui debeant tempore vitæ suæ pro vestra et dominæ reginæ vestrique filii et vestrorum salute Deum jugiter implorare. Cum vero dies obitus vestri nobis innotuerit, fiet servitium pro vobis sicut pro uno archiepiscopo Cantuariensis ecclesiæ: hoc est quod singuli sacerdotes triginta missas, alii vero inferioris ordinis decem psalteria dicent, prout ipsum officium quod in conventu generaliter fiet. Procuratio etiam unius monachi per totum illum annum dabitur uni pauperi. Facta autem anni uniuscujusque revolutione cum dies anniversarii vestri advenerit, fiet in conventu pro vobis officium speciale; singuli etiam sacerdotes, singulas missas celebrabunt, cum cæteris quæ ibi fient beneficiis et orationibus. Ut autem nulla oblivione deleri debeant in posterum, hæc omnia in martilogio nostro scribi fecimus, et singulis annis die recordationis vestræ relegenda statuimus.”
